WHERE THE BLAME BELONGS

The threatened split in the Democratic party over the financial question, says the Salem Statesman, is serving the good purpose of fixing the blame for the distressful condition of the United States treasury, and the piling up of a great bonded debt in a time of peace, where it belongs.

The outlook is for a warm time in the Chicago convention, and it has been predicted by accredited Democratic authority that there will be two separate conventions and two nominees for the presidency—one standing for the financial policy of the present administration and the other representing the large wing of the party desiring the free coinage of silver.

This condition that confronts them is embarrassing to the leading Democrats who do not sympathize with either of these extreme factions. One of this class says: "No people of ordinary education and intelligence can see the payment of a colossal war debt continue uninterrupted during the thirty years which follow the attainment of peace, and then see this process suddenly stopped and the debt begin to grow rapidly again, without inclining to condemn the policy responsible for it. It is no wonder that the Democrats, still inflamed against riches and prosperity by the party oratory of 1892, Mr. Cleveland being incomparably the leader of such excitement, should not vow destruction on the money standard which the same leader tells them has compelled the new bonds. Mr. Cleveland's appeal for the gold standard are feathers before the storm."

The deliberate policy of misrepresentation entered upon almost at the beginning of his present term and pursued with studied faithfulness to the cause of mediocrity, by Mr. Cleveland and his underlings, while it has resulted in deceiving a few Republicans anxious for such deception, and in earning some of the finicky old maids of finance, has not been successful in blinding the eyes of the great majority who favor protection and progress, nor of the thinking, acting men of affairs and toil of the country—while it has failed of its purpose, it has well nigh destroyed the party that honored this conspicuous disciple of Ananias with the loftiest position of honor within the gift of any people.

Thus is the mortal crime of ingratitude added to the sin of lying in order to further selfish aims. The idol of the coming campaign will be the planned knight of protection and prosperity, not the discredited hero of his country's distress. The same events that have elevated and will crown with the laurel wreath of honor the brow of William McKinley will dash the sceptre of authority from his hand and retire permanently Grover Cleveland.

MR. CLEVELAND'S VETO.
 As expected, President Cleveland has vetoed the river and harbor bill. The situation required it. The treasury is confronted with a deficit for the last year of nearly $40,000,000, says the Spokesman-Review, and the revenue system of the government has been so bungled and butchered that there is no immediate prospect of relief. The country is now paying another of the penalties of Democratic misrule. In these times it must not expect improvement of its rivers and harbors. Improvement is not the existing order. Nor can our coasts be given protection. The country must be pinched, because the treasury must be saved. This is not the first veto of a river and harbor bill by President Cleveland. He vetoed a bill during his first administration, and as a result of the stoppage of work on the Columbia river great damage fell upon the improvements. Like loss and damage will again be suffered. But the people are becoming hardened to these reverses. It used to be that a bank failure, or the crash of a large commercial concern, was a sensation, but that is the case no longer. As in war, many become so hardened and infatuated with horrors that they long to continue the fighting forever, so in these times, many seem so fascinated with hard times and crashing banks and business houses that they are clamorous for the continuance of the same conditions.

WASCO MAINTAINS HER LEAD.
 The voters of Wasco county did nobly yesterday. At this hour it looks as if the entire county ticket is saved to the Republicans. The verdict rendered yesterday can be interpreted as meaning that Wasco county believes firmly in the principles of Republicanism and refuses to swing in the direction of Populism or Democracy.

As THE CHRONICLE has reiterated again and again, the ticket named by the county convention was one of the best ever given to the voters for their consideration and the large majorities the Republicans received indorse the work of the delegates. Wasco county has repudiated populism, and sends word to the rest of the state that the banner county of Eastern Oregon can be depended upon to remain loyal to Republican principles.

We congratulate the Republican candidates upon their deserved success.

DECORATION DAY 1896.

(Dedicated to the members of the G. A. R. Post of The Dalles by one who honors them.)
 The lowered flag, the muffled drum,
 The bugle call in mournful tone,
 The stately march of warrior men,
 And mingling all, the nations moan.
 I saw them stand in broken line,
 Those heroes, now a dwindling band,
 Their whitened locks and drooping forms,
 The blessed heritage of our land.
 The self same men at Lincoln's call
 Rushed to save a country torn
 By rebel strife and rebel yell,
 Ah dark the prospect and forlorn!
 The men that fought at Gettysburg
 So glorious those days and deeds!
 When th'-arting Pickett's awful charge,
 They filled full well their country's needs.
 The men that made their weary march
 From Georgia to the sunlit sea,
 And broke the rebel's tottering rule
 And saved the land for you and me.
 Ah youth! the privilege is thine
 To honor yet the noble throng
 Whose blood was spilled on Southern fields
 While fighting slavery's devilish wrong.
 The years are passing—Hear me well:
 The roll-call dwindles—oh how fast!
 The noble veterans soon will be
 But memories of a sacred past.
 The flowers are strewn on soldiers' graves,
 How little care the sleeping dead!
 Their rest is sweet; their work well done.
 What better words could'er be said?
 While still there may let honor flow
 In ceaseless measure—full and free—
 To those brave men, the noble men
 Who saved our land for you and me.
 The lowered flag, the muffled drum,
 The bugle call in mournful tone,
 The stately march of warrior men,
 And mingling all, the nations moan.

TRIUMPHANT REPUBLICANISM

The result of the election throughout the state indicates victories all along the line for the Republicans. The election of Ellis is conceded in the Second district and that of Tongue in the First. Bean, as was expected, won hands down. Penoyer will rule the destiny of Portland, while the Mitchell Republican ticket is in the lead. The conditions in the Second district are particularly satisfactory, and the people have frowned upon the bolter and the bolter's supporters.

The lesson that can be learned from Ellis' election teaches that the people realize the great issue before the country, and by their ballots endorsed the protective policy—the foundation stone in the Republican structure. The fight against Ellis was a bitter one, and should he triumph, as there is now every indication that he will, it will be because his campaign was fought on the protective issue.

With the exception of Mr. Moore, whose election is in doubt, Wasco county is sure to be represented in the legislature by men of firm adherence to Republican principles and acknowledged worth.

The triumph of the Republican ticket over the Demo-Populist fusion is a cause of much satisfaction.

The campaign has been fairly fought and handsomely won. THE CHRONICLE, with hundreds of other Republicans, takes pleasure in saying that right has triumphed and champions of unsound theories have been defeated.

The inconsistencies of yesterday's voting were everywhere apparent. Many ballots were found where the voter had indicated his choice for Northrup and then voted for Populists on the legislative ticket, thus showing a straddle on the money question wider than that attempted by either of the great parties. Just how a man who favors the gold standard could vote for Populists to the legislature, who would, if elected, vote for free silver and fiat money, is past comprehension.

In the fall of 1893 a son of Mr. T. A. McFarland, a prominent merchant of Live Oak, Sutter county, Calif., was taken with a very heavy cold. The pains in his chest were so severe that he had spasms and was threatened with pneumonia. His father gave him several large doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which broke up the cough and cured him. Mr. McFarland says whenever his children have croup he invariably gives them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it always cures them. He considers it the best cough remedy in the market. The Discovery Saved His Life.
 Mr. G. Calloutte, Druggist, Bears-ville, Ill. says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store.

A GREAT ATTRACTION.

Milton and Dollie Nobles to Visit Our City With Their Own Company.

The announcement that this well-known actor and author is to play at The Dalles has caused no little excitement among our amusement-loving public. Mr. Nobles is known on the American stage today as our representative player and playwright. He is a most versatile writer, as well as a great actor. His wholesome wit, bright humor and breadth of imagination are something remarkable. He will be supported by his pretty and charming little wife, Dollie Nobles, and his own company, which in its entirety is one of, if not the best, dramatic and comedy organizations on the Pacific coast this season.

The engagement has necessarily been limited to three nights, the first play being Mr. Nobles' beautiful and picturesque American drama, "From Sire to Son," a play that has won for the author world-wide fame. It is an interesting piece, with a story that at once commands the attention of the auditor. It will be mounted with some new scenery which Manager Kinersly has prepared, and all in all will prove one of the most eventful performances ever presented in this city.

The company will arrive here today and the first performance will take place tomorrow (Wednesday) June 3d.

G. W. M'COY LOCKED UP.

The Founder of the Famous Ditch Is Now in the County Jail.

Mr. G. W. McCoy, founder of the McCoy ditch, occupies a cell in the county jail. He was arrested Saturday in Portland by Sheriff Driver and brought to this city, on a warrant charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses. Many of the
