WE WILL RANK AS THE THIRD NAVAL POWER

Prespective Result of the Completion of the Warships Which are Now in Course of Construction.

FLEET WILL BE FORMIDABLE

Twenty New Vessels Now in Various Stages of Advancement, and Materials are Being Gathered for Thirty-Five Others.

New York, Oct. 13 .- A dispatch to the Tribune from Washington says:

The remarkable rapidity with which the naval power of the Umted States is being increased at the present time may be realized when it is stated that fiftyfive war vessels are now under contract for the government, and their tonnage far exceeds that of the vessels building at any one time during the civil war. This vast construction program, which has excited more attention abroad than at home, has been authorized gradually by congress, until the vessels soon to be completed will place the United States third in rank among the sea powers.

In addition to the enormous fleet, including auxiliaries, actually in completion at the present time, twenty vessels are in various stages of readiness, and the ship-builders are hurriedly gathering material for thirty-five others. Of the fifty-five vessels, eight are first-class, heavily armored, sea-going battleships, thirty eight are torpedo-boats, four are monitors and one is a powerful cruiser.

Chief Constructior Hicborn has completed a tabulated statement, showing the degree of completion of the twenty vessels now nearly ready for commission or rapidly approaching that condition. from which it appears that seventeen of these vessels have already been launched and five others will be affost before the first of the year.

Mrs. Geer was for some time affected with heart trouble, When she arrived in the city Tuesday with her husband, she was tired, and this probably brought on the fatal attack, although she was about the hotel even yesterday.

She was born in Missouri and married at a very early age, coming in 1864 with her father and husband across the plains to Oregon, settling in Union county. The following year Batte mysteriously disappeared, and from that day to now no word from him has ever been heard. Five years later, when preparing for her marriage with Mr. Geer, Mrs. Batte, as a matter of precaution formally obtained

Columbia River Fish Find Themselves Fairly Represented at the Legis-Inture.

Could the fish of the Columbia riverrealize what a sensation they have created in the Oregon legislature they would not only feel themselves to be "in the swim" but refuse to associate with the "codfish aristocracy," considering backs. They would no doubt weigh themselves on their own scales and come up the Columbia with their heads in the air.

One of the most important bills passed this session is Curtis' fish bill, which a dispatch from Salem says represents the combined wisdom and labor of such well-posted men as Representatives Curtis and Young, of Clatsop county; Representative Myers, of Multnomah; Roberts, of Wasco; Senator Fulton, of Astoria, and State Fish and Game Protector McGuire. Every feature of it has been carefully considered. It has been revised and re-revised. It meets the approbation of the fishermen and annerymen, and it protects Oregon's fish.
