Married. In The Dalles, Oct. 1, by Justice Filloon, Clarence P. Knapp and Miss Katie B. Lenz, both of Hood River. Death of W. H. Lochhead. William Henry Lochhead died at 11:45 last evening, after an illness of eight days with typhoid fever. Though Mr. Lochhead's death seemed to be almost certain for the two days previous, a valiant fight has been made by the nurse and doctors in attendance at his bedside. The contest with death has been fought inch by inch, aided by the powerful constitution of the patient, but the struggle was unavailing. He may have realized his approaching end from the last remark he made to those watching at his bedside a short time before breathing his last, when he said he felt his strength failing. There were present besides Mrs. Johnson, the nurse, Messrs. Ralph Gibbons, Frank Abernethy and M. McInnis. Mr. Lochhead was a descendant of one of the first families of England. His father, now dead, was an agent of the British government, in the squadron on the Atlantic seaboard, and was stationed at Charlotte, Prince Edward island. Mr. Lochhead was born in London, but was taken by his father to Charlotte, and where our deceased townsman spent his boyhood. He was married about 1876 to Miss Mabel Burke at Charlotte. He came to The Dalles in the fall of 1887, accepting a position in Moody's warehouse and two or three years later engaged in the business in which he was occupied at the time of his death. He was a prominent Mason. His mother is yet living, and has been telegraphed to regarding the disposition of the body. A brother-in-law, Daniel Davis of St. Paul, has also been informed by wire. Mrs. Davis being Mr. Lochhead's sister. By his death, The Dalles loses a citizen known for his wide but unostentatious charities, his sympathies at all times with the distressed, and his tireless activity in attending the sick. William Henry Lochhead possessed a heart that beat for suffering humanity. The world has too few of such men, and his loss will be keenly felt in many homes which have in the past been lighted by his genial presence and generous impulses. Senator Mitchell Tonight. The greatest event in the Republican campaign will be the address this evening by Senator Mitchell. The senator has been an ardent advocate of the free coinage of silver in congress, but his position in advocating with all his tremendous might Republican principles and Republican presidential candidates is perfectly defensible. He will make plain tonight to all of the vast number who assemble to hear him the duty of every voter, regardless of party affiliation, to vote the old Republican party again into power, under which this nation has invariably enjoyed the greatest prosperity ever known to earth, under which labor has always been in demand at remunerative wages; and when the common people not only had the comforts, but the luxuries of life, owned their own little homes, and sat in the cool of the evening under their own "vine and fig tree," while the joyous play of their little ones proclaimed they were properly apparelled and fed. It is no wonder that Senator Mitchell will not sacrifice upon the altar of free silver all the other great principles of the Republican party, whose operation has so far sufficed to bequeath upon all the people of this great country the most beneficent conditions ever known to the masses of the people in any age of the earth. Married. In this city, at the residence of the bride's brother, Edward F. Sharp, Miss Grace V. Sharp, daughter of Mr. Phillip T. Sharp, to William W. Gordon of Portland, Rev. Goss officiating. The ceremony was performed at 12 o'clock today. The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Portland, their future home. The good wishes of a host of friends go with them. Miss Sharp has grown up from childhood to womanhood among us, and Mr. Gordon is a well-known young business man of Portland. Tygh Valley Roller Flour Mills. FALL OF PRICES. NOT DUE TO APPRECIATION OF GOLD, BUT TO CHEAPER COST OF PRODUCTION. David A. Wells Discusses Cause of Fall in Prices—Compares Jasper's "Sun Do Move" Theory With Silverites' Gold Hoarded Theory—Measured by Price of Labor, Gold Is Depreciating. The Hon. David A. Wells, author of "Recent Economic Changes," and the greatest American authority on the cause of falling prices, has a full page article on this subject in the New York Tribune of Sept. 7. He finds that there has been a universal fall in prices, averaging 30 or 40 per cent. since 1873, but that it is only in this country that the fall is attributed to the demonetization of silver. Continuing, he says in part: Granting, as every intelligent person must, that the recent universal decline in prices cannot be due to any local agency, but must be attributed to some universal influence, it is claimed that such an influence is to be found in an appreciation in the value or purchasing power of gold, owing to its limited and insufficient supply, and also that this decline in prices followed the so called demonetization of silver in some countries, and the closing of the mints in other countries to its coinage. The appreciation of gold, helped by an alleged enforced scarcity of silver, and a decline in price seen, therefore, to stand to each other in the relation of cause and effect, and the cause of the advocates of silver has accordingly at the outset much of plausibility. But plausibility is not proof, nor assumption truth, as is strikingly illustrated by the claim of the Rev. Jasper, pastor of the First colored church in Richmond, Va., that "the sun do move," and the earth "do stand still," and who has more of seeming facts in support of his faith than can be adduced by the advocates of the gold appreciation theory—for cannot everybody with eyes see the sun move up every morning in the east and move down every evening in the west? And if the earth moves 19 miles every second, as the astronomer bugs tell us, would not every movable thing fly off its surface as mud does from a revolving carriage wheel? And as nothing does fly off, is it not certain that the earth stands still? Investigation in the case of the Rev. Jasper and the advocates of the gold appreciation theory will, however, lead to different conclusions. It is to be noted, in the first place, that the advocates of the latter theory, in stating what they assert to be the truth, never express themselves other than generally, in all that has been written or spoken in support of the gold theory on either side of the Atlantic. No one has ever been able to name a single commodity that has notably declined in price within the last 30 years and satisfactorily proved, or even attempted to prove, that such decline was due to the appreciation of gold. And the reason for such default is that it cannot be done. On the other hand, not a single commodity that has notably declined in price within this time can be named in respect to which clear, abundant and specific evidence cannot be adduced in proof that this decline has been due to decreased cost of production or distribution or to changes in supply and demand occasioned by wholly fortuitous circumstances. Nobody, furthermore, has ever risen to explain the motive which has impelled the honest sellers of merchandise all over the world during the last 35 years to take lower prices for their goods in the face of an unexampled abundance of capital and remarkably low rates of interest, except for one or both of two reasons—excess of supply or diminished demand. Has any one ever attempted to explain how it has happened that during the recent period of the fall of prices the world's stock of money, and especially of silver, has been constantly increasing? Is it not plain that a phenomenal decline of prices in two parts of the world, with entirely different monetary conditions, must have had other causes than a demonetization of silver in the United States, which took place, if it ever did, a comparatively short time ago (recall of the Sherman act in 1893), and which has not prevented nearly $600,000,000 of silver credit money from circulating in the country at its full nominal value? That the price of labor measured in gold has not declined, but increased in a marked degree everywhere in the civilized world during the last quarter of a century, has been already commented on; hence if the purchasing power of gold has increased during this period a given amount of it would have purchased more labor and not less, or what is the same thing, wages would have fallen, which they have not done. Measured by the price of labor, gold has unquestionably depreciated, and recent careful examinations indicate that the ratio of its decline has been from 100 in 1873 to 83 in 1893. Measured also by the decline in the rate of interest on such established gold paying securities as British consols, the ratio has been from 100 in 1870 to 75 in 1896. Can anybody suggest a better measure for testing this issue? Has any one ever endeavored to explain how an appreciation of gold has reduced the cost of railroad and water transportation to the extent of more than 75 per cent within the last 30 years, although the wages of employees have advanced during the same period? If, on the other hand, these reductions were caused by the suppression of the free coinage of silver, will not a reversion of policy enable the railroads to advance their freight rates and rob the people, as will be claimed, by exacting 50 per cent more than at present? And will not some supplementary provisions to the free coinage act be necessary to prevent their so doing?

Sound Argument From Eminent Bimetallists. Gold is recognized as the universal standard of value. It is the measure that must be used. It is the measure by which your wealth must be tested. * * * The wealth of the United States is tested by the same rule. It has been and always will be the touchstone of measurement, and when you depart from that and try to figure up any other measure which the world does not recognize you get into confusion.—Senator William M. Stewart. Silver, Copper and Tin Paper. The owners of copper mines need not be elated with the idea that the argument for cheap silver dollars is a still better argument for cheaper copper dollars. We shall not drop to a copper basis. The ultimate resting place for the Popocrats is foredetermined in their platform assertion of the right of the government to issue legal tender paper notes. That is the cheap money paradise into which all the advocates of repudiation are logically drawn. Do You Like Free Wool?—Look at Its Results. THE AMERICAN FLOCK ON DEC. 31. Number. For stomach and liver troubles, and for the cure of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equaled." MARGARET E. BYRKE, Mrs. May Johnson, 208 Elder Avenue, New York City. When my friends ask me what is the best remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, or bowels, my invariable answer is, Ayer's Pills. Cared of Disfiguring ECZEMA By the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Our little baby of two months was lately afflicted with Eczema. It began when she was three weeks old, and in spite of all our skill and that of two good physicians, she continued to grow worse. Her head, arms, neck, and limbs, and, in fact, nearly every joint in her body, were raw and bleeding when we concluded to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. The child being so small and delicate, we began with CUTICURA Ointment, and CUTICURA SOAP, according to directions, and after the first application we could see a change. When we had used the remedies one week she was very much better, some of the sores had healed entirely and had ceased to spread. After using them for less than a month, the child was free from scales and blisters, and today has lovely skin and hair as any child. She was shown at the Grand Fair when four and a half months old, and took the premium of a silver cup, as the prettiest baby, over sixteen others. We recommend CUTICURA REMEDIES to all our friends, and cannot praise them too highly. MR. AND MRS. CHAS. PARK, 1009 Bellevue Ave., Kansas City, Mo.
