THE DALLES, OREGON

PERSONAL MENTION.

Saturday. T. W. Glavey is in from Kingsley. Hon. E. O. McCoy of Grant is in the city. Sheriff Driver went to Portland this afternoon. Joe Folco was a passenger for Portland this afternoon. Hon. D. R. Murphy, accompanied the jury in the Seufert case. Louis C. Hailey of Grants is in the city today making proof on his cash entry. Bishop Cranston arrived on the noon train, and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. French. Hon. Lionel R. Webster associate counsel in the Seufert case was here with the jury today. John A. Ward and G. A. Ward of Wapinitia and T. J. Ward of Kingsley are in the city. Hon. A. S. Bennett, counsel for Seufert, took advantage of the lull in the trial to visit Astoria last night. Monday. Mr. John Heinrichs of Hood River is in the city. Mr. Grant Mays returned from California yesterday. Dr. Morgan came up from Hood River on the local, returning this afternoon. Mrs. J. M. Patterson returned Saturday from a visit to her parents in Salem. Mr. Joseph A. Knox, justice of the peace of Baldwin precinct, is in the city. John Lenz came up from Hood River today to make final proof on his cash entry. Rev. U. Hawk, of the Goldendale Methodist church, attended the services here yesterday. Mr. C. A. Bone of Hood River who has been purchasing wheat at Grant for several seasons, is in the city. Tuesday. Mr. A. W. Giesy is in the city from Portland. Mr. J. O. Morton came up from Hood River today. Mr. E. Jacobsen, who acted as bridesmaid for Mr. Hertz, arrived home last night. William N. and E. M. Froebe are in the city today making proof on railroad lands. Bishop Earl Cranston left on last night's train for Walla Walla, to preside over the conference of elders. THEY WERE DISMISSED. But the Doxology Remains Unwept, Unhonored and Unsung. The divine gift of song is not vouchsafed to all mankind, and those who join secret societies are, as a rule, as tuneless as the famous harp that ornamented Tara's halls. It is undoubtedly true that when it comes to bad singing every lodge of every society in the United States can give every other lodge of every other society some pointers. The Elks of this city are no exception. When it comes to oratory we concede that order the palm, but the warbling of the lark, the melody of the nightingale or the soft and languorous notes of the bul-bul are not heard in their lodge room any more frequently than in any other. Saturday night the members had a sort of brief rehearsal, and everything moved along smoothly until at the close the presiding officer called for the "Doxology." Then there was fun. The doxology is not down in the ritual, yet every member knew he ought to know the doxology, why of course he did, but still he preferred some other brother should "pitch the tune." Every member looked at every other member, but silence deep, dark and deadly settled like a funeral pall over the meeting. Finally there was a confused murmur started, grew and suddenly burst forth in full and magnificent discord. Judge Bradshaw gently warbled an aria from the "Bohemian Girl," Exalted Ruler Michell tuned up on "Annie Laurie," Bert Phelps broke forth in something about "Ta ra ra boom d'aye," Charley Phillips' basso profundo popped up apparently from the lower story of the building with the "Rock of Ages," while Judd Fish's rich contralto hummed that favorite selection from Il Trovatore entitled "Murphy Bought a Billy Goat; He Bought it for a Kid," Harry Lonsdale lost his bearings and warbled, "There's Only One Girl in This World for Me," McArthur trilled a trill about seeing "The Light of Other Days Around Me," E. O. McCoy caroled a few notes of "In This Wheat Buy and Buy," and every other member had a tune of his own that became blended and lost in the pot pourri. Finally they all came to a stop and then one of the members, whose name shall for obvious reasons ever remain a secret, said: "Why every body knows, or ought to know, that the doxology begins: 'When I can read my title clear to mansions in the sky,'" and then Johnny Hampshire, who had been trying for ten minutes to make a suggestion, fell at his post with a dull, etc. The doxology was then postponed.

and that when the tug can pick up the hawser, which is now anchored in the outer break, the ship will come off without any trouble. On Wednesday the Glenmorag needed only an engine to have been hauled off the sands, and brought in to Astoria by the Traveler. Yesterday's storm made the ship quite lively. She rolled very easily, but was working herself out so much that a stern hawser had to be made fast to the shore. She parted this and another had to be put out. At no time did she thump heavily, but rather rolled. It is thought that the engine will be in place this afternoon, and that the ship will be hauled out to her anchors, and that if the Traveler is there she can be towed into any port, providing the weather is not too stormy. Yesterday morning the surf had moderated a great deal. With only reasonable weather and a tug the Glenmorag will be in Astoria this evening. The Astorian's correspondent says that the ship did not show a sign of leak or strain, and at high tide yesterday rolled as easily as if at sea.

THE DURRANT CASE.

Again Bobs Up in the California Supreme Court. The Durrant murder case came up in the supreme court yesterday, on a motion to dismiss the order of submission made at Los Angeles several weeks ago. As was expected another delay resulted, the matter going over for two weeks. It will be remembered the court threw a bombshell into the camp of Messrs. Dickinson and Duprey, attorneys for Durrant, by declaring that the case was submitted without briefs of the defendant having been filed. The attorneys claimed that they did not have to prepare the briefs, and asked that the order be dismissed and that Durrant be given another opportunity to file briefs. This matter came up today for settlement. On this occasion the delay was caused by Attorney-General Fitzgerald. When the calendar was called, he arose and moved for a continuance, saying that he had exercised due diligence, but nevertheless was unable to prepare the briefs to be submitted by the people in the case. The desired continuance was granted. It is impossible to foretell when a decision in the case will be rendered by the court, inasmuch as the case has not yet been formally submitted. Meanwhile, Durrant is threatened with the frightful possibility of dying of old age behind prison bars.

For Best Railway Lands.

The jury in the United States court in the case of the United States court against F. A. Seufert came up from Portland last night and went out to Seufert's place this morning. The suit is a re-trial of that brought to condemn lands belonging to Seufert, the government wanting the lands for a right of way for the boat railway. In the former suit Mr. Seufert was not satisfied with the amount of damages given him and asked for a new trial. As Mr. Murphy, U. S. attorney, was also dissatisfied, the new trial was granted. Besides Mr. Murphy, who came up last night, there were fifteen others comprising the jury and the officer with them. They are O. R. Pihl, C. W. Boynton, F. E. Beach, W. Rawlings, J. M. Archibald, John Gill, Jasper Wilkins, C. D. Steen, C. Wells, J. D. Simmons, S. J. Thornton, M. S. Booth, Ed. L. Bryan, L. R. Webster and Geo. Humphrey.

A Word of sympathy.

Died, Dec. 2, 1896, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bartlett. Dear Friends, I know how impossible it is to silence your grief with words. The heart pleads for utterance in tears, and let it speak thus. We bow in sorrow of the taking of your little one, feeling that while the ripened fruit may be gathered, it seems cruel that the bud should be taken before it has even opportunity to unfold its blossom. But in nature fruits fall, and so do blossoms and buds. In the ways of kind Nature this is perhaps best, and in taking from our arms this little one we will try and accept the cross and bear it, believing that the bud will yet blossom and bear fruit in the angel land, where the spirit of this pure child has so early flown. FROM A FRIEND.

How Laughlin Was Held Up.

A gentleman visited our sanctum this morning and gives us the particulars of the holding up of B. F. Laughlin last night. Mr. Laughlin was coming down from his residence on the bluff, when he saw a broad shouldered man waiting by the side of the walk. Hestopped to take observation and saw that the man stood there perfectly still, his position being made visible by the fact that he was smoking a cigar, the light of which could be occasionally seen. Mr. Laughlin did not like to be bluffed out so walked up to the lurking stranger and discovered it was one of our new lamps.

Ice Gorge in Michigan.

MENOMINEE, Mich., Dec. 4.—An ice gorge formed in the Menominee river at Fisher, and the river is overflowed in several places as far up as Twin islands. Above Fisher the river has virtually changed its course and swept into Cedar river channel. Much property has been destroyed.

Governmental Banking Business. Under the above caption the president in his message says: "The entire case may be presented by the statement that the day of sensible and sound financial methods will not dawn upon us until our government abandons the banking business and the accumulation of funds, and confines its monetary operations to the reception of the money contributed by the people for its support and to expenditures of such money for the people's benefit. Our business interests and all good citizens long for rest from feverish agitation, and the inauguration by the government of a reformed financial policy which will encourage enterprise and make certain the rewards of labor and industry."

Sprightly Sam Clarke. Mr. S. A. Clarke, the celebrated writer and authority on horticulture, was in the city today. We have heard it said that Mr. Clarke was killed in the Yakima Indian war of 1857, but have always doubted it, for he is certainly very much alive, and his pen has not forgotten its cunning, nor does his active brain show any signs of decay, though he is getting well up in years, way beyond the age where many consider their life's work ended. Clarke pegs away as light hearted and cheerful as though life were mostly before, instead of behind, him.

The Dalles City Raised. The Dalles City was successfully raised this morning, five scows being used, and towed by the Regulator to the Cascades, where she is at present lying near the incline. She would have been raised yesterday, but there was a regular hurricane blowing and nothing could be done. Repairs will be made on her at once. As soon as the ice gorge here moves, the Regulator will be put on the route again, and from indications that will not be long.

Accident in a Theater. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—Herr Langslow, a tightwire performer and marksman, was severely injured during a performance at the Orpheum yesterday afternoon. His wife, whose stage name is Ellen Vetter, entered a large iron ball and rolled it up a spiral track to a height of 12 feet, but in descending lost control of the ball, which started down rapidly, and when about 10 feet from the stage jumped the track. Langslow, who from the wings was watching his wife, saw her danger, and endeavored to break her fall. He succeeded, but the heavy globe struck him on the right shoulder, causing a dislocation. He will not be able to perform again for some time. Langslow has been injured before in the same manner, once in Berlin, when the globe fell 10 or 12 feet and struck him.
