Wednesday's Daily. At present everything indicates that the Coloma, Portland's pet craft, is at the bottom of the northern waters. The final quietus was put on Vandenberg yesterday, when the house decided without a dissenting voice that he has no grounds for contest against Representative Tongue. Vice-President Estrada Cabrera has officially informed the people of Guatemala of his accession to the presidency of that country. He has issued a decree of amnesty and ordered an election. Representative Ellis has introduced a bill in the house granting to William S. Byers, of Pendleton, Or., a right-of-way through the Umatilla reservation, Oregon, for irrigation, manufacturing and milling purposes. The senate devoted almost four hours in executive session to the consideration of the Hawaiian treaty yesterday. The principal speech was made by Senator Pettigrew, this being the third installment of his remarks upon this subject. A remarkable change was manifested yesterday in the demeanor of the public toward Emilio Zola. In the crowds who collected outside the palace de justice there could not have been more than a dozen or so who went with the express intention of manifesting their feeling for or against Zola. It now looks probable that he will be acquitted. The Spanish cabinet met at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and discussed the present state of the war in Cuba, and the DeLome matter at length. It was decided to publish a decree accepting the resignation of Senor de Lome as minister at Washington, and appointing Senor Louis Polo Bernabe as his successor. Thursday's Daily. The latest dispatches confirm the reports concerning the destruction of the Clara Nevada. Yesterday Judge W. D. Cornish, of Omaha, special master, will sell the government lien on the Union Pacific railroad in Kansas. The upset price of the government lien is $6,303,000. Secretary Corea has informed the department that he has received a cablegram from the diet of the Greater Republic and from the president of Nicaragua, informing him that the invaders who entered the state a few days ago

Scott's Emulsion has been the standard remedy for nearly a quarter of a century. Physicians readily admit that they obtain results from it that they cannot get from any other flesh-forming food. There are many other preparations on the market that pretend to do what

SCOTT'S EMULSION does, but they fail to perform it. The pure Norwegian Cod-liver Oil made into a delightful cream, skillfully blended with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, which are such valuable tonics, makes this preparation an ideal one and checks the wasting tendency, and the patient almost immediately commences to put on flesh and gain a strength which surprises them.

have been utterly routed, and that, consequently, peace reigns in the republic. A resolution presented to the Canadian parliament yesterday gives the amount of gold taken out of the Yukon from 1896 to 1897, inclusive, as over $4,000,000. In 1897 the amount was $2,500,000.

The Walla Walla sailed from San Francisco yesterday with a large number of Klondike-bound passengers. The wrecker Whitelaw will get away today. She goes to Dyea and Skaguay, and will carry about 150 passengers.

The addresses on behalf of the Democratic, Populist, and Silver-Republican parties, which are the result of the conferences which have been in progress between the leaders of these parties at the capital for the past few weeks were issued yesterday. They seek to unite the members of the three parties in future elections upon the financial issue as the question of paramount importance, and appeal to each party to consolidate all along the line for this purpose.

A filibustering expedition destined for Cuba has been intercepted by the authorities at Kingston, Jamaica, and a quantity of arms and ammunition seized. The first corn convention ever held in the United States began yesterday at the Great Northern hotel at Chicago. About 150 delegates are present, and more are expected.

A discussion upon coast defenses was the interesting feature of the senate yesterday. Many senators took the ground that the appropriations should be for the full amount of the estimates by the war department, instead of some millions less.

Information has been received at San Francisco by Collector Jackson that a Canadian sailing vessel was seen Tuesday off Drake's bay, and that she was violating the sealing regulations by being in American waters. The cutter Rush was sent in pursuit of the alleged poacher.

The Campagne Generale Trans-Atlantic line steamer Flachat, bound from Marseilles for Colon, was totally wrecked on Anaga point, Canary Island; at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning. Her captain, second officer, eleven of her crew and one passenger were saved. Thirty-eight of the crew and forty-nine passengers were lost.

GRAND JURY REPORT. The Jury Finishes Its Labor and Asks to be Discharged.

In the circuit court of the state of Oregon, for Wasco county, for the February term, 1898.

In the matter of the final report of the grand jury, we, the grand jurors, submit the following, as and for our final report:

We have returned into court six true bills and four not true bills of indictment in the four days we have been in session.

We have also examined the clerk's, sheriff's, assessor's and treasurer's offices, and we find the said offices with the books, records and papers therein well and correctly kept, so far as we are able to judge in the limited opportunity allowed us for such examination.

We have also examined the county jail, and while we believe the same is in as good condition as it can be kept under the present conditions, it is not properly ventilated and not capable of proper ventilation. We recommend that a modern jail be built by the county, separate from the court house.

We have not visited the county farm, but have had a full and complete statement of the county poor at said farm, from Hon. Robt. Mays, county judge, and are satisfied that the county poor are well and properly cared for.

Wherefore, having finished our labors, we respectfully ask the court to accept this, our final report, and that we may be discharged.

Dated at Dalles city, this 17th day of February, 1898.

VICTORY FOR THE D. C. & A. C.

The Oregon Road Club Team Defeated Last Night.

The Oregon Road Club's team arrived on the 5:20 train last night; but owing to circumstances, one of their players could not come, so that there were but five contestants. The players in their team were Richard H. Pickering, Thos. Melburn, Captain H. B. Graham, F. W. Baillie and J. Oliver.

Four games were played, and from the way the first one resulted, our players began to think that victory was beyond their grasp. In this our men scored but 138, while the Road Club team made 159. In the second our boys made 249 pins, while the opposition team made but 184. In the third game the Road Club was beaten by 24 pins, while in the last game our boys won by eight.

O. R. CLUB. D. C. & A. C. First Game.....138 159. Second Game.....249 175. Third Game.....236 175. Fourth Game.....181 730. Totals.....804

As can be seen, by the above totals, our boys won the victory by 74 pins. The average for the four games for the Dalles players was 40.15, while the Portland boys average was 36. Three of our players scored a higher average than Portland's highest man, they being Tolmie 44%, Bradshaw 43%, and Houghton 41. Baillie had the highest average of the Portland players, which was 38%.

A return game will be played on the Road Club alleys next Thursday, the 24th, and as the Road Club team will have the advantage of rolling on their own alleys, they will undoubtedly give our boys a tight game.

Religious Disturbances.

EDITOR CHRONICLE: There is a certain element of rowdyism prevalent in this city, who, lacking in self-respect, consequently have no regard whatever for the feelings or desires of those who are respectable. They are a positive disgrace to law-abiding citizens, and especially to those attending religious services. They lazily skulk about the premises of a church building as if it were a popular loafing resort. They insult decent people by their vulgarity and their "gall." They are prone to do all sorts of mischievous deeds within the sacred edifice, in spite of the admonitions of the ushers in attendance, thereby vitiating their "smart-aleck" propensities.

Now all these things ought to be, and must be stopped, or the city authorities will necessarily take a hand in the matter; and let the parents of these smarties take warning, that if their boy (or girl) has been taken to task in the manner above indicated, they need not blame the church officials or the police, but must blame themselves for permitting their children to become so unscrupulous as to maliciously disturb the peace and quiet of respectable churches and citizens. OBSERVER.

preciation of the bishop and his devout companion in their wise counsel and painful interest in our welfare. The bishop is to be gone two years, visiting our work in China and Japan.

INDIAN ENGLISH.

How the Red Man Expresses Himself in Our Tongue.

A Militiaman's Observations on the Peculiar Speech of the Western Indians—Some Queer Constructions.

Lieut. Grote Hutcheson, aid-de-camp to Gen. Coppinger, is in receipt of a highly interesting letter from one of his brother officers now in camp at Fort Hall agency, Idaho, the home of the Indians who were mixed up in the recent Jackson's Hole trouble. The letter is interesting because it has nothing to say of Jackson's Hole, which is a relief. Instead, it deals largely with conditions at Fort Hall from the standpoint of a student of ethnology.

"I am taken," says the writer, whose name Lieut. Hutcheson does not feel at liberty to mention, "with the speech of the Indians in their communications with the whites. Having little to occupy time, I have bothered to look into the origin of the kind of language which I hear used by Indians and traders in their talk with one another. It suggests the slang of the Bowerly, being a purely artificial adjunct to both the Indian and the English language. It suggests, too, the baby talk of young mothers, who insist on placing verbs where nouns should be, and who prefer mixing up their first, second and third persons to taking them straight. For instance, there is the word 'mebbe.' At first I thought this to be a sort of corruption of may be, meaning perhaps, or used in a doubting way. This is not true. The Indian and the white in conversation use 'mebbe' as an affirmative. 'Mebbe get wagon' is the strongest way of declaring that you will get a wagon. 'You eat mebbe' brings delight to the Indian, for that is a promise of giving him food, a promise which may by no means be evaded. A white man, too, in conversing with an Indian, when the Indian will converse, and when he knows even this patois, injects 'mebbe' into his talk at every fourth word, or, if he gets excited, he puts it in at the third.

"There is no prouction in the mixed vocabulary of the reservation. The words 'white man' and 'Injun' will fill in for all the persons and all the cases, too, by the way. Somebody will write an Indian-English grammar some day, and it will be comprised in less than a hundred words. Simplicity takes the place of explicitness, I am bound to say, and sometimes you have to use a carefully-trained ear to know whether it is a threat, a command or a promise, or a request that is being flung at you. Mood is unknown in the grammar of the Bannock.

"I discover that the English language of Fenimore Cooper and Oil Coomes are nonexistent. I have dug profoundly into the 'Ugh' and the three-word sentences of the novelist, and I find they are out of fashion. If you succeed in getting an Indian to talk to you at all he will not shut off with three words ending in an exclamation point. Neither will he use the expression 'pale face.' No self-respecting Indian says 'pale face' now.

"Altogether the language is a study worth attention. Seriously, I imagine a text book could be compiled which would really result in a great good for the government in bringing the Indians to something like civilized habits. As it is, the instruction is based on the same conditions as prevail in the English language and with English-speaking persons. This does not fit the Indian. His language is simplicity itself, and there are no twists of case, tense or the like. As to tense, one illustration will show. Take the word 'Go.' We have it 'go, went, gone, going, will go,' while the Indian puts in two cases, 'go' and 'was go.' If he wishes to make it a future tense he simply puts in the specific time, as 'He go to-morrow, mebbe,' which to my mind is quite expressive of the idea. I seriously believe attention might be called to this situation among scholastic men and perhaps we would be able to get along without rascally and incompetent interpreters. One hundred words would be a good vocabulary."—Council Bluffs Nonpareil.
