Good Templars Social.

About 100 Good Templars and their friends met at Fraternity hall Monday evening to take part in the lodge social that had been previously announced. The early part of the evening was spent in social converse until the program committee was ready to proceed, and then a short but very fine program was presented, Walter Reavis acting as chairman. The first number was a piano solo by Mrs. Varney, rendered in that lady's best style. The recitation by Mabel Allen was the description of a missionary lady calling on her friend for subscription toward the work of sending help to the heathen. She is met by the friend's little freckled faced chatterbox, who tells her many interesting things about what ma says and Uncle Dick says; in short she is well posted as to her own standing when the mother of the little chatterbox appears. Fred Snipes bass solo, "Cast Aside," was well received.

Walter Reavis rendering of the recitation, "Flying Jim's Last Leap," affected many in the audience to tears. Mrs. Briggs told an interesting romance in connection with the singing of "Coming Through the Rye." Mrs. Varney's vocal solo "Murphy's Daughter Nell" was a comic song which all enjoyed.

Part II of the program was the drawing card, and it consisted of the sale of young ladies, who after the close of the program had retired to the ante room, and prepared for the ordeal of being sold, by decorating themselves in fantastic costumes and covering the head with a paper sack, thus completely hiding their identity. One lady was admitted at a time and as number one came in, Auctioneer Brown announced that he was ready to receive bids, on the lady before them. Then the bidding began, and when the head gear was removed our old friend and co-laborer in the temperance cause, whose identity was so well concealed that no one was able to tell who she was. More than a score of bargains were thus disposed of at the ruinously low prices of from 50 cents to $1.10. After the sale was completed tables were brought into the room and the purchases had been claimed by their respective buyers, they sat down to the contemplation and investigation of the finest lunch you can imagine, which each lady had provided for herself before being admitted to the pleasure of being sold. Everybody seemed happy, and after eating their lunch enjoyed the rest of the evening in games and social intercourse till nearly midnight.

Mrs. Joles informs us that the Juveniles are about ready with a Juvenile social, such as only the boys and girls are capable of giving. You that want a pleasant evening watch out for the Juvenile social. B. H.

Ideas of Savages and Children. The Cheyennes and other Indians of the plains believe that thunder is caused by the flapping of the wings of an immense bird which flies across the sky, bringing the storm. All the ideas of savage tribes are based on such simple conceptions of nature. The ideas of young children are often identical with savage myths, as a result of minds on the same plane of development attempting to explain the same thing.

The Water Lily. Several specimens of water lilies have the very curious peculiarity of blooming all day and at evening closing their blossoms, and, by retracting the stem, drawing the flower entirely under water. There is no more singular fact in the history of flowers than this oddity of the water lily.

One Satisfaction. Mrs. Newlywed—We raise our own vegetables. Mrs. Oldun—That is pleasant, but not economical. Mrs. Newlywed—I know that; but then we know they are not adulterated.—Judge.

THE NAME OF THE NEXT PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES New York Weekly Tribune

Of November 4th, 1896.

Public interest will steadily increase, and the question how the men whose votes turned the scale at the last election are satisfied with the results under the administration they elected, will make the campaign the most intensely exciting in the history of the country.

THE NEW YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE, the leading Republican family newspaper of the United States, will publish all the political news of the day, interesting to every American citizen regardless of party affiliations.

Also general news in attractive form. Foreign correspondence covering the news of the world; an agricultural department second to none in the country; market reports which are recognized authority; fascinating short stories, complete in each number; the cream of the humorists papers, foreign and domestic, with their best comic pictures, fashion plates and elaborate descriptions of woman's attire, with a varied and attractive department of household interest. The "New York Weekly Tribune" is an ideal family paper, with a circulation larger than that of any other weekly publication in the country issued on the same day. Large changes are being made in its details, tending to give it greater life and variety, and especially more interest to the woman and young people of the household. A special contract enables us to offer this splendid journal and the "Semi-Weekly Chronicle" for
