Literary Club Banquet.

Monday's Daily.

Tonight the Students' Literary Club will give a banquet to its members and their invited friends in Fraternity hall. The banquet is intended as a fitting close to a series of meetings that have lasted over the winter and have been found exceedingly profitable to a class of young men in the city who prefer to spend their leisure hours in acquiring useful knowledge rather than in idleness and folly. An extended post-prandial program has been arranged and it is more than probable that something will be said or done looking to the continuance of the work of the club in a more extended and permanent form. Following is the program:

The Club Perpetuated.

The banquet given last night by the Students' Literary Club appears to have been enjoyed by all who took part in it. Between fifty and sixty persons of both sexes were present. The program as reported yesterday was followed in the main, but several speeches were added that were not down on the bills. The members of the club, through Timothy Brownhill, who is justly considered the father of the club, sprung a little surprise upon the guests in the form of a suggestion that the club, instead of disbanding or even temporarily discontinuing its meetings, should perpetuate the institution in some form along the lines of the Y. M. C. A. The main object of the movement is to throw around the young men of the town who choose to avail themselves of it, a healthy, wholesome, Christian influence. It is intended to have a public reading room, supplied with the best magazines and papers of the day, that shall be open at all times to anybody and everybody. A gymnasium is also part of the plan. At the meeting last night the chairman, Mr. John Gavin, appointed the following gentlemen as a general committee to submit plans and suggestions to a committee of the club: Rev. U. F. Hawk, Rev. D. V. Poling, Hugh Gourlay, C. L. Gilbert and Timothy Brownhill, chairman. The suggestion of a club for the young men met with the hearty endorsement of all the speakers, particularly the ministers, who promised their earnest and cordial aid and sympathy.

BRITISH LOST VERY HEAVILY

Seven Guns, 350 Men and Baggage Captured by Boers.

REINFORCEMENTS SENT FORWARD

Boers Cut Off the Bloemfontein Water Supply and Are Closing In on Full Force.

LONDON, April 2, 2 p. m.—The war office has received the following dispatch from Roberts, dated Bloemfontein Sunday:

"I received news late yesterday evening from Colonel Broadwood at Thabochu, 38 miles east of here, that information had reached him that the enemy was approaching in two forces from the north and east. He stated that if the report proved true, he would retire towards the waterworks, 17 miles nearer Bloemfontein, where we have had a detachment of mounted infantry for the protection of the works.

"Broadwood was told in reply that the Ninth Division, with Martyr's Mounted Infantry, would march at daylight to support him and that if he considered it necessary he should retire to the waterworks. He moved there during the night and bivouacked. At dawn today he was shelled by the enemy, who attacked him on three sides. He immediately despatched two horse artillery batteries and his baggage toward Bloemfontein, covering some of them with his cavalry.

"Some two miles from the water works, the road crosses a deep nullah or spruit, in which during the night a force of Boers had concealed themselves. So well they hid that our leading scouts passed over the drift without discovering them, and it was not until the wagons and guns were entering the drift that the Boers showed themselves and opened fire. Many of the drivers of the artillery horses were immediately shot down at short range, and several guns captured. The remainder galloped away, covered by Roberts' Horse, which suffered heavily.

"Meanwhile Lieutenant Chester Masters, of the Remington Scouts, found a passage across the spruit unoccupied by the enemy, by which the remainder of Broadwood's force crossed. They reformed with great steadiness, notwithstanding what had previously occurred. Broadwood's report, which has just reached me, contains no details, but states that he had lost seven guns and all his baggage. He estimates all his casualties at about 350, including 200 missing.

"On hearing this morning that Broadwood was hard pressed, I immediately ordered General French, with the two remaining cavalry brigades, to follow in support of the Ninth Division. The latter, after a magnificent march, arrived on the scene of action shortly after 2 p. m. Broadwood's force consisted of the Royal Household Cavalry, the Tenth Hussars, the Q. and U. Batteries of the Royal Horse Artillery, and Pitcher's battalion of mounted. The strength of the enemy is estimated from 8000 to 10,000, with guns, the number of which is not yet reported.

LONDON, April 2.—A rumor of the capture by the British of seven guns taken from Colonel Broadwood's force, based on a dispatch to the Chronicle from Bloemfontein, which is in all probability correct, fails to compensate London for the severe shock experienced by a humiliating defeat sustained within a few miles of the headquarters of the British army of occupation.

The public is painfully surprised to learn after all that British officers of high position can still neglect precautions which the veriest tyro might be expected to observe, and blunder into traps which observance of elementary military rules would have revealed. There is no attempt here to minimize the discreditableness of the whole affair, so far as the British are concerned, or detract from the dexterity of the Boers, who were apparently commanded by General Dewit. The tactics of the burghers were evidently excellently conceived, and boldly carried out, and unless the reinforcements sent by Roberts have turned the tide, and recaptured the prisoners, a couple of hundred men from two crack corps of the Household Cavalry and the Tenth Hussars, are now on their way to swell the growing deposit of British prisoners at Pretoria.

President Kruger is said to have promised to recapture Bloemfontein this week, and the stubborn burghers seem to be closing around the place in such force as promises to be troublesome, especially when it is realized that the activity of a strong Boer force in the vicinity of Paardeberg has already interrupted direct communication between Roberts and Kimberley. But for the overwhelming numbers at the disposal of Roberts, the situation would justly cause Great Britain anxiety. As it is, the nation is beginning to realize, from the nature of the guerilla warfare, that it is liable to embarrass the future movement of British troops.

A special dispatch from Bloemfontein this morning says that the water supply of the place has been cut off. This is a natural sequence of the Boer success at the water works. But the authorities are hopeful that the strong reinforcements sent by the commander-in-chief will promptly remedy this. It is evident from Roberts' that a big engagement is in progress. Although it is difficult to estimate the number of British engaged, they probably exceed even the 8000 or 10,000 men which the Boers are estimated to number. The scene of the British disaster appears to be Mealie Spruit, where the Bloemfontein road crosses a tributary of the Modder river.
