Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free. F. J. CHERRY & Co., Toledo, O. Weak Lungs

If you have coughed and coughed until the lining membrane of your throat and lungs is inflamed, Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil will soothe, strengthen and probably cure. The cod-liver oil feeds and strengthens the weakened tissues. The glycerine soothes and heals them. The hypophosphites of lime and soda impart tone and vigor. Don't neglect these coughs. One bottle of the Emulsion may do more for you now than ten can do later on. Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion.

FEWER LOBSTERS EVERY YEAR.

Fish and Game Commissioners Report a Decrease.

Short lobsters are still being killed in large numbers. In spite of the work of the commissioners of fish and game to prevent the traffic in lobsters less than 10 1/2 inches in length, during the last eight years the lobster fisheries have steadily decreased. The last report of the commissioners, just issued, shows: In 1890 the catch of egg-bearing lobsters was 70,000; this year the returns so far received indicate about 20,000, and of all others a decrease of ten per cent. below last year and 45 per cent. below 1890. This is not a sudden decline, but a steady one, showing that if something is not done to preserve this valuable crustacean its end is near.

The board says: "We recommend a shorter open season, and the prohibition of the sale of all inland game killed in this commonwealth. Something should be done to prevent the pothunter and snarer from carrying on his destructive work. The taking of game with the aid of a ferret is prohibited, but the possession of a ferret in field or wood should be prima facie evidence of intent to use it.

"It is now allowed by law to kill deer during the month of November, except on the cape. As they are appearing in considerable numbers in various sections of the state, we recommend that they be protected for a term of years." The commissioners have met with success in hatching Mongolian pheasants at the Winchester breeding place, and Mr. Robert Ames, of North Easton, and Mr. H. W. Foster, of Fitchburg, have also been successful in raising pheasants in cooperation with the board. The chief step that has been made in is the use of the brooder and incubator. It was at first thought that these could not be used to advantage with the young of so wild a bird, but after some experimenting it has been found possible to hatch 95 per cent. of the chicks, and with a little more experience it is hoped to hatch them all.—Boston Transcript.

A NEW HALF-BREED. Part Horse and Part Zebra and is Called a Zebro.

The male, says Cosmos, partakes of the qualities of the ass and the horse. The zebra having now been domesticated, it has been asked whether we can obtain from it an aralogous half-breed. Baron de Parana has obtained one and calls it the "zebroid." The young animal is now six months old; it is a male of a bay color with stripes similar to those of the zebra. These stripes are well marked on the neck, the head and the legs; those of the body are not visible, because of the thick winter coat. The mane is black and resembles that of the zebra; the tail looks like a mane's, but has longer hair. The ears are small with rounded points like the zebra's. The haunch is well formed, rounded, and quite large; the chest is long and high, which makes the animal hold its head high, and consequently gives it a good carriage. The eyes are large and full of feeling; the nostrils large; the lips small and much like those of Arab horses (the mare, the mother of this zebroid, was one-quarter Arab); the head is small; the legs muscular, but delicate, showing that he will be very agile; the hoofs small, black and very hard. He is very lively, but very gentle, and loves to be caressed. He eats very well, not only in the stall, but in pasture. These facts, we are told, are from a communication made by the breeder to the National Acclimation society, which is shortly to be presented with a set of photographs of the new creature.

Limit of Population. Statisticians claim that the earth will not support more than about 5,994,000,000 people. The present population is estimated at 1,467,000,000, the increase being eight per cent. each decade. At that rate the utmost limit will be reached in the year 2072.
