From a G. A. R. Man

"My attack of miller's Asthma was very bad. I was afraid to lie down at night for fear of smothering. I couldn't get my breath. No matter if all the doors and windows in the house were open, it seemed as if there was no air and that I must surely smother to death. Mr. W. B. Loug, of this city, called my attention to Acker's English Remedy for Throat and Lung Trondoors and windows and Lung Trou-bles. I thought lit-tic of it but bought it abottle in the hopes that it might help me a little. It gave me wonderful re-lief, and the second lief, and the second bottle cured me completely. My recovery is permanent, too, for ever since I have not had the slightest return of my old enemy. I consider Acker's English Remedy by long odds the best medicine in the world for lacking coughs, asthma and bronchitis. It completely masters those stubborn diseases that many people wrongly suppose to be incurable. If sufferers will just try a single bottle, it will prove every word I have said, and more too." ### A Good Beginning.

The opening night of the Shaw company was a most successful one. The house was so crowded that standing room only could be had. The play, "Jack O'Diamond, is a pleasant little drama and full of many interesting situations which all help to weave in a story that appeals to the audience and brings forth the fact that all who profess are not friends.

Mr. Shaw is indeed a fine actor, and his entire company, which numbers twenty-one, are worthy of praise for their clever acting and excellent music. During the intermission between acts, specialties were introduced, such as singing, dancing, and a xylophone solo. The audience which greeted the company last night were more than pleased morning for the Warm Springs with the performance, and we predict that the house will again be crowded, for we can assure anyone, that for a Jno. Farling, of Antelope, is in the good, clean and pleasant evening's entertainment the Shaw company cannot be excelled.

Tonight the favorite, "In Mizzura," will be produced.

NEWS FROM THE DELEGATES

Beauties of the Sunset Route-Jolly Companions and Pleasant Surroundings,

> NEW MEXICO, Feb. 22, 1900. On board Southern Pacific.

I need not tell you, nor your readers, that the most difficult thing in the world is to tear one's self away from newspaper people. One is bad enough, but Following is the list of letters remain- when it comes to twenty in one car it is ing in the postoffice at The Dalles un- well nigh impossible. But just now, while they are gazing out of the car habitants and wondering if even a newspaper man could exist in this desert, I'll shut myself up in the drawing room (for Chamberlain, Olie DeCamp, Mrs Frank all happened, for I could not tell half, nor would you want to hear it. Indeed, If anyone can tell half of what is seen on a trip over the Southern Pacific and Sunset routes, they must need be-well, slightly more gifted than yours truly.

Since leaving Portland Saturday night we have been craning our necks until a giraffe isn't in it with our appearance. It is not necessary to speak of Southern Oregon's part in the panorama we have past through; everything in regard to that state, of which we grew prouder as we passed, is taken for granted, for who has not heard of the grandeur of Oregon, and you should pass through Arizona and New Mexico to fully appreciate it; but every desert has its oaces would be applicable to the Southern Pacific route, and even that desert has had it interesting points since we struck it last night. Upon reaching the California line we began to look about for new scenes, and we found them. In the presence of Oregonians, however, Shasta veiled his face, but could not cover one inta of the beauties which lay at his feet scoop, so after decking ourselves in agent The Dalles, or address every "item" and if possible get a violets, which seemed to line every corner, we sallied forth for the park, Cliff house and other resorts of the "tourist," only returning in time to take the boat for Oakland at 5:30, for we left at 6:15. So eager were we to miss not a sight to be seen, that we no doubt missed much which was in store for us, for, not content with the seemingly limitless generosity and thoughtfulness he had showered us with at Portland, C. H. Markham, of the Southern Pacific, had telegraphed Asst. Passenger Agent Jackson to show us the sights of the city; but we were not to be found high nor low, which experience in regard to newspaper people was probably a new one to him or any other transportation agent. However, this time, we will take the will for the deed, and never miss an opportunity to say a word in favor of the route which has afforded us so much pleasure. In order to reach New Orleans at date set, we were compelled to forego the much desired visit in Los Angeles which we reached at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. We, therefore, caught but a 8:30 t glimpse of the beautiful city and its attractions for visitors as we remained but a half hour. We were recompensed. however, by the view which greeted us continually during the afternoon, as we will be considerable lower than by team larger quantities than a small shipment from The Dalles. Then, too, we caught a passing glance at San Gabriel mission which we at once recognized from the numerous views everywhere to be seen, and all at once decided to more thoroughly investigate
