

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles

WILL URGE THE WORK.

Letters From Congressmen Hermann and Ellis to the Commercial Club. The memorial recently sent to our congressmen by The Dalles Commercial Club has elicited the following replies:

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 3, 1896. Roger B. Sinnott, Esq., Sec'y: DEAR SIR:—I am in receipt of a memorial from The Dalles Commercial Club, asking congress to make additional appropriations to complete the work at the Cascade Locks.

W. R. ELLIS. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 3, 1896. John S. Schenck, Esq., President. DEAR SIR:—I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of a communication from The Dalles Commercial Club, signed by yourself and Mr. Roger B. Sinnott, secretary, with accompanying papers, all relating to the locks in the cascades of the Columbia.

Mr. Hermann is making an especial fight for the Willamette project, as recently published in the Oregonian. This and the improvement of the Yamhill river he wants to secure provision for in the coming bill.

Another work regarded of great importance is the cascade locks. The engineers think a considerable emergency has arisen, because the canal on the inside is not reveted, and loose earth enters the canal and dissolves, which may result in a permanent injury to the canal and locks.

He is struggling for an appropriation of $179,000 for revetting the inner walls and protecting the outer walls. It is thought in some quarters that the canal cannot be used until this is done.

Memorials of both the Astoria and The Dalles chambers of commerce have been presented by Mr. Hermann to the committee, in which the early completion of the boat railway at The Dalles is sought. It appears that the right-of-way business is not yet entirely cleared up, and hence there is a very great doubt about securing any further appropriation for this purpose at this session of congress.

Until there is something more tangible to work on, congress will not be likely to do anything. It has been the absolute plan of congress for many years to do nothing in the way of government improvements until the title to the land upon which the improvements are situated are vested in the government beyond any question of doubt.

Mr. Rowe Returns.

Mr. F. H. Rowe has just returned from California. He hastened home some two weeks before he intended, owing to the report of the loss of logs by the breaking of the jamb in the Klickitat river. He finds the loss is not nearly so bad as he feared.

The most of the logs were saved by a second boom in the Columbia below the mouth of the Klickitat. The breaking of the jamb was, however, a fearful sight. Logs were piled up fifty feet high and when they broke there was a fearful crash.

An Indian living near by thought the world was coming to an end, and left his cabin for higher ground. Mr. Rowe says the cold snap has injured the peach and apricot crop considerably, though the Associated Press is contradicting that report.

Mr. Gourlay's Lecture.

Mr. Hugh Gourlay proposes to lecture at the Baptist church on the 18th inst. on the subject of "Civil and Religious Liberty vs. A. P. A. ism from the standpoint of a Protestant American Citizen."

Speaking to a CHRONICLE reporter he said that his object in delivering the lecture was not to foment discord among the different religious beliefs, but to quench the spirit of intolerance which he believes is fast coming to the surface.

He says if he thought his lecture would do aught to fan the flame of religious discord he would keep quiet forever. He claims therefore his mission is peaceful, and that he desires only to pour oil upon the troubled waters. Asked if he would reply to Rev. E. B. Sutton's recent lecture, which he attended, he said he would not attack it as a whole, but that he would show many things claimed by that speaker to be fallacies. He said his lecture was intended to be an appeal to American fairness and justice, and

The Walla Walla Statesman attaches a great deal of importance to a rumor afloat among the railroad men on the O. R. & N. that the machine shops at Albina and Starbuck will be removed and combined at Walla Walla. The Statesman says: "It is said that most of the breaks in machinery occur between Walla Walla and Spokane and that it would prove a great saving to the railroad company to have the repairs made at some central point like Walla Walla. It is given in further explanation that the company had little invested in the Albina shops and that the loss by removal of the company's property at that place would be small compared with the great advantages to be gained. We dislike at all times to shatter a pleasing dream or knock the underpinning out from an air castle, especially when it is of brief duration anyway, but we may as well inform the Walla Walla people that if the shops are ever removed from Albina they will be replaced at The Dalles. It occupies the most strategic point on the whole line, as all railroad men well know, and was the reason why the shops were put in at The Dalles in the first place. Owing to a temporary "onpleasantness" they were moved, but not for a business reason. The conditions which removed the shops have passed, and our citizens would now make every decent effort to meet the company half way should it contemplate a removal from Albina.

That he would so interpret history as to show that our Catholic citizens have always been loyal to the country and its institutions, and that the pope has never interfered in American affairs.
