"Past Redemption."

"Past Redemption" was greeted with a large house at the New Vogt last evening. The temperance drama has an interesting plot, calculated to show the demoralizing effects of liquor, both morally and physically. "Harry Maynard," a bright farmer's boy is enticed to the city by a pretended friend, who induces him into halls of vice, where he falls a prey to drink, indulging so unrestrainedly that he becomes a victim of delirium tremens. The object of the city man ("Robert Thornton") is to win the affections of Maynard's betrothed, who is found in the last act to be Thornton's own daughter. A unique character is "Capt. Bragg," Father of Thornton, who comes in for his share of blame in the manner of training his boy. The leading comedy is taken by "Kitty Corum," who has rival aspirants for her hand, which leads to many ridiculous and laughable situations.

The cast as a whole gave a very good interpretation of the play, when it is considered that in nearly every instance it was their first appearance before the footlights. As to the leading role, taken by Prof. Travis, no flaw could be detected. The acting was natural, real, entirely unaffected. The full power of the character is attained in the third act, where the youth, miserably falling in the promising future of his early manhood, falls a victim to his appetite for drink. His utter degradation received a natural presentation at the hands of Mr. Travis. The most difficult "business" to interpret is the attack of delirium tremens, a very tragical part, which can as easily be spoiled by overdoing it as failing to simulate the fine frenzy of the ruined man. Though heavy acting is demanded, and was given, yet there was a conservatism in Mr. Travis' work that augmented its force. The principal support was the character of "Robert Thornton," assumed by Mr. Geo. E. Stewart. The young man entered into the spirit of the character with great vehemence, and though a trifle overdrawn in the fourth act, he sustained the arduous character of villain throughout the play with much strength. "Major Bragg," by Mr. E. H. Merrill and the comedy parts taken by Messrs. G. A. and Chas. Clarke, and Mr. John Hartnett elicited much favorable comment. All have an easy stage presence and charm of manner which could not fail to please. The other male characters are of lesser importance, and were taken naturally and gracefully. As to the female characters, "Jessie" was capably taken by Miss Pearl Dean, who gives promise of much artistic ability. Miss Mabel Riddell as "Kitty Corum," made a decided hit in the more comical situations. "Charity" was also an important part, ably sustained by Mrs. J. E. Dean. Miss Fisher also did nicely as "Mrs. Maynard," though she had but few lines to interpret.

The interest in the play was maintained till the curtain dropped on the last scene, and the consensus of opinion on the part of the large audience assembled is that "Past Redemption" was a decided success.

MILITIA CALLED OUT.

The First Regiment, O. N. G., Sent Down the Columbia.

Today's Oregonian says: The First Regiment, Oregon National Guard, Colonel Summers commanding, was scheduled to leave for Astoria in an early hour this morning, and will take a hand in suppressing the scenes of violence and outrage which have marked the course of the fishermen's strike on the Columbia river. It was accompanied by battery A, with full field equipment and the various regimental corps. The troops were called out on a requisition made by the mayor of Astoria, through the county judge of Clatsop county, upon Governor Lord. The governor immediately notified brigade headquarters in this city to assemble the post, equipped with all the paraphernalia for field service and one day's cooked rations. It was suggested also that each man be provided with an extra pair of stout shoes, ready for active field service, and that the regiment and battery be held prepared to leave immediately. This was at 10:30 last night. The orders were communicated immediately from brigade headquarters to Colonel Summers, and he began to assemble the members of the post. The O. R. & N. Co. was notified also to hold a steambot in readiness for instant departure. The orders caused a great commotion, not only at the armory, but throughout the city. Men on bicycles and horseback were dispatched to the homes and places of business of the various members of the seven companies and the battery. All were told to report forthwith to the armory, ready for duty. The various corps attached to the regiment were included.

Handsome Medals for Good Shots.

It is a little doubtful when the militia encampment will be held at Hood River on account of the fisherman's strike, but VanNorden has completed the medals for the best marksmanship at this encampment and they are very pretty. They are of gold and silver, the pattern being alike. The contains the inscription "Third Battalion Infantry, O. N. G." and the hangle is a frame around two crossed guns with a target in the center. The possessor of either of these medals may well feel proud. They are among the most ornamental pieces of jewelry ever made.

Five companies will compete for the prizes, including the field officers and non-commissioned staff. The companies are Pendleton, La Grande, Baker, Wasco and The Dalles. The Dalles has no one in their ranks who may be called a crack shot, though good scores have been made at target practice. One militiaman, inexperienced in the use of arms except in the regular militia practice, made a score last week of 23 out of a possible 25. The ranges will be 200 to 500 yards.

Regarding the probability of being called to Astoria, an Astoria paper speaks thus lightly of the situation: "Let the militia come! Astoria will give the boys a rousing reception and a select committee will show them the sights of the city, says the Astoria Herald. If they are good crapsshooters, entertainment in this line will be furnished. Astoria needs the militia. The boys will blow in a few dollars and it will help out all kinds of business. They don't need to bring guns, as one policeman in the daytime and four at night time is all that has been required during the strike, and all they have done is to draw their salaries. Astoria needs a convention or six or seven companies of militia to help it out. The Fishermen's Union has kindly consented to escort the militia to the city hall with a brass band, and Sofus Jensen will tender them the freedom of the city. Astoria has been so quiet the past month one could hear a gum drop. Astorians are noted as great entertainers and will fill the brave sojers up on fish and clams, with a few decoctions of Pride of Astoria to wash it down. Let the militia come."

"Get it" is good advice, but "Take Simmons Liver Regulator" is better for your health and happiness. Everybody should take a liver remedy occasionally and especially in the spring to wake up the torpid liver and keep up a healthy circulation of good rich blood, free from poison and full of nourishment to the body. Wasco County's Resources.

From time to time we are in receipt of letters asking questions concerning our county, such as, "What kind of climate have you; what do people find employment in; what of the soil, productions, etc."

Wasco county is in the northern central part of Oregon, and reaches almost to the 46th parallel of north latitude. Being in the middle of the north-temperate zone, it has the four seasons well marked. But unlike the eastern and Mississippi valley states of the same latitude, the winters are much shorter and less severe, the cold seldom going below zero, and that for only a few days during any winter. Some winters we have sleighing for a month or a little more, and some only for a few days. The climate is dry; sunshine being the rule at all seasons; the greatest amount of moisture being precipitated during the winter in snow. However, spring rains are not uninfrequent, there being as a rule, enough moisture to mature crops of wheat, oats, barley and vegetables without irrigation.

One great interest in many parts of the county where irrigation is possible, is fruit raising. Perhaps no country in the world will produce the fruits of the temperate zone in greater variety or abundance. Apples, plums, pears, apricots, peaches, prunes and most berries grow to perfection, and never fail. Farming has, as a rule, paid as well here as almost anywhere. The soil is light but fertile, readily plowed, and as yet not filled with noxious weeds. Wood and lumber are at hand almost any place in the county at prices that are as reasonable as could well be asked. Pine and fir lumber sells at the mills at from six to ten dollars per thousand feet.

Land can be procured by homestead or at prices ranging from five to twenty-five dollars per acre. Perhaps our eastern friends would like to know about our storms, cyclones and other aerial disturbances. The proximity of that great equalizer, the grand old Pacific, makes atmospheric disturbances of the classes named unknown except the steady gale. Water spouts occur now and then, but they are generally small affairs and cause little damage except to bridges. Clouds accompanied by thunder and lightning are of rare occurrence, so much so that no thought is given to protection against it.—Dufur Dispatch.

AT HIS WITS' END

Father Tells How His Baby Suffered from Eczema.

IN ITS WORST FORM

Grew Worse Under Treatment of Best Physicians. Tried

CUTICURA REMEDIES

Great Change in Five Days. To-day Entirely Cured. With Nice Head of Hair. Lively and Healthy.

I had a baby that had Eczema in its worst form. I had one of the best physicians in the city attending her, but she continued to get worse all the time under his treatment. He finally admitted that he was at his wits' end. I then got CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in a few days noticed great change in her condition. She continued to improve after that, and to-day is entirely cured. Her nice head of hair, which was used to be thin, is now thick and is lively and healthy. I can truly recommend them as being the best medicine for the cure of this disease. I spent considerable money for drugs and doctor's bills, which was used to my own loss. For I think if your remedies don't cure, nothing will. I am telling every one that I see suffering about CUTICURA REMEDIES, and can cheerfully recommend them to those in need of them.
