The Country Press.

No man ever paid a higher compliment to the country press than White-law Reid. At a dinner given the members of the press in New York some time ago, Mr. Reid was called upon to reply to the toast "An Independent Press," and he said the following:

"There is no such thing in America as an independent press, unless it is out in the country towns. You are all slaves. You know it and I know it. There is not one of you who dares express an honest opinion. If you express it, you know beforehand that it will not appear in print. I am paid $150 a week for keeping honest opinions out of the papers I am connected with. Others of you are paid similar salaries for doing similar things. If I should allow honest opinions to be printed in one issue of my paper, like Othello, my occupation would be gone. The man who would be so foolish as to write honest opinions would be out on the streets looking for another job. The business of leading journalists is to distort the truth, to pervert, to vilify, to fawn at the feet of mammon and to sell his country and race for his daily bread, or for what is about the same, his salary. You know this, and I know it, and what foolery to be toasting an independent press. We are the tools and vassals of the rich men behind the screens. We are jumping jacks. They pull the string and we dance. Our time, our talent, our possibilities, are all the property of other men. We are intellectual prostitutes."

NEW CONVERTS TO OPTIMISM.

Senators Stewart and Jones Admit Prosperity is Here.

New York, Aug. 12.—The Times today publishes the following: Senator Stewart is one of the latest converts to commercial optimism. He is engaged in a vigorous campaign in Wall street, and he said yesterday that he had heard so much about better times that he had determined to gather in a part of the prosperity which is now not only rampant in the street, but outside.

When asked what had brought about the change in his views, he said: "There is no room for pessimism in this country, no one can be a bear in the face of the wheat famine in Argentine, Russia, Hungary and India. In view of these conditions abroad I should not be surprised to see silver sell for 25 cents and wheat as high as a dollar."

"There is nothing in talking silver at the present time, and my advice to my friends in the West is to fall in line with the forces of prosperity and progress and receive their due share of the reward."

"Are the people in the West alive to this new situation?"

"The people in the West," he replied, "are wide awake. They know a good thing when they see it. Most of them are hanging on to their cereals with confidence born of hope and actual knowledge of what is going on around them. With their immense crops they will be able not only to liquidate their indebtedness to the money sharks of the East, but will inaugurate a buying movement that will surprise the people in this part of the country. I think that by the late fall the truth of what I said and reiterated during the campaign will be generally recognized, and this is that there can be no general prosperity in a country that is not born and sustained in the West."

The True Remedy.

W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, etc."

It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at Blakeley & Houghton's Drug Store. (4)

No Aid for Stranded Miners.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—Rumors have recently been spread in this city that the Alaska Commercial Company has sent messages to their agents and commanders of vessels at St. Michaels instructing them to bring stranded miners and prospectors who they may find at St. Michaels or at the mouth of the Yukon back to civilization as an act of charity. The Alaska Commercial people deny the truth of these rumors, and say that they have no intention of wasting any philanthropy upon fool-hardy adventurers.

It is reported from Juneau that the blockade at Dyea and Skaguay is daily growing worse. At the two points there are now not less than 1000 men unable to go over the summit.

The Sick Man of Europe.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 13.—Placards in Arabic characters have been found posted upon the walls of all the ministries demanding a change in the system of government in the Turkish empire. Placards declare that otherwise blood will flow as during the Armenian massacres.

The minister for war, Riza Pasha, has sent a circular to all the Turkish commanders directing them to watch the officers strictly. This step is attributed to the increasing discontent visible in Turkey against the present government.

PROSPECTORS TURNING BACK.

Many Find It Impossible to Get Across the Pass.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 11.—The steamer Rossie arrived this morning from Dyea, and from the statements of the passengers it seems probable that a large number of people who started for the Yukon will return to Seattle without having gone further than Dyea or Skaguay. It is reported on good authority that outfits are being sold for almost nothing and disgusted Klondikers are arranging to come home as fast as possible. Several were passengers on the ill-fated Mexico and some 20 or 30 men have returned to Juneau.

Between 2500 and 3000 miners are now encamped at Dyea. They have organized to keep down packing rates, and are doing everything possible to get over the pass. A rate of 20 cents per pound from Dyea to the head of Lake Bennett has been decided on by the miners' organization and no one is allowed to pay more. This step was made necessary owing to the fact that men with money were on the ground and offering as high as 30 cents per pound in some cases to get goods across. The poor man was left behind and something had to be done. As is usual in such cases an organization was effected, it is said, and parties were appointed to see that the rate for packing was kept down.

F. B. Porter, of New York city, who has been in Alaska for months on mining business, came down on the Rosalie. He said:

About 3000 people are encamped at Dyea. They are living in tents waiting for a chance to get their goods to Lake Bennett. Many have already sold their outfits and are arranging to come back. Skaguay trail is not open beyond the summit. Some time ago a man reported that the trail was open, and many of those going into the Klondike landed there. Juneau men who attempted to take a small outfit over this trail were compelled to turn back. They returned to Juneau, enlarged their outfits and will go in over the Dyea trail. Men are needed to pack on these trails, not horses. Horses get along all right until they reach the summit, then a man has to pack his own outfit or sell it. There are 150 Indians at Dyea who are getting 20 cents per pound."

Captain Robertson, of the Rosalie, was seen this morning. He said:

"We made a quick trip up in 3 1/2 days. Our passengers were landed at the dock at Skaguay. I did not go ashore to investigate the condition of the miners already there, so can give little information on that score. There was considerable confusion along the trail, and a great many of the miners are not having very much success in getting their stuff in. They have pitched their tents and piled up their outfits waiting for packers, and for the trail to be fixed up. I was informed that men were at work widening the trails, and that they would soon be in a passable condition. The first pack train was expected back from the lake the evening we left. They expect to make the trip in two days."

SKAGUAY ROUTE IS OPEN.

But the Trail is Reported in Poor Condition.

DYEA, Alaska, Aug 4 (via Seattle, Aug. 11).—The British steamers Islander and Gees have arrived with about 500 prospectors, which increases the number on the Dyea and Skaguay trails to fully 1500.

Late reports have come in to the effect that the Skaguay route is open to the lakes, and that it is about forty-five miles long. It is of a zig-zag course over the mountains, and the road is very soft. There are some 200 or 300 head of horses on the trail, and they will soon tramp the road into a deplorable condition. The probability of one man in ten reaching the Klondike is remote.

Old Alaska prospectors, some of whom have wintered in the Yukon and know what to expect are becoming frightened and are turning back. Not that they fear the hardships, but that they are apprehensive of a famine on account of so many men rushing headlong to the mines without enough provisions to last them two months.

The best evidence that those upon the ground regard the situation with more or less alarm is the fact that many are paying 20 cents a pound to have freight packed across Dyea pass. This is an increase of 3 cents per pound since the sailing of the Al-Ki, at which time 16 and 17 cents were charged. Twenty cents is the regular rate over the Dyea or Chilkoot pass route. This increase and exorbitant charge is due to a scarcity of horses. Without pack animals of some description it appears to be next to impossible at this season to get freight and outfits across the divide.

A couple of Englishmen, who came over from Canada recently, hired the celebrated White Salmon bear hunter, Stump, with his pack of hounds, and passed through town this morning, bound for the mountains south of here, presumably on a hunt for bear. Besides seven gaunt and hungry looking hounds that followed the procession, there was a six-horse team loaded with dogs, and two two-horse teams carrying supplies.
