MUSIC HATH CHARMS.

As Was Proven Last Night to an Audience at the Baldwin.
 The breathless silence which pervaded the audience during the entire program at the Baldwin last night was very complimentary to the Wilder Harp and String Quintette Club and speaks well for the taste of the musical people of The Dalles, for the concert was certainly one of excellency throughout.
 The club is composed of Prof. Wilder, who plays the mandolin, as does also H. Berger; H. K. Oliver, violoncellist; Miss Bessie Wemple, violinist and Mrs. Wilder, harpist. The latter instrument, perhaps, pleased the audience most, as it is not often that we are permitted to enjoy the rare sweetness of its tones so thoroughly as when played by such an artist as manipulated its strings upon this occasion.
 Somehow the old songs are dearer to us than can the new ones ever be and they always thrill us in the strangest way. It is human nature to grasp at everything which may appear new and strange; but when we have listened to the latest and most classic of compositions and finally detect a few familiar strains such as were played by Miss Wemple in her violin solo, when was recognized the air of that old song so dear to ever German's heart, "O wie ist's moeglich dann," or sung by Americans "How can I leave thee, queen of my loving heart," we grow extremely enthusiastic. Miss Wemple understands the art of bringing out every tone that is best in the violin and pleased the audience so much that she was loudly encouraged.
 The solo on the violoncello by Mr. Oliver was not less appreciated, and those who were not aware that such music could be brought forth from the instrument, were convinced that it plays no small part in the general effect of selections rendered.
 The two gentlemen who picked the mandolins, though not being heard in solos, made their presence known in the other numbers, taking the lead in a manner which proved them competent musicians.
 The vocal part of the program was well filled by Miss Myrtle Michell, whose first selection was "Only in Dreams" by De Koven, followed by an encore "No Kiss." She next sang "Forgotten," by Cowles, responding to an encore with "The Wedding of the Lily and the Rose." She was well accompanied by Albert Baldwin at the piano.
 The club were much pleased with the reception given them by the people of The Dalles, and Prof. Ryan is to be congratulated on the success of the concert.
 At the close of the program a large number remained to enjoy dancing for a short time. The music furnished by Bert Baldwin, Prof. Ryan and Clinton Alden was good. The dances were curtailed somewhat on account of the illness of Mr. Baldwin, who had been confined to his bed during the day, and was scarcely able to appear last night.

 Says: "The fool saith, 'Put all thy eggs in different baskets,' which means, scatter your money and your attention; but the wise man saith: 'Put all your eggs in one basket, and watch the basket.'"
 We have only one basket, and we are watching it in optics. Having made a thorough study of the subject, graduating from three of the best colleges, we are enabled to give you a scientific examination. It doesn't matter whether you buy a $10 glass or a $1 glass, or glasses at all, you get an examination, and a thorough one at that, which alone is worth your time to know your eyes. I fit all cases of eyes, and am permanently located in The Dalles. I am no traveling fake, and best of all I guarantee all work in optics to give you entire satisfaction. Yours to serve,

 Killed by a Train.
 WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 16.—Geo. Agen, section hand on the Washington & Columbia River railway, was killed this morning in an accident eight miles west of this city. With two other men, Agen was riding on a handcar toward Walla Walla. When they reached a long trestle they saw a freight train coming around a curve 250 feet ahead of them. Section Foreman Nelson jumped off the trestle and broke his arm. His brother attempted to jump, but his coat caught on the handcar. He was hurled into the air and struck on some bridge ties, nearly severing his head from his body. A coroner's jury relieved the trainhands from responsibility. Agen was twenty-five years of age, and unmarried. He formerly lived in Montana.
 A Sure Sign of Croup.
 Hoarseness in a child that is subject to croup is a sure indication of the approach of the disease. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough has appeared, it will prevent the attack. Many mothers who have croupy children always keep this remedy at hand and find that it saves them much trouble and worry. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant to take. For Everybody to Buy Good Clothing Cheap.

It has been a common report to us that other dealers say that we have nothing but trash, but we will defy any house in our line in The Dalles to show as good a quality of goods as we carry for the money. Those people know when they tell you this that they have goods that have been laying on their shelves since the year One, and prices on them since the year '49; and when they know it to be a fact that our store—the White House Clothing Store of Portland—has only been in existence eight months, and when it is a known fact in the city of Portland that we carry the choicest line of goods in the market, and undersell all dealers.

Call at our place of business and we will convince you that we will save you from $7.50 to $10.00 on every Suit or Overcoat that you may purchase from us during our stay in this city. Our intention was to start a branch of our Portland house, but being unable, as we have stated, to secure a location, we must close out every dollar's worth of this stock. AMERICAN SILVER TRUSS.

Is Used by Many
 Leading institutions throughout the United States and Canada, and have been adopted by Guy's and Westminster Hospitals, London, England. In this Truss the principle hitherto so greatly desired has at last been achieved, that of firmly and constantly holding the rupture with a gentle hand-like pressure.
 It does not pass around the hip like other trusses, but over the hips, the silver wire lying in the hollow of side, thereby allowing the free movement of the hips and limbs, allowing the wearer to stride out freely, and doing away with the fear and dread that something will go wrong that usually attends the wearing of other trusses.
 Its lightness is featherweight in comparison with other trusses. It is so light the wearer scarcely knows he has anything on, and this is a great comfort, enabling the wearer to forget his ailments.
 It can be altered by the wearer to the shape of the body, not being made of hardened steel, and can, with a little judicious and careful bending, be made stronger or weaker in pressure, as desired.
