There has just been issued from THE CHRONICLE office an immigration pamphlet for The Dalles Real Estate Exchange. Five thousand copies have been ordered, and will be sent to places where it is thought the most good will be accomplished. The pamphlet numbers twenty-four pages of reading matter, descriptive of the resources of Wasco county and the natural advantages of The Dalles. Full statistics are given of the products of this section and our resources portrayed in a convincing manner. The work is profusely illustrated with cuts showing places of commercial and artistic interest, A bird'seye view of The Dalles serves as a frontspiece of the book. Following this comes a view of one of our warehouses, and then a picture giving some idea of the wool shipping business done at The Dalles. The other cuts show a stationary fish wheel in the rapids above town, a fish scow in the Columbia, a prune orchard near The Dalles, a view of W. H. Taylor's farm on Dry Hollow, the Court street school, the county courthouse, a band of sheep ready for shipment, the Academy Park school, St. Mary's Academy, Bridal Veil Falls, Mount Hood, from near The Dalles, Latourelle Falls, Hercules' Pillars, the Mount Hood, from near The Dalles, Latourelle Falls, Hercules' Pillars, the Dalles City in the rapids at the Cascades, Cape Horn, Multnomah falls and Oneonta Gorge. Some tables prepared by Mr. S. L. Brooks give a good idea of the equable climate which prevails in Wasco county. The text of the book, which was written by J. H. Cradlebaugh, was creditably done and has left nothing out in the way of information for the intending settler.

The Real Estate Exchange is doing a good work in disseminating knowledge concerning our fair land, and the distribution of the pamphlets will undoubtedly be the cause of tending immigration towards Wasco county.
