LOCAL BREVITIES.

Wednesday's Daily.

Mr. John Hartnett has been added to the list of clerks in Pease & Mays' store. Both trains were several hours late this morning, but we could not learn the cause of the delay.

License to wed was yesterday issued to C. F. Douglass and Miss Minnie C. Markham, both of Dufur.

Fisherman state that sturgeon fishing is a very unprofitable business this fall, on account of the scarcity of fish in the river.

One of the large rock scows at Marshfield was swamped at the government works last Tuesday with seventy-five tons of rock on board. A rock was being hoisted from the scow to the wharf, when it slipped in some manner and fell upon the deck of the scow.

L. C. Rogers of Butter creek, Umatilla county, is on the way to Kansas City to buy a trainload of thoroughbred Hereford cattle. He already has a large herd of fine stock, but he says he has made money in the business, and that he intends to pursue it more extensively.

Last evening, at the residence of Mr. Hunsaker, Mr. Charles Douglass and Miss Minnie Markham, both of Dufur, were made man and wife, Justice Filloon officiating. The parents and a number of friends of the happy couple were present, and a genuine good time was enjoyed.

Wheat seems to come in faster than ever, and the great drawback at present in this place and Portland seems to be lack of storage room. As ships are not coming into the latter place fast enough to take it away, this seems to have something to do also in keeping the price down. December wheat rose two cents in Chicago yesterday, but it still stands the same here, seventy-five cents.

At 5:45 o'clock Saturday evening Charles Dobel, standing in the carriage house at his home on Chestnut street in Walla Walla, placed the muzzle of a Smith & Wesson revolver to his head and fired a 38-calibre bullet through his brain. Beyond a slight indispotion caused by a cold, he was in good health, mentally and physically, and as far as known his business was in good shape. Therefore his friends can ascribe no cause for the rash act.

A few days since the T.-M. reporter spoke of seeing Professor Brown extract six corns from the pedal extremities of Mr. Kelsay, our genial county clerk. The reporter, however, did a great injustice to Professor Brown by not speaking of how painlessly that gentleman extracted two large bunions and seven corns off the reportorial feet. We are sure that it was an oversight on John's part, but nevertheless the king of corn doctors feels a little indignant about it.

Secretary Alger has sent to Lieut.-Col. Randall, commander of the United States troops at St. Michaels, an order directing him to make use of reindeer in Alaska for transportation of supplies and relief of sufferers. Secretary Alger's idea is to establish a regular line of reindeer communication under military management. Meanwhile advices have reached the war department from private sources to the effect that there is more food along the Yukon than is generally supposed, and that no man need be hungry if he cares to travel for food. Altogether there are about 1200 tons of provisions within thirty miles of Dawson along the Yukon.

We understand that it is the intention of the Commercial Club to lower the membership fee from fifteen to ten dollars. This is a very wise move, for at present there are quite a number of young men who can scarcely afford to pay fifteen dollars, but at the same time are anxious to join and enjoy the benefits and pleasures which the club rooms afford; and as this would enlarge the membership, it would also enlarge the amount coming in monthly. Every respectable young man in the city should join the club, and this will be the most opportune time, as the rooms are being enlarged, remodeled and put in shape for a much larger number of members.

Thursday's Daily.

The foundation for the new school building is being laid, and in a short time The Dalles will have another structure to be proud of.

Tickets for the lecture at the Congregational church Saturday night can be had at the different drugstores. Admission 25 cents; schoolchildren 10 cents.

Today 77½ cents is being paid for Klickitat bluestem wheat, while Oregon Club is bringing 76. The prices are gradually coming up, and it is hoped that soon it will reach the 80-cent limit.

Farmers from the country south of here say that the rain we had some time ago brought up the fall sowing, and the indications for a good crop of fall wheat was never better.

Today while blasting was going on across Mill creek a large stone struck one of the telegraph poles and broke it completely off, letting the wire down and severing connections with the outside world for a time.

Stock in the Pullman Palace Car Company fell five points or more on the death of the blizzard that great enterprise, but the property is generally deemed to be too well organized to suffer from want of his personal supervision.

Inactivity in the hop market continues at Salem. A few purchases are reported by buyers, at prices ranging from twelve to fourteen cents. The purchases that have been made, however, are few, and the quantities limited, and the market cannot be said to have opened.

George Blakeley, W. H. Wilson and E. C. Pease returned last evening from Portland, where they have been getting furniture for the club rooms. A very fine lot of furniture has been purchased, but as the money on hand was somewhat limited, all that was desired could not be purchased. However, there is sufficient for all present uses, as the members will see when the rooms are reopened.

Frank Hampton of the Hampton stock ranch at Camp Creek, Crook county, left Eugene a few days ago with 500 head of cattle, which he is driving to this side of the mountains. He is one of the men who recognize that in a short time cattle will be as good as gold.

Turner Oliver has gathered about 200 pounds of sugar beets grown in different parts of the Grand Ronde valley, to be forwarded to Corvallis for analysis. The object of the additional analysis is to ascertain the amount of sugar and percentage of purity in beets of later growth than those heretofore sent.

The schooner Novelty arrived at Aberdeen, Wash., Sunday from St. Michaels with twenty-three returning miners, nine of whom are old-timers on the Yukon, most of them from Seattle. They all tell about the scarcity of provisions at Circle City and Dawson, and give that as their reason for leaving for the winter.

Jim Grey, of Wapinitia, while in this city yesterday was seized with severe pleurisy pains in the region of the stomach, and for a while it was thought that his malady would prove fatal. Dr. Hollister was called in several times during the afternoon and he succeeded in bringing the patient around so that he is able to be on the street today.

One of the greatest Klondike expeditions yet organized made a preliminary start from Yakima Monday, through the shipment of nineteen carloads of horses, numbering 245 head, and twenty-three men, headed by J. W. Cameron. They go to Seattle, and will sail from Victoria by the bark Colorado, which has been chartered and especially fitted for this purpose.

A bereaved husband in Montana has posted this notice on a pine tree: "My wife Sarah has left my ranche when I didnt Doo a thing hur an i want it distinkely understood that any man as takes hur in an Keers fer hur on full account Willgit himself pumped so full of Led that some tenderfoot will lokate him for a mineral Klame. A word ter the wise is enflisheat and orter work on fools. P. Smith."

The Pendleton Shoe Store Company filed articles of incorporation in the secretary of state's office Tuesday, with a capital of $3,000, divided into shares of $50 each. The principal office and place of business is to be at Salem, with the corporate power to do business at Pendleton. The objects are to manufacture and deal in boots, shoes and leather findings of every description. The incorporators are: O. E. Krausse, J. R. Krausse and J. W. Lewis.

The blizzard which commenced Monday night in Colorado lasted till yesterday morning. It not only caused discomfort, but also caused severe pecuniary loss. The streets in Denver were piled high with snow, broken telegraph poles hung in mid air or peered from snow drifts. Not less than 300 miles of line are down. The blizzard reached Kansas Tuesday night, and the roads in that state are blocked. Snow plows are vainly trying to clear the tracks.

A trip to California for twenty-five cents is not frequently offered to the people of The Dalles. On Saturday evening, October 30th, at the Congregational church, Miss Helen Kelleher will present the scenery and beauties of our sister state, and if any reliance can be placed upon the statements of those who have heard her and seen her stereopticon illustrations, no one can afford to miss this lecture. The proceeds of the lecture go to the treasury of the church.

The public library opened last evening at Blakeley & Houghton's drugstore. Hereafter it will be open on Wednesday nights from 7 till 9 and on Saturday afternoon from 2 till 6, the only charges being 25 cents per month, which will be used for purchasing new books. This is a brilliant idea and should be supported by everyone who has any literary taste. Nothing is more necessary than a public library, and if we do not have one that will be second to none in the state, it will be our own fault.

Ezra B. Duncan finished delivering wheat in Pendleton last Saturday, and received coin of the realm in exchange for about 9,000 bushels of grain, which he raised on reservation land. Mr. Duncan has been an industrious farmer for a good many years, and deserves his share of the prosperity that the "sons of the soil" are now enjoying. He was settling up some old scores Saturday in Pendleton and seemed to like the process of throwing off the burden. Mr. Duncan received 70 cents per bushel for his wheat. It was contracted at 77½ cents, but the reduction was made on account of damage by rain.

Friday's Daily.

The electric light fixtures for the club rooms arrived from Chicago yesterday. They are very handsome, and will be as ornamental as they are useful.

Otto Kohler will ship sixteen carloads of sheep this evening to Columbus, Nebraska. We could not ascertain, however, what price they will bring per head.

Seventy-five mortgages were released in Umatilla county, Or., during the month of September, and the Tribune says that all the mortgages in the county will be satisfied during the next month at that rate.

We are pleased to announce that Neddie Briggs, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Briggs, of this place, who has for some time been ill with a severe and dangerous attack of inflammatory rheumatism, is recovering.

The Lutheran ladies are putting forth a noble effort to raise money for the furnishing of their church, and they certainly deserve a most liberal patronage at their bazaar in the armory next Wednesday and Thursday.

Do you want to buy a handsome birthday present for your friend at a reasonable price? If so, then go to the Lutheran bazaar next week and you will find valuable articles there, which range in price from a few cents to $25 and $30. You will find just what you want.

Two carloads of horses from the Bakeoven range will be shipped this evening to the National stock yards in Illinois for L. A. Lauerer. The were sent by his agent, T. A. Shane, of Bakeoven, and they will be used for driving horses. This looks encouraging for the Oregon horse-raisers, and indicates that they may yet find a good market for horses that they would at present be glad to send to the cannery at Linnton.

Another shingle mill is to be added to the lumber already established in Snohomish county. The new one is to be built by the Manghlin Mill Company, who have purchased the mill formerly owned by S. F. Weber & Co., at Cathcart. They will move the machinery now in the mill to Snohomish, and purchase enough additional machinery to make a first-class plant. The company has not decided as yet what kind of machinery will be used, but the capacity of the mill will be between 60,000 and 100,000, and will be enlarged next summer. It is expected that the mill will be running inside of sixty days.

The miners of the Seattle Coal and Iron Company held a mass meeting Sunday, at Gilman, to consider the question of docking the coal, against the agreement entered into on August 26th, 1897, between the company and the miners. It was then agreed between the Seattle Coal and Iron Company and their miners that the company should pay a scale of wages of 55 cents per car, less the rock that should be in the car. This agreement was entered into by the miners, attorneys for the bondholders and creditors, and confirmed by Judge Moore. There were numerous speeches made by the miners and all concurred that the agreement had been broken by the company, and that order of the court and been ignored by the local management. Resolutions were adopted demanding payment of the company for the month of September according to the daily bulletin made out by Teto Genlino, who was appointed by Judge Moore, to see that justice was done between the company and its employees, and declaring that the miners would not accept pay according to the bulletin made out by the company officials.

EVIL EFFECTS OF FIRE-WATER.

Especially When Sold to Lo. the Heinous Siwash.

Monday some Yakima Indians, who at present live at Tumwater, on the Washington side, came to this place and succeeded in purchasing some whiskey. They then started on their return trip, but before reaching home they became thoroughly soaked and seemed bent on taking some scalps. The first person they met was another Siwash, and he was left badly beaten and in an unconscious condition. Another Indian fell into their path and received the same treatment.

By this time they reached the Indian village, and the squaws and children were the objects upon which they showered their cruelty. One of them tied a rope to the stake of a wigan in which were a number of women and children, and then ran his horse around the same at full speed, tearing it down and severely injuring some of the inmates. While he was thus enjoying himself his companion was throwing rocks into a neighboring shanty, and succeeded in striking a squaw a terrible blow on the side of the head, rendering her unconscious.

They then turned their attention to one of the larger houses, in which a wake was being held over a dead paopoe, and in a remarkably short time the inmates were forced to take up the dead child and go elsewhere to wake it. The two braves continued their caressing until the effects of the fire-water died out, and then they were as docile as any other siwashes.

Some white men, who were fishing near the place, were called, and found the two Indians who had been first attacked, in a critical condition, their heads being beat up terribly with a weapon which might have been a dull hatchet, and if they pull through they will be lucky men.

The white men inquired as to where the whiskey had been bought, and found out that a certain saloon in this city frequently furnishes Indians with whiskey, and if the proprietor does not hear more from this, he had better consider himself luckier than most men. In this case it is a saloon, not some poor hobo, that furnished the liquor, and those are just the people whom the authorities want.

A Bulkhead Breaks.

A terrible accident happened at Oregon City at noon yesterday, causing the death of two men and injuring five others.

A gang of men had been working night and day for a week to remove a bulkhead, expecting to finish the work this afternoon. The bulkhead was sixty feet long, and extended from the power station on the east to the east wall of the boat canal on the west. At the lower end of the new extension of the power-house another bulkhead had been constructed, and it was the intention to take out the old one, in order to let the water into the new section for the turbines.

The work gave way and a flood of water rushed in upon the workmen, filling the section. At first it was supposed that every man was drowned. An alarm was given and the water was drawn from the canal as soon as possible, as it was found that the work of removing the broken timbers and recovering the bodies of the drowned men would be facilitated by floating the mass of debris. After this was done a count of the men in the gang was made, and it was found that two men, George Stouch and Jacob Maccomb, were missing.

These two men were evidently drowned and are no doubt beneath the pile of broken timbers, which a large number of workmen are now engaged in removing. Stouch is an unmarried man and Maccomb leaves a wife and children.

Among the five injured men, the most seriously hurt are Carl Newburg, whose head was severely cut and bruised, and Harvey Little whose left arm was bruised and whose head and face was badly cut.

The three men who escaped uninjured were: Jacob Weidick, Alvin Richardson and Jacob Keane.

Thomas Smith had his spine hurt and William W. Smith had one bone of his right leg broken.

The accident was owing either to a miscalculation of the weight of the water behind the men or the strength of the bolts and timbers. Upon the giving way of the wall the water rushed into the lower section with terrific force carrying the timbers and all before it. The men who escaped fought their way through the floating timbers and finally reached a point where they received assistance.

The Remains Removed.

Last Thursday afternoon Marcus Whitman's grave, at Whitman mission, seven miles west of Walla Walla, was opened, preparatory to the erection of a mausoleum of brick and granite thereon by the Whitman Memorial Association. President Penrose, of Whitman college, a few students and newspaper men only were present, besides the contractors.

Near the surface of the mound in one corner, four skulls nearly intact were discovered, also a number of minor bones. The skull of Dr. Whitman was recognized by the gold filling in one of his teeth and a tomhawk wound at the base of the skull.

Dr. Whitman, his wife and eleven associates, massacred fifty years ago, are supposed to be buried in the grave.

The bones were taken to Walla Walla, to be classified by physicians. After being placed in a glass case for inspection for a few days, they will be returned to their resting place, and a mausoleum of brick and granite erected over them.

The "RUSHFORD" Wagon

Is the most desirable Wagon on the Market.

It is not as cheap as some others, but is better than all others. This is a broad assertion, but examine the wagon and you will agree with us. It is constructed from carefully selected material, and it is the aim of the manufacturers to make the best Wagon on the market.

It has more improvements and points of superiority than we can enumerate here. If you are thinking of getting a new Wagon, examine the "RUSHFORD" before buying.
