Telephone No. 1.

LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

Mr. Nestor informs us the telephone to Prineville is a foregone conclusion, a sufficient amount having been subscribed to assure its success.

The teachers of the public school are busily engaged in preparing the Lafayette entertainment which will be given Saturday night at the Vogt opera house. All are expecting a treat, as their programs are always first class.

The Oregon Telephone company is to start immediately to connect every town in Clatsop and Tillamook counties with Portland. As it will extend through Astoria to Tillamook, seafarers next season will have the benefit of a 'phone.

Tonight and all day tomorrow you can consult the German specialist free of charge at the Umatilla House. Will return December 1st, 2d and 3d. Cross eyes straightened without the knife. Cataract a specialty.

You certainly have seen it already; if not look over the ad of the new clothing store, which will open tomorrow in the building lately occupied by W. A. Johnston. They will make themselves known by their prices.

Yesterday morning the Regulator hull left Portland about 4 o'clock in tow of the Hustler, and was taken as far as Kelley's Landing, below the Cascades. It has been impossible so far to secure a boat to tow her to this city, and it is thought the company's boats will be compelled to undertake the job.

The Omaha exposition closed Monday night, 75,000 people attending on the last day. The exposition was a financial success, something over $400,000 remaining to be divided among the stockholders. It was not only a financial success, as will be attested by everyone who attended, but a success in every way.

The steamer Hattie Belle now floats in the waters of the Columbia as gracefully as if she had never known an accident, having been successfully launched at 2 o'clock today. She will be taken to Portland at once, and the D. P. & A. N. company will no doubt keep her in service, the desire being to run her between The Dalles and the Cascades.

No man can estimate the damage being done this year to the Oregon fruit industry by the marketing of the product of infected apple orchards. It will take ten years to overcome the ill repute created by the mistaken policy of a single season. It would have been infinitely better if the apple crop of the state had been a total failure.—Oregonian.

Lillian Russell Thompson, the eldest of the little tots who so delighted the audience on the appearance of the "Pulse of New York" company in The Dalles last winter, died in Seattle Sunday night of Bright's disease. She was only 8 years old and the younger sister is about 5. They completely captured everyone who heard them here, and were born actresses. Their home is in Chelsea, Mass.

Yesterday afternoon Fred Burchtorf was working on the roof of an addition which is being built to the residence of Polk Mays, on Ninth street, when he stepped on the apron which he wore and stumbling fell to the ground, about fifteen feet. He was helped up and immediately taken home, medical aid being summoned. It is impossible to tell as yet to what extent he is injured, but he is confined to his bed at present, and may be for some weeks.

Portland has a new daily paper, which will be published every evening with J. S. Dellinger, formerly of Astoria, as manager. It will be Republican in principle and has been christened as the Portland Daily Times. Somehow there's nothing new under the sun when it comes to newspaper names; but we welcome it just the same and hope it will be an exception to the general run of papers started in Portland, and prove that it has come to stay.

There seems to be quite a move in newspaper circles in Oregon of late. Whether for the same reason that individuals change their place of residence often (to avoid paying rent or cleaning house) we could not say; at least we'd rather not, for we might want to move ourselves. The latest paper to seek greener fields is the Republic, which has been published at Wasco and will now be a Morrite, making its debut on November 10th. More can now divide her kicks between three different sheets, and her interests should be well represented between an Observer, a Leader and a whole Republic.

Agent Ireland is at present the happy possessor of a genuine Hoosier corn drill. Not that he contemplates starting out as a doctor of "corns, bunions and ingrown toe-nails;" 'tis not this kind of an instrument, but one such as is used in old Indiana for planting corn. Monday a man came tearing into the depot for the purpose of checking his baggage. Expecting to find a small black-glazed valise the baggage master proceeded to get out his checks, when he was invited to come out on the platform and tie the tag on the aforesaid corn drill. Refusing to allow it to go as baggage, the valuable article was presented to the company. Anyone who is willing to sell chances is welcome to the encumbrance or the cash they may obtain from it.

At the homes of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Blakeley and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Blakeley, in Pendleton, a pleasant reunion of the brothers of these two gentlemen is being enjoyed. The event, under any circumstances of exceeding pleasant nature, is made all the more so in this case by the fact that not before in thirty years have all the brothers been together. So widely scattered and so pressing are the demands of business and home life, that it is not likely they will ever again be all together. The five brothers are: W. M. Blakeley, sheriff of Umatilla county; Joseph Blakeley, deputy sheriff of Umatilla county; James Blakeley, of Joseph, Walla Walla county; Henry Blakeley of Brownsville, Or., and George Blakeley of The Dalles. Meeting the five sons, is the aged father, a venerable old gentleman in his 87th year, having been born in the year of 1812.—East Oregonian.

Thursday's Daily.

The business meeting of the members of the Church of Christ will be deferred until Sunday evening after the sermon.

Every member of the church is especially urged to be present.

Miss Mollie O'Leary has opened her art studio in room No. 3, of the Chapman block, where she is prepared to receive pupils and take orders for work in her line.

The admission to the Lafayette entertainment Saturday night at the Vogt will be 15 cents; children 10 cents. It goes without saying that it will be good as our school entertainments are always first class.

This morning Walter Rowe, formerly a Dalles boy, arrived in the city from Weiser, Idaho, with his bride. They were married at that place Tuesday and will spend a month or more here visiting Walter's relatives. He has been kept busy today meeting old friends and receiving congratulations.

Salem is to have three bicycle ordinances, two prohibiting riding on sidewalks and the third requiring a rider to dismount within thirty feet of a pedestrian. Salemites certainly have "wheels," every person who is able to ride owning one, and they seem to have as many accidents as wheels from reports given in the papers. Hence these ordinances.

Mrs. Parmenter, grand chief of the Rathbone Sisters, will arrive on the 5:30 train this evening and be present at the meeting tonight to exemplify the work of the order. Beside, a good time is to be had, for the members of this lodge feel that "all work and no play makes Jack a bad boy." The Rathbone request that all members be present to meet Mrs. Parmenter.

Forgetting that November was already here we said yesterday that the Catholic bazaar would be on the 23d and 24th of next month. But next month will not be slighted, for the ladies of the Methodist church are to have their fair. Dalles people are to have the privilege of helping along the ladies in each of the churches in their noble work. And none realize just how much the small help given by our citizens means to those who have this work in charge. Let us cheerfully lend a hand to all.

D. W. Butler returned last night from The Dalles. Uncle Dan had been down there the past month to take care of John Irvine, who is near death's door. Mr. Butler and Mr. Irvine came to this country in '52 together, and from that time to this it has been understood between them that whenever one became seriously ill and needed a nurse, the other, if able, should be in attendance; hence, Dan has been at John's bedside in fulfillment of a promise made long ago. He is stopping with the family of L. J. Butler.—Dufur Dispatch.

The "hog" seems to have changed his place of residence from Salem to Portland, and is now endeavoring to gobble everything in sight, and "out of sight" too, for that matter. Not only is he swallowing the different schools which belong in other cities, but is making a desperate effort to capture the state fair, which has belonged to Salem almost since time immemorial. His next move will be to transfer his "pen" from the capital to Portland, or he will be insane enough to think he needs the asylum. The Dalles better be on the alert or he will capture her woolen mills. If he does he'll strike something he can't digest.

W. Williams, of the firm of W. P. Fuller & Co., Portland, is in the city superintending the work of putting in the large plate glass windows in the building which is to be used temporarily by Mays & Crowe, and into which they will move their goods about the first of the week. This structure will be an ornament to the city, and all are glad to see the old ruins formerly there transformed into such a substantial building. This afternoon the lintels are being placed in position in their new store opposite, and the brick work on the front will be begun at once. These two buildings are such as we wish might be placed on the corner of every business block in the city.

The new four-cent passenger rate in the states of Washington and Idaho went into effect Tuesday on the O. R. & N., Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads, being a reduction of one cent on the rate that has been in force. The new rate between Portland and Tacoma is $5.75, being fifty cents lower than hitherto. To Seattle no change is made, the fare of $7 being still forty-four cents under the four-cent rate. The former fare between Portland and Ellensburg was $13.50, and to Yakima $15; now the two places may be reached for $10.85 and $12.30, respectively. To Spokane the Northern Pacific made the same rate as the O. R. & N., $14.95, and to competitive points in Montana the rates are made the same.

More than 4000 pounds of Christmas presents left Portland Tuesday night for the boys at Manila. Many of them had to be opened and re-packed, containing much over the fifty-pound limit. The contents of one big box had to be packed into seven small ones. Surely the boys are to be remembered, the fruit cakes, jellies and other goodies sent being calculated to make the boys at home wish they were soldier boys—on Christmas day. Boxes continued to arrive in Portland from out of town yesterday and will have to be sent by express, when money is sent along to prepay the expenses. The express company has granted a low rate for this occasion, and all boxes that catch the next transport to leave San Francisco will have to be sent in this way.

Runaways seem to be the rule of the week, another occurring last night on the bluff. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hill, Mrs. Thomas, who is Mrs. Hill's mother, and Miss Bertha Hill, of Dry Hollow, were on their way home from prayer meeting with Mrs. Collins, her daughter and Carrie Robertson, who had gotten in to ride as far as their residence near the fair grounds, when the horses became unruly and ran for a short distance. Mr. Hill succeeded in getting them stopped in front of A. A. Brown's, when they began to kick. Some of the ladies jumped out, and Mrs. Thomas was thrown onto the brake, injuring her wrist quite severely and otherwise shaking her up. It is not known how badly she is hurt, but it is not thought seriously, only the jar may prove too much for a woman of her years. The remainder of the party were not harmed, so far as we can learn. The tongue of the wagon was split into pieces, but no other damage caused to the rig.

Friday's Daily.

Arrange to hear the Lafayette entertainment tomorrow evening at the Vogt. Admission 15 cents, children 10 cents.

H. L. Dougherty and H. M. Peters are "enjoying themselves" in the palatial quarters furnished by the city for those who visit Recorder Gates and have not the wherewithal to reimburse the city for favors received from citizens whose sympathy they have aroused.

The members of the Jackson Engine company will be compelled to settle up their dues now, as at the last meeting it was decided to expel any who may be in arrears the next time they meet. They also decided to have a drill, which will take place Monday evening.

Mr. A. A. Urquhart was made to believe that the storm was "all in his eye" this morning when it blew what he thought was a barn door into one of his optics, blinding him for a time. It was not until medical assistance was secured that he was relieved and his sight restored.

You need not worry over dressing dolls for the children this year, as the young ladies who are interested in the fair to be given by the ladies of the M. E. church, will save you the trouble. They have purchased some of the prettiest dolls to be had, and will dress them in the daintiest manner possible.

Mrs. Thomas, who was injured in the runaway accident Wednesday evening, has been removed to her daughter's home, on Dry Hollow, and is getting along nicely. Fred Burchtorf, who was badly hurt a few days ago by falling from the roof of Polk Mays' residence, is also improving, although still confined to his bed.

The meeting of the Rathbone Sisters last evening, when their grand chief, Mrs. Parmenter, visited them, was one of especial interest and very enjoyable. A large number were present and the work of the order was exemplified by the chief. At the close of the session a banquet was served and several speeches were made, the one by Mrs. Parmenter being especially appreciated. Prof. Ryan was present and furnished music, while the guests joined heartily in dancing until a late hour.

A letter received [by] Mrs. Eliza McFarland from her grandson, Vard McFarland, who is now in Juneau, Alaska, informs her of his marriage with a young lady whose name we could not obtain, who formerly resided in Portland, but is now a resident of Juneau. Vard's friends in this city will be somewhat surprised to hear of his marriage, as it will be hard for those who have not seen him since he left The Dalles to realize that he is not the same little lad he was when with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McFarland, he moved to Portland.

On Wednesday Messrs. T. J. Seufert and R. J. Gorman made a trip into the country, visiting Sherars Bridge, Tygh, Kingsley and Dufur in the interest of the Seufert & Condon telephone line. Arrangements have been made to build a line to Sherars Bridge and from there on the people of the adjoining country will extend the line to Prineville. A branch telephone will also be put in reaching Wamic and Wapinitia, which will be a great convenience. The company intend to commence work at once and finish the line in the course of a month's time.

From visitors who have recently returned from Tygh Valley we hear much praise of the growth of that little berg. It is said that Van Dusen & Adams have the finest store and the largest stock of goods found in any place of its size, while the flouring mill of F. S. Gordon, who is himself an expert miller, is turning out fifty barrels a day of the best flour to be obtained anywhere. It is run by water power and contains the latest machinery, Mr. Gordon endeavoring to make his mill an up-to-date institution. Tygh has also new water works, the town being furnished with water from a reservoir which receives its supply from the creek, a wheel having been put in near to the flouring mill.

Those of our citizens who were awakened out of their peaceful slumbers in the night last night were persuaded that the "wind bloweth where it listeth" and we have heard of a few who took to the basement, making up their minds to build a cyclone cellar today, unless the wind had all blown away by morning. Others came to the conclusion that they had the ague, at least they were a little shaky. The "zeephyrs" still continued to make their presence felt today, much to the disgust of the girl with bangs, who had also a hat to hold on, a dress to hold up, numerous packages to carry and herself to keep on the sidewalk. If there's one thing The Dalles excels in its wind, and its citizens are compelled to "be blown." However, we are told it is our salvation, keeping the place healthful and the atmosphere clear.

VETO PUT UNDER A BUSHEL.

The Council Says, Let There Be Light and There Will Be Light.

Much interest was felt by every citizen of The Dalles in the outcome of last night's council meeting, when a final vote was to be taken on the light question, which has proven itself decidedly "heavy."

The councilmen were also deeply concerned in it as the result shows, and there were present: Stephens, Clough, Barnett, Gunning, Keller, Butts, Johns and Kuck, as was also Mayor Nolan, presiding.

The most important subject was left till the last, and the council proceeded to other work, first deciding to loan out the surplus city funds in the hands of the treasurer.

'Twas moved and carried that the finance committee be empowered to employ an expert to inquire into the state of the taxes due from the county to the city, by looking over the tax list and records.

The fire and water committee reported that a new chimney had been erected in the fire engine house.

Councilman Johns, of the judiciary committee, reports that the outstanding warrants to be redeemed by the style A fund are to be run two years longer. The style A fund is explained as being the fund of $1500 set apart in 1895, when the city decided to start in on a cash basis, to redeem that much of city warrants.

During the meeting it was decided to sell the lot belonging to the city on Third street, on which formerly stood the engine house, if a suitable price could be obtained.

Arriving at the question of the evening, each councilman looked grave as if he had just then seen the city in darkness calling upon him for light. The mayor's veto of the light ordinance was then read, and a silence followed, which showed that each was studying the question or had already decided the only course to take, and a vote being taken Clough, Johns, Gunning, Stephens, Barnett and Butts voted for, and Kuck and Keller against. No discussion of the matter was had, but everything passed off very pleasantly.

Now that the council has done what seemed their duty to the city in regard to this matter, the only question arising is, can the mayor and recorder, who have the contract to arrange with the Electric Light Company, come to a satisfactory agreement with them? It is thought no difficulty will arise in this matter, and that lights are now assured.

Many are inquiring as to the length of time it will require to place them in position. We are informed by Mr. French that it will require a month at least; the exact time cannot be estimated.

The Work of The Library.

A meeting of the members of the library was held at the home of Mrs. F. L. Houghton last evening. This was the regular annual meeting, and election of officers took place. So well had the work of the present officers been done that all were desirous of retaining them, but such was not the will of the ladies in question and the officers are to be filled as follows during the coming year: President, Mrs. W. H. Mansfield; secretary, Miss Lang; treasurer, Mrs. A. S. MacAllister. To the purchasing committee were added the names of Mrs. J. S. Schenck and Mrs. W. H. Hobson.

The work accomplished during the past year was very gratifying to the members and has also been appreciated by those who have shared in its fruits. The money raised from the special edition, gotten out some time since, has been expended very judiciously, and to the books which the library already contained 210 have been added, and the number will be raised to about 300 in a few days. The expenses have also been paid up to date, leaving the association in a good condition financially.

The ladies have worked diligently and deserve credit as well as encouragement. New members should be taken in every day, as no admission fee is charged, and but 25 cents a month dues.

Teachers' Examination.

Notice is hereby given that for the purpose of making an examination of persons who may offer themselves as candidates for teachers of the schools of this county, the county superintendent thereof will hold a public examination at The Dalles, Oregon, beginning Wednesday November, 9, 1898, at 1 o'clock p. m.

C. L. GILBERT,
County School Superintendent.

Wasco county, Oregon.

Dated this 31st day of October, 1898.

An Important Difference.

To make it apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a copious condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs.
