LOCAL BREVITIES.

Wednesday's Daily.

A private car containing Superintendent O'Brien and party was attached to the local from Portland this morning.

Today is collection day. Merchants report that bills are being paid more promptly than for some months and collections are good.

The Degree of honor will hold a meeting tonight, at which all members are requested to be present. Matters of importance will come before the lodge.

The sewer on Union street caved in last night and as a result, the street in the vicinity is badly overflowed. The street commissioner is busy today repairing the break.

The scow Rustler, with the lumber for the new dock, arrived last night and no time was lost in unloading. The carpenters, who have been inconvenienced by the non-arrival of the lumber, will be again at work.

The Independent Workers held a social last Monday evening, which was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by those who were present. Three candidates were initiated, after which the evening was given over to social enjoyment.

E. H. Merril, John Osborn and S. S. Smith leave tomorrow for Crates Point where they will put in nets and lines for sturgeon fishing. A good deal of money was made last year in this business and a good many fishermen are going to try it again this season.

While The CHRONICLE'S steam press was running off the semi-weekly edition, a break in the machinery occurred, which caused a temporary delay. The damage has been repaired and the remaining papers will be issued today. The city list had been printed, so it is our country friends who have been inconvenienced.

Justice Davis court has been occupied all day with a crowd of spectators listening to the trial of Julius Rotherniel, charged with larceny. Some very amusing tilts between the attorneys and witnesses occurred. The prosecution has now been the greater part of two days, and as the defense has yet to bring in its witnesses there is no telling when the case will end.

Constable Urquhart, who had his shoulder dislocated some time since by being thrown from a buggy, has recovered sufficiently so that he has discarded all bandages and taken his arm from the sling. It will be sometime before he will be strong enough to perform the duties of his office. During his incapacity Hugh Chrisman is acting as constable.

Two deeds and a patent were filed for record with the county clerk today: The patent was issued to W. A. Slingerland and conveyed the w 1/2 ne 1/4, and the w 1/2 se 1/4, sec 12, tp 2 n., r 9 e., W. M. The state of Oregon also decided to the same party the nw 1/4 sw 1/4, sec 14, tp 2 n., r 10 e., W. M. A deed was filed from W. M. Brees to C. W. Dietzel for block 10 in the Fort Dalles Military Reservation addition to Dalles City.

At the business meeting of the Young Peoples Society of Christian Endeavor held last evening in the Congregational church, it was decided to hold a fair some time in December. The large army will be used for the purpose, and the people of The Dalles will be given the opportunity of seeing a festival such as was given at times, four or five years ago, before the disastrous fire. The young people are going to work with vim and from now till December will be busy making arrangements for the festival.

A band of sheep numbering 2700 was ferried across the river today. The sheep were brought from the Mt. Adams pasturage and purchased by Messrs. Wiseman and Sherar for the Chicago market. The stockyards presented a busy scene today while the sheep were being loaded in a train which will take them eastward tonight. Seventeen cars, some of them three deckers, were occupied by the sheep. The venture of buying this amount of stock and shipping east is a risky one and it is to be hoped good fortune will attend the result.

Despite the fact that Chicago market lowered its price for wheat yesterday and Portland dropped a half a cent, the market in The Dalles remains unchanged. If anything, the situation shows better strength. The Diamond Mill is paying forty-one cents and offering free ferrage; the Moody warehouse forty cents. S. B. Adams is also doing considerable buying and quotes his figures to the farmers at forty-one cents. The mill is getting most of the wheat today as the item of free ferrage is an important one to the farmers. The other warehouses are becoming crowded. The Wasco has put in increased flooring to accommodate over 6000 sacks. If the price raises and even continues at its present figure the next week will see freer selling. The farmers have their eyes on the fifty cent work, and everybody hopes wheat will reach that figure.

Thursday's Daily. Fair and warmer weather is predicted for tomorrow.

Elder J. H. Miller, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, will be in his pulpit next Sabbath morning and evening. Mr. Miller is on his way home from an extended visit in California.

The topic for consideration at the Congregational church tonight will be "Early Missionary's of This Country." Some reminiscences will be told by some of the older ones and a profitable meeting is expected.

The orchestra has been practicing every evening during the present week getting in trim for the evening concerts to be given in the armory during fair week. Lovers of music will be regaled with choice selections played in a perfect manner.

We learn that there are objections in Sherman county among meat stockmen entering The Dalles fair for prizes, chiefly because there is an alleged industrial enterprise, or combination down there, resolved upon retaining all honors amongst themselves.—Observer.

The freight train that generally leaves The Dalles about 8 a. m. for Portland, contained so many loads this morning that it failed to get across the bridge over Mill creek. The engine reached the cut, but then was stalled and had to back up to the switch. Another engine was coupled to the train and this time the grade was easily made.

City Marshal Blakely received a letter this morning from Constable Transa, at Cascade Locks, asking him to be on the look-out for H. F. Jackson, who is supposed to have taken himself to parts unknown. Jackson was arrested two months ago charged with keeping a bradwy house, and after an examination before Justice Birnie, was bound over to the grand jury. He was released on bail, and his bondsmen getting alarmed at his absence notified the authorities. It is possible Mr. Jackson is only taking a vacation, but those who are interested in his being present at the next term of court, wish he would make his intentions known.

H. Ladehoff, an employe of the Oregon Lumber Co. at Chenoweth, showed a CHRONICLE reporter this afternoon some gold which had been found on the head waters of the Cowlitz river, about 25 miles from Mt Adams and 75 miles from The Dalles. The gold is found in both placer and quartz mines, and judging from the specimen, the find is a rich one. The company which has been prospecting at this point consists of seven men, some of whom are residents of The Dalles. The prospectors are greatly elated over the indications so far and next spring will return to the locality of their discovery, expecting to take lots of gold from out the ground. The country around the head of the Cowlitz river has long been looked upon by miners as good mining land and persistent work has led to what seem to be rich diggings.

A new law firm is about to start in The Dalles, which we are confident will be numbered among the most successful. Nicholas J. Sinnott and Roger B. Sinnott, two young men born and raised in The Dalles, are busy today preparing to hang out their sign as attorneys-at-law. These young gentlemen are the sons of Col. N. B. Sinnott, a pioneer citizen of the Northwest, and have proved themselves possessors of more than ordinary ability. They both graduated from the Wasco Independent Academy and then went to the Notre Dame university from which institution they received bachelors degrees. The senior member of the firm, Nicholas, studied law under Judge A. S. Bennett, while Roger holds a diploma from the law school of the Notre Dame university. THE CHRONICLE wishes them the best of fortune in their professional career and is confident the members of the new firm will take high rank among the lawyers of Oregon.

Friday's Daily. Mrs. Gourlay is very ill. Maier & Benton received a large invoice of stoves today.

Subject at the Christian church this evening, "She Black Art. The brass band will practice this evening in the council chambers.

The weather report for today and tomorrow is fair and stationary.

Ward & Kerns were out today exercising their six-horse team for fair week.

Everything is quiet in the East End excepting the run of Kluckit wheat, which is holding out remarkably well.

The purses have been put up by the citizens of Hood River, and all those who attend are assured of some fine sport.

Prof. J. M. Garrison has a large class of writing students at the Court street school. The scholars are making good progress and Mr. Garrison says are an unusually capable class.

The ladies of the Good Intent society will serve pumpkin pies with sandwiches and coffee at the Methodist church this (Friday) evening. Only 15 cents will be charged and a good time promised.

Marshal Blakeney is doing some very good work on the streets leading to the fair grounds. He had a crowd of hobos out this morning putting the road in good condition for fair week.

The vag who was up before the recorder this morning and pleaded not guilty, came in court this afternoon and entered a plea of guilty. He was fined $50, with the privilege of leaving town within ten hours, or pay his fine. He decided to leave.

A small number of people left on the Regulator this morning for the Hood River fruit fair. We expected to see a large crowd go down this morning, but most of the people are waiting for tomorrow. Horse racing will be one of the features of tomorrow's card.

At the request of a number of our citizens, the "Arabian Nights" will probably be presented during fair week. This would be a great attraction for the people who come in to the fair, it is undoubtedly one of the best pieces ever put on the boards here by professionals or amateurs.

The recorder had a large audience greet him when he put in an appearance this morning. The following titled gentlemen were fined $10, one hob, two second time drunks. A vagrant was arrested last night, but as he did not plead guilty, his trial was set for this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

For the Oregon Industrial Exposition which opens at Portland, on the 5th inst. The Oregon Railway & Navigation Co., will make the extreme low rate of $2.25 for round trip, on Friday Oct. 11th., good to return until Sunday Oct. 13th. Remember tickets will be sold on the above date only. For further information call on or address, E. E. LYTLE, Agent.

Articles of incorporation for the East Side Water Supply Co. were filed with county clerk yesterday afternoon. The incorporators were Wm. Jackson, Levi Monroe and Virgil Winebell, all of Hood River. The place of business is Hood River and the object of the company is to supply water for irrigating purposes in Hood River valley. The capital stock is $3000, divided in sixty shares of $50 each.

Hon. Geo. A. Young, a prominent sheep raiser of this county returned last night from a trip to Montana, and expresses himself as well satisfied to remain a resident of Eastern Oregon. Among the many amusing incidents he has to relate, is that he saw an emigrant wagon train with the following inscription conspicuously displayed, "Colorado for Immigration, Nebraska for Starvation, Grover Cleveland's Administration for Hell and Damnation. We Are Bound for Oregon, or Bust."

On their arrival in The Dalles, Col. Sinnott, the veteran fisherman and host of the Umatilla House, has generously volunteered to set-up up for the immigrants.

Mr. C. F. Stephen has a very novel display in his shoe window. It consists of a flock of ten nearly full grown prairie chickens which have only been in captivity a week, and they are almost as tame as domestic chickens. A large number of people were attracted to the window last night and many were the queer questions asked. It seemed rather strange that in a land where there are so many prairie chickens that there should be such a great number of people who could not recognize the birds. Mr. Stephens is one of our up to-date business men and we may look for other unique displays by him.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Peters entertained a number of their friends last night. The house was beautifully decorated in autumn leaves and flowers. The evening was spent in dancing, card playing and other amusements. Mrs. Grace Dexter entertained the guests by some very fine selections on the piano. The early morning hour at which the party broke up, shows what a good time every one had. Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Crowe, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Fish, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Crossen, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hobson, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Briggs, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Corson, Judge and Mrs. Bradshaw, Judge and Mrs. Blakely, Mrs. J. Dexter, and Mrs. W. H. Wilson.

Disturbance at the Revival Services.

During the revival services at the Christian church the speaker and the audience have been bothered considerably by a disturbance caused, by a number of young boys who congregated at the outside door and by loud talking and various noises make their absence greatly desired by those inside the building. Last night several prominent members of the church notified Officer Connelly, who came promptly on the scene and took three of the youths to the city jail, where they remained for several hours. It is probably thoughtlessness on the part of the boys that caused them to get into trouble of this kind, but such thoughtlessness often leads to trouble of greater seriousness. The statute is very explicit upon the subject of disturbing religious meetings and section 1888 of Hill's code says:

If any person shall willfully disturb, interrupt or disquiet any assembly or congregation of people met for religious worship, whether in the house or in the open air * * * by making an unnecessary noise, within the place where such meeting is held, or so near it as to disturb the order or solemnity thereof, * * * such person, upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not less than one month nor more than six months, or by a fine not less than $10 nor more than $200

It is probable the boys did not willfully disturb the meeting, but the result was just as unpleasant, whether done intentionally or not. It is to be hoped there will be no further occasion for comment in this matter and the revival meetings be undisturbed. If otherwise, THE CHRONICLE is informed that a complaint will be entered and the disturbers brought to trial.

Found Not Guilty.

The trial of the state of Washington vs E. C. Smith, J. Smith, James Bunnell, John Bunnell, Albert West and James Canfield, charged with an assault upon F. A. Seufert, came to a conclusion last night by the jury returning a verdict of not guilty. The case was tried before Justice J. T. Rorick of Grand Dalles and a jury composed of William Brune, Peter Agidius, V. T. Cook, J. C. Barker, William Wilkinson and Mr. Pitman. A. S. Bennett and W. B. Presby appeared for the prosecution, and N. B. Brooks and Huntington & Wilson represented the six defendants. The case was drawn to a weary length, and more time was taken up in argument of disputed law points and the admissibility of evidence than in the testimony itself. The prosecution sought to prove that an assault had been committed upon Mr. Seufert, while in the enjoyment of his legal rights. The defence claimed that the defendants had as much right to fish at this point as did Mr. Seufert, and whatever the defendants had done was necessary to protect their property.

Our Water Works.

In a conversation this afternoon, Supt. Norman of the water works commented upon the great success that had attended the putting in of metres. One of the chief troubles the commission had to contend with was the wastage of water

Sewall-Williams Nuptials.

On the evening of Wednesday, Oct. 24, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. A. M. Williams, No. 53 Ella St., in Portland, Or., Miss Maie Evelyn Williams, formerly of The Dalles, and Russell E. Sewall, the very efficient deputy city attorney of Portland, were united in marriage. At precisely 8:30 o'clock, Lohengrin's beautiful wedding march was struck up by the orchestra, and the bride, accompanied by her brother, Mr. Ed. M. Williams, and preceded by her bridesmaid, Miss Virginia Marden, entered the west drawing-room, where they were met by the groom and his best man, Mr. Guy G. Willie, and there, under a bower of white roses, the two were made man and wife.

The bride was an emblem of loveliness in a gown of white moire covered with white organdie trimmed with Valenciennes lace, and carrying a bouquet of white carnations and maiden-hair fern, and the bridesmaid presented a most charming picture in a dress of pink silk and carrying pink carnations. The parlors and hall were elaborately decorated with autumn leaves, soilax

Card of Thanks.

I wish to publicly tender my sincere thanks to the citizens of Dufur, Kingsley and The Dalles for the beneficial ball given at Dufur, September 20th, '95, for the purpose of raising funds to enable me to go to the hospital for treatment. I shall always remember your kindness, and you may rest assured it is fully appreciated. DAVID HIX, Kingsley, Oregon.

COMMUNICATED.

To THE EDITOR:—The attention of the people of The Dalles is respectfully invited to consider a movement to inaugurate a course of lectures, where the people may have a place to spend some of the winter evenings, both profitably and pleasantly. Our people are intellectual, progressive and prosperous. We have good schools, excellent churches and numerous fraternal and other organizations designed to promote social and literary culture. To supplement and extend the influences of these good things, it is proposed to try to get six, eight or ten persons of learning and ability to give us an evening on their different subjects, of interest to thinkers and investigation, and also to those who are lovers of good literature. It is hoped that the community will give this effort their earnest and united support and that the necessary aid may be secured. Every publicspirited person will be given an opportunity to help in this movement, as it can only result in good to all who attend. COMMUNICATED. Card of Thanks.
