LOCAL BREVITIES.

Saturday's Daily.

Have you seen the Dewey torpedoes? If not, call at Jacobson's store and get a box. There more fun than a box of monkeys.

The body of Reta Mays will be brought to this city on the evening train, and the funeral will take place from the family residence, next door to Robert Mays' residence, at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Rev. Poling conducting the service.

It appears that people who want to get married nowadays, must get up early in the morning, as at about 6:30 this morning the county clerk issued two licenses, one to R. M. Palmateer and Mrs. F. A. Douglass, and the other to J. K. Kenworthy and Lavina Savage. Both couples were from Wapinitia.

A noble Red man who must have been drinking rock and rye from the way he was handling the rocks and pelting every other Indian who came his way, was arrested by Nightwatchman Phirman last night and he was rocked in the city cradle all night and a portion of today; putting up $2 for his fun this morning.

The Astoria bowling team remained over in the city today, and this afternoon met the victors of last night on the club alleys, the result of which we could not determine. Tonight they will bowl a team composed of Messrs. DeHuff, Nolan, Kurtz and Stadelman. Ladies will not be admitted this evening, presumably because tonight's team is more bashful than was that of last night.

The Starbuck Signal says: "Starbuck citizens are jubilant over the report that the O. R. & N. carpenter shops, now stationed at Albina, will be removed to Starbuck." It's been some time since Dalles people have heard the removal of the shops mentioned; for a time we heard nothing else. This, however, must be just a "report," for we believe if they were to be again moved, it would be no further up the road than The Dalles.

C. E. Whitney, whose two brothers were drowned Wednesday morning in the Snake river while rafting bridge timber for the Snake River Valley Railroad, passed through the city this morning on his way to his home in St. Helens. He is returning from Starbuck, where he has been attempting to recover the bodies. In another column will be found a reward offered for their recovery, together with a description by which they may be identified.

It is a satisfaction to feel that once more we are to have a good band in The Dalles. No city or town, large or small, should be without a band. Somehow it "liven's up things a bit." The Commercial Club band has started out in earnest, and will furnish us all the music we need; but we understand has decided not to accept any engagements for Sunday excursions which may visit our city, many of its members objecting to such, which in our estimation speaks well for the moral "tone" of our band.

Prof. Pollman, the well known magnetic healer, has been recognized by the public of The Dalles as a thorough man in hypnotism, ventriloquism and science. Prof. Pollman gave an exhibition at the Baldwin opera house May 18th, which was a grand success and showed the rare ability of his marvelous work. Therefore, the Prof. is requested by the citizens of the Dalles to give another entertainment before parting with his acquaintances and friends here.

William Fields, of the army hospital corps, whose remains have just arrived in San Francisco, died at Manila, September 3, of typhoid fever, having worked unceasingly among the patients. His mother lives near Vancouver, Wash., and he enlisted at Camp McKinley, in company L, Second Oregon volunteers. The Associated Press dispatch from San Francisco says that his remains will be sent to Centaur, Mo., but that is probably a mistake and they will be brought to Portland.—Oregonian.

The breaking waves dashed high as the gentle zephyrs fanned the bosom of the Columbia this afternoon, and she bids fair to reach the required mark by tomorrow—28 feet. This afternoon she stood at 26.2, having risen about a foot today. This morning at Lewiston the high water mark was 14.2; at Wenatchee 22.6; at Northport, 10; Umatilla 16.2. The Snake will cease rising tomorrow, and the Columbia rise less rapidly. The rise from Pasco westward will decrease Monday. So sayeth Pague.

There is much agitation in our city at present regarding the organization of a humane society, many recent occurrences having shown the necessity for such a society being started at once. It would hardly seem possible that in a place of such refinement and with such people as claim residence here that such a state of affairs should exist; but nevertheless we must plead guilty to the charge of allowing instances of cruelty to go unpunished which in many places would call down the wrath of the entire populace.

Monday's Daily.

Ed Warren, who was arrested last fall charged with causing the fire which destroyed Canyon City, is a free man. The grand jury refused to indict him.

Prices for sheep here this spring seem to rule about as follows: Two-year-old wethers, $2.50; yearling wethers, $1.80; yearling ewes, $2.—Creek Co. Journal.

A purse containing a small sum of money and receipts was lost at the opera house Friday. Will the finder please return to Mrs. C. Richmond and receive reward.

J. D. Hurst, who died Saturday at Aurora, has been a resident of Oregon since '62, when, after crossing the plains in that year, he settled in The Dalles. He was also married here in that year. He served for a time as government miller at Warm Springs reservation.

Despite Pague's 28-mark prediction, the river here stood persistently at the 27 notch all day yesterday and today, with a fall of .5 at Lewiston; a rise of 2.2 at Wenatchee; rise of 2 feet at Northport, and of .6 at Umatilla. It is slightly warmer on the upper Columbia, which will continue to rise, while the Snake and the rivers west from Pasco will remain almost stationary.

Often are we led to ask, "Are Dalles people unappreciative; do they lack enthusiasm, or what is the occasion for such coldness as is displayed at nearly every entertainment given in the city?" when but one or two in the audience are heard to give applause, no matter how deserving the performance. Saturday night at the graduating exercises of the high school thoughts were expressed where applause would have seemed to be out of place and lessen their effect; but patriotic sentiments were given from the stage which in many places would have lifted the audience from its feet and caused deafening applause. Are we asleep, or is our appreciation too deep to admit of demonstration?

Mr. H. C. Rooper informs us that the results of the horse ride last week were quite a surprise to everyone. The report had gone out that a large number of horses on the range, had died during the past hard winter, whereas, Mr. Rooper informs us, there are more horses on the range this year than ever before. In the ride in which he took part, about 2500 head were rounded up.—Antelope Herald.

The Astorians gained somewhat on their bowling record which they established Friday evening, by meeting the same team on the alleys Saturday afternoon and winning two out of the four games played, our team beating them by sixty-six pins. On Saturday night they rolled against Messrs. DeHuff, Nolan, Stadelman and Kurtz, beating them three games and coming out fifty pins ahead. Their visit was a pleasant one for all concerned.

Get out your colors; your arnica, soothing syrup, and all necessary adjuncts, for tomorrow is the date when hardware crosses bats with dry goods. The ambulance will be on hand, and the young ladies are preparing to soothe the aching brow and bind up the wounds. The game will be called at 3:30, which is the usual time for all professional games; but we would advise all spectators to take a few cookies along for breakfast.

Madam McClure, whose dressmaking parlors in Portland have always been headquarters for ladies who go from here to have dressmaking done, has sold out her business to Miss Cain, who for years has been in her employ. In company with Miss Clara Grimes, the latter will arrive in this city Tuesday night, and remain until Thursday evening, for the purpose of meeting any ladies who may desire to have work done and take their orders. Further particulars will be given as to their location.

Believing that if any day should be observed as a holiday (particularly this year) it is decoration day, the CHRONICLE will not visit its readers tomorrow, but give its employees an opportunity to join with those who remember our fallen heroes by covering their resting places with beautiful flowers. All will feel the more like resuming the duties of the morrow, when feeling assured that our duty has been done in commemorating the deeds of those who purchased for us our freedom.

A very pleasant surprise was given Supt. Gavin Saturday afternoon when he was met at the High school by the pupils and teachers of that department and presented with a fine oak writing desk as a token of their regard and their appreciation of his efforts, as well as expressing their sincere regret that this was to be his last year with them. The presentation speech was made by Clarence Gilbert, and Prof. Gavin, although almost too surprised for utterance, responded in an appreciative manner.

A quiet home wedding occurred at the home of W. D. Richards in Fairfield district, about eight miles from the city, yesterday morning, when Miss Lizzie Richards was united in marriage with John M. Mann, Rev. Smith performing the ceremony. Miss Richards is a young woman of exceptionally fine character and is generally liked by all who meet her while the groom is a man of good principles and steady habits. Mr. and Mrs. Mann left for Hood River this morning where they will remain for a few weeks and returning will make their home on his ranch near Fairfield.

The members of James W. Nesmith Post, G. A. R., Sons of Veterans and Woman's Relief Corps attended the Episcopal church last night in a body for the purpose of listening to a memorial sermon delivered by Rev. De Forest, who took as his text the words of St. Paul, "I have fought a good fight." Taking the stand that the wars in which our brave soldiers have fought were just, and could not have been honorably averted, he enlarged on their results and the good which has come out of them, drawing from his text many lessons for all, and especially encouraging to the heroes who listened to him. The music of the evening was especially good and the numbers well suited to the occasion.

About 125 Dalles people boarded the Regulator yesterday morning bound for the ball ground at Hood River to witness a ball game between the Hood River and Dalles nines. However, for a time, the excursionists thought their anticipations were to be dashed to pieces by the waves of the Columbia, for having in tow a barge full of sheep and other circumstances combining to retard their progress, the steamer found itself stuck on the sand just below the Umatilla House. Finally calling the ferry boat to its aid she was soon on her way down the river. Landing at Hood River at 10:30, they were met by a committee which took them in hand and made the hours very pleasant until dinner time when they were served with a spread at the Mt. Hood hotel. A hack then conveyed the nine to the ground and at 1:30 the game began, and it was a lively one. But Hood River came out ahead, the score being 13 to 9. At 5 o'clock the steamer left Hood River, reaching here about 3:30. Our boys are loud in their praises of the treatment received at the hands of the Hood Riverites.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAM.

Such Was That Given by the Public School Pupils.

Dalles people always expect a treat when they attend any exercises given by our public schools, and never are they in the least disappointed; surely not when they listened to the exercises last Friday night when the pupils of the various grades, excepting the High school, gave the best entertainment that has been given by them, excepting, perhaps, the cantata given at the Baldwin. The hall was packed, but seemed not to have the slightest effect upon the children, who performed their parts as though they did not realize that hundreds of eyes were turned upon them. The little tots were so sweet that the entire audience felt like hugging them, while the older girls and boys delighted all with the excellent manner in which they took the parts assigned them.

Each number is certainly deserving of especial mention, and a column might be filled with a description of the beauty of the costumes and the acting of the participants, so the writer dares not attempt to designate one number as being superior to the other. We cannot refrain, however, from congratulating the teachers who labored so faithfully in training the children, upon the success they attained, for none can realize what patience, what untiring zeal such an undertaking calls for. To be a successful teacher in this age, one must, it seems, embrace the whole field, and be enabled not only to teach in the school room, but to possess histrionic and other talents sufficient to impart to the pupils the necessary training for such exercises. Then, too, they are fortunate in having such good material with which to work, for the talent displayed last night was remarkable, especially in such young children. Nor should the parents be forgotten, who so signally assisted the teachers by preparing costumes, etc., for the children, which is not a small item in itself.

Again, we have renewed reason for being proud of our public schools, when we are permitted to listen to such entertainments as that of last night.

A WALK-OVER.

Dalles Team Wins All Four Games in the Bowling Contest.

The contest bowling tournament between the Astoria and The Dalles teams on the Commercial Club alleys last night might be termed a "walk away" for our team, as they won all four games as easily as rolling off a log. There was no very brilliant playing done. None of The Dalles team, except perhaps Schmidt, attained their usual proficiency, and judging from the scores made Thursday night in the games with the Commercial Club in Portland, the Astorians were far from being at their best. Burroughs was high man in the visiting team, and Schmidt for the home team. Quite a large number of spectators were present to witness the game, but so attractive was the music furnished by the club concert band that a good portion of the time was spent up stairs listening to the music. If last night is a criterion for what we may expect later on, all are satisfied with our new band, and are delighted that at last we are to have an organization in our midst which will enliven us with its harmonious strains.

At the close of the games the bowling teams and a few friends repaired to the Umatilla House where a banquet was enjoyed by the hungry bowlers.

The scores by games were as follows:

A. F. C.
	1ST	2ND	3D
Laws	30	29	27
Burroughs	51	39	45
Wise	31	28	34

Views From The Dalles.

Lee Moorhouse has developed the plates used in taking photographic views in and near The Dalles on his recent visit there, and finds they will make some elegant views. One of them shows the house used by General U. S. Grant, at Fort Dalles, when he was there in the early days. There are many others which have been looked at with interest by local amateurs.

Mr. Moorhouse found amateur photography at The Dalles has been carried to a high degree of perfection, by many persons there, and upon the occasion of his visit a company went out with a four-in-hand and secured many fine views. The party was composed of Mr. H. L. Vorse, Mr. T. A. Ward, Mr. Moorhouse, Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Mrs. B. S. Huntington, Mrs. F. L. Houghton, Miss Nell Mitchell, Miss L. Ruch, Miss Carrie Butler, Miss Grace Hobson and Miss Hattie Marden.—East Oregonian.
