Saturday a party from Hood River, consisting of Mrs. E. Rand, Miss Bartlett, of Eau Claire, Wis., Miss Marden of this city, and Will Langille, made the trip to Cloud Cap Inn, on Mt. Hood. Mr. Langille opened the inn for the first time this year, and the party report having one of the most pleasant times imaginable, in spite of the fact that they were subjected to all sorts of weather, Sunday being treated to a genuine snow storm. However, when the clouds dispersed the view of the mountain and surrounding country was beyond description. The inn will be opened for the season about the first of July, and for grandness of scenery and an ideal summer resort Cloud Cap cannot be excelled, we care not whether the tourist may resort.

Recent rains, while being a blessing in more ways than one, have proven somewhat of a detriment to the strawberry and cherry crops. While the latter is beautiful to the view and has all the appearance of being perfect, the damage done is noticeable when they reach their destination after they are shipped. Mr. Kurtz, of the Pacific Express Company, received a dispatch yesterday from the agent at Denver, notifying him that when cherries reach that place they are bruised and it is difficult to dispose of them. At that time they were selling at 75 cents a box, while the average price should be from $1 to $1.25.

The Fourth of July committee has sent invitations to all the interior towns to join in celebrating, and no doubt the city will be well filled with visitors on that occasion. It becomes the duty, then, of every citizen, not only to make the best of the day themselves, but to see that not a stone is left unturned to help others to enjoy themselves. The committees are doing their part, but they need the support and co-operation of everyone. Let us show that not only those who have left us to fight for our country are patriotic, but that we who are left are filled with love of country, and appreciate our freedom, so dearly bought in former years.

Thursday's Daily.

The boats of the D. P. & A. N. Co. will leave Portland hereafter at 7 a. m. instead of 6:30.

County Clerk Kelsay issued a marriage license yesterday to Franklin Noble and M. A. E. Palmer.

The river last evening stood at 36.8, showing a fall of .1. Yesterday's temperature was 75° maximum, the minimum being 49°.

A Scotchman has constructed a bicycle which he can take apart and carry into a train, after having folded it within the space occupied by three umbrellas.

M. J. Manning, who is buying wool for Jacob Wollner, started the ball rolling yesterday by purchasing the first clip, about 25,000 pounds, paying a good price, somewhere about 12 or 13 cents.

Portland schools closed yesterday, and exercises were held in the assembly room of the high school last evening. The graduating class is one of the largest in the history of the school, numbering fifty-three.

Lovers of good music as well as poetical wit, will be pleased to learn that among the passengers on the Regulator last night was "U. P. Sam," whose dulcet tones will no doubt be heard on our street corners today.

Last night at about 9 o'clock a son was born to the wife of W. H. Mansfield. Instead of walking the lie, as most printers do, Billy can now walk the floor. THE CHRONICLE congratulates him on his change of occupation.

The National Congregational Council will convene in Portland on the 7th of next month, and will be attended by Congregationalists from every part of the United States. A very instructive and interesting time is expected, and many will attend from this city.

One very attractive feature of our celebration will be the singing under the leadership of Prof. Lundell. Beside a double male quartet, a large chorus of mixed voices will furnish several selections. Those who have been asked to aid in this chorus should consider it a privilege to do so.

The ministers are not the only ones who are being kept busy in the matrimonial market these days, although they have been doing a land office business. Justice Filloon, determined not to be outdone, Tuesday tied the knot which united in marriage Wm. A. Doyle and Alice Spoonemore.

Tuesday evening during the time of the social given by the ladies of the Christian church, Lee Boskirk and another boy were coming down the stairs leading to the basement. The boy unintentionally gave Lee a push, which caused him to fall down the stairway, breaking his collar bone. Dr. Eshelman was at once called and reduced the fracture.

The Pendleton Tribune says: "It is said that the wheat fields in the vicinity of Sand Hollow are beginning to show effects of what is supposed to be the Hessian fly. The heads of the wheat turn white and the grains wither away. These white heads can be seen in large numbers, but so far they are not enough to effect the yield. The fly is supposed to lay an egg in the joint of the stock, which hatches into a worm that destroys the plant. The insect has been known in the county for several years, but the injuries have not been great, enough to cause much attention, and no one has made an exact study of the parasite."

Herman Naylor was arrested yesterday morning, having forged a check for $5. He gave the check to Jordan, who afterward was going to pay it to Joe Parodi. However, the latter being somewhat suspicious as to the way it was made out, refused to accept it. Naylor then took it, saying he would make out another, but instead tore it up and refused to pay the amount. Accordingly he was arrested.

R. O. Judson, who was the prime mover in the Wool-Growers' Association which was held here, is now busily engaged in planning a convention of farmers, which will be held in Astoria on July 20th and 21st, principally in the interest of dairymen. Invitations will be sent to every farmer in Oregon and Washington, and those who know Mr. Judson are assured of its success.

Every day numbers of people from California are arriving in Portland, driven there by the drouth. A gentleman from Southern California, speaking of their coming, said: "People up here in emerald Oregon can form no idea of what a terrible southern drouth means, and the suffering and impoverishment which it inflicts on people. I shall sell my Southern California place and buy a small farm in Oregon."

If anyone has an idea that The Dalles is not all right in a business way, they will soon change their minds by visiting the different warehouses where wool is daily arriving, and then watching the teams going out loaded down with supplies. Then call at the commission houses and see how much fruit is shipped, not speaking of the other shipments made, and if The Dalles is not all right, where do you find a place that is?

The annual convention of Christian churches of this state begins this morning at Turner, near Salem, and will continue until July 4th. Rev. Boltz and wife, of the Christian church of this city, went down on the boat yesterday morning to be in attendance at the opening sessions, and will be absent from the city for about two weeks, during which time the Sunday evening services at the Christian church will be dispensed with.

The Good Intent Society, which met with Mrs. D. M. French yesterday afternoon, was particularly favored by having with them Mrs. Hoxter, of the Portland Refuge Home, who gave a most interesting talk concerning the work of that institution. Those who heard Mrs. Hoxter speak at the Methodist church one evening last winter, were deeply impressed with the work this institution is doing, and have, since that time, felt more than a passing interest in its welfare.

Wednesday's weather report says: "The Snake river shows a marked fall this morning. The Columbia remains stationary. Cool weather continues over the entire Columbia river basin. The upper rivers will continue to fall slowly. The fall will be observable at Umatilla Thursday, at The Dalles Friday, and west of the Cascades on Saturday. The fall will not be rapid but will be continuous. There is absolutely no danger of a further rise."

It is authoritatively stated that on a new quartz location on Willow Creek, four miles above Malheur City, three men have pounded out daily from thirty to fifty dollars in gold with hand mortars and in the past twelve days have taken out a total of sixteen hundred dollars. This bonanza rivals the Great Northern mine at Canyon City. It is said that the ledge is two feet in width and between well defined walls. There is a widespread excitement over this find of yellow metal and mining men of long experience who have seen the property are emphatic in asserting that a lasting and prolific quartz mine has been uncovered.

Much is said in the Oregonian concerning Oregon's Official Roster, dedicated to the Second Regiment, Oregon Volunteer Infantry, and compiled by Amelie de F. Smith, of Portland. In looking over a copy last evening, we find it to be a very valuable little souvenir; especially will it be so in after years when, mayhap, many of the likenesses of whose faces can be found therein, and whose signatures also appear, have given their lives for their country. It is neatly gotten up and bound together with Manila hemp. As we turned over the pages of the roster we could not help feeling a pride that it contained so many familiar signatures.

Friday.

The river stood at 36 last night, showing a fall of .3. In the west were heavy rain clouds, indicating a storm at the Locks, if not nearer.

The first clip of wool, consisting of 65,000 pounds, was shipped to Chicago yesterday by C. F. Merry, of the Chicago Wool Exchange. It was baled at the Wasco Warehouse.

Yesterday morning Hiram Naylor had his hearing before Justice Filloon, having been arrested for forgery. He was bound over in the sum of $200 to appear before the November grand jury.

A small breastpin of solid gold was brought to this office yesterday morning, having been picked up on the street. The owner can have the same by proving property and paying for this notice.

At the commencement exercises of Mt. Angel college held Wednesday the degree of B. A. was conferred upon W. Bolton, of Kingsley; while Bert Baldwin, of The Dalles, was accorded the degree of bachelor of music.

Preparations are being made by the fruit men of Walla Walla and that vicinity to hold a fruit fair in that city next fall. Such a movement would be a fine idea for the people of this city to consider.

Mrs. A. C. Stubling & Son will soon begin on the erection of a new hot house especially for the culture of carnations and violets. The increasing trade makes this necessary and Mrs. Stubling feels that her efforts will be appreciated by her patrons.

Altercations will occur in the best of families, as was proven yesterday when an Indian "brave" had a heated discussion with his klookhman on Second street. Constable Hill arrested him, but he was allowed his liberty after promising to live peaceably hereafter.

The executive committee wish to remind the citizens of The Dalles that enthusiasm should know no bounds this year, for not only do we celebrate the birthday of our nation; but as we have been behind the times in ratifying Dewey's victory, the Fourth will be the occasion of a double celebration. Get all the fireworks in readiness.

Max Vogt's building, on the corner of Fourth and Washington streets, which is being refitted, and is to be occupied by Peter Stadlerman, who will carry on a commission business, will be completed some time the middle of July. It has been partitioned, and the east half will be used by H. Glenn as a warehouse.

Wednesday evening Mrs. Geo. Herbert returned from Cascade Locks, where she had been visiting her sister, Mrs. Geo. Morgan. She reports Mr. Morgan as being much worse, and it is feared he will live but a few days. Although realizing his condition, he is quite cheerful, and has expressed a desire to once more see his intimate friends in this city.

At a recent meeting of the ministers of Eugene, arrangements were made to unite in an out-door service each Sunday afternoon during the summer, the first service to be held July 3d. The service will be held in one of the city parks. This is a very happy idea, and no doubt more good will be accomplished in this way than could possibly be done by convening in a close building during the summer months.

At a meeting of Harmony Temple, No. 12, Rathbone Sisters, held last evening, the following officers were elected: M. E. C., Lillie Gavin; E. S., Viola Rorden; E. J., Laura Blakeney; Manager, Julia Driver; M. of R. and C., Minnie Gosser; M. of F., Susan Walters; G. O. T., Nellie Thompson; P. of T., Lillie Waud; Trustee, Alice Crossen; Delegate, Minnie Gosser. At the close of election ice cream and cake were served and a general good time was had.

Last Wednesday, at Mosier, Alex. Stewart and Rachel Rowland were united in marriage by Rev. G. W. White. A large number of the friends of the bride and groom were present, and it was one of the happiest weddings that has ever occurred in Mosier. The decorations were profuse and beautiful, and the number of substantial presents received proved the popularity of the young couple. Mr. J. N. Mosier acted as best man, while Mrs. J. M. Mosier was bride's maid. All did justice to the bountiful dinner which was served, and joined in wishing them peace and happiness.

Comini's goat, the most popular animal on Second street, got into serious trouble yesterday, when some boys, with malice aforethought and malicious intent, decorated his stub tail with a can. As soon as he discovered it, supposing he was to take part in a charivari, he started hurriedly toward the clerk's office for the purpose of determining who had obtained a license. Finding, before going far, that he was the center of attraction, he seriously objected and bolted up the stairs leading to the law offices in the French block for judicial interference. How the difficulty was adjusted has not been determined; but suffice to say he was quieted.

down before, in his mad efforts to rid himself of the appendage, he was churned into "butter."

The women's edition of the Walla Walla Union has just been issued at that place. The number of editions being edited solely by women nowadays proves the fact that they are not backward in entering even newspaper work, and the editions so far edited by them have been very creditable. While we do not doubt that women will prove equally as successful as men in this line, remembering that what man has done (or hasn't) woman can do, yet these editions would not be sufficient proof of the fact, had they not given evidence of their ability in that field long since. The novelty of an occasional edition is very different from the daily grind of an editor's life, or even a reporter's.

Although vacation has just begun, it will not be many weeks before preparation for the fall term of school will commence. While our schools have been so successfully conducted, there has always been a drawback in regard to securing pupils from the outside country, which could be obviated if there were only some place provided where those coming from a distance could secure home-comforts. Many are sent to school in the Willamette valley who would otherwise remain here were it not for this objection. St. Mary's academy furnishes such a home for those who wish to attend that school, but those who desire to attend the high school find it almost impossible to secure boarding places such as would be required by pupils. Would it not be a paying investment for some motherly matron to contemplate the matter and start such a home when school begins?

DEATH OF MRS. FERGUSON.

At Four O'clock Yesterday She Succumbed to Consumption.

Friday's Daily.

Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, while her husband, relatives and friends were watching by her bedside, Mrs. Serene Ferguson, wife of G. A. Ferguson, fell asleep to wake no more this side of eternity.

Last October Mrs. Ferguson was taken ill and since that time she has never been free from pain, although her illness did not seem, until the last few months, to be of a serious nature. In April she was taken to her sister's home in Albany, for the benefit the change might do her; but she grew worse, and some weeks ago, when her husband went below to bring her home, he was shocked to find her so much worse than he thought, and evidently a victim of consumption. She was brought to this city about ten days ago, and everything possible done for her, but in vain.

Mrs. Ferguson was but in the prime of womanhood, being 33 years of age. She has been a member of the Christian church for a number of years, and when told she must die, bore the news bravely, being perfectly reconciled. Of a happy, lively disposition, she won all hearts. She leaves, beside her husband and son, Glenn, a mother, in Seio, Or., three sisters and four brothers. Her remains were taken to Albany on this morning's train, where they will be interred.

The Inland Flyer.

The beautiful propeller, Inland Flyer, which Joseph Supple is building for The Dalles run, is nearing completion and will be ready for launching in about three weeks. The engines for the boat arrived yesterday and will be installed as soon as possible. They are of the triple compound pattern, the low-pressure cylinders being divided into two parts, and will develop 650 horse power, which insures the speed of the boat.

The cabin and interior of the craft are especially fine, all the casings and moldings being of mahogany. She is intended only for the passenger business, and will be fitted with every convenience that the shipbuilder's art can supply. In another part of the yard, near the east approach of the Morrison-street bridge, is the old steamer Dalles City, and beside her is the brand new hull ten feet longer than hers, so which the upper works have been transferred. Part of the machinery of the Dalles City will be used in the new boat, which is to be used as a freighter to run in conjunction with the passenger steamer.—Oregonian.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

He rose to depart as the clock sounded eight, And getting his hat and his cane, His wife sweetly murmured, "Now, don't stay out late, Dear Charlie, 'Remember the Maine.'" With that somewhat startling injunction in view, He was back home at ten with his pet, For should he stay later he very well knew, What a great blowing up he would get.

Wednesday's Daily.

The Regulator arrived at about 8 o'clock last evening with a very large passenger list. Tourists are already beginning to make trips up the river.

Mr. J. B. Haverly, of Boyd, who was in the city yesterday, says it does a person a world of good to see how well the grain is looking in his part of the country. Johnston Bros. have some grain that will yield forty bushels to the acre.

Cards have been received in this city announcing the marriage of Miss Mand Shulthis and Charles Marston at Los Angeles, Calif. Both young people formerly lived at Pendleton, and Miss Shulthis made a host of friends while visiting Miss Story in this city, who will extend their congratulations.

The Oregonian says that before the summer is over Portland and Mt. Hood will be connected by a bicycle path, which will afford bicyclist a very good means of traveling to the mountain. L. L. Hawkins is the projector of the plan.

One of the witnesses in the Heater case, which came up in Justice Filloon's court yesterday afternoon, failed to make his appearance, and consequently Heater was given his liberty until such a time as the complaining witness chooses to show up.

From Lieut. Bartell we learn that fifteen have volunteered from The Dalles to recruit the ranks of Co. L, the apportionment being thirteen. They are now awaiting the arrival of the examining surgeon, who is now examining the volunteers at Portland and valley towns.

Lieut. Bartell will be given twenty-four hours' notice before his arrival here, so that all will be in readiness.

The Willamette Chautauqua Assembly, which is held at Gladstone Park each summer, will convene this year on the 10th of July. This is one of the most pleasant and instructive places a person can possibly find to spend a week or ten days. Rates can be secured over the O. R. & N. and D. P. & A. N., and altogether it is a very inexpensive trip. The program for this year is, if possible, better than ever, the best of instructors and speakers having been engaged.

The weather bureau report says: Comparatively cool weather continues over the Columbia river basin. The cool weather will check the melting of the snow and the water now started will to a certain extent, run off before any further warm weather can occur and start the snow to melting again. The height of 20.7 feet, registered at Portland yesterday morning, marks the maximum height of the high water this year. The river will remain nearly stationary or fall slightly for the next several days. From Friday the fall will become more marked. There is absolutely no danger of a further material rise this year.

The Long Creek Eagle is in receipt of a private letter from Washington, D. C., which announces that A. W. Patterson, a brother of the Eagle man, was one of six who, out of a class of 200, passed the highest in the examinations closing the second year's work of the Columbian Law school. He received second prize, an elegant set of law books. Mr. Patterson has many friends in The Dalles, who will be pleased to learn of his success.

At 8 o'clock last evening, as the cow herder was bringing in the drove, one of the cows became frightened just as they reached Crowe's store, and darted like a flash through the glass door of the agricultural department. Seeing Fletch Faulkner in the act of selling Lem Burgess one of their famous Jones mowers, she became more frightened than ever, and turning around, tore up Second street as if she had been shot, doing no more damage, however, than had already been accomplished.

The portico of the club rooms has found that its dress of pure white is susceptible to every spot of dust and dirt with which it comes in contact. Consequently the painters were busy yesterday giving it another coat, which adds greatly to its appearance. This has been a favorite resort for the club members during the warm weather, and at any hour in the evening a number of
