THE DALLES, OREGON.

The following from the Moro Observer is very apropos:

Discussing the present situation of affairs in The Dalles if our friends will permit the suggestion—it is not the question whether the Construction Company "is in sympathy with The Dalles," so much as "when will The Dalles get into sympathy" with itself?

As a result, after Mr. Villard was downed in the house of his friends, the shops that were in The Dalles were taken away and the place lost an enterprise that would have made The Dalles by this time the first city in the state in point of population and business.

Had those who superseded Mr. Villard in the management of the N. P. R. realized that fact, and retained control of the O. R. & N., they'd not have been compelled to make the sacrifices they just have made, in the fight for trackage which ended on the 7th so gloriously for the old rival.

LET'S "HOG" IT ALL.

The merchants throughout the Inland Empire are buying and selling Eastern hams, bacon and lard in great quantities. In other words there is not enough of the home product to supply the demand.

But everybody is devoting himself to producing wheat, and too many are producing the cereal on a large scale, with the result that other profitable lines of industry are neglected, and the people are sending large amounts of wealth to the East that should be kept at home.

It is ridiculous in the extreme that the consumers of this entire section should be made to contribute a vast amount to railroads for transportation of products from the East that could be produced with benefit to all concerned at home.

pire, more diversity of industry with an increase in our capacity of self-support.—East Oregonian.

UNHAPPY FRANCE.

Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, a Jewish rabbi of Chicago, has recently returned from a three months' vacation abroad. He spent some time in Paris and was an interested observer of events as they were influenced by the Dreyfus trial.

Dr. Hirsch, although there are only 80,000 Jews in the entire country, says there is an intense hatred against them. The Jews are accused of having all the money, of not being French, of having neither God nor country.

FALSE INTERVIEWS.

A shameless system of lying, cultivated of late by certain newspapers, demands general attention. Public men wherever they go are compelled to run the gantlet of absolute falsehoods purporting to be interviews.

Dewey would have to make a fresh denial every day if he followed up these rank falsehoods, and the fact that they gave him concern or occupied his attention would cause them to multiply.

The Mormon missionaries who are hunting after converts in various parts of the country and incidentally running up against shotguns and tar and feathers look among the more ignorant for additions to their fold.

per cent are converts from Mormon sources. And those who have left Mormonism comprise the most intelligent and progressive of the Mormon population.

Of course the administration is not alarmed at those reports from Europe about alleged combinations among Southern American nations against the United States. The South American countries know that the expansion of the United States in the Gulf of Mexico and in the Pacific is no menace to any of the Latin-American nations.

While on the Pacific coast, where everybody is for expansion, Bryan takes occasion to say that he does not favor the withdrawal of troops from the Philippines until a stable government is established.

Says the New York Sun of last Saturday: "The way in which for the last few days the public press has teemed with evidences of indignant democratic policy of exalting Aguinaldo, abusing the president of the United States and favoring American surrender to its armed enemies in the Philippines, is cheering indeed."

Prophets who insisted that the annexation of Hawaii would cause the United States an enormous amount of trouble and expense have to be reminded now that the peaceful and flourishing little islands are still on the map.

A rabid anti-expansion paper in Massachusetts describes Jefferson's Louisiana purchase as "the annexation of contiguous territory, with the full consent of the few inhabitants occupying it."

DAY OF GREAT REJOICING

FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The Day Spent Most Pleasantly in Recalling the Past and Rejoicing in Present Prosperity.

"How amiable are Thy tabernacles, O Lord of Hosts," was the sentiment of the members of the Congregational church and their friends Sunday as they celebrated the fortieth anniversary of the church and Sunday school at The Dalles.

Rev. D. B. Gray was the only one of the former pastors who could be present, and it was very fitting that he who preached the sermon on the twenty-fifth anniversary should be present to conduct the service yesterday morning.

Mr. Gray made very kindly mention of the church here, and his pleasant relation with it during his pastorate. He also congratulated Rev. Poling on being pastor of such a society, and said they would not fail to love him, as they had loved their former pastors.

The second service—the Sunday school anniversary—was a delightful one. The exercises were led by the present superintendent, B. S. Huntington, and many former officers were present.

E. S. Penfield, one of the earliest superintendents, spoke in a reminiscent vein. Mr. Brooks, who was superintendent for twenty-five years, and under whose charge the school grew to be the best in the state and renowned for its energy and the excellency of all departments, also spoke of the Sunday school of former years.

At 4 o'clock about one hundred attended the communion and memorial service, led by Rev. Poling, assisted by Rev. Gray. Mr. Penfield, the first deacon of the church, delivered an address concerning the communion service.

Mrs. Wilson then read a very touching and beautifully-written paper in memory of the early and later members of the church who have gone to the church triumphant. The subject was handled as only one of Mrs. Wilson's ability and adaptability to such a duty could do.

Rev. Poling paid a very touching tribute to the memory of the late J. W. Harris, who was his predecessor, though many years ago, in the church here and also at Albany, and who now rests beneath the sod of the cemetery at the latter place.

An historic service was held in the evening, opening with a praise service led by Prof. Launders. After the responsive reading led by Rev. Gray, and prayer by Rev. Poling, Mr. S. L. Brooks, one of the pillars of the church, almost since its organization, read an historical sketch, covering the years since its organization on Sept. 17, 1859, up till 1899.

Being so closely allied with every interest of the church for so many years he was in a position to bring out every detail in connection with the past, and is not one who fails to retain anything of interest. His paper was so much enjoyed and considered of so much interest that the CHRONICLE hopes to publish it in the near future.

At the close of his address Rev. Poling called on Rev. Gray, who made a very pleasing, though short address, speaking of the pleasure he felt in meeting wherever he chances to be, people who speak kindly of the church here.

The singing during the day's exercises was very beautiful and appropriate. Altogether it was a day of days to the Congregational society here.

Nelson-Jacobsen Wedding. At 12:30 Monday at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Henry Lauretson, on the hill, Miss Emma Jacobsen and Mr. Chas. Nelson were united in marriage by Rev. Poling, John Jacobsen and Miss Cora Hansen acting as best man and bridesmaid.

Only the closest friends of the contracting parties were present. The rooms had been very prettily decorated and the ceremony was performed beneath a floral wedding bell of white. The bride was gowned in white swiss and carried a large bunch of La France roses, the gift of her friend, Mrs. Chas. Stabling.

At the close of the ceremony when congratulations had been given, one of the most generous and palatable of wedding dinners was served, while the best of good will prevailed.

Miss Jacobsen has spent the most of her life in The Dalles and is known to be a most worthy young lady, who will no doubt make a model wife; while Mr. Nelson is a young man of whom everyone speaks well, having by his industry and worth made for himself many friends.

Believe Frank McDaniel Guilty. The case of Frank McDaniel, charged with murdering Clara Fitch in Portland, will not go to the grand jury until the last of the month. There seems to be no doubt in District Attorney Sewall's mind that a true bill will be found.

Regarding the curiosity still displayed by the people, the Telegram says: "Although it is over two months since Clara Fitch was assassinated in Cycle Park, still there are many people whose morbid curiosity has not been satisfied, and the number of persons who visit the scene of the tragedy daily has scarcely abated."

IF ESTERHAZY VISITS AMERICA

What Sort of a Reception Would He Receive Judging From Past Experience. If Esterhazy should come to the United States there would be a fine opportunity for the American people to show what their opinion of such monsters is.

Splendid philosophy, and certainly seconded by every sensible man and woman in the United States; but should the demon land on our shores tomorrow, what would really be the result? Unless the mass of people treat foreign criminals with more contempt than they do those who have murdered and tortured their own flesh and blood, there would be an immense crowd meet him as he stepped on American soil eager to get but a glance as he passed.

And yet, what has been the case in the past? A man murders a fellow-being in Chicago, places his body in a trunk and escapes. When he is captured and imprisoned the crowd which throng to get but a glance at the prisoner is impenetrable; refused (?) women fairly step on each other in an attempt to be the first to carry a bouquet to him.

And coming nearer home, what do we find to be the case in our own metropolis in more instances than one? What do the papers tell us is the state of affairs at present in the McDaniel case? While the legal fraternity are doing all in their power to bring justice out of chaos; to avenge the death of a poor girl, who has been foully murdered, young ladies and older women, (who should at least know better), are untiring in their attempts to call on him upon whom suspicion points most strongly as the foul murderer.

In the face of all these things, what kind of a reception would Esterhazy (or any other hazy) receive were he to come to America?

I will pay $20 for information that leads to the recovery of the 1350 cedar shakes, that were stolen near the Tygh Valley store last summer.
