SLEEPING IN CHURCH. It Is a Sign, for One Thing, of the Approaching Old Age. Dr. Chalmers went to preach for Edward Irving, the erratic genius who asked the privilege of making a few preliminary remarks and spoke an hour or so in a crowded building, says the Christian Advocate. Chalmers, referring to it afterward, said: "What could I do in an exhausted receiver?" There are many cases justifying sleeping in church; the mother who has been watching two or three nights with a sick child; the father who has been thoroughly overworked, and invalids, are not to be condemned if they doze in the sanctuary unwillingly. The carbonic acid gas resulting from crowds, and especially from gas jets, old air heated by steampipes, the effects of furnaces with red hot firepots, through which not only carbonic acid gas, but a far more dangerous gas, can percolate, make the most devout and attentive drowsy. Sometimes the first signs of old age are a tendency to sleep in church. The philosophy of the nod and of the atti-tudes of the head is this: Unconsciously we hold our heads in position by an effort of the will. When sleep begins that is relaxed; gravity takes charge of the head and also of the under jaw, but as the head slips back it produces an uncomfortable feeling that slightly awakens the sleeper, who spasmodically exercises his will and straightens himself up, and relaxes it immediately afterward. This may continue in some cases, putting the man in the attitude apparently of bowing assent to every succeeding sentence. No wom-an will voluntarily sleep in church if she has the ordinary desire to appear well. It must, however, be conceded that in many instances the minister is to blame. If he succumbs to depressing influences, and especially if he drones or is prolix, or preaches only "words, words, words," or has a canting tone, so that on whatever he says the same stress is laid at regular intervals; if he turns his face to the wall and does not look at the audience, or fixes his eve upon a point and never removes it, or is very long, or makes the same gestures frequently, he may lull the people. Some preachers have to preach half an hour or so to become interesting. It was well said to one of them: "If you had delivered the first thirty minutes of your discourse in the adjoining graveyard before entering the church the effect upon the living would have been greater."

NAPOLEON'S DAINTY TOILET.

After His Morning Shave His Valet Scoured Him with Eau De Cologne. One of the most interesting articles found among the recent numerous essays upon the private life of Napoleon is on the toilet of the emperor, which, it appears, was a most important matter and regulated down to the smallest details with mathematical precision. When awakened it was Na poleon's custom to glance over the paper while the fires were lit. He was sensitive to cold. and a fire was prepared in every room even in midsummer. Then of distinguished people awaiting an audience he would designate those whom he wished to see, after which he would rise and take a hot bath, lasting about an hour. The daily shaving was the next duty. Ordinarily his physician, Corvisart, would be present, chatting and securing favors for his friends. Napoleon's greeting was usually some morning reply in kind. Two valets were necessary for shaving, one holding the basin and another the mirror. The emperor, in a flannel robe, de chamber, then cologne and subjected to a thorough scrubbing with a rough brush. The Teutons may even have brought the custom to England with them when they came over the Kimmerian Bosphorus about 680 B. C.

Japanese Soldiers.

A British officer, who apparently knows, says that it "would be as reasonable to charge brave men armed with pitchforks against brave men armed with rifles as to pit, man for man, the Chinese in their present condition against the Japanese. Of all native and colonial troops I have seen, and I have seen most of them," says he, "I would, next to Goorkhas, prefer a regiment of Japanese. They are brave, temperate, patient and energetic, and at this moment the Chinese, whatever might be done with them, are two hundred years behind." There is a gymnasium in every Japanese bar-

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of the diseases in New York comes from carlessnes about catching cold,"says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and a common that very few people, unless it The Dalles, Portland and Astoria is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to the cold. New York is one of the healthiest places on the Atlantic Coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day fife. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. It will relieve the lungs, aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakely & Houghton, druggists.
