THEOSOPHY ON THE KLONDIKE.

Annie Eva Fay is going to Alaska, even unto Klondike, in order to spread the doctrine of Theosophy. As there is only about one believer in the double-barreled constitution of humanity, out of 200,000 of the citizens of the United States, at first blush it would appear that Annie Eva, bless her dear little sout, might find material to preach her interchangable doctrine to without going so far. We fear there is method, much method, in Apple Eva's efforts, else why does she not project her astral body up Kiondikewards, while she leaves the material body down in Boston, where beans and brownbread are abundant for its sustenance. The astral body could go firting with the Acrora borealis and playing leap frog of mornings with the parhelia. If anything on earth could enjoy an Alaskan winter it wou'd seem that one of these intangible shapes in the form of an astral body, with nothing about it that could freeze, no stomach demanding fish oil and dog meat to keep up the supply of caloric, would be that thing.

And all the time the astral form was hobnobbing with the gauntflanked, go-hungry-tc-bed millionaires from way-up the-Klondike, the material body could be partaking of its regular pabulum three times a day along with its fellow-spectacled bean weevils of America's literary and leguminous center.
