SATISFACTORY REVENUE.

It is now seven months since the Republican promise of a new tariff was made good. In anticipation of higher duties stocks of goods were increased enormously in all lines.

During the twenty-eight days of February the receipts of the treasury were a little over twenty-eight millions of dollars. This was a better showing than any February had made during the entire second term of Grover Cleveland.

The difference between the Wilson and Dingley bills is almost exclusively in the tariff revenue features. Both bills include interest as well as impost taxation.

These figures do not take into account any of the money received by the government from the Pacific railway sales of the last few months.

The country is now on a revenue basis which protects not only the industries of the people, but the finances of the government. That "endless chain" cannot operate against us while our income exceeds our outgoes.

TRADE IS NOT DEPRESSED.

Dunn & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade truthfully and consolingly says that, though the rumors of war have at times "affected speculation in stocks, they have not disturbed the industries and trade of the country."

Whatever the future may have in store, the commercial element is undisturbed, and imposes confidence in the wisdom and patriotism of congress and president.

dented promptitude in the payment of liabilities, and the volume of monetary transactions has been unusually large. The clearing house transactions in Chicago were greater by more than thirty-four per cent during the week ending March 3d, than during the corresponding week of last year.

An increased demand for all the great staples is noticeable, and there is an improvement in the price of most of them. Trade is not depressed by the prospect of war.

CAMPAIGN IN OREGON.

The campaign of 1898 in Wasco county may be said to be fairly commenced. The free silver forces have held their primaries and elected delegates to the county convention.

Not since the close of the war has the issue been more direct and unequivocal than it is at this time. The Democrats no longer preach free trade; the Populists seem to have abandoned all their cherished tenets of political belief except their undying attachment to free silver.

The last presidential campaign was remarkable for the great interest taken by the business men of the country. The politicians—so called—were in the background, and the representatives of the business world went to the front and carried the banners of sound money and the maintenance of a stable currency system.

As far as Oregon is concerned, the same thing must be done again. Whatever reason a year or so ago there may have existed in the minds of some people for going to a silver basis, there is none now.

The duty of every good citizen is plain. Politics must be sent to the background, while good judgment and patriotism predominate.

Candidates for the legislature this year should be chosen with particular caution. There should be no room for men of the Brownell type. To be a member of the legislative assembly is an arduous worthy any honorable citizen; but it isn't every voter who is fit for the position.

If the Republican party is defeated in Oregon, such a result would be due, in large measure, to the internal dissensions of the party. There is a need for broad-minded statesmanship at the head of the organization—such a leadership as the Oregonian and Joe Simon have not given.

WHY OPPOSITION EXISTS (?)

The Mitchell Republicans have about reached the conclusion that no extra session of the legislature will be called. Governor Lord has been asked time and again if he intends to do so, and the invariable answer has been that he sees no necessity for such action on his part.

This is about as near correct as the Oregonian is able to state a fact nowadays whenever local politics are concerned, and yet anyone who is at all conversant with the situation knows that the above article is far from true.

The Mitchell men, or anti Simon men, or whatever you may wish to call them, may or may not be in favor of an extra session. We have no information upon that point, but we do know that the people of Oregon, irrespective of political faction, are desirous that Oregon should have her proper representation in the United States senate, and that the senator to be chosen shall not be a Democrat, Populist, nor both.

The Dingley tariff continues to justify itself, at least to its friends, by the revenue receipts. February, though a short month, showed the largest returns of any month since it was enacted, exceeding $15,000,000.

The total of receipts for the month was $28,572,000 and the expenditures $26,599,000, showing a surplus of a little less than $2,000,000. As compared with February, 1897, the income is considerably larger and the expenditures somewhat smaller.

There was then a deficit of nearly four and a half millions. The Dingley law has been in operation now seven full months, during which it has produced $75,500,000. Compared with the first seven months of the Wilson tariff, this shows a difference of somewhat less than $3,000,000 in favor of the productive capacity of the Wilson law.

Very little doubt is now entertained by the friends of the Dingley tariff that it will produce a sufficient income, and that for the rest of the current fiscal year it will show a handsome surplus, with the constant increase manifested in internal revenue returns.

There is need in the United States senate of another member representing Oregon. It is not reasonable to expect that one man can properly attend to all the necessities of the state, and they can but suffer in his hands, the duty before Governor Lord is plain, and unless he hears the call, his political future is undone.

scientious Republican—in accord with the platform of his party—and anxious to further the material prosperity of the state. We want no Populist to represent us; yet such a calamity is possible unless an extra session is called.

Governor Leedy, of Nebraska, has undertaken to run the supreme court of the United States. He will find this a bigger job on his hands than Pennoyer had when he tried to run President Cleveland.

WILLIAM'S GREAT STABLE.

Three Hundred and Forty Horses, Eleven for the Empress. The "marstall," or stable of the German emperor, consists of 340 saddle and carriage horses, all from five to ten years old.

The horses are entered in the stables when they are five years old and are trained a half year before they are used. The requirements are hard. They must be showy and fiery, be perfect in action and still be as gentle as lambs.

BURROS FOR JAPAN.

A Big Bunch of Them to Be Shipped from Oregon Ranges. Not long ago, when W. L. Powell and A. J. Powell were riding through Walla Walla county to buy horses they noticed on the range numerous herds of burros.

"I'll give you $3.50 a head and round them up myself or six dollars a head, you to deliver them at the corrals."

A dozen years or so ago the pack train of an emigrant outfit, consisting of burros, was turned loose in Walla Walla. From these ancestors sprang the 1,000 head that now comprise the novel shipment of the Powells.

Had to Jump. THE FATE OF A PROMINENT MARINE GROCERYMAN.

P. H. Monahan, one of Detroit's Oldest and Best Known Merchants Meets with a Serious Experience.

From the Evening News, Detroit, Mich.

Prominent among the business men of Detroit, Mich., is Patrick H. Monahan, who resides at 199 Baker Street.

He has been actively engaged in the grocery business for the past forty-seven years, of which forty-two years have been in Detroit.

No matter what time of day or night, the Monahan Marine Grocery was kept open for the convenience of the lake boats. He is the best known and oldest retail grocery dealer in Detroit.

When we first opened the Jefferson Avenue store we had to work day and night. The vessels that needed supplies, wanted them right off and we had to jump all the time.

"About four years ago I had to give up on account of my back giving out. It had bothered me for years. For a week I sat around the house and then had to go to bed.

much for nearly two years, and doctored for my kidneys. My friends advised me to try remedies that they had faith in, and I tried nearly all of them.

"I read considerable during my sickness and in my daily paper I noticed frequently articles regarding the wonderful cures made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and how the pills contained, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves.

One day I read of a case like mine, in which a complete cure had been effected. That convinced me that the pills had merit, and I decided to try them as they cost only 50 cents a box (never in loose form) or six boxes for $2.50, and could be had at any drugist's, or by mail from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

I bought a box and took it home, and commenced to take the pills. Before I had taken one box that intense pain which for fifteen years had been plaguing me was gone.

I continued using the pills until I had taken four boxes, which made me feel as well as I had for years previous to my sickness. My friends noticed the change at once and were more than pleased to see me out again.
