GO SLOW ON WIDOWS.

That Was the Piece of Good Advice One of Them Gave a Smart Young Man.

A score of us were sitting in the shade of the depot building waiting for the train, which was an hour late, when a yoke of oxen attached to a queer-looking cart turned the corner. They were driven by a woman about 50 years of age, who was barefoot and wore a man's straw hat.

"Git up thar', Buck!" she exclaimed, as she laid the "gad" on the off ox with a resounding whack. "You, thar', Peter, what you skittishun 'round that way fur? Whea, now! Both of yous stan' still!" She turned them up to the platform, threw down some hay taken from the cart, and came up among us to inquire of the depot agent about a barrel of salt. He was busy then and she was waiting around, when the smart Alick of the crowd, who was traveling for a wine house, remarked in tones meant for her to overhear:

"I have always said if I married at all, I'd marry a woman who could drive

"Is that meant for me?" she asked, as she walked straight up to him. "Are you a widow, ma'am?" "I am. Bin a widder ever since a and my heart's a-thumping away like all git out! I said I'd marry again, and I will. We are engaged. When do you want me to be ready?" "Madam, you have totally misunderstood me," explained the young man, as he turned all sorts of colors and appeared to grow small. "I asked you a few questions out of curiosity."

and mebbe they won't," she said, as she set her jaw.

"They don't allow no foolin' 'round in Posey county. When a feller goes as fur as you hev it's a hitch or damages. I'm a-tremblin' all over like a girl, an' my heart's a-tryin' to jump out. It's regular love or I don't know the road hum. You don't leave here, young man, till this case is settled." "But, ma'am you see-"

"I don't know nuthin' but marriage or damages. You've asked me to have you. I said I would. Will you marry or settle?" "How-how much?" he gasped, as he looked around and failed to find any sympathy.

"Wall, Saginaw salt is a dollar and a quarter a bar'l," she replied, as she glanced at a row of barrels down the platform. "I guess the oxen kin git hum with two bar'ls. Make it two and I'll call it squar'."

Everybody grinned except the young man. He realized that he was done for, and got out of the box by planking down the $2.50 to the agent. The cart was driven around to the spot, the barrels loaded up, and then the woman came oack to the young man:

"I've settled this case, and the salt mark that if you happen this way agin and you happen to feel so awfully cunnin' that you can't hold yourself, you'd better go slow on widders. Thar's 16 of us 'round here, an' we all drive yeller oxen hitched to carts, an' we all go b'arfoot in the summer and sigh to get married agin. The reg'lar figger is three bar'ls of salt and a pound of tea, but, owing to your youth and that thunderstorm comin' up, I've let you off easy. Good-day, bub; good-day all!"—N. Y. Herald.
