LOCAL BREVITIES.

Saturday's Daily.
Mr. W. Lord informs THE CHRONICLE that 800,000 pounds of wool is already in storage at the Shaniko warehouse.

A Densmore type writing machine was stolen from the law office of Moore & Gavin last night. No trace of the thief has been found.

As soon as the river recedes, W. O. Hadley, of Moro, will make improvements, and build bath houses, at the springs at Collins Landing.

The Dufur Dispatch says three cases of smallpox are reported in Wapinitia, and it is said that quite a number have been exposed to the disease.

Tom Merry, well known by old Dalles people, is at present in Los Angeles, where he is working on a newspaper and writing for several Eastern dailies.

Henry Green, a laborer on the portage road, came over the river yesterday and loaded himself with booze. He was arrested during the night and fined $2 this morning.

We have just received a shipment of boys and children's summer underwear, which we are offering at special prices, 19c, 23c and 25c per garment. The New York Cash store.

John Conner, son of Thomas Conner who lives on Eighth street, was taken on the Dalles City this morning to St. Vincent's hospital. He is helplessly and seriously ill from pulmonary troubles.

Wool is arriving here from all points of the compass and by rail and river and wagon. Over two million pounds is already stored in the warehouses with a prospect of six to seven millions before the season closes.

Congressman Moody has secured a desirable department clerkship at Washington, D. C., for Forest S. Fisher, who is now chief clerk at The Dalles postoffice. Mr. Fisher expects to get orders to start for Washington within a couple of weeks.

Quite a number of the farmers of Tygh Ridge have been busily engaged the past two weeks in hauling the residue of their wheat crop to The Dalles, not for the purpose of selling at the present prices, but to make room and prepare for harvesting and storing one of the largest crops ever known in the history of that section, says the Dufur Dispatch.

Christian Anderson, The Dalles Southern Railroad Company's surveyor, with a gang of men, went through to Kingsley the first of the week intending to establish camp near there, from where he will continue the survey made last winter to Dufur on south through Tygh valley and on to Prineville. This begins to look as if a railroad to Dufur in the near future was an assured fact. "So near it be,"—Dufur Dispatch.

The sickest squaw you ever saw in your life was in the city "skookum" house this morning. She is a Yakima reservation belle and was on her way to Hood River to pick strawberries, when she fell in with a couple of bucks of her own tribe who loaded her and themselves to the gunwale with fire water. It may be a mere incident that Wasco Charlie had been released from jail yesterday morning. It is plain, however, that John Phillips is not the only man in The Dalles who is supplying the Indians with alcohol. The night watchman found the squaw lying helplessly drunk on the river front, near the end of Court street. She had no more locomotive power than a bundle of rags and had to be carried to the jail. One of the bucks was also arrested but the other fled in the darkness. The squaw complains that her companions robbed her of the little money she had to pay her expenses to Hood River.

Commencing Monday, June 4th, the Regulator Line will inaugurate a service that will undoubtedly give general satisfaction. The service will be as follows: A through boat will leave Portland daily, except Sunday, at 6 a. m. and will do the way work on the lower river, arriving at the locks at noon; the Reliance will leave Portland daily, except Sunday, at 7 a. m., with Dalles and middle Columbia passengers, giving them to the Dalles boat at the locks and returning to Portland with the tourists she may have on board, arriving in Portland at 4:30 p. m.; the down boat will leave The Dalles at 7 a. m. and will go through to Portland without waiting at the locks for the up boat; but if for any reason the down boat is delayed, her passengers will be taken by the Reliance and landed in Portland on time. The company will use every effort to have the steamers arrive on schedule time, viz: The Dalles, 5 p. m.; Portland, 4:30 p. m. A very neat time card has been printed. Send to their office or ask the purser for one.

Monday's Daily.
A person can now take breakfast in

Antelope, dinner in The Dalles and get back to Antelope for supper, says the Herald.

The little son of Rev. U. F. Hawk, at last accounts, was recovering rapidly.

Wood Bros. received today twenty-five head of fine fat hogs from Killekat county, for which they paid $4.85 per hundred, gross.

The Antelope Herald says three inches of snow covered the ground in the Axe Handle district, sixteen miles from that place, Sunday and Monday.

The son of Amos Root, of Mosier, a youth of about 12 years, was operated on in The Dalles today for bone disease in the knee by Drs. Geisendorfer and Ferguson.

Irish enthusiasts are demanding that the new regiment of Irish guards shall wear the kilt, on the ground that it was the national dress of Irishmen long before the Scotch Highlanders took to wearing it.

Hugh Jackson, the stageman, now of Arlington, arrived here today from Portland where he sold a bunch of eighteen head of broken work horses at an average price of $67.50 a head. The animals weighed from 1000 to 1400 pounds each.

Laborers on the Mohawk branch of the Southern Pacific railroad are dissatisfied with the present scale of wages paid by the contractors. Common laborers are paid $1.75 per day, but the workmen claim they can do better, and, as a consequence, are quitting.

B. F. Laughlin came up from Portland to attend the polls. He reports that his son, Lloyd, who was recently operated on for appendicitis, is recovering rapidly, and hopes are entertained that in a week or so he will be well enough to stand the journey home.

Gifford, the photographer, has had an exhibition in one of the windows of Donnell's drug store one of the handsomest photographs we have ever seen. It is a picture in natural colors of the dalles of the Columbia, taken from an elevated point east of Seufert's cannery, with Mt. Hood in the distant background. The picture is forty inches in length and is a gem well worth seeing.

Mr. C. J. Stubling, of The Dalles, has purchased all the right, title and interest of C. G. Green and Mrs. Green in the townsite of Stevenson, including their home on Cascade avenue, and Mr. Stubling is now the owner and proprietor of a town, and a county seat at that. Just what Mr. Stubling will do with his new possessions we do not know, and doubt if Mr. Stubling does, says the Pioneer.

One of the most interesting events of the late Forrester's picnic at Dufur was the one that none of the newspaper fraternity noticed, and only came to THE CHRONICLE'S ears by an accident. They had a baby show, when the plumpest and handsomest lot of little cherubs that ever slipped through the celestial gate was exhibited. The prize was awarded to the baby of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hadley, of Boyd.

Special Night Watchman Alisky desires to know the whereabouts of Eddie Clarke, a boy of 18 or 19 years, who is known here by his companions as Beau Clarke. Mr. Alisky has an important message for him concerning his family in Portland. Clarke was in The Dalles three days ago, and is supposed to be working somewhere on the other side of the river. Any one knowing his whereabouts will confer a favor on him by letting him know.

The first brood of young Chinese pleasantries were seen last Wednesday out by the Mesiker place near Goldendale, says the Agriculturalist. There were thirteen in the brood and they were remarkably spry and cute. Parties seeing any other broods are kindly requested to report same to Dr. R. E. Stewart, of Goldendale, so that he can get an approximate idea of the number being raised, and also for the better protection of the little fellows.

A. A. Urquhart, Wm. Morganfield, and Dave Stroud, who have been working on the city water ditch in the neighborhood of the meadows arrived here this morning to attend the polls. They have partially opened a ditch about a mile and a quarter in length through a swamp between the Dog river ditch and Mill creek, where the water formerly flowed over a large tract of ground and spread among fallen timber and weeds and skunk cabbage as high as a man's shoulder. In digging the ditch they opened up nearly a dozen springs of pure ice-cold water that they estimate will increase the flow into Mill creek fully one-third. They say some of the springs are "as thick as a man's leg" and there is no better water in the world.

That there is crying need of cheap transportation between the interior and tidewater goes without saying. It costs now 12 1/2 cents to move a bushel of wheat from eastern Washington to the ship that will transport it to Liverpool. That is just about one-third the prevailing price of wheat in this section," says the Spokane Review. "If it be admitted that wheat can be grown here at a cost of twenty-cents per bushel, an exceedingly low estimate, it means that the transportation company makes more out of hauling the wheat crop to tidewater than the farmer makes from all his labor and all his investment.

PEASE & MAYS

The state grain inspector estimates this year's wheat crop in eastern Washington at 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 bushels. If 20,000,000 bushels should be sold for export, the railroads will take $2,500,000 for moving the crop to tidewater. If the freight rate were reduced one cent a bushel, it would mean a direct saving to the farmers of eastern Washington of $200,000. If an open river lowered the freight rate five cents per bushel, the saving would amount to a million dollars."

Tuesday's Daily.
Mrs. John Brookhouse, of Dufur, is in the city the guest of Mrs. May Hix.

Some of the best talent in The Dalles is very busy preparing for another up-to-date minstrel, with the society young ladies in black face. Mrs. Runcie, who is coaching them, is delighted with the talent and a fine show is assured.

An Indian brought in this morning 300 pounds of salmon, which he had caught in a dip net last night near the Indian village on the other side of the river. He said he caught them in an eddy, while standing in water up to his waist.

To liquidate a bet made on the election of sheriff Joe Hereonx will tonight at 7:30 o'clock wheel Jimmy Urquhart in a wheelbarrow from M. T. Nolan's corner to the brewery and back, resting twenty minutes at the brewery, presumably for liquid refreshment.

The leading prune growers of Walla Walla, Clarke and Yakima counties as well as of the prune districts of Oregon expect to organize the Northwest Cared Fruit association. It is necessary that 75 per cent of the acreage be represented in the association before June 7th.

A few months ago some business men of The Dalles concluded that a wool-scouring mill ought to be located at that thriving city and great woolshipping point. They did something more than talk, and now the new scouring mill is nearly ready to begin its very useful work. About the same time that this talk was prevalent at The Dalles there was considerable talk in Portland of a big woolen mill in this city, but the project ended in talk, and even that has ceased. There were other projects, too—but no matter; let us take another nap; who wants to wear his life out with rustling for business and building up a town?—Telegram.

RESULT OF MONDAY'S ELECTION

The Republicans Gain Everything Save Judge, Treasurer and Commissioner.

The returns from every precinct in the county have been received, and the result is the election of the entire republican state and district ticket and all the county ticket, save the county judge, treasurer and commissioner.

Congressman Moody has the phenomenal majority over Smith of 1089, the largest ever given by the county to any candidate. Wolverton, for supreme judge, has 758 over Green. Frank Menefee, republican candidate for district attorney, carries the county by 685 majority over J. F. Moore and the district by a large majority.

The election of J. N. Williamson for state senator over Judge Bennett, although returns from Klamath and Lake counties have not been received, and notwithstanding the fact that Judge Bennett has carried his own county by 110 majority, is assured. Mr. Williamson has a majority in his own county of Crook of over 150, and it is conceded on all hands that he will carry both Klamath and Lake by handsome majorities.

T. H. Johnston beats E. B. Dufur for joint senator by a majority of 100 in the county and district.

The rest of the joint senatorial and representative ticket is carried by the republicans by good majorities.

George C. Blakeley beats A. S. Blowers for county judge by a majority of 340.

Robert Kelly succeeds himself as sheriff, and carries the county by 176 votes over those given for his democratic opponent.

A. E. Lake, republican candidate for clerk, beats John Filloon by a majority of 314.

John F. Hampshire, democratic candidate for treasurer, was elected by a majority over the vote given to the present incumbent, C. L. Phillips, of 241.

C. L. Gilbert's majority over T. M. B. Chastain for school superintendent is 623.

C. L. Schmidt, republican candidate for assessor, beats his opponent, Chas. L. Copple, by a majority of 235.

J. B. Goit succeeds himself as county surveyor by a majority of 362 votes over his opponent, W. E. Campbell.

W. J. Harriman, democratic candidate for county commissioner, beats P. A. Kirchner by a majority of 36.

Coroner Butts will succeed himself, for the county said so by a majority of 808 over those given to George H. Williams.

And last, but not least, Judge Timothy Brownhill will administer justice alike to the just and the unjust for the next two years. His majority over J. Doherty is in the neighborhood of one hundred.

A telephone message late this afternoon says that Tongue's election as congressman from the First district is assured. It is believed that Moody's majority in this district will be larger than it was in 1898.

TISSOT'S FAMOUS PAINTINGS.

The Dalles People Will Soon Have Reproductions of Them at the M. E. Church.

When the paintings of Tissot were exhibited in Chicago last year, the rooms of the Art Institute were packed to suffocation day after day by crowds eager to study the wonderful conceptions of the French artist. The remarkable change which came over the man who had spent a lifetime in painting common place scenes, such as might be expected from a Bohemian, is one of the romances of art. The man was over 50 years of age, and the occasion was the church of St. Sulpice, in Paris, whither the worldling had gone to study faces of beautiful women. There a vision came to the painter which transformed him into a new man, with a new ambition, and a new future.

He left Paris on a pilgrimage to the Holy Land, where he studied with eager attention every spot associated with the life of Jesus, and read the gospel narrative more than a hundred times. He determined to paint the story of the career of the Nazarene, giving it the exact setting in which it took place. For ten years Tissot studied and painted. At last he placed before the world the result of his long toil—500 paintings and drawings.

When his father looked at them he was amazed to find how wrong his impressions had been of the places which the holy feet had touched. He exclaimed: "Then I must alter all my preconceived ideas of these things! What is not Calvary a high mountain, in the shade of a sugarloaf, covered with rocks and brush wood?" "Well, no," replied Tissot, "the Mount of Cavalry, though it occupied the summit of the city, was, at the most, only 22 or 23 feet high. Your mistake is shared by the greater number of believers."

One can get a better idea of the topography of the holy land, the architecture, the dress, the faces of the people, by studying Tissot one hour than by reading many books. Leonardo's great painting of the "Last Supper" is found to be seriously at fault when placed by the side of Tissot's picture of the same subject. It is most interesting to place a Raphael or an Angelo or a Hoffmann near a Tissot and note the different conceptions of the artists.

Notice.
Mr. A. E. Cooper, G. A. P. D., C. R. I. & P. Ry., 250 Alder street, Portland, Or., advises me that his company will run four specially cheap excursions to the east, leaving Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo June 23d, July 12th and 20th and August 4th. He will be pleased to answer any inquiries.

A Sprained Ankle Quickly Cured.
"At one time I suffered from a severe sprain of the ankle," says Geo. E. Cary, editor of the Guide, Washington, Va. "After using several well recommended medicines without success, I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and am pleased to say that relief came as soon as I began its use and a complete cure speedily followed." Sold by Blakeley & Houghton.

The Chinese ask "How is your liver?" instead of "How do you do?" for when the liver is active the health is good. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are famous little pills for the liver and bowels.

T. J. Seufert reported that he had negotiated the sale of the $20,000 worth of bonds that fell due on the 1st of March to the First National bank of this city. The holders of these bonds are fire insurance companies, and they required their payment because of heavy losses from fire in Canada. The matter of their sale was placed in the hands of Commissioner Seufert, and the result is very creditable to his business capacity and very satisfactory to the board. The interest on these bonds, about $100 a month, will be kept at home, and the surplus funds of the board, instead of lying idle for a time in the hands of the treasurer, will be used monthly to redeem the bonds and to that extent cancel the interest.

Woman's Sphere.

An ancient Greek once said: "Athens rules the world, I rule Athens, my wife rules me." "And still
"They talk about a woman's sphere
As though it had a limit.
There's not a place in earth or heaven:
There's not a task to mankind given:
There's not a blessing of a woe:
There's not a whispered 'Yes or No':
There's not a life, or death, or birth,
That has a featherweight of worth,
Without a woman in it."

Mr. W. S. Whedon, cashier of the First National bank of Winterset, Iowa, in a recent letter gives some experience with a carpenter in his employ, that will be of value to other mechanics. He says: "I had a carpenter working for me who was obliged to stop work for several days on account of being troubled with diarrhea. I mentioned to him that I had been similarly troubled and that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy had cured me. He bought a bottle of it from the druggist here and informed me that one dose cured him, and he is again at his work." For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

All who suffer from piles will be glad to learn that DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will give them instant and permanent relief. It will cure eczema and all skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits.
