Pease & Mays.

All goods marked in plain figures.

secure space till all was gone, the committee has felt obliged to encroach a little on the space devoted to the horticultural exhibit. The way the people are now taking hold and working with one heart for the success of the carnival is exceedingly gratifying to the carnival committee.

Water was again struck today in the artesian well that is being bored a few hundred yards south of the reservoir. This is the fourth time that water has been struck in this well which has now reached a depth of 445 feet. The first water was struck at a depth of 105 feet. The second and larger stream was struck at a depth of 200 feet. The third stream was struck at a depth of 390. None of these streams rose to the surface, and the last one lacks 315 feet of reaching that point. Boring will be continued until a depth of 550 feet is reached, unless artesian water is found sooner. At this depth the well should reach an equal depth with the Seufert well on the edge of the Columbia that has been pouring out a big stream of deliciously cool, pure water all summer.

Chas. E. Blaney's elaborate scenic production, "The King of the Opium Ring," has caught on with theater-goers in a decided manner wherever presented. It will be seen here at the Vogt opera house on Wednesday, Oct. 10th. The author claims that the play was written from facts, suggested by an incident of real life. Upon this idea the author has created a play of a thoroughly human character, dealing with the lives of the lowly and picturing in a most graphic style scenes from real life that are daily enacted in that great cosmopolitan colony of Frisco. Four acts are employed for the dozing out of the plot, and, as in all good melodramas, the story ends with the triumph of virtue and the downfall of degradation and vice.

A. W. Bullock and J. L. Gilmore, of the Blockhouse neighborhood, Klickitat county, desire to register a kick against the Rockland ferry because, as they claim, after arriving at the other side of the river last evening at not later than ten minutes past six o'clock, and while it was yet light enough for them to be distinctly seen, they were compelled to camp all night on the other side, sleep in wet blankets and pay the exorbitant rates for feed that is charged over there to any one unfortunate enough to be compelled to stay there over night. The CHRONICLE thinks these men have a right to be heard, just as the ferry men have a right to answer them if they see fit. But one thing is certain; it would be big money in the pockets of The Dalles business men and others if this city should purchase that ferry and run it, at least part of the year, free. Messrs. Bullock and Gilmore are convinced that a large number of Klickitat farmers would be glad to contribute to a fund for this purpose.

HUMBERT'S PECULIARITIES.

Didn't Care for His Army and Disliked Conventionalities—What He Enjoyed.

"Did the Italians like Humbert pretty well?" was asked of a well-known Americanized Italian the other day after the receipt of the news of the assassination of the king of Italy.

"I see by the newspaper dispatches that he was extremely beloved," responded the Italian.

"Well, what are the facts in the case? was he really popular?"

"Not at all. He took little interest in anything or anybody. He cared so little for his big army that to my personal knowledge he was never inside the barracks of his own King's guards."

"What did he care for? He must have been interested in something."

"All he cared for was to go shooting or get out to some country-house, where he could yawn without covering his mouth with his hand."

The Shah and Cheese.

In his slow and costly journey across Europe, on his way to Paris, the shah of Persia tasted Gruyere cheese. He nibbled it at first, doubtful. Then he took to eating it largely, and found gherkins went excellently with it. Finally he substituted it for bread, and, at a princely salary, he has engaged one of the most expert makers to accompany him back to Persia.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Wednesday's Daily.

Dr. Sanders, rooms 1 and 2, Chapman block.

Bishop Wistar Morris will preach at St. Paul's Episcopal church next Sunday, Oct. 7th, at 10:30 a. m.

A marriage license was issued this morning by the county clerk to J. W. McCormick and Miss M. L. Grant, both of Wanic.

Miss Cora Joles was elected queen of the carnival last night by a vote of 2991, to 2515 for Miss Lizzie Bonn and 1114 for Miss Annie Haslam.

Parties desiring space in the carnival grounds should apply immediately to C. L. Phillips at the carnival committee's headquarters. The rule is, first come first served.

At 3:30 this afternoon a telephone message from Kingsley announced that the heaviest rain shower seen for a long time was then falling on the Tygn Ridge, and that the water was rushing through the streets of Kingsley like a small river.

John McCracken, a well-known merchant and resident of Portland for many years, has been placed in nomination as the regular republican candidate for the legislature, to fill the vacancy in the house of representatives caused by the death of Andrew J. Knott.

We have a fine bargain in city property near The Dalles high school. Fine cottage of four rooms, pantry, closets, basement, chicken yards, beautiful lawn, young and bearing orchard; two lots 50x100. If you want a property of this kind at your own price, call and see Hudson & Brownhill.

A. E. Lake and Simeon Bolton, to whom the carnival committee delegated the duty of finding a couple willing to offer themselves on the altar of matrimony and submit to the ordeal of a public wedding at the coming fair, now claim they have made the rifle, and that after some little preliminary matters have been adjusted the names of the victims will be announced.

A street fair and carnival without a baby show would be the play of Hamlet over again with Hamlet left out. The Dalles has as handsome a lot of babies as are to be found on the American football. The carnival executive committee will see the point of this paragraph, and they are duller than we take them to be. Who will offer prizes for the handsomest babies? Don't all speak at once.

The losses at the Shaniko fire of yesterday, so far as can be estimated at this writing, are as follows: Fred Hough- ton, stock and fixtures, between $5000 and $6000; insurance, 4,500. Store building, cost $4000; insured for $2,500. Stock, fixtures and building totally destroyed. Net loss between $2000 and $3000. The Pease & Mays building cost in the neighborhood of $5000 and was insured for $3000. A large portion of the stock was saved, and the insurance will cover the loss on the balance.

The whale that recently washed ashore on the Oregon beach, about midway between the Seaside and Grimes hotels, though still on exhibition, is no longer the attraction that it was several days ago, says the Telegram. It is now beginning to make its presence felt, and beach residents and visitors find it more pleasant to view the remains of the monster at long distance than at close range. The whale is beginning to resent familiarity. The animal is about 25 feet in length and from 4 to 4½ feet thick. It is what is known as the black whale, and seldom attains much greater size than the one washed ashore.

Some time ago Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, famous the world over as the author of "In His Steps," published a Topeka paper for one week by special arrangement with its owners, on a plan entirely his own. The policy was defined as orthodox Christianity liberally applied. Now comes a new man, said to be backed by a large Portland concern, and he has announced the paper for tomorrow. The new publication is to be devoted to the best interests of the people of Wasco county, treating its subjects in a purely social and esthetic sense. "The Wool City Special," as he has christened it, is advertised for tomorrow and, as the editor states, he will rely entirely on the voluntary support of the people, believing a sufficient percentage of the population here are not only ready to receive such an enterprise but that they will be quick to perceive the benefits of its suggestions.

J. V. Moesman, an Oregon pioneer of the early fifties, was in town yesterday in the interest of the "Native Son" monthly and left for his home at Portland on this morning's boat. Mr. Moesman was a resident of The Dalles in 1853. He was a volunteer in the Indian wars of 1855-56. He carried the mails on horseback between The Dalles and Walla Walla during the winter of 1859 and '60. He was deputy sheriff of Wasco county in 1859, under Sheriff Charles White, when Wasco county included all of Eastern Oregon, nearly all of Idaho and part of Montana. He was here in '58 when Jerry Dennis killed Duff Neil over a game of cards and was afterwards acquitted. He was here in '59, when one James killed a man named Burns with a dry stick and afterwards served two or three years in the penitentiary for the crime. He was still here in the early sixties when Deadman killed Meeks out on Willow Creek, Crook county, about three miles above the Henry Creek place, after having robbed his victim, and was present when Deadman was hanged in this city. Mr. Moesman is a native of the Hoosier state, where he was born 70 years ago.

Thursday's Daily.

A marriage license was issued this morning, by County Clerk A. E. Lake, to Guy T. Browman and Gertrude Fuller, of Antelope.

Congressman W. L. Jones will address the citizens of Klickitat county at armory hall, Goldendale, Saturday evening, Oct. 6th.

The drowsy autumn weather again affected Saint Peter, and, as he nodded last evening, a little angel of the female persuasion crept through the celestial gate and slid down on a sunbeam to the house of John Pashek, the Dalles merchant tailor and president of the Bohemian club, where it is going to stay for all time. When John was asked how many accidents of this kind had happened him he scratched his head and said: "I guess about six."

The members of Columbia Lodge I. O. O. F., of this city, will visit their brethren at Moro, Sherman county, next Saturday night when special work in all the degrees will take place. A special train will leave The Dalles for Moro at 5 o'clock p. m. Saturday.

Do you want to buy an elegant little home at your own figure? We have a modern cottage and two lots, convenient to Dalles High school, that must be sold at some price. We also have two nice residence properties for rent at reasonable rates. Call on or address Hudson & Brownhill.

The school superintendent of Klickitat county says he has been unable to obtain a sufficient number of teachers for his county and is about half a dozen short. Unemployed teachers will take notice and govern themselves accordingly. They should address Professor Colburn, Goldendale.

The Pendleton East Oregonian says quite a number of young men from Pendleton have gone to The Dalles during the past few months, including Frank Murphy, Elmer Turner, Herman Peters, Jake Welch, Will Dupuis and Jake Marin. The Dalles fair will attract a good attendance from Pendleton.

The annual meeting of the National Woolgrowers' Association is announced for January 19th. It will be held at Salt Lake City. Pendleton will get the annual meeting of the Pacific Northwest Association, which will be held the first Tuesday in March. As matters of importance to the sheep industry are to come up at both of these meetings, they will no doubt be well attended by Oregon sheepmen.

The Antelope Republican says, Chas. Butler, the stock buyer, was in that town Friday and Saturday. He bought 140 head of beef cattle from Bolter, B. Cram, A. J. Friday and Sam Douthitt. He paid $3.10 for cows and $3.65 for steers. The cattle averaged over $42 per head delivered in Shaniko. Mr. Butler, not being able to make rates to suit him with the S. P., drove them overland to The Dalles.

The members of the committee on amateur photography for The Dalles street fair and carnival are very anxious that every person interested in this fascinating work should bring forward specimens of their pictures, be they many or few, but the more the better. Owing to unforeseen obstacles the committee have been unable to canvass the town and country as they would have wished, but still they hope to have much help from friends who, like themselves, desire to make a good showing.

With its distinct air of originality, magnificent scenic environments and presented by a good company, the "King of the Opium Ring" will undoubtedly meet with the same phenomenal success at the Vogt opera house on Wednesday night next that attends its presentation in other cities. The play, based as it is on the real Chinatown of the country, and the way one thrill follows another, is enough to satisfy all who crave for sensations. There are so many thrills that it necessitates the work of no less than four heroes to meet the emergencies and foil the machinations of the villains who attempt to make away with an American girl through the medium of opium. There is so much in the play that is slightly and picturesque, so much that is novel, amusing and instructive, such rapid movement, so generous a provision of unquestionable strong acting, that one may venture upon emphasis in proclaiming its merits. The "King of the Opium Ring" is a welcome relief from the marring monotony of the brand of "London thriller," with which the popular priced American theaters have long been overladen.

If you are thinking of buying an umbrella, you should drop in at A. M. Williams & Co.'s and look over their new line. All the newest styles of handles, including some very odd designs finished in pearl, silver and gold, are shown in choice varieties. In addition to the finest qualities they are showing a well assorted line of cheaper umbrellas as well, ranging in price from 50 cents up. Those who have a good umbrella which only needs re-covering to make it as good as new, will be glad to learn that A. M. Williams & Co. have in stock a full line of covers, which they adjust without extra charge.

J. Leland Henderson, the Hood River attorney, yesterday mailed to the county clerk a plat of Wacoma and a re-plat of South Wacoma that measures about four feet square, with the request that it be placed on record. As the record books measure about 14x24 inches to the page the county clerk very naturally informed Mr. Henderson that the only way a facsimile record of Wacoma could be made was by nailing the original plat on the side wall of the court house; but as "the man who owns the court house" would probably object it was suggested that it was probably best to reduce the plat to the limits of the record books. And it was so ordered.

An item in a recent issue of the Minneapolis, Minn., Journal states that in two weeks of September 100 carloads of fruit has been received in that city. Of this amount sixty carloads had come from Oregon and Washington and forty from Michigan, Indiana and Illinois. It is such facts as these that indicate in a practical way the wonderful natural resources of Oregon. A gentleman, who had recently come to Portland from Minneapolis, informs the Telegram that Oregon apples sell readily in the latter city at $2 and $2.50 per box, and that no better fruit is seen there than that which comes from this state.

Friday's Daily.

The Shaniko Leader says Shaniko and vicinity will be well represented at The Dalles carnival.

Charles Stewart and Grace Henderson were united in marriage last night, Oct. 4th, at the Obarr hotel in this city, by Justice Timothy Brownhill.

The ground was broken this morning for the new water main to cross Mill creek at the Fourth street bridge and furnish Dog River fluid to the residents of McGinty avenue.

H. W. Weber, who has been traveling through Wheeler and Gilliam counties in the interest of his brother's nursery, says the farmers over that way all talk of attending The Dalles carnival and unless the weather should prevent their coming he is assured they will be here in large numbers.

We are informed that C. L. Phillips will put on exhibition at the coming fair a pen or two of his Buff Leghorn chickens, lately imported from the East. Mrs. T. Brownhill is the owner of a fine lot of imported white Wyandottes, White and Barred Rocks and light Brahmans, which she will place on exhibition during the fair.

A football contest between Heppner and The Dalles is an assured fact as one of the features of the coming carnival. The time fixed for the game is the afternoon of Saturday, the 13th, the last day of the fair. A special train will bring the Heppner players here. They will be accompanied by at least 150 citizens and probably twice that number. The special will leave Heppner Friday morning and arrive here on the 1:15 p. m. train and will return on the midnight train Saturday night.

Mount Hood Camp No. 59, W. O. W. of this city, have decided to take a part in the biggest of big parades. We are told they will have something handsome, and you bet they will, for they are noted for tricks of that kind. A committee of workers are already spending time and money very freely with that end in view.

The Columbia Packing House received today, in a small bunch of beef cattle bought of John Keidro of Klickitat county, four cows of the Polled Angus breed that weighed 5250 pounds, two of them weighing over 1300 pounds a piece. This is no unusual weight for steers but for cows of any breed it is a record not often equaled.

The ladies of the Congregational church have secured the library room, next door to Miss Haven's millinery parlors, where, during the carnival, they will have on sale home cookery, home-made candies of all kinds and fancy articles. Any one having donations in these articles will please bring them to the room on the morning of the 9th.

While you are in the city attending the carnival don't forget to call on Hudson & Brownhill, the leading up-to-date real estate men. If you have anything in their line to sell list it with them, as they are great advertisers. If you want to buy or rent a farm, or a home in the city, they can accommodate you. If you want to make a loan they are the people to see. Remember they have two teams and are ready at all times to show you property for sale or rent.

The old soldiers of this neighborhood, Mexican veterans, veterans of the civil war and of the Spanish war are requested to meet in Fraternity hall Monday night, to give expression to what opinions they may hold on the questions of expansion, imperialism and the policy of the present administration in relation to the Philippine islands. The general public will be cordially welcomed.

Messrs Hudson and Brownhill, the wide awake real estate dealers of this city, will have on exhibition during carnival week with the mineral exhibit the finest collection of rocks and fossils in Eastern Oregon. This collection has been secured by them from Mr. E. T. Gilson, of Antelope, who spent many years in getting it together, and these gentlemen are to be congratulated for their enterprise in securing so valuable an addition to the many attractions that will be on exhibition.

Twenty-five capenters, painters and decorators were at work today on the carnival buildings and booths and their work is rapidly assuming shape as well as beauty. Every inch of space within the big inclosure has been taken and space is now at a premium. At the urgent request of exhibitors who failed to
