-Cocoa Balls .- Before the fondant is very stiff, take out about a cupful. Knead into it as much grated cocoanut as possible, form into balls, brush with white of egg and roll in dry cocoanut.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Prairie Farmer. -Polish for Floors.-Boil together one cup of strong beer, a piece of beeswax about the size of a nut, and a spoonful of sugar. First clean the floor by wiping it over with warm beer, and then apply the polish with a brush. Leave until dry, and then polish with a soft duster.

-Beef and Carrotz.-Chop one pound of beef (not too fine). Cook slowly with three sliced carrots in water, enough to cover until well done. Season wth salt, pepper, tablespoonful of butter, one-half teaspoonful of onion juice. Cream one teaspoonful of flour in onehalf cup of milk, and add just before serving .- Chicago Record.

-Plain Custard .- The beaten yolks of five eggs and five teaspoonfuls of sugar. Pour over this one quart of hot milk, add flavoring and the whites of two eggs: Bake in cups set in a pan of boiling water. Cover with mer-ingue and eat cold. Do not leave too long in the oven. Boil instead, if preferred .- Farm, Field and Fireside.

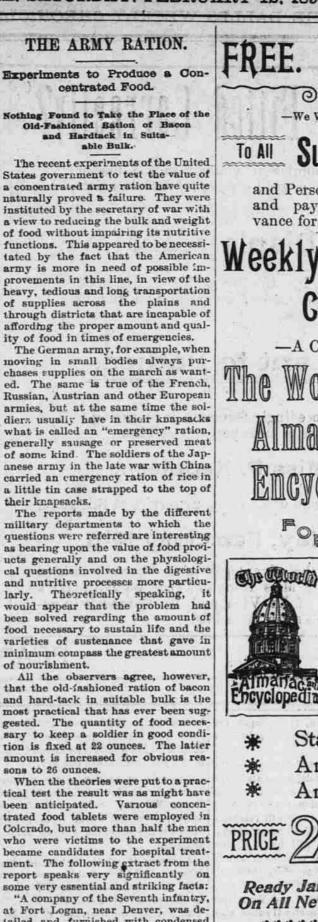

-Cocoanut Creams .- These are made by dropping some grated cocoanut and a few drops of vanilla in some of the fondant; work like dough, roll out, cut in cubes and allow to harden. Melt a piece of fondant without chocolate, and dip the cubes in this. The dipping must be done expeditiously, as the creams will melt if left too long in the hot mixture. Keep the mixture for dipping warm over hot water .-Orange Judd Farmer.

-Apple Butter .- Boil three gallons of cider down to one-fourth of the quantity. Pare and core as many apples as the cider will cover. Divide the cider and put equal parts in two kettles on the fire. Place the apples in one kettle, and as they boil down pour over them the cider from the other kettle, boil 12 hours until smooth, add ground cloves, allspice, cinnamon, brown sugar. Then boil again, stirring constantly. When sufficiently done it will stick to the spoon when held up .- Boston Budget.

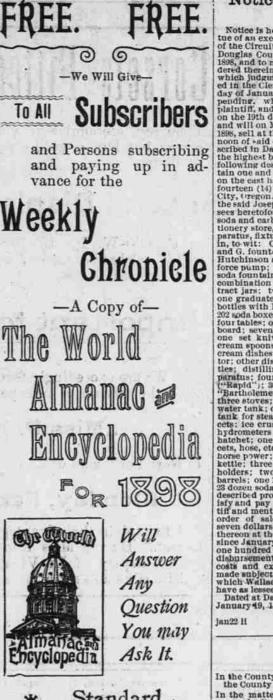

SNAG FOR HIGH BUILDINGS. The Elevator Becomes Troublesome with the Increase of Height. Pending the result of, a movement to restrict the height of our tall buildings, there is one feature of the problem that has recently been called forcibly to t' attention of the public by the accident to the elevators in the American Tract society building, the details of which were described in the Engineering Record of November 21, and that is the peril attending the occupancy of such structures where high-speed elevators and high-pressure plants are introduced. It is quite practicable to regulate this matter in anticipation of action cn the larger question of the restriction of the height of buildings.

The risks attending the operation of levators designed to run at speeds of from 500 to 700 feet per minute are much greater than is generally supposed, yet they are fully appreciated by experts. The demand for excessive speeds like that required of the builders of the elevators of the Tract society building was assumed to be necessary in order to make available for renting the ten upper stories of this 23-story building. To reach quickly these higher stories an excessive speed is called for, and with a view to economize the cost of operation and minimize space in the basement, high-pressure plants are designed, with the result that the record for safety of elevator travel so creditable to our elevator builders in the past is likely to be impaired. To obviate this it should be made illegal to operate passenger elevators at a speed greater than 400 feet a minute. This will permit the safety device to operate when the speed reached 500 to 600 feet per minute.-Engineering Record.

at Fort Logan, near Denver, was de-tailed and furnished with condensed rations, consisting of coffee, soup, bread and bacon. The coffee and soup were in small tablets, which, when placed in boiling water, were ready for consumption in two minutes. The bread was in small, flat cakes, the weight and hardness of a brick, but when moistened swelled out like a sponge. The bacon was compressed and only needed to be warmed in a frying-pan. The soldiers started out with ten days' rations, but the campaign was brought to an abrupt end after four days of 15-mile marches. The

NO USE FOR A WATCH.

David Ward Concluded That He Didn't Need Any Jewelry. David Ward used to be fond of dropping into a certain bank after bank hours and gassing with the cashier. The latter had a handsome gold watch and a habit of holding it in his hand and twisting the stem when he was thinking of something else. Mr. Ward noticed this one day and said:

"What are you doing?" "Oh, just winding my watch," said the cashier. "It's a habit I have." "How can you wind it without key?" inquired Mr. Ward. "Because this is a stem winder," said the bank man. Then he showed the watch to Mr. Ward. "Well, that's curicus," said the old man. "No danger of losing the key or getting the keyhole clogged up with dirt! Sometimes I think I'll get a watch, but I never had one in my life; never wore any jewelry, not even a finger ring. How much would a silver watch cost with that kind of winding apparatus?"

"Oh, about $30," said the cashier. "Well, suppose you get me one," said Mr. Ward, "and I'll pay you the next time I come in." A few days afterward the old man had some business at the bank.

"By the way," said the cashier, "here's your watch," and he took it out of a pigeon hole of his desk. Mr. Ward looked a trifle embarrassed.

"'Um, just so!" he ejaculated. "Well, between you and me, I don't think I need a watch after all. In the first place I have never worn any jewelry, and it's a trifle late in the day for me to commence. I don't need it to tell the time, for I can do that by the sun, or if the sun is obscured, I can always ask somebody that has a watch. But the

SLAUGHTER OF FELINES.

Medical Students Are on a Still Hunt for Cats to Be Dissected.

At this period of the year each of the medical students in Chicago is required to dissect an animal and mount its skeleton. The animal preferred is a cat. There are some 200 medical students in Chicago in their first year, and each of them is instructed to keep his eye open for a cat, and they have been prowling down alleys in search of fetheir search.

It is not an easy thing to find a cat when you want one. Ordinary mortals see plenty of .them as they squall through the night outside of their windows. But it is different with the medical student. When he wants a cat he finds' it very difficult to get one, and therefore he is forced to make a very thorough hunt before bagging his game. On this account the medical student finds it better to make the residence districts his hunting grounds. where he may be able to catch some very tame feline who has wandered from its house and home to sun itself on the steps.

The stray cats are much harder to capture, because they are not as tame and have been taught by sad experience to regard all men as their enemies. The pet tabby is less suspicious and falls an easy prey to the medical student when she wanders from her own fireside. Hence it is that most of the cats which are being made martyrs to science are well groomed and high bred. Fully a score of beautiful Angoras and nearly as many Persian cats have been captured alive and chloroformed by the students during a recent week.

There is a student at one of the med ical colleges who has been so success ful in capturing cats that he has been making a business of it and is laying by a store of money to help pay his ex-penses through the college. He has a winsome way of saying "Pussy, pussy." which few cats seem able to resist, and as a result has caught 16 during a week, which he has had very little difficulty in selling to less fortunate hunters of the feline pets .- Chicago Times- sale by all first-class dealers. METAL OF THE STANDARDS. Nature Furnishes No Mineral Suitable for the Purpose.

There are no products of human skill on which a greater degree of care is expended than the standards of weight and measure in use among the civilized nations of the globe. Two things in particular have to be considered-accuracy and durability. Nature does not furnish any single metal, or mineral, which exactly answers the requirements for a standard of measure or weight that shall be, as nearly as possible, unalterable.

The best substance yet produced for this purpose is an alloy of ninety per cent. of platinum with ten per cent. of iridium. This is called iridio-platinum, and it is the substance of which the new metric standards prepared by the international committee of weights and measures are composed.

It is hard, it is less affected by heat than any pure metal, it is practically non-oxidizable, or not subject to rust, and it can be finely engraved. In fact the lines on the standard meters are hardly visible to the naked eye, yet they are smooth, even, sharp and accurate.

If our civilization should ever be lost, and relies of it should be discovered in some brighter age in the remote future, there is nothing which would bear higher testimony to its character than these standard measures of iridio-platinum for the production and preserva-tion of which the science of our day has done its very best.

food not only did not satisfy the hunger or give strength, but seemed to irritate the stomach. After the first meal, two of the enlisted men had to be placed under the surgeon's care. At the end of the second day 30 of the 70 men in the company were ill, and on the fourth day the whole command went into camp, and couriers were sent to town for hard-tack and ordinary coffee and bacon. Some of the soldiers were seriously ill with a stomach complaint, and were confined to the hospital for several days."

All this goes to show that not only very much is to be learned regarding laboratory feeding, but that we are also far from the proper appreciation of nature's complex requirements in food taking. Thus far the human laboratory, with its multiple, interdependent, and complementary methods, has a monopoly of its own in fixing the proper standards for digestion, assimilation and subsequent growth. There is a natural law pervading the whole that must not be violated by too radical attempts at modification or improvement.

The stomach must earn its living is its own way, as by such purely physio-logical effort in bringing each and all of its mechanical, vital and chemical functions into play, it can best maintain its health, activity and usefulness. No prepared or concentrated food can relieve it of any or all of its activities

ing. Its work must be distributive rather than restrictive. It must be healthfully distended with food bulky enough to occupy spare places; otherwise, its most important function is hampered, while for lack of mechanical stimulus the intestines become stagnated into almost helpless inactivity.

Hence it is easy to see how the experiments failed and the victims paid the penalty of outraged physiological laws. So far, at least, there is not sufficient reason, because a man becomes a soldier that his stomach should puckered around a desiccated soup tablet or that it should wrestle alone in some dark corner of an accommodating fold with some soggy and glazed albuminoid.-Medical Record.
