Wednesday's Daily.

Tommy, the trick horse, came up on the Regulator last night.

The boat was quite late last night, not leaving the locks until 4:30.

Four drunks yesterday and one today is the record in the city court.

Register Moore's dog, Bismarck, is still alive, but his owner has little hopes of his recovery.

Mr. J. Folco has a brand new soda fountain with all the latest fixtures. Call and see it.

Quite a number of wagons and emigrant outfits were brought up on the Regulator last night, bound for the interior.

The finest rain of the season fell last night, and as it was followed by warm weather it is probable we shall have a repetition of it tonight.

Concert, vignettes, etc., etc., at the opera house tonight. If you don't go, you won't see some things that you can't laugh at because you didn't see 'em. See!

The Durrant case begins to look very hopeful for the prisoner. The Pinkertons have been called in and no juror will believe a Pinkerton detective under oath or anything else.

The Eugene Guard says that Friday Mr. Frank Hampton will ship five cars of cattle from that place to Portland, and thence to The Dalles by boat. From here the cattle will be driven to Crook county.

The Herrick cannery made its first run this morning, putting up about 1500 pounds of chinooks. Everything worked smoothly, and all that is now required to make the business a success is more fish, and plenty of them.

Mr. E. C. Pentland of Independence, has begun the publishing of a Sunday paper, known as the Sunday Record. The new feature of the venture is that he takes the dispatches for that morning, giving his readers the very latest news. It ought to receive liberal patronage, for it is a bright little paper.

Be sure and go to supper this evening with the ladies of the First Christian church, in the old Chronicle office. You will have ample time to get a good square meal, and then attend the entertainment at the opera house. Don't forget to come and after the entertainment come back with your best girl and treat her to ice cream and cake.

The Sunday fishing proposition is receiving considerable attention just now on account of Washington having abolished the law prohibiting fishing on Sundays. The law is still in force in Oregon, and as both states have jurisdiction over the river, there is quite a clash of authority. Of course, it does not seem proper that a man should be allowed to catch fish on one side of the river and not on the other on any particular day, but under the existing circumstances this is what is being done. Some of the Oregon fishermen will make a test case of it. We understand that Attorney General Ideman is preparing an opinion on the matter for the guidance of Fish Commissioner McGuire.

Latest novelties in Sailors, Mother Goose crowns, at Mrs. M. E. Briggs'.

License to wed was issued yesterday to Thomas Lacy and Miss Ida Billen, both of Hood River.

One hobo was before the recorder this morning to learn the measure of his penance. The recorder sized it up as about $5 worth.

The Epworth League desires to thank most heartily all the friends who so kindly assisted them in their entertainment last evening.

The man with the bill book has been interviewing our citizens again today, it being the day set apart for the settling of monthly accounts.

One of the nearest jobs of painting in the city is still completed on the front of Andy Baldwin's saloon. It is done in maroon and gold.

Joseph Proulx filed his declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, this morning. He renounces allegiance to the queen of Great Britain.

The ladies of the Christian church report the receipts for their supper and ice cream last night at about $40, and are highly pleased at the generous patronage they received.

Fern lodge, Degree of Honor, will give a social at Fraternity hall, next Wednesday evening. A musical and literary program, refreshments and dancing will entertain the guests. Admission, 25 cents.

The Herrick cannery yesterday in its opening run put up seventy-five cases of first-class chinook salmon. The supply is increasing daily, owing to more wheels getting to work rather than to any great increase in the run.

Two young gentlemen in Portland wound up a night's dissipation by turning on a fire alarm. Judge Smith after listening to their statements, took the case under advisement for about half a minute, and then fined them $100 each. They will not indulge in that kind of luxury soon again.

For the nine months ending March 31, the number of persons coming to this country to find homes was 140,980 as against 218,648 in the same time in 1894, and 259,560 in 1893. The money brought by them amounted to $2,395,846, or about $17 each, and yet we claim there is a law against pauper immigration.

Quite a number of Dalles people went out to Williams' grove yesterday to attend the May-day picnic. They all report having had a delightful time. There were about 200 present, the music was fine, and the eatables and other substantial features of the occasion were all that could be desired. Mr. J. C. Burks, of Sherman county, was orator for the occasion and his address is highly spoken of.

Judge Bellinger is "onto his job" all right, and does not purpose standing in with the criminal class employed by this government to promote crime. Doc Davenport, who is a counterfeiter, was brought before him for trial for counterfeiting silver coins. He pleaded guilty, but made a long statement to the effect that Harris, the United States special agent, had employed Fresch to get him to make the coins, Fresch bought the solder and the plaster for the molds. Judge Bellinger does not believe special agents should go over the country tempting men to commit a crime for the purpose of having them punished, and so will discharge Davenport. If the department would follow suit and discharge Harris, justice would be done.

Friday's Daily.

The Winans' Bros. report ripe strawberries at their place today.

The Wasco warehouse received about one hundred sacks of wool yesterday.

A large portion of the wool being received comes from Klickitat county. A large load of it crossed the river at noon.

The work train is still carrying an immense amount of rock and earth to points east of town, filling up the old trestles. The rock comes from the new grade at the high trestle.

County court meets Monday and commissioners court Wednesday. All claims not presented by Tuesday night will not be considered at this term.

The East End was unusually quiet this morning. The stockyards were empty, but Mr. Saltmarsh expects 1500 sheep in tonight for shipment to Troutdale. Wool as yet is coming in slowly.

Charles Fortune has taken his stable of runners to Portland to the Irvington track to train for the June meeting. Among those taken were Jim Crow, Deschutes and Volta, and they are good ones too.

The interior of the old Vogt opera house is like a beehive. Scaffolding has been put up, and everything is being put in shape for the work to be pushed. It will be but a short time until the building will be ready for occupancy by the militia boys.

The Dalles has had less rainfall than usual this spring and considerably less than the territory all around it. Yesterday there was a generous rainfall in the southern part of the county, which extended over Heppner and probably much further east.

Some of our young gentlemen are advocating the forming of a base ball club, and to "start the ball" will meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the council chambers to discuss the matter. The Dalles has some excellent material for a ball club and should by all means organize. It is a fine athletic sport, the national game, and should not be allowed to fall into decay.

Mr. Samuel A. Lester of Mitchell, Crook county, was married at Condon Monday, April 29th, to Miss Lizzie Sherrard of Sumner, Coos county. Mr. Lester was formerly clerk at the Warm Springs, and is a bright, energetic and clever gentleman. We have not the pleasure of knowing Mrs. Lester, but congratulate her on having won a man worthy of her, though she were a queen.

The Herrick cannery made another small run today, putting up about fifty cases. Quite a number of our citizens visited the cannery, and were all pleased with the completeness of the plant. The run is still light, but if there is even a moderate run the cannery will have all the fish it can handle, but Mr. Herrick is confident that he can easily handle all that can be caught by running at night as by doing so he can put up 1500 cases in twenty-four hours.

The Currant Creek Road.

Last week Mr. J. H. Sherar invited several citizens of this place out to see the work he had already done on the new Currant creek road, a few miles southeast of here. None could get away at the time but Messrs. N. W. Wallace and W. D. Jones, who were out all day Thursday, and have the following report to make:

They say it would surprise anyone to see the amount of work Mr. Sherar has done on the road with the limited funds and in such a short time. It is a very rough, mountainous country out there, but the road has been laid out so well that, when completed, a team could easily trot up the grade at any place, there not being a steep place in the whole road. The sixteen Indians who are employed are all well experienced road workers, and one of them could do as much at his kind of work as could two or three inexperienced men. The road, so far as it has been built, is actually the best highway in this part of the country, and if the county court will at once appropriate $500 with which to complete the balance of the road, in less than two weeks there will be no obstruction between the upper country and The Dalles—the best local wool market on the coast. Heppner is working hard to get a road through to the Mitchell country, and if successful it will induce about 1/2 the travel to go that way instead of to The Dalles, that is unless this new Currant creek road is completed at once. Those who will be benefited most by the new road will be the business men of The Dalles, and it is their duty to insist on the county court appropriating the requisite amount of money with which to complete this road. If this is not done, all the hard work already performed will be entirely lost. We believe the county court will do what is right in the matter.—Antelope Herald.

Concerning the Census.

EDITOR CHRONICLE:—I see by your article in yesterday's issue, that there are those who are disposed to think that an enumeration of this city does not give the population of The Dalles in numbers to suit their ideas of magnitude.

Now, I was not taking the census for any particular person or persons, consequently I did not inquire just what numbers would suit them; but the law makes it obligatory upon me as assessor of the county to take the census of the county. The Dalles included; so I adopted the best and only means by which a correct enumeration can be had and that was to take it street by street and house by house, through the entire city. I employed two competent men to assist me and started out with the instructions that they should miss no house, one taking one side of the street and the other the opposite, and miss no place that any one roomed above or below, not even a bachelor's cabin, and followed street by street and house by house, taking the cross streets myself, not missing a shanty without finding out who and how many lived there, and if we came to a house that the lady was not at home we invariably found out the name and number of residents by their next door neighbor, not doubting its correctness, and my roll is subject to inspection by any one and at any time, and if any of the critics can find a family in The Dalles that the name and number is not on my roll, I will find them a five dollar piece in the ashes, as I had no interests to serve nor favors to grant, other than doing my duty in performing the work and anyone is perfectly welcome to go over the work and I will compare rolls with them at any time.

Mr. Kelley's Roaring Wells.

Mr. H. Kelley of Juniper Flat made us a visit this morning and gave us a monthly record of the action of his two wells, which we are restrained from printing on account of its length. There are two bored wells on Mr. Kelley's place, each six inches in diameter, one 62 feet deep and the other 110. The peculiarity of the wells is that they are what is known as breathing wells, having a current of air flowing out of them for a time, and then being drawn back. The air is of the uniform temperature of 52 degrees. Mr. Kelley says that they record the passing of storms hundreds of miles away by the velocity of the wind coming from them, which at times causes a regular roar. The big storm at Seattle last winter was noted by them with a louder roaring than ever before. Mr. Kelley says the wells are quiet sometimes for an hour or two, but generally are in operation. He is of the opinion that the air in them is affected by the tides, but his figures showing that the air sometimes comes in the same direction for several days, will not bear out the statement.

A Neat Catch.

Yesterday afternoon at Umatilla a man named Jack Welch held up an old crippled barber, and robbed him of $87.75. A telegram was sent here to the marshal describing him and asking that he be arrested, and stating that he was coming down blind-baggage. Conductor Fowler, whose train he was supposed to be on, also had his description and finding the man on the platform, instead of firing him asked him inside, and kept a watch on him. Arriving here he turned him over to Nightwatchman Connelly, who at once searched him. He was about to despair of finding anything, but on taking off his shoes $87 of the money in bills, and some receipts to the man he held up were found in one of them. He is at present confined in the city jail, but Sheriff Hauser, of Umatilla county, will be down after him tonight, and there is no doubt but that he will go over the road.

Enderby Notes.

The May day picnic at the Campbell grove was a grand success. The morning opened with light showers of rain, which no doubt kept many from coming. Notwithstanding the heavy threatening clouds which floated over the horizon, sending forth at frequent intervals showers of earth's delight, which was no doubt gladness to the growing grain. At the early hour of 9 o'clock could be seen carriages, men women and children on horseback, wending their way to the Campbell grove, where everything was in readiness for a big time. Soon was heard the familiar cry of "Ice cream and lemonade, stirred up with a spade;" also the cry of the phonograph man, with the hose attachments to fit the ear, whispering the song or lecture spoken weeks before without disturbing the peace and quiet of those around, for the small sum of 5 cents.

Eleven o'clock having arrived, we looked around to see all the vacant seats occupied, with groups of smiling faces standing or reclining near by, and bands of gaily dressed children scampering to and fro, indicating by their movements they were most interested. It was May day; let's crown the queen. Soon we saw the genial face of Mr. Brigham of Dufur, who is escorted to the platform by the Harmony class, where there are in waiting to the left the three young ladies, dressed in white, who are to do honor to the occasion. A song by the Harmony class, "Merry May," and a neat and appropriate speech for the occasion by the speaker, the three young ladies in white arose and stepped to the front of the platform, the maids of honor Miss Cora Wingfield on the left, and Miss Myrtle Patterson on the right, with a beautiful garland of flowers they crowned Miss Daisy Davidson queen of the May, who recited with her usual style and gesture, "The Frozen North to Southern Climes," holding the vast audience enraptured during the recitation. Congratulated by their friends and admired by all, those three will not soon forget the picnic in the Campbell grove.

And now for the baskets and boxes filled with good things. It looked as if all intended to stay a week, each bringing enough for themselves and friends, so there was plenty to eat and to spare. The day being fine the afternoon was spent in laughable games until the evening, when we found they had not only come for the picnic but the grand concert at night. Long before the time for opening the crowd wanted admittance. Only by the sweet strains of the Dufur band was the crowd kept out until the time for opening. We will simply say we had not the room to hold all that wanted admittance. The windows were thrown open and all that could squeeze their heads in did so, to get a glimpse of what was going on. The program being long and the hall and ante rooms crowded, half past ten found us not near through, so we had to close with several pieces left. The receipts for the evening were much larger than expected.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. H. M. Beall made but a brief stay, leaving for home this morning.

Mr. Wm. A. Jones, deputy supreme commander Knights of the Maccabers, is in the city and intends organizing a subordinate body of the order here.

Mr. Charles Tibbets, the genial express messenger, received a telegram yesterday from California announcing the serious illness of his father, and calling him to his bedside. He left this morning, and it is probable will never return, as should his father's illness terminate fatally, he will remain with his mother.

Mr. Hobart, superintendent of the state portage railroad at the Cascades, is in the city.

Mr. T. R. Meyer, representing the Stark Medicine Co., and advance agent of the O. K. T. Concert Company made us a pleasant call this morning.

Judge Bradshaw will leave for Prineville tomorrow or Saturday, court opening there next Monday. Several of the legal fraternity will accompany him.

Mr. M. Kennedy of Wamic is in the city. In conversation with a CHRONICLE reporter he stated that the grain in that section was looking fine and was much further advanced than that nearer the river. A generous rain visited them a few days ago, and all vegetation is just a booming.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Brown of Grass Valley are in the city.

Mr. L. S. Logan, one of Crook county's principal stockmen, is in the city.

J. W. Howard, one of Crook county's commissioners and leading cattleman, arrived in from Prineville yesterday.

Judge Bradshaw leaves for Prineville in the morning to open court there Monday. Mr. Frank Menefee will accompany him. We understand the docket is a short one, and will soon be run through.

DIED.

At Dufur, today, a son of Dr. Dietrich, aged about 12 years.

There are at present six factories in this country manufacturing sugar from beets. Three of these are located in California, two in Nebraska and the remaining one in Utah. A plant has been located in Virginia, but has never been operated on the same scale as the others. The largest of these factories is the one at Watsonville, Cal., which has a capacity of about 1,600 tons of beets per day. The Ohio factory consumes eight hundred tons. It was enlarged during the past season and now, perhaps, equals that at Watsonville. The other factories each average about eight hundred tons daily.

A delegation of Workmen from Temple lodge of this city will go to Hood River tomorrow afternoon, for the purpose of assisting in the initiation of several persons desirous of knowing the working of the order and enjoying its benefits. The old lodge goat has been under the especial care of Tom Ward for a week, getting his muscles hardened for the extra work. Tom has been giving him a diet of tin cans, Mexican beans and surplus programs left over from recent entertainments, and Tom says he will bump the boys against the ceiling, sure.

Bikes.

Mays & Crowe have added to their already extensive stock the largest and most complete line of bicycles in the city. For a $100 wheel they have the Rambler, which is one of the best known bicycles on the market. It has many special features and patents, not found on any other wheel, one of which is their detachable tire, which is admitted to be the best tire yet discovered, and which is now used by half of the manufacturers in the United States. They also have the agency, direct from the manufacturers, for the celebrated Waverly bicycles, which are forging ahead of everything else this season, the factory having already turned out over 20,000 of the '95 wheels, and not being able at the present time to fill their orders. This wheel is certainly a very handsome one, and is claimed to be the highest of high grade, and what is still better they sell for $85 and the ladies' wheel for $75.

In addition to these they have the Chicago Ideals, which are made by the manufacturers of the Rambler, as a second grade wheel, are strong and substantial, and it is hard to see the difference between them and the $100 wheel. These are sold at $55 and $65.

They also have bicycles to rent, by the day or hour.

A SUFFERING CHILD

Head and Scalp Raw with Places Size of Silver Dollar. Various Remedies only caused Fresh Eruptions. Applied CUTICURA. Change in Twenty-four Hours. Perfect Cure in Two Weeks.

My little son, aged three, was very much troubled with a breaking out on his scalp and behind his ear. The places affected were about as large as a silver dollar; the flesh seemed raw and covered with little blisters. The child suffered considerably, and was naturally very fretful. I tried several remedies without obtaining any beneficial results; in fact the eruptions seemed to be spreading and new places breaking out. I concluded to try the CUTICURA REMEDY. I washed the affected parts with the CUTICURA SOAP, taking care not to irritate the scalp, and applied CUTICURA. I noticed a change for the better in the appearance of the eruptions in twenty-four hours, and in two weeks the eruptions entirely disappeared, leaving the skin smooth and the scalp clean; in fact a perfect cure, as I have not seen any indications of any eruption or breaking out since. I gave the child only a few doses of the CUTICURA REMEDY. I consider your CUTICURA REMEDY very valuable. I believe CUTICURA would be excellent for applying to insect bites, which are very annoying in this country.
