Wednesday's Daily.

Ex-Governor Lord will receive $7500 a year as minister to the Argentine Republic.

J. A. Borie, for more than seven years agent for the O. R. & N. in Pendleton, has resigned his position and announces that he will go into business there. He will be succeeded by Frank F. Wamsley.

It is to be hoped that the dispatch which announces that the price of whisky has been put up by the United States Spirits Association, will have the effect of inducing fewer people to put it down their throats.

Mrs. J. N. Harney, wife of a former agent of the D. P. & A. N. Co., in Portland, and who is well known in The Dalles, died suddenly last week at Moberg, Idaho, where Mr. Harney is now agent for the O. R. & N. Co.

The busiest place in town today is the Wasco warehouse, which has hardly room to contain the amount of goods they are receiving, among which are two cars of sugar, one of syrup, one of coal, a car of Star Feed Mills and a car of stoves. The force has been on the jump all day.

Among other pleasing features of the Hallow'en entertainment at the Baldwin Monday night will be the Indian war dance. It will not be any easier to distinguish who the klooketmen are than to discover the ghosts last year. One who is thoroughly versed in the dance is training the swashes.

H. H. Perry, a brakeman on the O. R. & N. train, met with a very painful accident which came near causing the loss of the index finger of the left hand. He was engaged in uncoupling an engine at Celilo about 8 o'clock this morning when the finger got caught and was badly mashed. He came direct to this city, where Dr. Hudson gave the necessary medical attendance.

The cistern at the corner of Third and Laughlin streets is to have a new cover, which it is said is a splendid move, as the timbers of the old one were badly decayed. The report that a terrible stench arose from the water therein is said to be a mistake. Those who live in that neighborhood say that they failed to notice any disagreeable odor. However, the suggestion of our contemporary that the water should be changed often is a good one.

Last Sunday the Methodists at Antelope dedicated their new church, Rev. Robt. Warner being in attendance to assist in the service. The building is neat and a great addition to the little city, as well as a credit to the community which responded so generously Sunday, when $1,078 was raised. Much credit is given to Rev. Leech, Wilbur Bolton, W. L. Hinkle and others to whose efforts is largely due the successful erection of the church.

In referring to the exclusion of sheep from the Cascade reserve the Salem Statesman remarks: "Not a foot of it ought to be closed to the sheep; not a single foot. They do no harm to the forest reserve. The 'scientists' of the interior department who investigate the damage from the windows of Pullman cars ought to be turned down and kicked out of the service of the government. It is these fellows who do the harm, not the sheep. The proposition is nauseating in the extreme."

Last evening at 6 o'clock, at the Catholic church, Father Bronzgeest united in marriage E. H. Howell and Miss Mary B. Shannon, two young people who have made their home in The Dalles for years, Miss Shannon having been brought up here. Mr. Howell has been employed by the O. R. & N. Co. for a number of years and is well liked by his many friends, while his bride is an excellent young lady of splendid character. The Chroni- cle wishes to extend to Mr. and Mrs. Howell its congratulations.

The members of Oregon's gallant regiment of volunteers—the justly famous Second Oregon—are each to receive a bronze medal as an evidence of the appreciation of the people of the state for their noble services. That these medals will be manufactured for distribution among the volunteers is now assured, for Gov. T. T. Geer has received from the war department a letter informing him that the department had authorized the purchase of a Spanish gun to be used in casting medals for the Oregon volunteers.

Some time ago the CHRONICLE mentioned the fact that Capt. Waud had visited the schools when he last was in the city and promised a gold nugget to the pupils in Miss Wrenn's and Miss L. Hinton's rooms who could answer the most questions regarding Alaska. Upon his return home Sunday, Fred Waud brought with him the promised prizes, one of which was given to Alice Kurtz, of Miss Wrenn's room, and the other to Eugene Davis, of Miss Hinton's room. Fred also presented his teacher, Miss Michell, with a very handsome nugget stick pin. Captain Waud has always been deeply interested in the welfare of our schools, and the children greatly appreciate this token of his interest in them.

The De Kalb, Ill., Chronicle has the following concerning a Dalles lady: "Mrs. Isabella Rockwell and Miss Nellie Norton entertained a party of ladies yesterday afternoon and to supper last evening in honor of Mrs. Mary French, who leaves soon to spend the winter in Cleveland, Ohio. The hours were very agreeably passed in a social way, the ladies who have recently returned from abroad adding to the enjoyment of the occasion by relating some of their experiences and Mrs. French acquainting the ladies with Oregon life by showing them many views of places of interest along the Pacific."

The grand jury reported a true bill in the case of Frank McDaniel, charged with the murder of Clara Fitch in Portland some months since. A portion of the indictment says: "Frank McDaniel is accused of willfully, feloniously, purposely, and of deliberate and premeditated malice, having killed Claire Adelaide Fitch, by choking, suffocating and strangling her, and by forcibly stopping and closing and compressing the neck and throat of said victim, a more particular description of the way in which said crime was committed being to the grand jury unknown." This, while not so specifically saying in the indictment, is an indictment for murder in the first degree, as the indictment follows the statutory definition of that crime.

Thursday's Daily.

The trial of Frank McDaniel in Portland will not take place before late in November.

Yesterday a marriage license was granted to John Caldwell and Mrs. Ned Morrison, both of Antelope.

No. 1 is up to her old tricks today and is reported fourteen hours late. The passengers were, however, brought down on a special.

It was 80 degrees in the shade at Omaha Monday, and nobody would be surprised if tomorrow's dispatches told of an early blizzard in eastern Nebraska.

A fire at Heppner yesterday morning destroyed the saloon of McCrete & Swagart, Chas. Matlock and Wm. Reed. Loss, $4200; insurance, $1600. Origin of fire unknown.

Unless the British soon succeed in whipping the Boers, the state of affairs will be like one author claims society is—one common herd, formed of two classes, the Boers and bored.

No news has been received from last night's bowling contest. No news may be good news, but still we're not so sure. If our team had won, no doubt we'd have heard how it happened.

The Indians will displace the ghosts at the Hallow'en party this year. The young ladies who are to furnish the sweet part of the entertainment are busy preparing the candy booth and its contents.

The Sunset Telegraph and Telephone Company are putting in an underground system at Spokane. Bells at the central office are to be done away with, and instead a ruby light flashes in front of the operator, which indicates a call.

It is the purpose of the Columbia Dancing Club to give two parties a month. It is therefore necessary to have a party follow two weeks in succession this month, and tomorrow evening the second of the series will be given at the Baldwin.

Collis P. Huntington recently stated that the young men of America spent entirely too much time in the school-room. A better assertion would have been that the young men of our cities spend entirely too much time in the pool rooms.—Rural Spirit.

The ladies of the Aid Society of the Congregational church spent a very pleasant afternoon with Mrs. A. C. Giger yesterday. Several musical selections were given and other entertainment had been prepared; beside a lunch was served at the close of the afternoon. A large number of members and friends were present.

The seats for "My Friend From India" will be on sale tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the Butler Drug Co.'s store. Mr. Butler tells us that more interest is manifested in the opening of the box sheet for this play than in any previous engagement this season. The fact is people are becoming tired of vaudiville, and are anxious to hear something with a plot. Besides "My Friend From India" has a reputation which is known to all theater-goers.

Tuesday night in Portland an organization called the "Oregon Association of Opticians" was perfected. W. E. Garretson, of this city, was elected treasurer. The purpose for which this association is constituted is the establishment and maintenance of all legitimate optical trade in the state of Oregon, and the interchange and discussion of optical, social and business matters, and the encouragement of literature and science pertaining to optics.

In the late premium list of the Youth's Companion will be found a cut giving an idea of what can be done in the Florence bent iron work. The cut is taken from a photograph of the exhibit of bent iron work made by J. C. Hostler last year at the fair pavilion here. His work is certainly beautiful, and he should feel proud that a photograph of it reaches so many readers in the United States, for the Companion is read in more homes than any other journal published in the union except the Ladies Home Journal, which ranks highest, having very nearly 800,000 subscribers.

The employees at the Oregon Telephone office in this city feel positive now that they "take the cake," the assurance being furnished them by Mrs. Summers, wife of the agent of that company at Prineville. During the yacht races that lady made the promise that if the girls would keep her posted on the races, a cake would be forthcoming, and true to her word, yesterday the hungry operators were delighted to receive by express a large coconut cake that even the Columbia couldn't beat, for the proof of the cake is in eating it, and we know whereof we speak. To see it disappear like a flash, showed the boys and girls were used to the electric movement, whether dealing with messages or cake.

It was amusing this morning to watch the dilatory manner in which a workman on Second street was handling a hoe; but taking a second look one would discover a ball and chain in the vicinity of his feet, which accounted for his lack of enthusiasm. A few days ago he was found meandering the streets, and asking assistance. Mr. Cates offered him work on the steam saw, but he refused and the marshal forthwith called upon him to leave the city. Yesterday he made his appearance at Joe Stadler's place, where he was told where he could secure work. He then began to swear and demand help, and the marshal was summoned, who soon landed him in jail, and he was fined $5, which he is working out on the street. He is an ugly customer, and accomplishes but little. There is no excuse whatever for idleness these days, for everywhere workmen are in demand, and 'tis not a deed of charity to feed or in any way assist tramps now.

Friday's Daily.

Yesterday's afternoon west-bound train, No. 1, reached here at 5:30 this morning, about fourteen hours late. Trouble on the Union Pacific caused the delay.

On the 14th or 15th of next month a magnificent display of meteors is to be expected by persons who watch the sky at night—especially late at night, toward sunrise.

S. M. Blandford, so long associated with B. S. Pague in making weather for the webfooters, and now in charge of the weather bureau office at Boise City, was married to Miss Emma L. Wells, at Portland last evening.

You needn't cook any pastry tomorrow, for it will not be necessary when the ladies have such tempting pies, cakes, bread and everything in that line, on sale at Cross' store. Help them out as well as yourself by patronizing them.

Engineer Charles Evans, of Albina, whose right leg was amputated some time ago, is getting along finely, and he is able to be about. However, he will have to undergo a slight operation on account of a vein, which will have to be removed.—Oregonian.

The old maids are all invited to be present at the Hallow'en party Monday evening, for they will have a splendid opportunity to learn the secret of becoming young again, as the agent for "youth renewer" will be on hand. Admission 20 cents.

Those who expect to attend the club dance tonight at the Baldwin will take notice that the entrance to the hall has been changed and instead of gaining admittance by the east door it will be necessary to follow the walk around and enter at the hall door, or what is termed the dressing room door.

Still the wheat teams are continuing to arrive in large numbers, and it doesn't look much as if the season's haul is about over. The market is said to be knocked to pieces, but 52 cents is still being paid for No. 1 at the warehouses, so we were informed at the Wasco this morning.

Wonder if the morphine fiends—a man and woman—who, without the slightest provocation, invaded the hog pen at the brewery for some time recently, haven't favored Hood River with their benign presence. The papers at that place are complaining about some fiends which answer their description.

His friends were greatly pleased to again see A. J. Tolmie on our streets today, and he was kept busy shaking hands. Mr. Tolmie is now in business in Pullman, Wash., and though he does not like the climate as well as at The Dalles, he is pleased with the business outlook. He is on his way home from a trip to Portland.

Since the rain storms of last week Second street has been in a very muddy condition, the sun having little opportunity to strike it. A great improvement has, however, been made by the work which is now being done, in scraping up and removing the surplus mud and stones, which made it so disagreeable to travel over.

We understand there is an effort on foot to induce Chaplain Gilbert, of company L, to deliver a lecture in the near future in The Dalles. It is to be hoped that he will accede to the result, as everybody in Oregon has a friendly feeling for the brave chaplain who has so endeared himself to every member of the Second Oregon.

Though the number was not large which attended Prof. Saadvig's dancing party last night, those who were there report a splendid time. The music was fine, and the bon ton and glide lancers, which were introduced, took with everyone, and requests were made several times for their repetition. These will no doubt be popular parties.

The Hood River Sun bids fair to be changeable as the moon, that is regarding publishers. E. R. Bradley, a competent newspaper man, has rented the paper for a year. This change was occasioned by the proprietor having property interests at Sumpter, including mining claims and town property, which owing to late development, may become quite valuable by giving it his personal attention.

A really good farce comedy and one that most every one has seen and all have heard of, is "My Friend From India," the attraction at the Vest next Tuesday evening. It is played by the best company that has ever presented this piece, and headed by Walter E. Perkins, for whom it was written, and to whom the critics in the larger cities attribute much of its brilliant success.

Walter Moore, A. E. Hammond and F. T. Hurlburt were in the city yesterday for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Shaniko Townsite Company. The subject in question was putting in water works at the new townsite. We understand the materials have been ordered from the East and the works will be completed by the time the Columbia Southern reaches that place, which is said to be by the first of May.

W. M. Moore, who is blind, will be married this week to Miss Lizzie Brown, also blind, at the home of Geo. W. De Weese, a blind man, in Cleveland, Ohio. Justice of the Peace Dwight Palmer, a blind man, will perform the ceremony, and Wm. Vandrynst, who is blind, will be the best man. Fifty blind guests have been invited, and an orchestra composed of blind men will play the wedding march. After the ceremony a literary and musical program will be rendered by blind people. If the company should all play blind man's bluff it would be a sight worth seeing.

Our conjecture was right concerning the contest bowling game between the Commercial Club team and the Arlington Club in Portland Wednesday evening. No news was bad news, and our boys got heat. Of course there were good reasons for it or they never would have suffered defeat; there are always sufficient reasons for that sort of thing. But the bowlers didn't put on crape nor wear a shamrock either, and they will show their colors later all right.

Chaplain Wm. S. Gilbert, of the Second Oregon regiment, was both surprised and pleased to receive by express this morning a purse containing $35 in gold, and a card on which was inscribed: "Chaplain Gilbert, compiles of company K, 13th Minnesota Volunteers." The Minnesota boys were as proud of Oregon's chaplain as the Webfoot boys were, his many acts of kindness to them during the time the two regiments were side partners on the firing line not being forgotten. This token of esteem was bestowed unostentatiously and tells feelingly of the regard in which the men himself is held. It is an act probably unprecedented in army service, an officer of one regiment being complimented by the men of another regiment.

A Novel Appeal.

A Mississippi editor makes this appeal to delinquent subscribers: "Fish down in your pocket and dig up dust; the editor is hungry and the paper 'bout to bust. We've trusted you for several months, and did it with a smile, so just return the compliment and trust us for awhile. Our wife she needs some stockings and baby needs a dress; Jimmy needs some breeches, and so does Kate and Bess. Pud is on the hog train and Peggy sick with grief; and good gosh almighty, can't you give a man relief? Shell out those nickels and turn loose the dimes; turn 'em loose and whistle and we'll have better times; there will be fewer patches on the bosom of our pants; and we'd make the paper better if we had half a chance. Don't give us that old story, long gone to seed, 'bout takin' more family papers than the family wants to read; but help to feed the printer, and he'll help our town to grow, and thus escape the sulphur in the regions down below."

Box Social at Boyd.

The teachers and pupils of district No. 21 will give an entertainment and box social in the Boyd school house on Friday evening, Nov. 31, at 8 o'clock. General admission for those taking no part, 15 cents. Proceeds for benefit of school. Ladies are kindly requested to bring boxes of luncheon. Below is the program.

MORE BEAUTIFUL VIEWS.

Oregon and Washington Will Be Famous Through This Medium of Advertising.

This morning B. F. Gifford, our photographer, showed us some views which caused the remark that if Oregon had no other advertising than that which is received from the number of beautiful views which are constantly being taken by her professional and amateur photographers and scattered broadcast throughout the East—sent to friends, sold to tourists, displayed in exhibitions and placed in railroad offices, hotels and other public places—she would not lack advertisement sufficient to show just what her scenery, her products and her industries are, and to what an extent the latter is carried on. Only yesterday the CHRONICLE mentioned the fact that a Dalles lady was displaying to a company in Illinois photographs of our wonderful scenery and telling them of the Pacific coast. And so it is throughout the union, and Oregon is becoming known.

Mr. Gifford is furnishing the Oregonian with views which will probably be used in their annual edition, and to that end made a trip to Columbus and spent yesterday "shooting" everything which was worth being shot, and he secured some fine views; one in particular which to our taste is perhaps the most artistic he has yet obtained. It is a view along the bank of the Columbia. In the immediate foreground are two Indian tepees, placed right on the stony bank of the river. A dog stands guard over the "home," for the artist could not induce the swash to endanger his life by being taken. At the water's edge is tied a small row boat, the shadow of which is reflected in the water, and in the distance Mt. Hood is faintly seen towering above surrounding mountains, which make a beautiful background.

Other pictures, which are also splendid views, are of the wheat stored on the river bank, (and Mr. Gifford says 80,000 sacks were piled there yesterday) while the ferry boat stands loaded ready to take its wheat across. A similar view is that of a band of sheep being driven onto the boat and others waiting their turn. These will be worth a great deal as an advertising medium. In these days when so many photographers are in pursuit of the wily swash with a view to obtaining his picture, one would hardly imagine that the old superstition against photographs still existed among them. But while some of them ask but to be recompensed, others still refuse the Boston man an audience; and Mr. Gifford found himself in a tight place yesterday. Determined to secure a view of their huts, or tepees, he at once endeavored to persuade the owner and his klooketman to pose, but they were stubborn in their refusal and running into their rude abode shut themselves up. When he had prepared his camera and was about to take the picture, a young girl ran out and began throwing rocks at him, but finally disappeared. Then a young brave rode down to the hut and held a consultation, which he feared would prove disastrous, but, in spite of all, he secured the picture. Whether they, like many of their brothers, feared to have a certain number of years taken from their life by having their likeness taken, or, like the Celilo Indians, had a dread of being buried standing on their heads as a result of the photographer's art, he knew not, and cared not if he but secured the desired view.

Acker's English Remedy will stop a cough at any time, and will cure the worst cold in twelve hours, or money refunded. 25 cts. and 50 cts. Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.
