An Enthusiastic Meeting

A most enjoyable evening was had at G. A. R. nall last Saturday evening. The prominent feature of the meeting of the W. R. C. was the installation of W. R. C., connected with J. W. Nesmith Post, G. A. R.

After this and kindred ceremonies, the hall was opened to the Veterans and the Sons of Veterans. The interest of the meeting was made greater by the presence of Col. Skinner, asst. quartermaster-general, Capt. Morse, asst. adjutantgeneral, Dept. of Oregon, G. A. R., and Mrs. Gwilt, president W. R. C. of Oregon, who were here in the interests of the G. A. ## The Mothers' Meeting.

The mothers' meeting Friday at the Congregational church was well attendad. After devotional exercises, Mrs. Warner read an exceedingly interesting and instructive paper on "Child Culture," speaking of the influence of the daily home life as the weaving of a coat for the growing mind and soul of the young immortal. A striking but clear figure as to how we are shaping human destiny.

Miss Eliot's solo, entitled "The Gift," was most admirably adapted to the occasion and very touchingly rendered.

The Greek poses by a number of misses from Miss Johannessen's physicecuted.

Mrs. Briggs presented petitions for signature addressed to our representative and congressmen praying their influence in enac the a law that will prohibit the sale of intoxicants in the government buildings at Washington, D. C. Exercises closed by singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

The members of the W. C. T. U. desire to thank all who assisted in helping them in the program.

QUEER NAMES IN KENTUCKY.

Parents Were Hard Pressed When They Gave Their Babies Designations

You will not have to leave your own state of Kentucky if you want to find names that are as odd as they are curious, says the Hazel Green Herald. For instance, Letcher county has families in which these names are found: llogg, Horn, Happy, Holiday, Profit, Democrat, Rockhouse, Rittenwelter, Walkin and Watergate. . Some peculiar post offices found in these counties are: . Smooth Creek, Millstone, Paperweight, Rockhouse, Ratterhard and Solomon. They believe in long names up that way, and one poor child struggles under the cognomen of Robert S. Samuel T. Nelson R. Benjamin P. Hester. In Knott county there is one family which has ten members picknamed thus: Stick, Burch, Ham, Hardup, Buck, Dol, Sal, Let, Pol, Bat and Do-em. Leslie county has a Mad Dog, Cutshin and Hell-for-Sartin post offices, and the last named is on Hellfor-Sartin creek, which is said to have been named by early settlers who encountered many tribulations while exploring this locality and named the creek accordingly. Pike county comes next with Bass, Beatrice, Beefhide, Canada, Lookout, Paw-Paw and Praise post offices. Elliott has Backbone. Gimlet, Mink, Ordinary and Wyett post offices.

THE FOREST PEST. A Huge Horse-Fly That Lies in Wait in

Mossy Dells. Miss Eleanor Ormerod, in a letter to the Veterinary Record, gives some interesting details of Indian forest flics, which, after all, are not so very unlike the horrible pests of the same name which frequent the woods of southern England, and most distinctly make life 'not worth living" to the poor horses whom they select as victims. Miss Ormerod says that "some horses are driven mad by the presence of a single fly, and in driving along not unfrequently start kicking most violently, frequently running away with the carriage," etc. This has reference to the Indian specimen, but we read that the English winged demon has a "large curved claw with a saw-like edge beneath it, with grooves down the lower part of the side of the claw, so that each groove runs to the notch between each tooth, the claws. when laid side by side, forming a most powerful grasping instrument." Realizing, however faintly, what suffering such creatures can inflict on their prev. surely no one will hesitate to get down at once to search for, and if found pull off, the forest fly when a horse becomes suddenly irritable and fractious while being driven through country lance or

MONEY THAT IS TO BURN.

Confederate Bills Used Largely in Making Electric-Light Carbo "Did you ever know what has become of the greater part of the confederate paper money with which this country was flooded some years back?" asked a local business man who had just returned from a trip to the Atlanta exposition. "No? Well, neither did I until I struck Atlanta a few weeks ago. In that town I found an old man who makes a business of quietly gathering in all the confederate bank notes he can find. You know the stuff was issued by the ton during the war, and there is any quantity of it still floating around. When the old man gets a big bundle of the paper he sends it to Edison, the inventor, who pays a good price for it. Edison uses it to make carbon for incandescent lamps. The paper upon which the confederate notes were engraved was made of the pulp of sea grass. This branch of the paper making industry has since become a dead art, says the Philadelphia Record. Sea grass paper, when chemically treated by Edison, has been found to make the best sort of carbon for incandescent lights, and so there is always a demand for the confederate bills.
