

The Weekly Chronicle.

THE DALLES, OREGON

Clubbing List.

The CHRONICLE, which gives the news twice a week, has made arrangements to club with the following publications, and offers two papers one year for little more than the price of one:

Table with 2 columns: Publication Name, Price. Includes Chronicle and N. Y. Tribune, Chronicle and Weekly Oregonian, Chronicle and Weekly Examiner, Chronicle and Weekly New York World.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Wednesday's Daily.

The tax rolls have been turned over to the county clerk, having been declared delinquent, and as soon as the rolls can be prepared the collection will be crowded.

The pile-driver is at work today driving a lot of piles around the end of the wharf to protect it. They are being put in to replace those carried away by the high water last year.

Who says advertising does not pay? Yesterday we made a soulful plaint for the presence of Jupiter Pluvius Aquarius Ferris, and this morning Jup. Plut. Aqua Ferris arrived. Now then, the sprinkler will sprinkle.

The total amount of taxes for all purposes in this county is a fraction less than $89,000 for the year 1894. Although the rolls were in the sheriff's hands only about a month, $51,336.73 of the amount was collected. This does not indicate hard times or a scarcity of money.

Bicycling has evidently come to stay and its devotees seem to derive much pleasure from the exercise. Those who ride the wheels, however, should recollect that while they own the bicycles they do not own the earth and that careless riding is apt to bring a punishment that will fall on all the bikers. Last night a big cow bell fastened to one of the machines, no doubt without any evil intent, but only for the fun of the thing, came near causing a half a dozen runaways. The amusement is a healthful one, and it is to be hoped the careless will not conduct themselves in such a manner that the city will have to prepare another ordinance for the regulation of the sport.

Captain Richard Hoyt, the well known steamboat man, was taken to the insane asylum from Portland Monday. His hallucination is that he has been awarded a contract for building a lighthouse at Bandon, and he keeps ordering material for it. It is hoped by his numerous friends that the attack may prove but temporary and that his reason may be soon restored. He was one of the best and most popular captains on the river.

Thursday's Daily

Forty sacks of wool were received at the Wasco warehouse today.

The population of the city, as found by County Assessor Wakefield is 3,045, of whom 137 are in Thompson's addition.

The Epworth League will give an Indigo social on Friday evening in the lecture room of the M. E. church. All are cordially invited.

Items are as scarce today as upper incisors in a bovine, or angels' visits, or hen teeth, or wit in Eli Perkins, or any other little thing of that kind.

Thomas Stewart, a colored man, who was on the Kearsarge when the Alabama was captured, died at the Merchants hotel, Portland, yesterday.

Mr. Ferris started the street sprinkler yesterday, but as the tank leaks badly, he is unable to give good service yet. He will do the best he can this week and make no charge for his services until next week.

The Epworth League will favor their friends with a very unique entertainment at the opera house Wednesday evening, May 1st, at 8 p. m. Music, recitations, scarf-drill and vignettes from life, that will be most pleasing.

The confirmation at the Lutheran church chapel, last Sunday, was an interesting service. The chapel was filled and the porch and hall crowded with people desirous of participating in the services. Five persons were confirmed—two boys and three girls.

And now the express companies are standing in and refuse to handle Louisiana lottery tickets or do any business for the company. As the company is forbidden the use of the mails, this action upon the part of the express companies is a death blow to the lottery.

Mrs. Zoe Gayton, the pedestrian, has been delayed in starting on her journey around the world. She is now in Portland, but instead of starting Friday she will not leave until early in May, probably Saturday, the 3d. She will pass through here on her way, following the Short Line.

Judge Liebe and his wife celebrated their silver wedding yesterday. In the evening, with their invited guests, they repaired to Fraternity hall, where the older folks engaged in card playing and other amusements, while the younger put in the time dancing. Refreshments were served, and everybody had the best time imaginable.

Col. Sinnott told us this morning that the son of his old friend, George Francis Train, would be up on the train this afternoon. That his father wrote him some time ago that he would send his boy to see him. The moment Mr. Train Jr., stepped off the other train the Col. recognized him. The salmon, though, are not as plentiful as when his father was here.

A fruitgrower at Milton employed several young ladies last year to pack strawberries. Merely for the joke some of them slipped in a number of boxes short, neatly penned notes, and one was found by a Spokane musician. He was the leader of the Auditorium orchestra. A correspondence ensued, followed by an accidental meeting, and now the girl has jilted another lover to become engaged to the purchaser of her box of strawberries.

Hugh Medlock, who was wanted at Pendleton for horse stealing, and who led the sheriff a merry chase across country for a month or more, has been captured and is under lock and key in the Umatilla county jail. On his jaunt this spring he stole horses whenever he needed them and let them go when he had them tired out only to steal more. G. A. Hutchinson, the mail-carrier between Ukiah and Long Creek, captured him.

In the spring, the human body needs assistance to throw off the stagnation produced by winter diet. As the temperature rises under the growing heat of the sun's rays we feel tired, half-sick and low in spirits, because the blood is sluggish and full of impurities. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier is a reliable spring remedy to invigorate the body and give tone to the digestion. Price $1.00 per bottle. For sale by Snipes-Kinnersly Drug Co.

The directors of the Oregon Pioneer Association met in Portland yesterday and decided to hold the regular annual reunion on Friday, June 14th, and at Portland. Hon. Wm. Galloway of Yamhill, was chosen to deliver the annual address, and T. T. Geer of Marion, the occasional address. Mrs. Robert Miller, of Oregon City, daughter of a pioneer, will prepare a paper for the evening, treating of women's experience in crossing the plains and in pioneering. Mr. William Kapus was selected as grand marshal and Rev. D. B. Gray, chaplain.

Young Swarts, who was stabbed by his father near Salem a week ago, died at St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, Tuesday. Swarts is now in jail, with a charge of murder hanging over him. It was a most brutal murder, the testimony of Swarts' children showing not only that he stabbed the boy without provocation, but that when his victim was lying on the floor bleeding to death, he prevented the poor boy's sisters staunching the flow of blood, saying he wanted him to die. If there is rope and gallows timber left in Oregon, it should be used on the old brute at once.

Mr. Ferris who arrived from the Yakima reservation Tuesday, tells us he ran across some relics of the Indian war that may be remembered by some of the Dalles people. Years ago, when about to start out on an expedition against the Indians, Mrs. Berry and Mrs. Pomeroy made a handsome silk flag, which they presented to Captain Nathan Olney, at that time a resident of The Dalles. After the war was over Captain Olney settled in the Yakima valley, and took unto himself a wife from the Yakima tribe. He died several years ago, but his widow, now quite an old woman, still keeps the flag, which she exhibits, along with her husband's case and sword, with a great deal of pride.

Friday's Daily

Vignettes from "Life," at the opera house, Wednesday evening, May 1st. Come and see C. D. Gibson's beautiful American girl in her most attractive toils.

Quite a number of teams arrived from Prineville yesterday and are loading freight for that place today. Among them we notice G. W. Cantrell, J. G. Cantrell and John Dorsey.

Misses Annie and Laura Thompson treated about seventeen of their young lady friends to a picnic on one of the loveliest spots on the bank of Mill creek today. Mr. Richmond started out early this morning with the wagonette loaded with a jolly crowd of girls, and as the day has been perfect, no doubt the first picnic of the season was as happy a one as will be had this summer.

The city council met last night, but as near as we can learn ran against a stump. It was intended to have the charter amended so as to provide for bonding all the indebtedness up to the time the bonds were issued, but through some oversight the new charter only provides for bonding the indebtedness up to January 1st. As this would leave about $4,000 of debt unprovided for, some of the councilmen objected to issuing the bonds. Just what course will be taken is not yet determined upon.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Additional Arbor Day Reports.

District No. 5, R. S. Andrews teacher, spent the time with the pupils in clearing the grounds, as they already contain many native trees.

In the city schools exercises were not generally held, as the grounds had heretofore been filled with trees. At the new school at East Hill, however, a dozen trees were planted and a nice program rendered, with many visitors present. At the Academy Park school the trees, which had so long been neglected, were thoroughly pruned, adding much to the beauty of the grounds.

District No. 18, Miss Lida Johnson teacher—Each pupil planted a tree, for which they are to care, and had the following program; Reading, "Law of Arbor Day;" song, "Gay and Happy;" recitation, "Beautiful Things;" recitation, "A Puzzling Question;" "Song of Dedication;" recitation, "The Cunning Old Crow;" "Chorus of the Flowers;" recitations, "The Little Seed," "Little by Little," "Trees," "Work and Play;" song, "Invocation."

District No. 26, J. B. Gorham teacher—Cared for trees already planted, planted a dozen more, and the teacher took occasion to impress upon the minds of the pupils the importance of the day.

District No. 56, Viento, Miss Katie Davenport teacher—Decorated the school room with a profusion of flowers and evergreens, and had a literary program consisting of recitations, songs, etc. No trees were planted, as kind nature had done this work for them already. A speech, emphasizing the observance and remembrance of the day, closed the exercises.

Victor Notes.

Victor is improving right along. Mr. Gordon has enlarged his store building and fitted up a nice postoffice with a cabinet of seventy-eight boxes. This will give each regular patron of the office a box. The unloading and placing of a 1200 pound safe, seems to say that Mr. Gordon is at Victor to stay, and that he means business.

The young grain is growing nicely. Juniper Flat is destined to be the best part of Wasco county. There is no other part of the country which yields more grain to the acre. The Flat is about twelve miles square. It would be difficult to find in this entire body of land, a quarter section having less than 100 acres of the best quality of farm land. X. X. X.

Irony Of Fate.

Professor Bischof, a prominent physician, was vehemently opposed to the admission of female students at the University of St. Petersburg and in general to any concession made to the woman's rights advocates. He argued that it was wrong to put a woman on an equal footing with a man as far as mental capacity was concerned, and gave as a reason for this statement that the average weight of a woman's brain (three pounds four ounces) was three and a half ounces less than that of a man.

He died not long ago and upon an autopsy being performed his brain was weighed. How odd that its weight was even a trifle less than the average claimed for the sex he despised.—St. Petersburg Letter.

Indigo Social.

Friday's Daily.

Remember the Indigo social this evening, given under the auspices of the Epworth League, in the lecture room of the M. E. church. The following program will be rendered:

- (1) Individual Piece. (2) Nocturne. (3) Declamation. (4) Indigo. (5) Gallop. (6) Our Quartette. At the close of the program refreshments will be served. All are cordially invited.

May Day Picnic.

Do not forget the grand May-day picnic at the Campbell grove, near Enderby, on May 1st. If you need a day's rest and some recreation, it will do you good to go. Your friends and neighbors will be there, so take the children along, they will always remember you for going with them. You will be sure to stay for the grand concert in the evening. Be on time and there will be a reserved seat for you. Doors open at 7 o'clock. Concert commences at 7:30. Admission, 25 cents; children under 10, free. The Dufur band will furnish music for the occasion. W. J. D., of the committee.

Senator Elkins Visits U.

Senator Elkins, accompanied by his wife and son, arrived on the Regulator yesterday evening. The party came as far as the Cascades in their private car, arriving there at 11 o'clock. As the senator was secretary of war at the time the contract was let for the completion of the locks under the contract system, and as he had urged the adoption of that plan, he was much interested in the work, which he examined very thoroughly. He is very practical, and at first glance expressed astonishment at the stupendous character of the work. He pronounced it the finest piece of work in the United States, but added:

"The trouble is that the work has been done on too large a scale. The canal should have been made smaller, and had this been done, it would have been completed years ago. As it is I am convinced that next spring will see the work completed and realize that it means a great deal to the people of Eastern Oregon."

Commenting upon the boat railway proposition, he said: "I am opposed to it, for at the best it is but an experiment, but I am heartily in favor of a canal. Not such a canal as you will have at the Cascades, but a canal that will pass boats of 500 or 600 tons, big enough to do the business of the country for years to come. The Columbia is a grand river and I become bewildered in contemplating the future of the great basin which it drains. Whoever named it the Inland Empire had a proper conception of its magnitude. I believe a small canal will open the river and do it more cheaply and much more expeditiously than the railway, and besides it would save the cost of operating probably $100,000 a year."

The party were the guests of Mr. I. N. Day, who took them for a drive over the city. Many of our citizens called to pay their respects to the senator and many more would have done so had they known positively of his coming. The senator's special car was attached to the passenger last night, and the party left for Salt Lake, delighted with their trip up the Columbia and firm friends to all measures pertaining to the speedy opening of our great waterway.

A Silver Wedding.

Judge George A. Liebe and his good wife celebrate today their silver wedding, the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. Twenty-five years ago in Cassel Hessen, Lena Bauer became Mrs. George A. Liebe, and shortly after she accompanied her husband across the ocean, they coming direct to The Dalles. Here for twenty-five years, beloved by all who knew them, they have lived a peaceful, happy and contented life. A family of sturdy boys and bright girls have grown, or are growing up, an honor to their parents and to be a pride and comfort in their old age.

Relatives and friends have come from Portland and Astoria to rejoice with them; but while they cannot be present, both Mr. and Mrs. Liebe can feel certain that everybody in The Dalles shares their joy and rejoices with them that they have been permitted to travel so far along the pathway of life together, and unite in hoping that yet another milestone, the golden one, may be passed ere either be taken.

Those who came up from Portland are: Mr. Theodore Liebe, wife and child, Mr. A. Burkhardt and wife, his son, Alfred Liebe, and Mr. G. W. Davey; from Astoria, Mr. A. Scherneckau and wife and Miss N. Sauter.

License Them.

The country is being over-run with peddlers, to the damage of everybody concerned, except themselves. The parties who buy of them are generally more or less duped, as the stocks of goods peddled are generally old-fashioned shop-worn stuff that is dear at any price, and the merchants who have good stocks have their trade curtailed. As none of these pay taxes it is highly proper that their business should be licensed, so that they are placed more nearly under the burdens than our merchants have to bear. A tax of not less than $100 a quarter should be levied upon them, and in the meanwhile those who have goods to purchase had better patronize their local merchants, whether of The Dalles or otherwise. Your home merchant will generally do better by you than anybody, and besides he, and not the peddler, is the man who carries you when you need it.

Purchased Fifteen Hundred Steers.

J. C. Loneragan, representing a Southern Idaho cattle company, was in the city again last night, having completed a purchase of 1500 head of steers at Eugene. The price, he stated, at the time he bought was considerably lower than that for which cattle have been held in Eastern Oregon. Stock is raised in large numbers in the Willamette valley, and a good proportion of it will be shipped east from there this spring. The beef cattle around this section, Mr. Loneragan states, are pretty well shipped out. His stock will be moved in about a month to the Montana range, from where, he estimates, 400,000 cattle will be bought in the fall for the Eastern market. This will exceed any previous output for a single year, but depends entirely on the continued high price of beef.—Pendleton Tribune.

The Concert.

The concert at the Congregational church last night was certainly a grand success every way. The building was filled to its utmost seating capacity and the music was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Mrs. Heald rendered two numbers on the piano and was heartily encored each time. The recitation and encore by Miss Grubbs was in her usual excellent style, which is always more than appreciated by a Dalles audience. Miss Aldrich of the Locks, favored the audience with two songs and was encored two times. Miss Anne Smith sang two pieces and responded to an encore. The duet by Miss Schmidt and Mr. Burchstorf received unstinted praise, and the entertainment concluded with the laughable farce, "The Mouse Trap," in which the mouse was not in it.

Corvallis Times, April 22. Bright and early tomorrow morning the steamer Eugene will pull out from her dock in this city bound for Eugene. Captain Smith is unfamiliar with the river between Harrisburg and Eugene, and if Major Post will consent, Captain Burt Hatch will pilot the boat up. This is the boat's first trip to Eugene for some time and her appearance there will be welcomed by shippers, who have been hauling freight from Corvallis and Harrisburg in consequence.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Chancey Moore of Colfax and his sister of Portland, are visiting relatives here.

Mr. J. H. Thatcher, of the Oregon Telephone Co., came up from Portland last night.

Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw went to Portland yesterday on a visit to her father, Dr. Littlefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry and Mr. and Mrs. Houston of North Carolina, are registered at the Umatilla.

Mr. W. E. Jones, the Boston wool buyer, arrived here last night, and will probably remain during the wool season.

Mrs. Geo. P. Morgan and Miss Aldrich came up from Cascades yesterday. Miss Aldrich will take part in the concert at the Congregational church tonight.

Mrs. E. L. Smith and daughter, Anne, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rand arrived from Hood River on the local this afternoon. Miss Anne takes part in the concert this evening.

Dr. Logan leaves for Chicago this evening, to attend a convention of railroad surgeons, which meets there early in May. After this he will remain some time attending clinics and will be absent about a month.

Messrs. Glenn, Brooks, Mays, Kinnersly, Nolan and Peters went to Salem yesterday morning, and all except Mr. Brooks arrived home last night. He will come up on the boat today. The trip was made on business connected with the portage road at the Cascades.

Mr. Ed Wingate is in from Antelope.

Mr. Wm. Farre of Dayville is registered at the Umatilla.

Mr. G. F. Fran, jr., arrived up from Portland today, and is stopping at the Umatilla.

Mr. John Graham of Biggs and Mr. John End of Dufur made us a pleasant call today.

Mr. Frank Fulton is down from Biggs.

Mr. F. N. Jones, of Sherars Bridge is in the city.

District Attorney Jayne is registered at the Umatilla.

H. E. and J. W. Moore and E. A. Griffin are in from Nanseene.

Win. Curtis, who came home from school to wrestle with a case of grip, returned to his studies at Forest Grove this morning, having thrown it.

Rev. W. C. Curtis went to Portland this morning. The little birds are smiling to twitter that his visit means more than just a day or so in the city, and that in fact before he returns he will be called upon to make a running splice that will tie two of The Dalles' young people together for life.
