LOCAL BRIEFINGS.

Oh, Dewey's is the morning,
And Dewey's is the day,
And Dewey is the Admiral
That came sailing up the bay,
And Dewey are the outland eyes
Of the non-expansion crew,
But do we give a d—n for them?
I do not think we do.

Wednesday's Daily.

The box sheet for "A Breezy Time" will be open tomorrow morning at the Butler Drug Company's. Prices, general admission 25; reserved seats 50 and 75 cents.

Diogenes being asked: "What is that beast which is the most dangerous?" replied: "Of wild beasts, the bite of a slanderer; and of tame beasts, the flatterer."

The condition of the crosswalks is beginning to make those who are compelled to cross them cross, as they spoil many a good shine and cause the ladies to walk with skirts much bedraggled.

We understand that three train loads of troops will pass through the city this evening, the first arriving at 7 o'clock, the second an hour later and the third about 9 o'clock. So far as we can learn they will not stop here.

A special telegram from Pasco yesterday said that the immense coalbankers of the Northern Pacific, at that point, were on fire and burning fiercely. The company has a fine plant for handling enormous quantities of coal, put in at a large expense, and at Pasco loads all passenger and freight trains on the main line.

It may be of interest to the friends of Miss Clara Grimes in this city to know that she left Portland Saturday for San Francisco, where she has accepted a position in the dressmaking parlors recently started there by Madam McClure.

Every young lady may not be angelic, but just the same there are precious few who haven't wings these days; not only sprouting, but full grown, judging from the length of some of them. A few of them would put those of the noble Red Men to shame.

There was a good attendance at the meeting of the League of American Sportsmen last night. It requires twenty-five members to organize a state division and there are now thirty-three members here. The meeting recommended that Robt. Kelly be appointed chief warden and Leo Schanno secretary for this division.

The Dalles can already boast of telephone systems which excel those of any town its size on the coast, and the Oregon Telephone Company is at present getting out a new list, having added a large number of names to its city list, and its country list is increasing rapidly. Each day as we call up some neighboring farm we are led to wonder how we ever got along before connections were made with these places so near and yet so far.

If well begun is half done, the winter in some of our neighboring states will be of short duration. In Colorado snow is falling at a lively rate. For more than a week a storm of unprecedented severity for this time of the year has been raging in the mountains surrounding Leadville. One band of 1400 sheep and the leader with them are lost. Other large flocks have reported heavy losses and no word has been received from many others known to be still in the mountain pastures.

The suit of Peter Sievers vs. the D. P. & A. N. Co. for damages in the sum of $1990, was tried in the superior court at Vancouver Monday and yesterday and went to the jury today. The case was the most interesting that has come up in Clark county for some time. The plaintiffs in the case allege that the officers of the steamer Inland Flyer put them ashore on Mosquito Island in February last when their destination was Washington; that they were compelled to endure cold and hunger as a result. The company on the other hand claim that their action in the matter was entirely unavoidable, and brought up some splendid evidence in answer. Capt. Short and Fred Bronson were the principal witnesses for the company. The verdict will probably be announced in tonight's Telegram.

Paque says our rainy season hasn't begun yet, but that the sky will again be "clearing" before the fall rains set in earnest. The storm of last night and today may not have been in earnest, but it was no joke, and everybody is glad of it, for just now a good rain storm is very welcome. It will be a splendid thing for summer fallow, grass on the range, and in fact a good thing all around. People who came in from the country yesterday say the rain began falling early in the afternoon, so that they had several hours the start of the city. Last night we had .45 of an inch.

It is said by many Dalles people who have attended the exposition in Portland this year that the prevalence of the vaudeville throughout the land, is demonstrated at the performances given at the exposition. To those of more refined taste this is to be regretted. While the music is first class and there are many other commendable features, too much of what might be termed a variety style is being introduced. We have heard many speak with disgust of the cake walk Friday evening, saying that the walk as given by one couple from the Lyric Opera Company was positively indecent, and all were glad that the darkies were given the cake in preference to their rivals, who displayed such bad taste.

Thursday's Daily.

Marriage license was granted to Wm. E. Wheeler and Mattie Burton yesterday.

The Oregon State Sunday School Association will hold its annual meeting at Albany this year, beginning October 26th and continuing for three days.

Its all right these nights when the light is hung in the sky, but wait till the moon leaves us and darkness reigns supreme, then how we will remember the light that failed to connect.

Magazine readers are familiar with Pingree & Smith's "Composite" $3 shoes for women, and will be glad to learn that they are to be had in our city. A. M. Williams & Co. are sole local distributors.

"They have come!" "Who have come?" "Pingree & Smith's 'Composite' $3 shoes for women—the best $3 shoes on earth." "Where are they?" "At A. M. Williams & Co's." They're ready to be looked at—tried on—and worn off.

Three carloads of troops of the Thirtieth regiment passed through last night on their way to Vancouver barracks. The first car arrived here at 7:30 and the other two about midnight. Saturday the Michigan troops will pass through, reaching here about 12:30.

Although a wealthy city, Spokane could never be termed a "city of churches"; in fact, in a religious line, visitors to that city deem it rather stark. It seems, however, to be waking up and they are about to build a $50,000 Catholic church, having paid $25,000 for the lot.

H. F. Davidson, president of the Davidson Fruit Co., says that of the many carloads of strawberries the company shipped this season, one carload was shipped to Los Angeles, the famous strawberry belt of California. This speaks volumes for the Hood River production.

The ground is getting a good soaking now, and from the way the barometer registers we are likely to have a continuation of the storm. It now ranges about 29.26, indicating wind or rain. Since 9 o'clock Tuesday night we have had 1.45 inches of rainfall, and from all we can learn, outlying districts have had more.

Smallpox has not subsided by any manner of means; but is lurking here and there, making its appearance where it is least expected. Two cases were today reported in the family of A. Short, just across the river from Rufus. Two young men were taken down and when a physician was called he pronounced them genuine cases of smallpox.

Contrary to the report that the international race was declared off until Monday, the Columbia and Shamrock tried their speed again today; but 'twas the same thing over again, and the wind went back on them. When the race was called off, however, the Columbia was a half mile in the lead and the result was almost a foregone conclusion.

On one evening little 4 year old Dorothy had failed to remember her father in her prayer because he had scolded her. "You must pray for papa, too, Dot," said her mother. "But I don't want to, replied the little one. "But you must, Dot," said her mother. Dropping upon her knees again, Dot added: "And for pity's sake, bless papa too, and let us have peace in the family."

Last night in Salem Wilena Knight, daughter of P. S. Knight, and Arthur Stringer, of San Francisco, were united in marriage. "Lena" was a student in the academy here during its palmy days and will be remembered by many of her fellow students. Many of the books used by her friends bear the marks of her artistic taste, and she has since developed into an artist of great ability. Dalles friends wish her well in her new relation in life.

The annual convention of W. C. T. U. workers, which has just closed in Portland and will be held in Seattle, convening today and closing on the 26th, is of more than usual interest and importance, because it will mark the silver anniversary, or the twenty-five year milestone, of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the United States, than which no nobler organization outside of the churches exists, and it is closely allied with church work.

The meeting of the Good Intent Society at the home of Mrs. Smith French yesterday afternoon was a particularly pleasant one. As a pleasing variation Mrs. G. T. Parr sang a very pretty solo, and was compelled to give an encore. Rev. Hawk also favored the ladies with a pleasing musical selection, and Mrs. French read two select and very touch-

ROBT. MAVS.

In Tuesday's CHRONICLE we called attention to the object of the League of American Sportsmen, interest in which is being awakened in this city, which has been made district headquarters. The organization is but two year old, and yet in the United States and Canada it numbers nearly 3000 members. The head office is at New York, and the chief wardens, among whom are the most prominent men of the union, reside in various states, while deputy wardens are appointed where districts are organized. Nothing but a universal movement can stop the wholesale slaughter of our wild creatures, when it has been discovered that in thirty states and territories the decrease in the volume of bird life during the last fifteen years has reached an average of forty-six per cent. In our own state the slaughter of deer alone has been enormous, not to mention other game.

The manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company must have changed his mind about the "impossibility of playing such a company for 75 cents" for they are playing in Salem, where, although the facilities are not the best, they have a much better stage than the Baldwin, for 75, 50 and 25 cents. Also at Albany for the same prices. Eugene, like The Dalles, evidently contains only wealthy people, who scorn to pay less than $1, for the prices are held up there and 150 had signed an agreement to pay that much.

Two Wasco county cases were argued in the supreme court Tuesday at Salem. One was the case of the State vs. Jake Andrews, who was charged with having in his possession and showing obscene pictures, and in which the circuit court brought in a true bill on May 25, 1897. The other case was that of the Oregon Lumber Co. vs. Levi Jones and Burns Jones, of Hood River. B. S. Huntington appeared as attorney for the defendant in the first case, and for the plaintiff in the latter; while Judge Bennett was attorney for the defendant in the Jones case.

Much complaint is heard of late regarding the number of drunken Indians in our city and the wholesale manner in which liquor must be dealt out to them. Surely if the government refuses to prosecute those who thus break the law, there must be some way to put a stop to it. A drunken white man is more disgusting we admit; but perhaps not quite so unmanageable. These Indians are returning from hop picking and other pursuits and have planted themselves down in camps at the head of the brewery grade until such a time as they have spent all their money on "fire water." In the meantime they are fighting, running about half naked, and so conducting themselves as to frighten the women and children in the neighborhood half to death. They are not safe to have about, much less a credit to any city to allow them such liberties. Those who sell them liquor should be dealt with first and then they should be made to move on.

Friday's Daily.

The Butler Drug Co.'s Golden hair tonic is a positive cure for dandruff. Try a bottle. Dr. Styner, the electric doctor, will leave the city Sunday. If you wish to consult him improve the time.

Wheat has dropped somewhat. In Portland they are paying 57 for No. 1 and here the warehouses are giving 52 for No. 1.

Bacon—I see they say Dewey descended from some of the old English kings. Egbert—Well, he seems to have worked up again, all right.—Yonkers Workman.

Harry C. Liebe carries the most complete stock of diamonds, watches, jewelry and Sterling silver novelties in the city, which he sells at a reasonable price. Call and inspect the assortment.

The soldier boys are still on their way home, and at about 1:30 tomorrow afternoon 650 Montana troops will arrive here and take dinner at the Umatilla House. Let's give them a more hearty greeting than the Minnesota boys received.

Sterling silver mounted tooth and hair brushes, nail files, button hooks, shoe horns, paper knives, combs, brushes, mirrors, seals, and complete toilet and manicure sets of different designs are found in stock at H. C. Liebe's store in the Vogt block.

Reports from Antelope say the fair is a howling success; that it is the best ever held in this district. The stock exhibit is especially good, and all other exhibits in proportion. The racing has been spoiled by the rainy weather, and the mud is very deep.

The band which the "Breezy Time" company brings with them consists of sixteen pieces, and we are to be favored with two concerts Monday; one at noon and the other in the evening. Be sure to hear them. Bring all the children out and get the benefit of the music.

Walla Walla county is making her boast that 114 marriage licenses have been recorded with the county clerk so far this year. We thought Wasco was doing extra well this year with sixty-nine licenses; but it isn't in it with Walla Walla in that line, and we venture to say we haven't had as many divorce cases either.

There may be "many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," but that doesn't mean when the Columbia has anything to do with it, and the cup is ours again. For having won the race today, making her three times the winner, the Columbia again gives us the cup. At 2:40 the race was finished, with the Columbia almost a minute ahead of the Shamrock.

"Keeping Cows For Profit" is the well chosen title of the newest work on practical dairying to come under our notice. We understand that a large issue of this little publication is being gratuitously circulated with the compliments of The De Laval Separator Co., 74 Corlandt street, New York, which concern offers to send a copy to every reader of the CHRONICLE upon request.

It is announced by the management that "A Breezy Time," which will be seen at the Vogt Monday night, is continually comical and always interesting. It is said that no farce comedy upon the road contains so many captivating songs, so many well-built chorus girls, and so many original comedians. The individual talent of the performers is what the management rely upon to make the entertainment worth while attending, and to that end each member of the company has been given full liberty to elaborate his or her individual abilities.

"I have occasion to visit The Dalles every month of the year," said a visitor to our city recently, "and I can never remember of being here when a force of men were not tearing up the streets to mend some broken-down sewer." There is more truth than poetry in the assertion of this gentleman, and if the money expended on repairs were used in putting in a new system, as contemplated, how much better it would be. Today workmen are busy digging up Washington street to repair a cave-in at the corner of Third. Would it not be better to remedy the entire evil at once?

These be the days when cyclists "watch their chance and take it a foot." From November 1st until May 1st in Portland they may ride on the sidewalks; but not so in The Dalles, where the ordinance is in force the entire year. There are not a great many of wheels in our city, and if a section were inserted, compelling riders to dismount within thirty feet of pedestrians, it would not be out of the way to allow them the use of sidewalks during the muddy season. The trouble is there are always a few "scorchers," who race along regardless of other people's rights, and the careful rider must bear the consequence of their selfishness.

Engineer Andrews, of the Inland Flyer, got a bath yesterday which he didn't order, and although he doesn't object to taking an "annual," he would a little rather don his bathing suit and be prepared than take water without being warned beforehand. But one of the deck hands neglected to fasten the guard gate, and Andrews took a swim in consequence. Leaving over the gate to see if the Regulator was in sight, Andrews found it was not so substantial as it should have been and was soon out of sight himself. It was then no joking matter, but he held on to the gate until a small boat was sent out to his rescue. It is said the engineer was in the water for nine minutes; but he didn't say so. Next time he'll leave the guard gate alone and lean on the garden gate.

If the opening party given by the Columbia Dancing Club is a criterion by which to judge the remainder of those which will be given during the winter, there is any amount of enjoyment ahead for the members of the club. While there are seventy members, only about forty couples were present, which, however, is a sufficient number to make dancing comfortable, and will perhaps be about the average of those attending. The club was happy in its choice of a hall, for although another hall might be cozier and more easily decorated, there is no floor in town so easy to dance on, as that of the Baldwin opera house, having a spring which is lacking in the other halls. Prof. Birgfeld and Miss Schmidt furnished the music, which was greatly appreciated, particularly the latest catchy selections. There was a freedom and friendly atmosphere prevalent which is sure to make these parties fill a vacancy which was so noticeable last winter, and all are expecting they will be the society events of the season.

THE NEW LAUNDRY.

Ready to Do the Very Best Work—Patronize it.

Previous to the fire which destroyed the laundry building on First street, Mr. Mac Allister had fitted it up in splendid shape and had every appliance for a first class laundry. But his labor came to naught, and he was compelled to begin anew, so put up a building 36x100 feet on the corner of Third and Federal streets. Yesterday the reporter visited them at their new quarters, which are much superior to the former one, from the fact that everything is new and so much better light is obtained.

An office 12x20 and an assorting room 20x24 occupy the front of the building, while the main work room is 36x70. This room has every modern invention for laundry purposes and everything is in perfect shape. Here they employ a large force of women and girls under the supervision of J. W. Smith, of Chicago, a thorough laundryman, who has been employed in one of the largest laundries in that city. Our laundry has always been in need of just such a person, and as we watched him supervising every detail, particularly the ironers, we felt satisfied there would in the future be no complaint along that line.

It is natural that people should expect to have their clothes brought home from the laundry in a satisfactory condition, and if such is not the case, to send them elsewhere. But there will certainly be no reason for patronizing such an institution outside of our city now. All our own laundry asks is to be given a trial, and it feels satisfied its patrons will have no cause for complaint.

Not alone should be considered that a home institution should receive our patronage, but the fact that a large number of our own people find employment here should be an incentive to give it hearty support.
