SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

France makes nearly 26,000,000 pairs of gloves yearly, and of these 18,000,000 pairs are exported.

An ingenious mechanical device prints paper labels on 100,000 cans in ten hours. Down a shoot rolls a ceaseless procession of cans, and each can picks up a label as it passes.

Water, if subjected to great compression and then decomposed by means of an electric current into its elements, oxygen and hydrogen, explodes with tremendous force in the process.

An example of patient industry is the sorting of hogs' bristles as it is carried on at Tientsin, China. Each one of the bristles has to be picked out, measured and placed in the bundle of hairs of corresponding length.

The Council of the American Chemical Society has passed resolutions favoring the creation of a bureau of chemistry. The laws of the various states controlling food adulteration are largely ineffective, because of the interference of interstate commerce laws, and can be made effective only through national legislation.

More perfect combustion in furnaces is secured by Mr. Paul Schlicht by novel means. He has discovered that on properly introducing an air current into a chimney, it takes a course opposite to that of the hot gases, and its oxygen reaches the center of the fire in a heated condition favorable for completely uniting with the fuel.

Advantage is taken of different bands of porosity in agates to effect the coloring, which is done in the case of black onyx by immersing the stone in a mixture of honey and water where it remains several weeks at a high temperature. It is then boiled in sulphuric acid, which carbonates the saccharinous matter that has penetrated the stone, thus rendering certain bands an intense black. Various colorations may be produced by different chemical reactions.

The printing of books with Braille type for the benefit of the blind has made immense progress in England within the last few years. The Central Lending Library, of Birmingham, has no less than 500 books printed with Braille type. This extensive library comprises the works of such favorite authors as Shakespeare, Browning, Sir Walter Scott, Tennyson and Ruskin. The Plymouth public library has also a similar collection of about 250 volumes, and numerous other libraries throughout the country possess similar collections for the entertainment of those deprived of their sight.

BUILT HIS OWN SEPULCHER.

An Eccentric Austrian in California Makes Preparations for His Internment.

In a grave built under his own directions the body of John Stivitch, an eccentric Austrian, was laid to rest at Jackson, Cal. Long before death summoned Stivitch the latter designed his own grave, or, more properly speaking, tomb. He spent many days cheerfully drawing up the plans, and with childish delight superintended the construction of the narrow mausoleum. When it was completed he laid himself down to die with a sigh of content, says a San Francisco exchange.

The grave is of ordinary length and width and seven feet deep. Its walls are of concrete and concrete a foot thick, lines the bottom. Twelve inches from the bottom were placed four iron bars, upon which rested the coffin. After the coffin had been lowered iron bars were placed in like manner and the same distance from the top, and over them was placed a heavy zinc cover, fitting perfectly tight. Over this will now be placed a layer of concrete of the same thickness as on the walls, and on top will be the marble bearing the name, place of birth, age and date of death.

This manner of burial had been a hobby with Stivitch for a long time, and when he made his will he set aside $800 to cover the expense, the same being on deposit in a bank of Amador county, to be turned over to the contractor on completion of the work and its approval by a nephew, Andrew Perovich, who is named as executor in the will. Stivitch was 73 years old, a miner; had lived here many years and had many friends. He leaves an estate of several thousand dollars, but no nearer relatives than the nephew named.

The old man had no special disease, but had been failing for months. When told that the work on his peculiar grave had progressed as far as possible he remarked to Dr. Gall, his physician:

"Doctor, if you let me die to-night I will give you $100." But it was not to be. He lived eight days longer, during which time many citizens visited the cemetery to inspect the resting place for all that was mortal of the odd old Austrian.

Richest Army Officer.
The Ninth regiment, which is fighting in China, has on its roster one who is probably the richest officer in the army—Second Lieut. Robert S. Clarke, formerly of New York. Mr. Clarke is a grandson and one of the principal heirs of the late Alfred Corning Clarke, and his wealth is estimated at several millions. He is still in his early twenties, and is a graduate of Yale university. He received his commission in the army about a year ago.—Chicago Chronicle.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

The island of Guam is 3,500 miles from Honolulu and 1,600 miles from Manila.

The postal service establishment of the United States is the greatest business concern in the world. The revenue of the post office of New York is more than $5,000,000 yearly, with a net profit of $3,500,000.

The English language heads the list, with the enormous vocabulary of 260,000 words, while the Spanish has only 20,000, the German 80,000, Italian 75,000, French 30,000, Turkish 25,500. Shakespeare's vocabulary is put at 13,000, Milton's at 8,000 and the Bible at rather less.

Japan is the largest consumer of rice in the world, the average being 250 pounds per person a year. The Americans use but four pounds per capita. Belgium uses more tobacco, in proportion, than any other country, about 110 ounces per capita yearly, while Italy uses only 22 ounces.

There is an easy, simple way to tell if a diamond is genuine. Make a small dot on a piece of paper with a lead pencil, and look at it through a diamond. If it shows but a single dot the diamond is genuine. If it shows more than one, or the mark appears scattered, it is false, no matter what it cost.

One aspect of the food problem has assuredly been solved by a company in New Haven, Conn., which undertakes to serve hot meals to all and sundry within a radius of 70 miles from its headquarters, and that from 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. cheaper than they can be obtained elsewhere. These meals are sent out in wagons with compartments for each article; the meals are placed in the different compartments smoking hot, and are kept at a high temperature until placed on the purchaser's table.

William W. Evans, of Deal's Island, Del., has a horse which has proved a remarkable investment and has overriden the ideas and records of the average useful life of horses. Twenty-seven years ago Mr. Evans purchased the horse from Scott Covington, who guaranteed at that time that the animal was six years old. Mr. Evans proved to be a good master, and the horse returned the kind treatment by retaining its full activity and energy, and now, at 33 years, the horse works nearly every day, see and hears well, and has an excellent appetite.

Disadvantage.

"A pretty girl," observed the Plain Girl, bitterly, "has a great advantage in this business of making a name for herself!"

"I don't know!" sighed the Pretty Girl.

"She finds so many lovely ready-to-wear names at hand!"—Puck.

Hopes.

"I want to get my picture taken," said the populist statesman.

"Cabinet?" inquired the photographer.

"Wouldn't be surprised, if Bryan's elected. I've been promised a tiptop office."—Philadelphia Press.

Oysters and Macaroni.

Cook macaroni in salted water until tender. Grease a pudding dish and fill with alternate layers of macaroni and oysters, with bits of butter, salt and a little cream between each layer. Cover with crumbs and bake about three-quarters of an hour. A cream dressing made of milk, flour and butter is sometimes used between each layer.—Good Housekeeping.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size, Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised 'Electric Bitters'; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c, guaranteed, at Blakeley's drug store.

News from School.

One half of this school term has passed, and the studies are still being pursued with about the same energy and interest as at the beginning of the term.

In the high school the classes in History, Literature, Rhetoric, Civil Government, Science and Mathematics are well up with their grade work and never made more satisfactory progress. The first year class in Classics is studying the "Essay on Lincoln" by Lowell, and Lincoln's "Gettysburg Speech." The second year class has just finished Goldsmith's "Deserted Village" and are taking up Scott's "Ivanhoe." The third year class is manifesting an extraordinary enthusiasm in "Ramola." They even meet evenings to discuss points in the plot and phases of the different characters. This is the first year the historical romance has been taken up as a regular study. The class in Geology has never had access to as many good specimens as this year, and the result is shown by their rapid progress and high interest.

While we realize that our supreme occupation in school is seeking intellectual development and earnest application in the pursuits in which we are now, generally, so actively engaged, we do not hesitate to turn aside occasionally from our studies to some useful and needed recreation. We realize that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." The girls, or rather those who desire it, have their physical exercise and dumb bell drill and the boys the foot ball game. The high school now has a fine team. Nearly every afternoon at close of school they may be seen practicing. The team has a match game with the academy at Goldendale on Thanksgiving day. Foot ball is one of the great games of America, and does much to develop courage and manliness in its participants, though it does sometimes result in a few bruised shins and bumped noses. Moreover, a good team organization creates a feeling of sympathy and engenders a good school spirit.

The high school debating club will debate the question "Resolved, That the Use of Machinery is Injurious to the Laboring Class," this evening in connection with the program of the literary society.

DEATH OF MRS. MARY JOSLYN

Wife of a Pioneer Settler of White Salmon Formerly Well Known in The Dalles.

From the Colorado Springs Telegraph of November 8th we learn of the death at that place on the 7th instant of Mrs. Mary L. Joslyn, wife of E. S. Joslyn, who will be remembered by the older generation of Dalles people as pioneer settlers of the White Salmon country, they having located on what used to be known as the old White Salmon farm in 1852. They were living there during the Indian troubles of 1855-6, when their dwelling and contents were burned by the Indians. They sold out and moved to Denver, Colorado, about 1875 and from thence moved to Colorado Springs, where they have since resided. Mr. and Mrs. Joslyn were charter members of the Congregational church of this city, and Mr. Joslyn was at one time a member of the territorial legislature of Washington. They were particular friends of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Brooks, to whom they often expressed the desire of returning to The Dalles and spending the remainder of their days here.

The following is the obituary notice of the Telegraph:

Mrs. Mary L. Joslyn, wife of E. S. Joslyn, died suddenly last evening at her home, 127 East Bijou street. She was not ill, and her sudden death shocked her husband and friends. In fact, Mr. Joslyn was at prayer meeting and Mrs. Joslyn was in the company of her niece, Miss Tuck. Mrs. Joslyn started for her bedroom about 8:30, but fell after taking a few steps and died quickly. The deceased was the wife of E. S. Joslyn, and came here with her husband years ago, both being pioneer residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Joslyn came to this city in 1876 from the state of Washington, although Mrs. Joslyn was born in Massachusetts. About two years ago the couple celebrated their golden wedding. They were widely known, and the celebration attracted much attention. The bereaved husband has the sympathy of the entire community in his great loss. Mrs. Joslyn was a member of the First Congregational church during the twenty-four years of her residence here.

Oregon Not Affected.

SALEM, Nov. 15.—While the announcement that the California Prunegrowers' Association has cornered the prune product of California is interesting to Oregon growers, it has no financial significance here, as practically all the Oregon crop has passed out of the hands of the producers. There are still a few small holdings, but the bulk of the crop has been sold. Growers who still have prunes to sell say they are unable to get offers of more than 5 to 5 1/4 cents for Fellenbergs of the 30-to-40 to the pound size, say they have refused prunes of that kind at 5 1/4 cents. The results of the organization in California are being closely watched by those who are interested in the industry in Oregon, for the success or the failure of a prune combine in California will have an important effect upon the organization movement in this state.
