A friend of a member of THE CHRONICLE force, who is travelling in the Northwest, has written a letter which gives some of the impressions received during the trip. The writer has an artistic temperament and sees the beauties of nature with an artistic eye. The following are some portions of the letter: Among the facts concerning the Oregon country, in the which I am favorably impressed, is the absence of the insect-pests, which pervade too many districts further east. What a devastating plague is that growth of the white mountain grasshoppers in Minnesota! They have been gradually increasing there during the last three years. The local editors and news-gatherers told me that they were first noticed in the Red River valley, and in Pine and Chisago counties, where they are now most numerous. They were very few in number, and caused no alarm three years ago. They planted their eggs undisturbed. Next season there were more of them. This season there are countless millions, and in the sections in which they have been bred they threaten the absolute destruction of the crop. Further west, as I was looking at some lands near the gateway to the Yellowstone National Park, a fluttering something like a big, black fly settled an instant on my hand. I felt a prick like that of a pin, brushed the fly away and a little, red stream of blood spurt up from my hand. The gnat, as it had rested, had bored through the skin and flesh. I did not visit the Yellowstone Park because I was told—I do not know how truly—that the air there was full of these winged dragons, that passengers and tourists are carried so swiftly from point to point to escape these blood-suckers, that there is no opportunity to watch or enjoy the geysers. Also let me mention the striking beauty of the scenery along the O. R. & N. Where there is in the United States any river that combines the blue breadth of the Columbia; its so picturesque river and mountains; its gardens and orchards; its fresh inspiring pine-perfumed atmosphere; its musical cascades, with the absence of swamps, mosquitoes, profaning crowds, prettiness of view and the like? Lying at ease within my curtained bed, I watch the moon lit landscape glimmer by—Soft shadowed meadows, and the hills that lie around them, with a misty foliage spread. Towns silent and adream, and overhead A sombre sky stirs with such a grace As flushed uncertainly the pallid face Of Jairus' daughter rising from the dead. Far off Mount Ranier swims into the view, Its mist-hung summit towering over all; The sun swings low upon the mountain's crest, Against a sky that burns to orange hue; And for a moment, like a silver ball, By hand of Titan hung, remains at rest. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. To be Taken to Chicago. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 15.—It has practically been decided that H. R. Holmes, the alleged murderer of Minnie and Nannie Williams, B. F. No one can feel well with a disordered liver or diseased kidney. Diseases in the organs should receive prompt attention, as neglect will lead to much misery and sorrow. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm should be taken as soon as the first symptoms of trouble are manifest. It is well known to all dealers in medicine as a safe and reliable cure for diseases in the liver or kidneys. Price $1.00 per bottle. For sale by Snipes-Kinersly Druggists. Seventeen Were Drowned.
