LOCAL BREVITIES.

Wednesday's Daily.

Two drunks were before the city recorder this morning, each dancing to the tune of "$5 and trimmings."

Miss Helen Lamar, in her great poem "Kate Maloney" tonight. Edward Shields will take you to the Klondike tonight if you attend the fair.

The Grand Ronde valley fair opens at La Grade today. Exhibits are already coming in, and a large number of horses are on the grounds. The outlook is favorable for a successful fair.

Lela Jones, four years old, was killed at Egbert's logging camp, near Ferndale Washington, by being crushed beneath two rolling logs. She was playing about the dump where the logs are rolled into the Nooksack river.

John Crate, who has been buying cattle in the vicinity of Glenwood, Washington, brought over eighty-one head of unusually fine beef cattle today. They were purchased from Bob Kelly, Joe Silvo and others, and have been resold to the Union Meat Co.

A bold hobo who had a little too much "booze" aboard, attempted to get into Mr. Maier's residence yesterday afternoon. Mr. Maier at the time was at the store, but immediately on being telephoned for, went home. He found him in the front yard and easily persuaded him to get into the wagon, bringing him to the city jail where he was securely lodged.

News was brought to Eugene yesterday by Ben Deering that Benjamin Nelson was found dead on the floor of his cabin. No special examination was made of the body, but it was supposed that he died of heart disease. The last seen of Nelson was last Saturday. No smoke being seen yesterday at Nelson's place by Mr. Deering who lives close by, he made an examination with the above results.

The entertainment at the pavilion last night was equal if not superior to anything of the kind ever seen in this city. Bigfield's orchestra rendered a delightful programme while, the Edward Shields Co. gave their interesting Alaska views, as well as a number of illustrated songs and recitations. The Skaguay trail and a number of other interesting views, and another programme by the popular Bigfield orchestra will be given tonight.

Little George Gilham, the 2-year-old son of County Clerk Gilham, of Harney county, last Saturday evening tried his small hand at adding to the long list of accidents of the past two months, by pitching head first off a bed where he was playing with his baby brother. The back of his head, just below the crown, struck upon some sharp object which cut a triangular gash an inch long to the bone. He was taken to Dr. Marsden, who stitched the wound and dressed it, and the little fellow is about again.

A large amount of exhibits is now in the opera house, and a finer display of fruits and vegetables would be hard to find. One display of fruit contained over forty varieties, while there are at least ten varieties of this nature. Mrs. Stubling's display of plants and flowers is simply elegant, while Burt Campbell's display of stuffed birds and animals and his beautiful rugs made from the skins of animals, are well worth seeing. The oil paintings are excellent, while the crochet and point lace, embroidery and other kinds of fancy work are hard to beat. A collection of thirty-six different kinds of garden seeds are also on exhibit.

The last two races that come off yesterday afternoon were close and interesting. The first was won by J. Phillip's horse, Joe D., with Pat Tucker second and Jim Corbett third. The horses were about half an hour getting started. Pat Tucker was left on the start by over thirty feet, but succeeded in gaining ground and came in second. The last race of the day was between Sally Goodwin, Black Alder, Gus S. and Suretta, and was won by Sally Goodwin with Gus S. second and Black Alder third. It was the closest race of the day, and after the horses had passed under the wire the spectators were not certain which was the winning horse until the judges decision was announced.

Chief Kaufman arrested one Walter Watson on a charge of petit larceny Monday. Watson has been stopping at Mrs. Guitt's lodging house on East Main street, and Sunday night stole from his room mate, Carl Guitt, a watch and chain, knife and the pin, valued at $12 or $13. Guitt missed the articles upon rising in the morning, and suspecting Watson notified the police. Chief Kaufman soon traced the thief to a pawnshop where the goods had been pawned for $2. Watson was soon found and arrested. The trial occurred at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, when Watson was found guilty and fined $30 and costs. Not having the money, he went to jail.—Walla Walla Statesman.

Another landmark connecting the Fossil of a generation ago with that of today was removed on Tuesday, October 5, by the death of James Rose, who departed this life at the age of seventy-five years, at the residence of his niece, Mrs. A. B. Lamb, in Fossil, where he had been ill for many months. With his brother Thomas, who died last year, "Uncle Jimmy" Rose settled on the creek, just outside the city limits, many years before Fossil was thought of as a city. The deceased was of a peculiarly quiet and retiring disposition, who seldom came to town except on election days, but he was well-known by all the old-timers in whose hearts his memory will remain green until they are called to follow their comrade through the valley of the Shadow.

Thursday's Daily.

Wheat is selling today at 74 cents, but few sales are reported, and farmers seem to be waiting for higher prices.

Robert H. Scott, a prominent man in Marion county and throughout the state in milling circles, died yesterday morning at Woodburn.

Twelve carloads of sheep were shipped yesterday to St. Paul, Minn. They were purchased from A. R. Thompson by Ray Bros. of the twin city yards.

Yesterday evening Dr. Deitrich of Dufur was severely kicked in the stomach by a horse. He came to town and called Dr. Hollister, and from present indications he will soon recover.

Plans for the haloween party have been perfected, and it has been decided to hold the same on Oct. 30th. It will consist of haloween exercises and dancing, and an enjoyable time is assured to all.

Mrs. Guesie M. Suessens, the unfortunate woman who was killed in the accident Tuesday evening, was buried today. Her husband was telegraphed for, but as far as we can learn was not present at the funeral.

The raffle for the piece of embroidery, the proceeds from which go to the G. A. R. cemetery fund, will take place Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at Mrs. Briggs' millinery parlors. All holding tickets should be present.

A petition was taken around amongst the business men today to have all the stores close from 12 to 6 tomorrow afternoon. All were enthusiastic about signing, and tomorrow will be a genuine holiday, as well as the big day at the fair.

Mr. Dethman, who took the silver medal at the Hood River fair for the largest and finest display of fruit, is in the city today. Mr. Dethman's display is at the pavilion, and no one should fail to see the same, as it is immensely fine.

The freight traffic on the D. P. & A. N. Co.'s line seems to be daily increasing. This morning the Regulator was unable to take all the freight that awaited shipment, and in order to handle this freight six extra men are employed by the company outside of the regular crew.

The Clackamas county hopgrowers and the hopbuyers are sparring away as if they were afraid of each other, and practically no sales at all are being made. A number of deliveries of contract hops are being made. The boats have carried a few hundred bales of such hops during the river.

Judge Bellinger and the United States engineers are coming up on a special car tonight to look over the right-of-way for the ship railway over Mr. Taffe's premises at Celilo. Judge Bellinger has the right of rendering a decision in the case in place of a jury. The party will return to Portland tomorrow morning by the Spokane local.

The program at the opera house last night was carried out in first-class style, and a better place could not be found to spend a few pleasant hours before retiring. The attendance was good, but this and tomorrow evening will be the ones on which the largest crowds will be out. A select program will be rendered by the orchestra and the Edward Shields Co., which will be well worth the price of admission.

The work of taking salmon eggs at the government station the Little White Salmon river, in Skumania county, Washington, was concluded last week when 12,649,000 had been placed in the hatching trays. That number was as many as the capacity of the plant would permit. Twenty millions could have been taken if the arrangements had been made for them, but the preparations were made with a view to handling not to exceed 10,000,000 eggs.

The sudden death of Silas Woolley of Eagle Point precinct, in Jackson county, gave rise to suspicions of foul play, last week, and the body was exhumed and examinations made by Dr. Patterson of Central Point. It is reported that he found indications of strychnine poisoning; but decomposition had advanced so far that no positive conclusion could be arrived at. The contents of the viscera were sealed and forwarded to the state chemist for analysis. It is probable that nothing will come of the investigation.

Friday's Daily.

U. P. Sam has struck town again and greatly relieves the monotony between races at the fair grounds by his witty rhymes.

Henry Eastman, engineer on the O. R. & N., was called to Oregon City last night on account of the illness of his 13-year-old son. We could not learn how serious the boy's illness was.

A more beautiful day could not be desired for a fair, and if a large crowd is not present at the grounds this afternoon we will be led to believe that the people of The Dalles are going wrong.

When the Dalles City left her dock for Portland this morning, she was loaded to the guards, and the managers fear that they will have to run Sunday in order to clear the freight which is accumulating.

The large sliding doors for the Club Room parlors arrived this morning and are very fine pieces of workmanship, and in this respect are in accordance with everything else about the new Club rooms.

Do not overlook the fact that Ward & Robertson have the fastest team, the safest and most comfortable wagon and the best and most accommodating driver of any conveyance running to the fair grounds.

George Young yesterday sold to J. B. Kerr of Kansas City, 5000 head of sheep, over 4000 head of which were Shropshire lambs of this year. The price received was $2.20 per head, which is an unusually good price.

There was some mistake about the notice which was put in concerning the admission of school children to the pavilion. It should have read that they have to pay 10 cents admission to the pavilion, but go in free to the grounds.

It may be necessary to offer an apology to the patrons of THE CHRONICLE for the hasty form in which it appears today, as it was necessary to get it out by noon in order to allow the force to attend the races during the afternoon. Should it on this occasion not contain all the news, be kind enough not to blame the editor, but attribute any shortcomings to the limited time in which it was printed.

On the 11th of this month the federal supreme court took up the Durrant case. On its decision hang three other California appeals, and several Washington cases will virtually be settled by it. The appeals have no inherent merit. The only real question to be decided is whether the states need delay the execution of the judgements of their courts pending such vexatious and purely dilatory appeals.

Ernest Knight, who has been mining near Baker City for several weeks, met with an accident yesterday that resulted in a broken leg. A large boulder, dislodged from near the mouth of the tunnel, rolled upon Mr. Knight and crushed his leg. Mr. Goodwell, brother-in-law of Mr. Knight, received a telegram apprising him of the accident, and he and Dr. Cropp met the injured man at the train yesterday morning. Mr. Knight's many friends sympathize with him in his hard luck.

Yesterday's Races.

Yesterday's first race which was not decided at the time of going to press, was won by Meteor. This was a pretty race from the turnloose and all the horses traveled perfectly except Leland W, who is a young horse not fully trained, and very excitable, for which reason he gets off his feet very readily.

The second contest was a 3/4-mile running race for a purse of $100. The entries were Black Alder, Sally Goodwin, Lou Kendall and Raindrop. The horses were all frisky at the post, but got off after fifteen minutes with Raindrop considerably in the rear. At the quarter pole they were bunched up and made a pretty race, coming in with Black Alder, first; Sally Goodwin, second; Raindrop, third. Time one minute flat.

The last race was between Gus L. Allicia, Imported Indymion, and Latah. The distance was 3/4-mile for a purse of $125. The start was even, but they had scarcely started when Latah and Allicia took the lead. However on the home stretch the brown stallion took the lead and came in his own length ahead of Allicia with Imported Indymion, third.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

One Woman Killed and Two Others Injured.

Yesterday immediately after the race three front street courtesans—Frankie Young, Daisy Wellington and Mrs. Gussie M. Suessens—were driving rapidly from the fair grounds, and on turning the short curve by Mrs. Bagley's residence, Daisy, who was driving, was thrown out. She was caught by Frankie Young, who, in the attempt to save her friend, lost her balance and fell out also, the vehicle passing over her body and one of her legs, which it severely bruised, but no bones were broken.

The remaining girl attempted to jump, but in so doing struck her head on a picket fence, which inflicted a deep cut in her face, caused severe concussion of the brain, and dislocated her neck, from the effects of which she died in a few moments.

The deceased came here from Albany some time ago, and went by the name of Minnie Jones. She has a husband and two children in Albany, who were telegraphed to immediately after the accident.

The other two women are getting along nicely, and as no bones are broken, will soon recover.

The accident was caused purely by careless driving, and should serve as a warning to others who drive too rapidly over the rough roads in this vicinity.

A FATAL KICK.

A Vicious Horse Causes Fred Wheeler's Death at the Peebler Ranch.

Fred Wheeler, of Junction City, Oregon, aged twenty-two years, was kicked in the stomach by a horse at 3:30 this morning while feeding horses at the G. D. Peebler ranch on Stage Gulch, northwest of Pendleton, and fatally injured.

Wheeler was able to walk to the house after the accident and awoke Mr. Peebler, whom he told he was badly hurt. He then threw himself on the bed. Peebler immediately sent to Pendleton for a doctor, and in the meantime did what he could for the unfortunate young man's relief. He sank rapidly and died after two hours of suffering, before the doctor's arrival.

Welcome Walker, who farms a mile below Peebler's ranch, brought the news to town and summoned the physician. He has notified Wheeler's relatives at Junction City of the young man's sad death.

A Ghastly Find.

J. P. Sullivan, who has spent many years upon the mountain ranges of this county, came into town early Sunday morning from Big Butter creek and reports having found the skeleton of a human being last Friday, not more than 300 yards from the ranch of James Nelson, and only about five feet from the road, says the Pendleton Tribune. The skeleton appeared in full sight as he rode along the road, and this is the strangest part because every foot of that country has been covered and recovered. Mr. Sullivan himself has been over the road many times, and as he is not accustomed to traveling with his eyes closed, he is still wondering how those bones got to the place in which they were found. Sullivan will return to Butter creek in a few days and has promised to pick up the skull and thigh bones, which are the only ones that will stand being moved, and bring them in to Dr. Smith who is anxious to make an examination of them. Mr. Sullivan is sure that they are the bones of some white person.

Second Day of the Fair.

A pleasanter day than this could not have been desired for a fair. It was cool enough to enable the horses to do their best, and more than that, there was not a breeze moving to stir up the dust. The large crowd present at the grounds showed the appreciation felt on account of the suitable weather, as well as the fine speed program which was to take place.

The entries for the first race were Island Lass, Pathmount and Deceiver, but at time of going to press only two heats had been run, Pathmount winning the first and Deceiver the second. As the best three in four wins the purse, it was not decided at the time the reporter had to leave.

One thing can be said, and that is that the fair is turning out to be far better than many anticipated, and a very large attendance may be expected the last days.

Found Her Husband.

Mrs. E. M. Ayres, of Eugene, came to Walla Walla a few days ago to meet her husband, who had written to her to come here as he had secured employment. Mrs. Ayres was surprised on her arrival to find no one to welcome her, and as the days went by and she found no trace of her husband she became alarmed and informed the police of her trouble. Mrs. Ayres was almost distracted until today, when the mystery was cleared up. The woman made a mistake about the place, and instead of her husband writing from Walla Walla he wrote from Wallula, where he has been working for a Mr. Morgan. Mrs. Ayres left today with her little child for Wallula, greatly relieved that her troubles had been so quickly dispelled.

Baptist Convention.

The North Pacific Coast Baptist Convention covered this morning at 10 o'clock in the Calvary Baptist church in this city. A number of delegates are already in attendance, and many more are expected on the boat and trains this evening. The convention will hold over Sunday.

Among the delegates in attendance are: J. W. Osborn of Independence; Hon. A. F. Snelling and daughter, North Yakima; Elder Pewtherer, Balston, Southern Oregon; Elder Oliver, McMinnville; Deacon S. K. Crowley and wife; Prof. LeMasters, Monmouth State Normal School; Mr. N. Falkerson, Elder Freddenburgh, Moro; Elder Jacroux, Cedar Valley; Elder W. H. Shearman and wife, Monmouth.

The "RUSHFORD" Wagon

Is the most desirable Wagon on the Market.

It is not as cheap as some others, but is better than all others. This is a broad assertion, but examine the wagon and you will agree with us. It is constructed from carefully selected material, and it is the aim of the manufacturers to make the best Wagon on the market.

It has more improvements and points of superiority than we can enumerate here. If you are thinking of getting a new Wagon, examine the "RUSHFORD" before buying.
