

The Weekly Chronicle.

THE DALLES, OREGON

Clubbing List.

The CHRONICLE, which gives the news twice a week, has made arrangements to club with the following publications, and offers two papers one year for little more than the price of one:

Table with 2 columns: Publication Name, Price. Includes Chronicle and N. Y. Tribune, Chronicle and Weekly Oregonian, etc.

LOCAL BRIEFINGS.

Here lies the body of Income Tax, Who, after several awful whax, Just where Queen Mary caught theax, Tipped up his toes and turned to wax, Blame not his foes for what he lax, For his ancestors all were quax!

Saturday's Daily

License to wed was issued yesterday to W. C. Moore and Miss Edith Smith. The price of wheat goes steadily upward, and forty cents is the sum a bushel thereof will bring today.

Lost—A small green pocket book, containing two five-dollar bills. Finder will confer a favor by leaving it at this office.

Hood River fernist the world. The Glacier mentions the fact that Mrs. Pealer set a hen on seventeen turkey eggs, and the faithful bird hatched seventeen turkeys and a chicken.

The city council at its meeting Thursday night, passed the ordinance issuing bonds to Theis & Barrol and A. H. Curtis in the sum of $57,000. A compilation of the amounts outstanding and due from the city showed the debt to be a few dollars less than the amount ordered issued.

The ladies of the First Christian church will give a supper at the old Chronicle office, corner Second and Washington streets, Wednesday evening, May 1st, commencing at 5 o'clock. Ice cream and cake furnished up to 10 o'clock. Everybody come and get a first class meal for 25 cents.

Alonzo Thomas, aged about 16 years, was drowned in Shurtz mill pond, in Klickitat county, last Sunday afternoon. He, with two younger brothers, fell off a log. Alonzo made a hard struggle to save his brothers, and a pole being reached them by Fred Fuller, the two brothers were pulled ashore, but he sank, and his body was not recovered for an hour and a half.

The efforts of the recent warm weather are showing themselves in the increased volume of water in the Columbia, which has been coming up rapidly for the past three days. It is sixteen feet above low water mark this afternoon, and will probably reach the 20-foot mark before it is checked. The weather turned much cooler last night, and a small sprinkle of rain fell about midnight. If the cool wave extends to the source of the river, it will check up here in about three days.

Monday's Daily

The river is still rising steadily about a foot a day.

Mr. R. J. Ellis made final proof on his homestead this morning.

Great closing out sale of dry goods. The 9-cent store of Portland is here closing out, regardless of cost. Go see!

Reports from down river points say there is a heavy run of blue-backs coming that will be here early next week.

Money is your best friend—save it, save it. Buy your dry goods at the 9-cent store. Great closing out sale now on, corner Washington and Second.

At the dance Saturday night, Miss Dolly Buchler was awarded the prize as best lady dancer, and Mr. C. W. Tibbetts carried off the prize awarded the gentleman.

Mr. H. Radicke, land locator and civil engineer, found eighty acres of land unlocated only a mile and a half from town. It was filed upon at once by a gentleman from this city.

I never heard man or woman much abused that I was not inclined to think the better of them, and to transfer the suspicion or dislike to the one who found pleasure in pointing out the defects of another.—Jane Porter.

The Regulator met with an accident this morning when just ready to pull out that prevented her making her run today. Steam had been turned on and the wheel was being revolved slowly when the throttle valve gave way. It was at first thought it could be repaired so she could leave at noon, but it could not be done. A new valve will be up on the train tonight, and she will leave on time tomorrow morning.

The Eugene Register says: "If you will notice those who kick most about the town being dull and times being hard, you will see that they are people who patronize outside industries in preference to those at home. Those who have the interests of the town at heart should not deal with those who bestow their patronage outside of Eugene in preference to giving it to their neighbors."

The rain of which we got only a sprinkle Saturday, was much heavier in the country both to the north and south of us. In Klickitat valley quite a shower fell, and commencing a few miles south of The Dalles the rain was heavy enough to be of substantial benefit. Out at Tygh and Bake Oven there was half an inch, and at other points one of the showers dropped that much. It will prove of great benefit to the crops, and especially to the range grass.

Tuesday's Daily

Remember the original Harmony picnic and concert will be held at Enderby, in the Campbell grove.

Wheat advanced 2 cents per bushel at Chicago yesterday, closing at 65 1/2 cents. Corn and oats went up with it.

Something new in photographs at Herrin's, for only 75 cents per dozen. Call at studio and see samples. 30-1w

Ladies can save money by buying of Mrs. Phillips. Ladies' and children's trimmed hats 75 cents and upwards. All new goods too.

Mr. Charles Swain today declared his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States, renouncing allegiance to good Queen Victoria.

Tickets for Wednesday evening's entertainment may be obtained at Blakeley & Houghton's. Admission, 25 cents. Reserved seats, 50 cents.

Miss Hall's pupils will give a kindergarten entertainment, at the Baptist church, at 2 o'clock, Friday afternoon. All interested are invited to attend. Admission, free.

When you finish perusing today's CHRONICLE you will be convinced that it is a most "entertaining" number. It is devoted principally to entertainments, meetings, etc., etc.

The new throttle for the Regulator arrived by express last night, and was in place this morning, so that she pulled out on time. She had quite a good passenger list and considerable freight.

A freight train went down through a bridge near Chitwood station, on the Oregon & California road, yesterday afternoon. Brakeman Wilcox was killed and Conductor Campbell's legs were broken.

Register Moore, of the land office, is mourning the loss of his magnificent dog, Bismarck, whom he has considered almost a member of the family for eight or ten years. Bismarck was truly a splendid animal, but the spring run of salmon ruined him. He took a feed of chinook with the usual result, and was very sick for a day and then disappeared. It is quite probable he has sought some secluded spot and died.

Don't forget the supper to be given by the ladies of First Christian church, Wednesday evening, May 1st, commencing at 5 o'clock, in building formerly occupied by the DAILY CHRONICLE, corner Washington street. Be sure to come so that you may say, "There was one day in the year I ate a good meal."

Mr. Herrick will start his cannery tomorrow, having received fish enough today that with what he expects tomorrow, he thinks he will have a hundred cases. We hope this cannery can be kept running steadily during the season, for Mr. Herrick deserves a liberal reward for his energy and faith in the business. If fruit can be procured cheap enough, he will try a few hundred cases this summer, just to see what can be done with it, and to get a practical demonstration of what the cost will be.

The East End presents rather a quiet appearance this morning. Saltmarsh & Co. shipped a carload of hogs last and expect to send out five carloads of cattle tonight. Wool is coming in slowly, but it is hardly time for it yet. At the Wasco warehouse Mr. Lord is having some improvements made in the office arrangements, and is fitting up a room for the benefit of the wool men. This room is nicely carpeted, has plenty of table room, where letters may be written and half a dozen drawers, where papers, correspondence, etc., can be kept. This will prove quite a convenience.

Real Estate Transactions.

The following deeds were filed for record today:

- Waucoma lodge, K. of P., of Hood River, to Russel Pealer, block 10, section J, Waucoma cemetery; $10.

A Social Glass.

"A Social Glass" at the opera house last night did not draw as large a house as it should have done, or as it was expected to do. One reason of this, we think, was the fact that admission was placed at 75 cents for reserved seats, while if it had been 50 cents the house would have been pretty well filled. "A Social Glass," as its name implies, is a temperance play, calculated to show the danger that lies in the wine cup. The play was well put on, but the curtain did not go up until 20 minutes to 9 o'clock, and as the play is in five acts, and the curtain was down a long time between them, it was after 11 o'clock before it was concluded.

There is some genuine talent in the Moro Dramatic Club, talent the play was not well calculated to bring out, owing to its lachrymose character. Mr. Walter H. Moore as "Charles Thornly," took the part well, especially in the first act, which was the only one, by the way, that gave him much chance to show what was in him. The drinking scene, winding up with his intoxication, was well done, and his fall overcome by liquor and drugs, was something that Menken herself could not equal. It was natural and realistic. Clyde Williams as "Howard Hadley," and Geo. N. Bolton as "Dr. Slater," were well taken, though there was not much in either part. J. B. Hosford as the barkeeper, "Farley," sustained the character well, and in the last scene in which he appeared did some very realistic acting. Wm. Holder as the scheming villain lawyer, "Hollis," probably made a good one, but we never could do the villain in a play justice, because we always feel like falling on him. Mr. C. E. Brown as "Bob Brittle," the only light character of a rather lugubrious play, made friends with the audience in less than a minute after the curtain raised, and indeed he became the central figure. His manner on the stage is easy and natural, and there is no doubt but that he possesses marked talent for that kind of work. The ladies had a hard time of it, as both "Mrs. Thornly" (Mrs. W. H. Moore) and "Mrs. Farley" (Mrs. R. L. Campbell) had very difficult roles to play, though both made the most of them. Mrs. J. B. Hosford as "Nettle Nettleby" assisted "Bob Brittle" in giving a lighter coloring to the play.

Taken all in all the play was a success, and those who attended got the full worth of their money.

The Census Unsatisfactory.

The announcement of the result of the census for this city has awakened a great deal of comment and argument as to its correctness and also as to the actual population of the city. We did not make the canvass of the city, consequently are not prepared to dispute the correctness of the assessor's figures. Others, however, do so, and point to the census of school children, in round numbers 1250, as an evidence that the census is not full. According to it there are 1143 persons in the city, counting the males under 21 years and the females under 18, while the school census, taking in but a trifling outside territory, shows 100 more than that number between the ages of 4 and 21. We are free to state that we were surprised at the figures, as we had supposed there were not less than 4000 and possibly the number would reach 4500.

There is only one way to settle the dispute, and that is to take the census over again in a house to house canvass. As some of our citizens are firmly of the opinion the city has at least a thousand more than the population credited to it, it is probable this will be done at private expense. The attendance at the schools, the number of school children and the number of legal voters all indicate a population of over 4000.

The Bear Gone.

Floyd Harmon's bear, which has heretofore furnished THE CHRONICLE several interesting items, will leave this city forever today. He was sold Saturday to the O. R. & N., and goes to Meacham to be placed on exhibition at the company's eating station at that point. Saturday Mr. Fish, Nick Sinnott, and two or three others went down into the basement to put a collar and chain on him, preparatory to turning him over to his new owners. He showed fight, and it was only after getting a chain around his neck and choking him into submission that the collar was placed on him. Yesterday evening he was taken to the freight depot, and another circus was had getting him "crated" for shipment. In the melee he broke his chain, and then the fun began and lasted three hours before he was conquered. He was finally driven into a corner, one end of the crate was opened, and it was pushed around him. He was dead game, and was only whipped by superior numbers and a variety of clubs.

And So, They Married.

There was a quiet wedding in Portland last Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock that all the good people of The Dalles are interested in hearing about. The wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. A. M. Williams, formerly of this city, and the services were performed by Rev. W. C. Curtis, of the Congregational church of this city, who went to Portland for that particular purpose. The contracting parties were Mr. Harry French of this city and Miss Anna, daughter of Mrs. A. M. Williams.

The handsome rooms were tastefully decorated, dogwood blossoms being the material used for the purpose, and the ceremony was performed in a bower made of the blossom-covered boughs of that beautiful tree. Only members of the families and relatives were present.

The young couple came up on the train Saturday night and took possession of their residence on Fourth street.

The groom is one of The Dalles' most popular young gentlemen, and it is a matter of congratulation to all that he wooed and won one of The Dalles' most charming young ladies, and brought her back here to her old home. Their married life begins with the best wishes of all who know them, and that is everybody, and to the other congratulations THE CHRONICLE adds its paternal blessing, and wishes them a pleasant voyage over the sea, undisturbed by storms, and ending only when old age shall leave them at the other side, together.

Reply From Enderby to W. Williams.

In your Saturday's issue of THE CHRONICLE we find a letter signed by W. H. Williams of 8-Mile, which is misleading to the general public. He states the picnic grounds have not been changed from his grove to the Campbell grove, and to prove that fact he assumes he was chairman of the committee on grounds, which, if true, is known only to himself, as there was no chairman appointed by us. Admitting he was self-appointed chairman, what has he to do with holding the grounds, if the other two, the majority of the committee, see fit to change the same for grounds that suit them better.

He admits there has been some dissension but he fails to state it was all on his part the dissension came. He fails to state that at the commencement there was a committee of ladies appointed for the selection of a May queen and decoration. Because they did not turn over to him the selection and importation of a May queen, since he was self-made chairman of the ground committee, the dissension arose. So we thought best to leave him, and that wisely, to his own picnic and grounds. All the harm we wish him now is the patronage of the public, which he so richly deserves. As we have the harmony class, committee, the lady committee and the majority of the committee on grounds, with all the preparations they have been working on for the last month, it remains to be seen who is the opposition. The Cascade Reservation.

A correspondent writes from Bake Oven desiring information as to the condition of the Cascades reservation, and as to whether stockmen are forbidden to pasture their stock thereon.

The language used by the president in his proclamation is: "That there is hereby reserved from entry or settlement and set apart as a public reservation, all those certain tracts, etc."

It will be seen from this that the lands are only withheld from entry or settlement. There is nothing mentioned concerning the use of the land for grazing or other purposes, and no intimation that citizens are to keep off the grass. There is no penalty provided for trespassing upon the reservation, and in fact the only object in the law was to prevent the title to the lands passing from the government. There is no reason why stockmen should not utilize the grass, and herd their flocks at will anywhere they please on the reservation. Keep off the grass only applied to Coxey.

The Monroe Doctrine.

The much talked of Monroe doctrine was laid down by President Monroe in his message to the eighteenth congress, Dec. 2, 1823, and is as follows:

"We owe it to candor and to the amiable relations existing between the United States and the allied powers, to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety. With the existing colonies or dependencies of any European power we have not interfered, and shall not interfere; but with the governments which have declared their independence and maintained it, and whose independence we have, on great consideration and just principles, acknowledged, we could not view an interposition for oppressing them, or controlling in any other manner their destiny, by any European power, in an other light than as a manifestation of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States."

Three Runaways.

The western end of the county reports three runaways Saturday, all attended by personal injury. Dr. Morgan of Hood River, was thrown out of his buggy by its colliding against a tree and sustained severe bruises. Robt. Hardwick of Mosier, was thrown about ten feet in the air by the same accident.

In League With Pleasure.

The entertainment on Wednesday evening by the Epworth League, assisted by their numerous friends, will be full of good things, witty things, funny things, things to make you laugh.

The music is of a select character and will be rendered by our best local talent. The "Speaking Tableaux," or "Vignettes from Life," will be posed by Miss Grubbs, who has made a thorough study of artistic posing under the best masters. The scarf drill is a novel and beautiful thing among the many drills and when executed by seven of the most beautiful young ladies of The Dalles will be most enjoyable.

The winding of the May pole is an old time custom that calls to remembrance happy days of the past to the old folks and fills young hearts with joy.

Miss Grubbs will give as recitation, "The Boat Race." Miss Grubbs' old friends will be delighted to hear her again and those who have not heard her will be charmed by her easy, natural manner, her graceful gestures and bright sparkling face as she speaks. She is a natural elocutionist and has cultivated her talent from childhood. After receiving the best training in Oregon, she took a regular course and graduated with honors from that celebrated school in Boston, the New England Conservatory. The League are sure of pleasing and hope the public will generously patronize their effort.

PERSONAL MENTION.

- Saturday.
Mr. J. N. Burgess is in from Bake Oven.
Mrs. Heppner arrived home today from Portland.
Mr. H. Clay, who shot Grider near Olex last week, is in the city.
Fred Wallace of Antelope and W. R. Cantrell of Dufur are in the city.
W. S. Cram of Portland is kept busy shaking hands with old friends here. He came up yesterday.
Mr. Milton Harlan, formerly editor of THE CHRONICLE, came up from Mosier yesterday, and made the office a very pleasant visit.
Mr. F. M. Chrisman of Silver Lake is in the city. Mr. Chrisman, if we are rightly informed, was the owner of the building burned last winter, in which so many of the settlers lost their lives.

Monday.
T. J. Wickens was among those up from Hood River today.

Lieutenant Farber, who is in charge of the Warm Springs reservation, arrived in last night, accompanied by his wife and little child. They went to Portland today, it being their first trip to the country west of The Dalles, and will visit Vancouver before returning.

Judge Bennett arrived home from Vancouver yesterday. He was retained to defend Anderson, accused of murdering a man named Bull, in Skamania county, and made one of the efforts of his life. His arguments to the jury lasted five hours and a half, and the jury was out only thirty-seven minutes until it arrived at a verdict of acquittal.

Tuesday.
Mrs. N. E. Biggs went to Sherman county today, to attend the county convention of the W. C. T. U.

Mr. H. M. Beall is in the city, arriving this afternoon and will remain until tomorrow, provided he can get through greeting old friends by that time.

BORN.
In this city, April 28th, to the wife of M. F. Hancock, a daughter.

To Our Patrons.
Having this day sold our business and good will to Charles Cooper and E. A. Mann, who will take possession tomorrow morning, we desire to return our thanks to our friends and patrons, and to bespeak for our successors a continuance of their friendship and patronage.
