Of course it makes all the difference in the world whether a "despotism" has been established by a Jefferson Democrat or a McKinley Republican, for the party of Jefferson and Jackson for fifty years did with impunity what is now denounced as tyrranous and imperialistic in the party of Lincoln and Grant and Me-Kinley; yet one cannot help but feel that in the presence of some of the facts of Democratic history nothing is so becoming in a Democrat as the grace of silence.

"Strange isn't it, that it has taken the Democratic party thirty-five years to recognize the superior political virtues in Abraham Lincoln." Not so strange after all, says the Plaindealer. It usually takes Democracy about that period of time to get anything rational through its head. In about 1935 they will be "pointing with pride" to the political wisdom and virtue of Wm. McKin-
