EIGHT MILE PICNIC.

They Had a Grand, Good Time—Results Of the Races.

Eight-Mile enjoyed one of the best picnics of the season Friday. The weather was splendid after the rain, and the crowd was as large as could be wished. Probably 500 people were present to enjoy the festivities of the occasion.

The literary program was creditably rendered as advertised. All through the program a hearty good will was manifested and each received a good amount of applause. The literary program was a trifle long, but this could not be avoided when so many were taking part, and it was wished that none should be slighted.

The following races took place, amid great excitement and cheering:

Race for girls, 5 to 10 years, won by Gerlie Covert; prize, large doll.

Race for boys, 5 to 7 years, won by Ernest Dickson; prize, pen knife.

Race for girls, 10 to 16 years, won by Ruby Covert; prize, toilet case. This race resulted in a tie and had to be run over to determine a winner. In the second attempt Ruby Covert crossed the line first, with Zora Miller a close second.

Race for boys, 12 to 16 years, won by Arville Angell; prize, fishing rod. This was close and exciting, and had to be run over to determine who should receive the fishing rod. The second time Arville Angell proved too fast for his larger competitor—Elton Koonitz—and amidst deafening shouts he crossed the line in time to leave no doubt as to the winner.

Race for boys, 7 to 12 years, won by Willie Wilhelm; prize, suit of clothes.

Race for girls, free for all, won by Zora Miller; prize, pair of shoes.

Race for boys, free for all, won by Guy Teel; prize, book.

Sack race for boys, won by Wilbur Dickson; prize, harmonica.

Fat man's race, won by James Eason; prize, hat.

Nail-driving contest, won by Mrs. McCabe; prize, note paper. This was comical and exciting.

Running jump, won by R. A. Miller; prize, a hat.

Three-legged race, won by Arville Angell and Lester Johnson.

The picnic was a great success and everyone went away with a smile and a promise to remember Eight-Mile on picnic days. The teachers, one and all, wish to thank the various merchants who contributed so freely and so much to the success of the picnic in the way of prizes.

Attention, Horsemen

TYGH VALLEY, OR., June 18, 1900.

EDITOR CHRONICLE:

I hand you herewith a notice to horse owners that I hope you will publish at the earliest opportunity, for I deem the matter of very great importance to every owner of a horse in the county. I am advised by the state veterinarian that mange is a highly contagious disease. He recommends as treatment that 1 1/2 pounds of sulphur and 1 1/2 pounds of unslacked lime be boiled in a gallon of water and daily applications made. Or any good sheep dip used at five times its strength for sheep.

Anyone can readily see that if this disease should get well scattered among the work and saddle horses of the county, and the infection got into the public and private stables, it would be a task of giant proportions to ever get entirely rid of it again. By united effort now it can be eradicated, and the effort must be made, and made now. Any delay only makes the matter worse.

I would request that every person knowing of cases of this disease would at once inform me confidentially of its whereabouts and who the owners of the horses are, or what brands they carry.

A. A. BONNEY.

OWNERS OF HORSES TAKE NOTICE.

Information having been filed in my office that numerous cases of mange among horses now exist in Wasco county, I hereby notify all persons having horses so afflicted to immediately remove said horses from the public range and to keep them separate and apart from all other horses not so afflicted, and to immediately treat said afflicted horses for a cure of said disease. And any and all persons owning or having in his or their possession horses diseased with mange, who refuse or neglect to take heed of this notice and remove said horses from danger of contact with other healthy stock, will be dealt with according to laws made and provided to cover such cases.

Stock Inspector for Wasco Co., Tygh Valley, June 18, 1900.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Pendleton woolen mills have begun the shipment of blankets to Eastern houses for the fall trade.

The wheat harvest will commence in Walla Walla county this week. The season is a month earlier than last year, and two weeks earlier than usual.

In honor of the nominee for vice-president, the republicans of Walla Walla will organize a Roosevelt Club, and purchase rough rider hats and suits.

Owners of harvest machines in Umatilla county met at Milton today to fix a uniform rate for handling the season's crop. A scale of wages is also to be agreed upon.

The Mennonites, at one of their settlements in Pennsylvania, recently elected a pastor by lottery. There were ten candidates and ten bibles were placed on a table before them. One contained a slip of paper, and the preacher who selected this one was duly chosen.

Father Joseph Joset, of Desmet Mission, for fifty years identified with missionary work of the Jesuits among Cou d'Alene and other Northwestern Indians, died at the mission June 19th. He was 90 years old and the last of the band of missionaries of whom Father Desmet was the leader. He came from Europe in 1840.

A New York man has a coat which is interesting from its long tail to the tailor's band on the collar. It is a wedding dress coat which belonged to his grandfather, and it was made by Andrew Johnson, afterward president of the United States. At the back of the coat, under the collar, is a little clip of cloth marked "A. Johnson, Tailor."

Three male babies were born to Professor H. S. Brode and wife at their home in Walla Walla Tuesday morning, says the Milton Eagle. Mr. Brode is one of the instructors in Whitman college, the professor of biology, "the science of life, which pretains to the destruction of animals and plants." The professor appears to be sharing in the "distribution" to a considerable extent.

The most remarkable giant the world has ever known is Lewis Wilkins, who is now arousing great interest in the scientific circles of all Europe. Wilkins was born on a farm near St. Paul in 1874. When he was but 10 years of age he measured 6 feet in height, and has now grown to the tremendous height of 107 1/2 inches—just three-quarters of an inch less than 9 feet—and weighs 364 pounds.

When Charles Dudley Warner was editor of the Hartford Press, back in the 60s, arousing the patriotism of his state by his energetic appeals, one of the typesetters came in from the composing room one day and, facing Mr. Warner, said: "Mr. Warner, I've decided to enlist in the army." With mingled emotions of pride and responsibility, Mr. Warner replied that it pleased him that the man felt the call to duty. "Oh, it isn't that," said the truthful compositor, "but I'd rather be shot than set your copy."

The general opinion of her majesty, Queen Victoria, was curiously put by an old Scotchwoman who heard that an estate in Fife had gone to the crown for want of heirs. "Weel," she said, "it might hae gaen a waug gate, for the queen's a real deservin' body." Only as "the crown" on these occasions means merely the exchequer, the Scotchwoman would probably have thought that the estate had "gaen a waug gate" if she had known that her majesty would derive no benefit whatever from it.

Strange to say, Senator Bailey of Texas, who is such a hero with the sentimental women frequenters of the house galleries, is not a favorite with the men visitors. One day last winter his dramatic conclusion to a rather long-winded speech elicited from a gray-haired man in the second row of the members' gallery the ejaculation: "Too bad, too bad!" "What's too bad?" asked his companion. "It's too bad," replied the venerable auditor, "that the Lord Almighty when He made that roaring Texan should have used up so much material in fashioning his thorax that he had nothing left for his brains."

The following telegram was handed in for delivery at the postoffice at Chepstow, England: "Going to Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwilyllgodogoch; shall be home by 4.30." The postmaster, thinking that there was more than a fair penn'orth of consonants in the name, referred it to his surveyor, who wrote back: "It is an attempt at the name of a village in Anglesey, but is evidently not written by a Welshman; the spelling is incorrect, and, but for the joke of the thing, the ordinary abbreviation—Llanfairpwll—would have been better. The full name correctly written I give below—Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwilyllgodogoch."

Dull Headache, Pains in various parts of the body, Sinking at the pit of the stomach, Loss of appetite, Feverishness, Pimples or Sores all positive evidences, of impure blood. "Is God's Good Blessing"

"I feel that God has blessed Dr. Acker with special knowledge to prepare that grand medicine called Acker's English Remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles. It saves children every time when they are attacked by croup. Every mother should know about it, and I will tell about my experience. I had a darling boy of four years to die with croup. My doctor did all he could, but the child could not be made to vomit. That was before I knew of Acker's English Remedy. After I did hear of it, I got a bottle. When our little eighteen-months-old girl was stricken with croup, I gave her this medicine, and inside of twenty minutes she vomited and was better right away. During the winter she had croup four times, and it brought her through each time all right. I, myself, had bronchitis pretty bad, and Acker's English Remedy cured me completely. Before I close, I want to tell you of my neighbor's boy, named Jobe Nana. He had bronchitis, too. He got worse all the time. My husband went over to his house and told him about my case. Then his mother went to town, got a 50-cent bottle of Acker's English Remedy, and he took it. He came over to our house a few days later and said he was all right, and also said two doses relieved him from the start. You can understand by my letter why I think so much of Acker's English Remedy. I repeat that God's blessing must surely have been bestowed upon Dr. Acker."

Sold at 25c., 50c. and $1 a bottle, throughout the United States and Canada; and in England, at 1s., 2s., 3s., 4s., 6d. If you are not satisfied after buying, return the bottle to your druggist, and get your money back. We authorize the above guarantee. W. H. HOOKER & CO., Proprietors, New York.

STORM AROUND ENDERSBY.

While It Did Much Harm to Some, It Was a Blessing to Others.

ENDERSBY, June 25, 1900.

EDITOR CHRONICLE:

Eight Mile was visited on Saturday afternoon by one of the greatest wind and rain storms known to this vicinity. It was rather a cloud-burst, accompanied by a terrific wind that uprooted trees and overturned buildings in a manner never before witnessed by even the oldest inhabitants. The storm began about 3 p. m. and lasted about an hour. Fifteen minutes after it began raining the ground was covered with water and it commenced running everywhere. Before it stopped all the gulches leading to Eight Mile were roaring torrents, carrying down rocks of all kinds, trees and parts of fences. The water rolled ten feet high in the gulch in front of Endersby school house and had a frightful appearance. Eight mile could not hold all the water, so it ran everywhere, destroying hay and gardens and uprooting trees of all kinds. In some places boulders weighing many tons were carried down the gulches, and now all are to be seen lying at Eight Mile. It will cost some money and labor to remove them and other debris.

Some families living on the creek were compelled to leave their homes and brave the terrific storm to escape the torrents of water that came roaring down Eight Mile and adjacent gulches. A good deal of damage was done to young poultry of all kinds. They were unable to escape the water as it carried them completely away. The greatest damage was to those who had mature wheat and barley. Hail stones measuring half an inch in diameter were found on the Fligg ranch, and it is said that the ground on the hill above Endersby was white with them. The hail stones completely destroyed whole fields in this locality. A part of the grain was threshed while standing; some was beheaded, while a great deal lay flat on the ground. It is a heavy blow to those in that region, as they were counting on a large crop.

The storm, while doing much damage to some, as above stated, was a benefit to others. Those having late spring sown greatly benefited by it. No one can now complain of a lack of moisture. The writer is reminded of one neighbor who has been complaining of the small showers of the past, and said he was like the preacher when he prayed; that he did not pray for mists and showers, but for "gully washers." Probably he won't want any more gully washers after his present excitement subsides. The Eight Mile people being somewhat practical in their way, look upon the matter as one being a blessing in disguise, and leave the matter to him who doeth all things well.

Yours Respectfully,

O. H. KERNS.
