Warships Said to Be Bombarding the City.

THE CHRISTIANS IN POSSESSION

Greece Is Determined to Unite With Crete-Turkey Will Fight Before Surrendering It.

Berlin, Feb. 8 .- A special from Athens savs:

It is rumored here that foreign warships have begun bombarding Canea, island of Crete. No confirmation can be obtained here. The German warship Kaiserin Augustine has been ordered to proceed as soon as possible for the island of Crete.

A dispatch from Canea received this evening says the Christians about Canea have hoisted the Greek flag, proclaimed a union of that island with Greece and invited the king of Greece to take possession of it.

Christians in Possession.

ATHENS, Feb. 8 .- The announcement that Prince George, second son of the king of Greece, will command the torpedo fleet which is now in readiness to start for Crete to join the Greek squadron, has added strength to the rumors that Greece will insist upon a union with Crete. It is a well-known fact that the Christians who are now in possession of the whole island, with the exception of Heraklion and Retimo, are only waiting a signal to proclaim a union with that country.

The uprising in Crete is looked upon by many statesmen in this country as a movement on the part of the sultan of Turkey to draw the attention of England, France and Russia away from Constantinople. Greece, whose quarrel with Turkey has been growing more serious from day to day, has not hesitated to take advantage of the excesses of the Turkish soldiers on the island, and is sending all her naval forces there. Should the sultan regard this move as a challenge there would be presented complications which will quickly force the hand of the powers in dealing with the Turkish situation.

These fresh and unanticipated diffiwill put a strain upon the harmony bethe unity of purpose among the powers ment to the interstate commerce law. at the expense of a controversy with

Carson, Nev., Feb. 8 .- Dan Stuart will not be here until tomorrow, but it can be stated that the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight will take place in this city, the information having been given to the Associated Press by a man who has authority to speak.

Already telegrams engaging hotel and boarding-house rooms have been received. Accommodations will be provided for 5000 expected from east of the Rocky mountains, as well as a larger number looked for from the Pacific coast states. The railroads and telegraph companies have begun preparations to bring in the crowds and handle the press dispatches. Work on the pavilion where the fight will take place will be commenced as soon as Stuart arrives and designates the location.

Leadership in the commerce of the Pacific ocean is the natural heritage of the United States, because the foremost in ability among the many civilized nations inhabiting its coasts. That commerce is barely in its infancy, but full of promise of a giant development. Three powers are already on hand to contest strenuously for the leadership, Great Britain, Japan and Russia, Here, as elsewhere on the ocean, Great Britain is far shead of all competitors. Russia is preparing to enter the game in force, as soon as her Siberian railway is opened.

It needs little discernment to perceive that a great advantage in this competition will be held by any power the sluice, the sides of which were as which possesses the Hawaiian Islands, on account of their location centrally in the ocean and at the precise intersection of the great natural lines of traffic. But no power so occupying the group would have as great an advantage as the United States, by reason of a propinquity which enables America to rapidly fill the Islands with a population of her own people, as well as easily to hold and defend them. While the distance of Hawail from the American continent. 2,100 miles, is within easy communication and control, it is far enough for a powerful outreach of America into the center of the Pacific traffic. If populated by Americans, Hawaii will constitute a very mighty American outpost for the purpose of dominating the commerce of this ocean.

The elements which are to contribute to this commerce are such as to render certain an enormous development at no distant period. On one side of the ocean are the 350,000,000 of Chiua and 40,000,000 of Japan, both nations highly civilized and productive. On the southwest is Australia, soon to count 5,000,000 and then 10,000,000 of the powerful and commercial British people. The American Pacific states, will, in a few decades, number 10,000,000, while the western section of Canadian domain will probably soon number 1,000,000. SAVED FROM DROWNING. The Heroism of a Miller in Rescuing a

The brave work of a miller in saving a little girl from drowning is described by the Indianapolis Journal. The millowner and his wife, it appears, had gone to the city, leaving an eight-year-old girl at home. With other children she went down to the mill to play, and by some accident fell into the sluice which feeds the turbine wheel.

The head miller heard a scream, and not knowing what had happened, applied a brake and stopped the machin ery. Then he ran out, found the little girl just disappearing under the water and in he went after her.

Then he found himself in a hard place. The water was eight feet deep, and he was four feet below the top of smooth as a polished floor. The girl was unconscious. How was he to get her out?

It took one hand to hold her head above water, and the other to keep himself from sinking. He must try to throw her out, and this, by a great effort, he did. But the rebound drove him under water and against the wheel. where he was in great danger of being caught and held. He came up again, however, and now a new difficulty confronted him. How was he to get out himself? He sank to the botom, gave an upward spring, and as he came up half-blinded, succeeded in catching the top of the sluice. Then, by the greatest exertions, he drew himself out.

The girl was still unconscious, but by vigorous measures was at last revived.

PERSONNEL OF THE NAVY. Desertions from Uncle Sam's Ships Are Few and Far Between.

The report from Washington to the effect that 4,000 blue jackets are needed to man the new vessels of the American navy about to go into commission re calls a remark made by Admiral Bunes one day last summer, says the New York Mail and Express. The North Atlantic squadron lay at anchor off Staten Island and Father Knickerbock er and his country visitors were go ing down to quarantine daily to look at the splendid fighting ships. A reporter went aboard the flagship one morning and enjoyed a pleasant chat with the gallant admiral. Said he:

"The type of man-of-war's-man of to-day is far different from the old time bluejacket. Desertions are almost unknown from the navy now. Here is a vessel which cost in round numbers $2,000,000. The men consider it then home and they take an immense amount of pride in it. How many me are there ashore who can sleep and What record is given there of its growth? eat in a house which cost as much

The sailormen in sight were certainly a fine-looking lot. The admiral sur veyed them admiringly and then said: "So far as the personnel of the crew goes the vessels in the American navy are away ahead of those of any foreign power.'

DISCREDITING THE HUMANITIES. The College Bought "Mugs of the Old Greek Duffers."

It is charged, with a good deal of the Forum. In the same breath it is added that the scientific school gives practical knowledge and that its training is vital. The comparison between the dead languages and the modern is made-always to the credit of the modand of philosophy. Scientific studies are lauded as by far the most precious. The humanities are discredited. I remember hearing at a hotel table a conversation between two recent graduates one, "gave several thousand dollars for any use the officers wished to make of the money. And what do you think they did with it? Why, instead of buying something useful, they spent it all in buying some mugs of the old Greek duffers." It was evident that the study of the humanities had not seriously in fluenced the manners nor the linguistic tastes of the graduates in question.

HAD PLAYED THE GAME. He Could Not Fool Jonesey with His

Three young men were seated at a table in a Market street restaurant. One of them drew from his pocket and laid upon the table a silver dollar, says the Philadelphia Record. Beside it he placed a visiting card, with a round hole about a half inch in diameter pierced through its center. Said he; Sec the fat, white dollar? See the little hole in the card? Bet you the cigars I can push the big dollar through the little hole." "I'll go you," said one of his companions; "but, remember, you are to push that dollar through that hole without enlarging the hole." 'That's what," responded the proposer of the feat. Laying the dollar flat on the table, he held the card on edge just behind it. Then he produced a pencil which he shoved through the hole in the card until it touched the edge of the coin. "Pushing the dollar-through the hole, see?" "Here comes Jonesey," said the loser. "Lend me your dollar and your funny card and I'll get revenge.

Oh, I won't do a thing to Jonesey!" A lengthy, cadaverous young fellow, with a vacuous expression, drifted into the vacant place at the table. "Jonesey," said the loser of the cigars, "here's a big dollar and here's a little round hole in a card. Bet you I can put the dollar through the hole just as it is—loser to pay all four of our checks." "Done," said Jonesey. The other proceeded to repeat the action of the first trickster. "ilold on," drawled Jonesey, languidly, "your contract is to 'put' the dollar through the hole. I didn't bet you couldn't 'push' it through the perforation. You see, dear boy, I've been up against the game hitherto."

CHINESE JEWELERS.

All of the Work Is Done by Hand-Some of it Is Beautiful. There are two jewelers in Chinatown, but their establishments do not resemble the ordinary places known as jewelry shops, says the New York Times. The Chinese jeweler is a manufacturer as well as a shopkeeper. His establishment is a tiny room up one or two flights of stairs. The room in one place is divided by an openwork iron partition, with an arch and a coun ter near the window, where the jeweler stands at work. He is an elderly Chinaman, wearing glasses, and he works over a tiny fire in the window. All his work is done by hand, and some of it is beautiful. There are heavy silver bracelets which open with a hinge and fasten with an odd little staple. The fine raised pattern is cut out, every bit of it, by hand. There are gold rings made in the same way. There are fine rings, made of 24-carat gold. Almost nothing is kept in stock. There may chance to be a few rings and bracelets. which are taken from a small safe. Most of the goods are made to order. When the manufacturer is asked the price of a ring he weighs it before he answers. His scales consist of a slender stick of ivory, perhaps a third of a yard long, covered with Chinese characters. At one end is a small brass plate suspended from the stick by fine threads and a very small weight, also hanging by a thread, is moved along to the balancing point by the jeweler as he holds the little machine in his hand. The front part of the little shop is filled with a stove, table, dishpan, dishesas many things as can well be crowded

BIG HAT IN CHURCH. It Fills the Whole Universe for the Man

Behind It. This is what happens to the man be hind the hat, says the Chicago Observer: The preacher disappears until nothing remains but a voice. And with the hat standing up against the spot where the voice is, and the modulated sentences breaking against it, how is attention to be fixed upon the sermon? The mind grows lax, the quiet and sweetness of the sanctuary tend to distraction, the hat fills the whole visible universe, and involuntarily one's thoughts center

It is a wonderful construction. There is a yellow rose trembling on a long stem with every movement of the wearer's head and one begins to calculate the extent of its arc. There are bunches of feathers, disposed, apparently, with a view to preventing anything from being seen between them whichever way the hat is turned. And there are stalactites of ribbon, upright and immovable, which still further obscure the

Occasionally one gets a momentary glimpse of the head of the preacher as it is stretched out in gesticulation, but it seems a mere detached fragment uselessly beating the air. The preacher himself has disappeared as if he had never been. The only thing visible when the hat is turned for a moment is another hat of the same kind farther

Dissenters in Russia.

When M. Pobtednostzeff became the head of the holy synod in Russia it was reckoned that the days of the dissenters were numbered. He would soon stamp them out. In spite, however, of his ruthless policy, they have steadily increased, until there are now about 2,500,000 of them without reckoning the old believers, who are 18,000,000 strong.
