Have you read S. L. Brooks' new ad, in another column? Mr. Brooks has recently bought out the store of E. J. Colline & Co., and is now engaged in cutting prices with the view to laying in a new stock and otherwise renovating. Great bargains can now be obtained at that popular dry goods and grocery store.

A. S. MacAllister has purchased the botler which was formerly used by the Crystal Ice Company, and this morning it was moved from its station in the burnt district to the laundry on First street. The boiler which has been used at the laundry proved insufficient for the amount of work it was required to do.

Tuesday night some unknown person or persons entered Marsh & Medler's drug store at Wasco, through a back window and broke open the till, but obtained only 15 or 20 cents No goods have been missed. It is thought some one who knew the run of the store hoped to find the safe open. But they "had but 15 cents."

Chancellor Thoburn, of the consolidated university in Portland, has been appointed pastor of the Centenary Methodist church, on the East side. Rev. Thoburn visited this city a month or so ago and spoke on the subject of "Missions," in the Methodist church. He is one of the best speakers that has ever preached in The Dalles.

Americans who have failed to secure property and take out a license to mine in British Columbia, are out and injured on the Atlin proposition, as the act to prohibit aliens from owning placer mines in that country has passed the provincial legislature.
