LOCAL BREVITIES.

Wednesday's Daily.

County court is now in session.

A daughter was born this morning to the wife of Henry Teague.

The days of Indian summer are upon us. The weather is delightful.

Mr. L. E. Crowe was chosen a judge of the tournament races in Vancouver.

The weather forecast for tomorrow says scattering showers and stationary temperature. A slight sprinkle fell here this morning.

The two men who were charged with swindling in the diamond lay out, and committed to the county jail, were last night released on bail.

The funeral of Lyndon Taylor, who died this morning, will take place from the Congregational church tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

A petition was filed with the probate court asking that letters of administration be granted in the estate of the late I. I. Burget. Mrs. A. T. Burget was appointed administratrix.

A car of fruit from The Dalles sold in Philadelphia yesterday, and one in St. Louis. When Wasco fruit sells in such widely different places our fruit resources are bound to be advertised.

"Three Musketeers of the Brush; or Life in the Latin Quarter" will be presented tonight at the Baldwin. This piece is worth seeing. "A word to the wise is sufficient." You had better go.

County court is in session this afternoon, with Judge Blakeley and Commissioners Blowers and Darnielle in attendance. The business that will come before the court will be mainly of a routine nature.

A bond for a deed was given by Simon Frazier to Harry Gray and filed with the county clerk. There was also filed a deed from I. I. Burget to A. T. Burget, conveying lots 11 and 12 in block 19 in Dalles City; consideration $5.

Something must be wrong with The Dalles "mascoets." Yesterday they were all right and our boys won, but today we got nary a race. The "mascoets" were taken along to bring the team good luck, and their charm was expected to last longer than one day.

The farmers are hurrying with their threshing and getting the sacks of wheat under cover. The threatening aspect of the weather is a reminder of the rainy season of two years ago, when a vast amount of wheat in Klickitat, Sherman and Wasco counties was destroyed. We want no repetition this year, as we haven't as much to lose.

A scow towing a lot of piling for the new warehouse arrived yesterday from the Cascades. The timber is of shorter length, as the part of the work which required long piling has been finished. The pile driver is making rapid progress and in a few days carpenters will begin laying the floor. The piling is drawn from the river to the place of operations by horses.

A cab service was started this afternoon by Ward, Kerns & Robertson. Calls will be answered day and night to any part of the city. The day stand will be upon Second street and the night stand at the corner of Court and Second streets. This venture will be a great convenience to travellers and parties coming on the late trains. Twenty-five cents will be charged for service to all points under the bluff and 50 cents for all points on the bluff. The cab will be at all trains and boats.

The play at the opera house last night was well attended, though the crowd was not so large as on the previous evening. The audience was well pleased with the rendition of "Jack o' Diamonds" and the applause was very liberal. The play was one that required some heavy acting and while the work last night was very meritorious, most people prefer to see Lucy and Vena Payton in work of a soubrette nature. The company scored another success and insured a larger attendance tonight. When the people now at the tournament return the audiences will be greater.

Great excitement was caused in town last night upon the receipt of the news from Vancouver saying the Dalles boys had won the first race. Those who take an interest in this sort of thing were on the qui vive of excitement during the day, and in the afternoon waited impatiently for the news. When it was learned that The Dalles boys were the victors, there was a display of enthusiasm which would have done credit to a political jollification. There was an exuberance of spirits and much hand-shaking and clapping on the back. The expectation had been that our team would win, but such news was necessary to make it safe to hurrah.

Rev. G. H. Worthen has concluded his course of lectures at the Methodist church. The house last night was crowded to its utmost capacity, as it has been at every session. The gentleman is a powerful speaker and his words flow in easy volume. He is quite dramatic and at all times fearless in his statements and conclusions. He arrayed in scathing terms the sins of this generation and dealt intemperance and its accompanying evils body blows. The speaker was listened to with much attention by his audience, most of whom seemed in sympathy with his arguments.

Tuesday's Daily

A large shipment of hogs was made by the Regulator this morning.

Three cars of fruit passed through The Dalles last night. They were shipped from Portland to Chicago.

The little child of Mr. Harper, living on the hill, had its arm broken last night. Dr. Doane attended to the injury.

A deed was filed today from J. K. Kelly and Mary Kelly of Washington, D. C., to A. L. Reese, conveying lot 1 of block 27, bluff addition to Dalles City. Consideration $125.

A telegram received from the weather bureau this morning, says that Friday and Saturday will be fair, with a stationary temperature. Probable frost may occur Friday morning.

Services will be held at Dufur next Saturday evening and Sunday morning and evening. Elder J. W. Jenkins will preach at those times. A cordial invitation is extended for all, who can, to attend.

The county court is busy allowing and disallowing bills that are presented. A petition by A. S. Roberts and others for a road near 15-Mile, against which a remonstrance has been filed, will be heard at 4 o'clock.

Mr. R. C. Wallis of Rufus is in the city today. He reports the price of wheat at that station to be from 31 to 32 cents. Wheat is bringing 42 to 43 cents a bushel here, and for some 46 cents was paid yesterday. This shows the advantage of a competitive market.

I. H. Taffe filed a notice of appeal today in the justice court from the judgment fining him $100 for fishing out of season. Mr. Taffe will carry the case to the circuit court and test the validity of the fishing law. The case will attract much attention.

Mike Callahan came in from Tygh Ridge today. He has just finished threshing, and from fifty acres of fall-sown wheat he secured 2035 bushels. This is an average of thirty-seven bushels to the acre. This shows what Wasco county can do when it tries.

The time will be taken up by the performance and the specialties that will be produced.

Two drunken Indians were arrested last night and brought before the recorder this morning. As they had neither money nor friends and seemed desirous of obtaining board at the county's expense, the recorder thought the best punishment would be to let them go, and he so ordered.

Manager Birgfeld yesterday wired our horse team at Vancouver inviting them to attend the performance at the Baldwin tonight. Seats will be reserved for the boys and the theatre appropriately decorated with blue and white, the colors of the team. A large attendance will doubtless be present to greet the returning victors.

A train load of horses is expected to pass through town today. They will receive an application of the butcher's knife at the Lunton establishment. By the number of shipments which are being made a few more horse canneries will soon dispose of the surplus studs, which the trolley car and bicycles have made a drug on the market.

Great preparations are being made to receive the boys from Vancouver tonight. The band will be at the wharf and give the team a musical reception. The Umatilla House bus has been gaily decorated with blue and white and stuccoed with brooms. The decorations were superintended by Judd Fish. The crowd at the wharf will be a large one.

Rev. A. Horn has returned from Walla Walla, where he introduced Rev. Ad Eberle to his congregation. Years ago when he organized the congregation in Walla Walla it was only a little flock, but now the Lutherans have both a large membership and a nice church building, and they will soon build a parsonage. There will be services here next Sunday at the usual hour.

Friday's Daily

Fair and warmer weather is predicted for tomorrow.

Frost was reported in the vicinity of 8-Mile last night.

The Dalles hose team thinks there is no place like home.

Sixty-six children are enrolled at the East Hill primary school.

A car of fruit, loaded for Chicago, left The Dalles this morning. Four cars came from Portland.

There should be a large attendance at the Baldwin tonight to witness the performance of the "Octoroon." The liberal treatment by Manager Birgfeld and Mr. Payton of the hose companies should not go unappreciated and the boys will show tonight that they can return a favor as well as take one.

Dr. Ebelman has received notice of his appointment as consulting physician on the staff of the Portland hospital, which has been turned into a homeopathic institution.

The total enrollment of the public schools for this week is 522. The number of scholars for the same period a year ago was 455, a gain of 67. The high school this year numbers 61 pupils against 44 last year. The anticipation by teachers and directors for a larger attendance has been justified, and the end is not yet.

The funeral of the late Lyndon Taylor took place yesterday from the Congregational church. A large number of sorrowing friends of the family attended the services, while many schoolmates of the dead boy were present. There were evidences of much grief in the large circle of friends, which during his life time Lyndon possessed. The services were brief, but very impressive. The pastor, W. C. Curtis, preached a short sermon.

One of the rules of the Firemen's Association, is that at every meeting a banquet shall be given to the visiting fire companies. As this was not done at Vancouver, Messrs Sinnott and Fish supplied the deficiency as far as The Dalles boys were concerned by the elegant repast given them last night. And the best of it was that some of the friends of the hose team were able to be present which would not have been the case at Vancouver.

At the Opera House.

The house that greeted the Payton company last night was a crowded one. The announcement that the hose boys would be invited was the attraction that drew many people besides the large number that went to see the actors for their own sakes. Blue and white bunting decorated the stage and the fact that there had been a tournament was everywhere made apparent. Senter Payton appeared with an immense cresset of the team's colors and the different members of the company made the same sort of recognition. An entire row of seats had been placed across the building, which were occupied by the hose team.

The play, "Man and Master," which was presented last night, is a new one to a Dalles audience. Senter and Lucy Payton in their roles of comedy did good work, and the singing by the latter of "Little Alabama Coon" brought out repeated encores. Mr. Molyneux and Mr. Fansher acted well the serious parts, while D. E. Curtis as Nelson Oak, the villain of the play, acted his role with great success. The remainder of the cast gave good support. Tonight the famous "Octoroon" will be presented to the audience.

County Court Doings.

Judge Blakeley and Commissioners Blowers and Darnielle are grinding away on county matters.

The resignation of Constable Glian of Antelope precinct was accepted.

Liquor licenses were granted to T. W. Badder, J. H. McDonough and E. Nelson of Cascade Locks.

A petition signed by F. Stranahan and others for a road in 15-Mile against which a remonstrance was filed, was not granted.

Petition for a road near Hood river asked for by F. H. Stanton, was allowed.

A road petitioned for by G. W. Johnston and others near Dufur, was declared open as well as one petitioned for by F. H. Wakefield and others.

In the matter of the Sherar grade on Current creek, J. H. Sherar, C. C. O'Neil and W. S. Kelsey were appointed viewers, and E. F. Sharp surveyor.

The road petition of A. Ciarno and others was continued till the next term.

The court will be busy the rest of the week.

Our Team Wins on the "Dalles City."

The winning qualities of The Dalles team did not end when they left Vancouver for home. They also won three races on board the steamer Dalles City and distanced all competitors. The beefsteak race against time was won in 2 min. and 3/4 sec. The hotcake sweepstakes against Cascade Locks was won so quickly that time could not be taken. The soup and pie race against all comers was won by a scratch spoonful, after which they took the Regulator for home, and arrived in fine condition for the Umatilla House banquet. Steward Talbot says whoever backs The Dalles team against the human race in a pie match is a sure winner. The boys declare the fault is with the stewards and their assistants for such splendid meals were set on both boats that the captain of the hose team became so interested he forgot to tell the boys when to stop.

PEASE & MAYS.

LIFE IN THE LATIN QUARTERS.

The Payton Company Score a Great Success at the Baldwin in a New Piece.

A large audience greeted the Paytons last night and listened to the production for the first time in The Dalles of "The Three Musketeers of the Brush, or Life in the Latin Quarters, Paris." The plot was well known to those who had read a recent novel of international fame and the scenes were familiar ones, though under a new caption. The play last night was the best that this company has yet given in The Dalles. Although the story is one of great interest, the dramatization has been hard to accomplish and it is only a high order of acting that can hold the attention of an ordinary audience throughout the plot. The story is intricate, and while many parts are amusing to read, the situations on the stage are such that unless in the hands of artists they would be apt to appear flat. That the latter fact did not occur last night is itself high praise for the members of the Payton company. This difficult piece was acted with much skill by every participant in the cast.

Senter Payton, who took the part of "Srengali," the hypnotic villain, proved himself an actor of far more than ordinary merit. The character of "Srengali" was far different from any other part Mr. Payton has taken in The Dalles and very different from the comedy, in which he excels. In his make-up he looked the image of the "Srengali," as pictured by Du Maurier. His acting was at all times powerful and drew from the audience much commendation. In his hypnotic scenes he was especially strong.

F. C. Molyneux made a capital "Tuffy," large in frame and of boundless good nature. He was ably seconded by the other member of the trio of friends, the "Laird," impersonated by D. E. Curtis. Both these gentlemen had parts admirably suited to their histrionic powers.

"Little Billie," who with "Tribby," is one of the attractive personages of the story, was taken by Vena Payton, who acted the part admirably.

Lucy Payton was an ideal "Tribby" and added much to her already full crown of laurels. In looks and actions she carried out the character of one who while under the influence of a stronger mind, changed her character into that of an another.

Iola Payton, as "Madame Vinard," and the remainder of the cast carried out the parts assigned to them in a manner very satisfactory to the audience.

Those who did not attend last night missed something well worth seeing.

The Races This Morning at Vancouver.

The news which comes from Astoria today is not as cheering as that of yesterday. Two telegrams, received at noon, say that in the dry test, which was run this morning, the Astoria boys made the time in 46 seconds; The Dalles in 46 2-5; Vancouver in 47, and Oregon City in 49. A dispute immediately arose over the fact that the Astoria team did not screw the nozzle tight. The dispatch stated that the judges gave the race to Oregon City, and disqualified the other contestants. The message is full of mysteries, and gives no hint of why the three teams were disqualified. A protest was entered, and the decision will probably be held in abeyance till the matter is further looked into. In the speed contest, which occurred later, the Astoria boys were again victorious, with the Dalles team second. The Astoria ran in 23 4-5, Vancouver 25, Oregon City 24 1/2, Dalles 24 1-5. The great race of the meeting is this afternoon, when the championship contest will occur. As the race will not occur till 3 o'clock, and will occupy considerable time in running, the result will probably not reach us before going to press. Everyone is anxious for The Dalles team to win this race, as it is the chief one of the series.

Death of a Bright Young Man.

Lyndon Taylor, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Taylor, died this morning at a little after 6 o'clock. He had been sick several days, suffering from inflammation of the bowels, and yesterday the attending physician and watchers saw that life was ebbing and death near. Lynn was aged just 17, and was an unusually bright and manly boy. He was the idol of his father and mother, and the blow to them will be a crushing one. He attended regularly the Congregational church, and the pastor, Mr. Curtis, spent most of yesterday at the bedside.

Several days ago Lyndon was on a visit to his grandmother, Mrs. J. H. Mosier, at Mosier station, and went in swimming. Soon afterwards he began to feel badly and thinking he would be sick, got on his horse and rode home, a distance of over sixteen miles. He was taken much worse immediately, and for some time before his death was delirious. The funeral services will take place tomorrow.

Home From the Conference.

Rev. J. H. Wood returned yesterday from the conference and comes prepared to remain in The Dalles another year. The appointments to the different charges were very satisfactory to both ministers and churches and the utmost good feeling and enthusiasm pervaded all the work of the conference. The people of Spokane extended every possible courtesy to their visitors and the houses of citizens were thrown open for entertainment. On last Sunday the various pulpits were occupied by visiting Methodist ministers, who preached to large audiences. The reputation of Spokane for hospitality was in no way diminished by its treatment of the conference members. Mr. Wood will occupy his pulpit as usual next Sunday.

A Belief in the Future of The Dalles.

Mr. John Summerville and family, who have been spending the summer at Hay Creek, were in The Dalles last night on their way to Portland. They took passage by the Regulator this morning. Mr. Summerville makes his home in Portland, but spends a large portion of the year at Hay Creek, Crook county, where he is interested in the Baldwin Sheep and Live Stock Company. In conversation with a Chronicle representative, Mr. Summerville expressed an opinion in which he considered the prospects of The Dalles to be of the very brightest nature. "The country," he said, "which surrounds this city is fast settling up and new farms are continually being opened. With the opening of the Cascade locks a greater stimulation to all kinds of business enterprises will be the natural result, and this fact will bring a large influx of immigration."

Mr. Summerville is one of Oregon's successful men, and his judgment is one that carries great weight with it.

The Dalles Boys Get an Ovation.

Our hose team made a very favorable impression at Vancouver yesterday, and at the close were enthusiastically cheered. Both in appearance and behavior, our boys elicited much favorable comment, as the following from the Vancouver correspondent of the Oregonian will show.

A tedious delay occurred between this and the last run, and when the splendid-looking fellows from The Dalles finally put in an appearance the prolonged cheers which greeted them was probably as much an expression of relief as of approbation. The plucky East Oregonians made a magnificent race without a bobble, and captured first money by three-fifths of a second. Pandemonium fairly broke out when the decision of the judges was announced, and the members of the victorious team were fairly carried off their feet by the enthusiastic crowd. The members of the Vancouver team cheered as loudly as the rest, feeling that they had enough of a victory for one day, and that the honors had been fairly won by their opponents.
