License to wed was today issued by the county clerk to Frank Heater and Mildred Linweff, both of this city.

The question now is, "What shall we for cultivation and too thick for navigation.

We regret to learn that Mrs. S. B. Adams is still very ill. So serious was her condition this morning that her sonin-law, L. Brown, considered it advisable to remain here, and therefore secured J. D. Tuney to take his place as driver of the stage to Moro.

Farmers who came in town today re port the main road in a very bad condition. Mr. J. B. Haverly was considering the advisability of following Noah's example: while L. Rice was congratulating himself that his horses were tall so that their heads could be seen above the mud which enveloped them.

Walter McPhee, a laborer, who had the misfortune to get his toes frozen a shor time since while traveling near Riparia causing him to be unable to walk, is now an inmate of the city jail from choice. Finding himself unable to proceed further he begged leave to spend a short time within these not inviting walls in preference to wandering aimlessly about the streets.

Work on the new water mains seems to be progressing very rapidly, although it is claimed it has been somewhat delayed, material not arriving. Today they are engaged in changing the direction of the sewer on Union street, so that it will not interfere with the course which the main takes. It was expected that the ten-inch pipe on that street would be laid this afternoon.

This morning just as the Goldendale stage was loading up in front of the Umatilla House, one of the horses in the lead became frightened and started to run up Union street. The driver, who was busily engaged placing articles in the back of the vehicle, immediately went in pursuit of the rig, and with the assistance of W. H. Butts, succeeded in stopping them. The two lady occupants were much frightened, as well they might have been.

D. Solis Cohen and wife will arrive in the city this evening from Portland and be privileged to hear this eloquent orator deliver the address at the Elks memorial. These exercises, which are always very impressive, are looked forward to from year to year as being cellent addresses and sweet music are listened to and where is beautifully expressed the brotherly love which still exists for those who are departed.

Last night was the coldest one of the this morning. The thermometer stood last winter.

Last evening a number of the members of Cascade lodge, B. P. O. E., gave a dinner in honor of their guest, D. Solis Cohen, which was very enjoyable. Mr. Cohen returned to Portland today.

Mr. Patterson, receiver, and Mr. Lucas, register, of The Dalles land office, seem to be the right men in the right place. People who have business with them appreciate their promptness and accuracy in business transactions .- Grass Valley Journal.

They are too thin In the evening Chaplain Lozier occupied the pulpit and gave a stirring address on the subject of dedicating what talents we have to the work of the Master. At its close he sang his beautiful solo, "The Man of Galilee."

Last night the members of the order of Elks attended the Congregational church in a body. No previous arrangement had been made with the pastor, making it impossible for him to give an address suitable to the occasion. However, the sermon was much appreciated by his listeners. The music was especially good, a very pretty anthem being sung, and a duet rendered by Mrs. Butler and Miss Schmidt.

Last night, while Miss Minnie Harper and her eister were attending church, some one entered her residence, near the East Hill school, and ransacked things generally. This morning when she went to her trunk to get her purse, she found that it had been broken open and the purse, which contained $4.50 in change, stolen. Undoubtedly the burglar is not a hundred miles from the city. These petty robberies should be ferreted out. Tuesday's Daily.

Travelers who had occasion to cross the Klickitat mountains today, suffered greatly with the cold. The wind is reported as being colder than has been experienced for years.

It is the opinion of military men that any volunteer who can pass the examination, and whose record is good, will tollows: be admitted to the regular army if he desires to remain in service. Few of the boys in Manila, however, would be likely to enlist if they had to stay there, as the months they have remained there have been full of sickness, hardships and Recitation-Yankee Girl death, and the majority of them are fully ready to return home.

"The president," said a gentleman today, "in addition to being a good and wise man, is not adverse to gaining favor with the people, when such an action does not interfere with the carrying out of his policy, and he no doubt realizes that he could not do a more popular thing just now than to arrange for the soldier boys to come home. I believe such arrangements will be speedily made and that the order for mustering out will be given within the next three or four months, or earlier if the regular army could be increased sufficiently before that time."-Telegram.

Its Pulsations Weakened,

The "Pulse of New York" does not beat exactly the same as it did last year. The manager should take an inventory of his company before adveroccasion. However, the little ones who did appear, and who are said to be the Lamb children, of part of the tough girl was also well taken although not so taking as the famous "button girl" of former years. "Snepper" is the same old fellow and the life thought the dancing of the Dutch character with the Bittner company was exceptionally good, but "Snapper" excels him.

Mrs. Shields, who is familiar to Dalles people, unless she improves materially, will never make an actress, while Edward Shields, who appeared in two characters, had far better stick to his actor, for if an audience wanted to attend a stereopticon show they would call on onic line.

At the close of the program a very nice lunch was served, and for fear Walter might miss the delicacies of a soldier's life, hard tack was in evidence, upon each piece of which the soldier wrote a message for his companions. At his table wore seated the members of his class present and their teacher: at the table nearest sat next year's class, while at other tables were grouped his schoolmates.

Walter's furlough lasts until December 21st, when, unless he is successful in having it extended until after Christmas, he will return to Manila. He left this morning for his home at Hood River.

APRON STRINGS.

A Witty and Eloquent Entertainment Given By Chaplain Lozier.

If the audience which attended the entertainment last night has not a much broader and better idea of mother's apron strings as they are used to convey the idea of companionship with and love of mother, 'tis not because the subject was not presented in the most eloquent and expressive manner possible by Chaplain Lozier. The entire address was a poem throughout, containing truths both novel and far-reaching, expressed in beautiful language. His tribute to mothers was grand, and as he enlarged found an answering chord in the breast of every member of his audience, and caused the tears to start from many eyes. Not only did he extol the virtues of the mothers of the land, but, contrary to the usual order of things, the mother-in-law who is a target for the stale jokes of every third-class minstrel show, and often of the first-class addresses, received her share of the praise which so rightly belongs to her. While his tribute to editors was not of such a flattering nature, it was none the less applicable, therefore it was lucky for the poor unfortunates that they remained at home and were represented by their reporters.

So much of wit was contained in every thought brought forth that one was inclined to give the strictest attention for fear of losing some brilliant expression involving bidden truths.

The chaptain is a singer, as well as speaker, possessing a rich bass voice. and his solos, "The Man of Galilee" and "Your Mother's Apron Strings" were particularly pleasing, being sung in a very expressive manner, and so clear were the words that not a thought was lost.

At the close of the entertainment many remained to shake hands with the speak er, as well as leave their names for his poem and receive copies of his songs.

Forester Confined in County Jail.

In spite of the fact that nothing definite had been given out as to the train on which Sheriff Kelly would arrive with his prisoner, curiosity ran so high that for fear the opportunity of catching a passing glance at Forester might be missed, a large crowd was waiting at the Umatilla House when the 5 o'clock train arrived Saturday evening, joining in the procession which conveyed the murderer of Brogan to his quarters at the county jail, which he will at least occupy until the February term of court.
