

An Aesthetic Drunk.

The whole town is laughing over an accident that occurred Wednesday at the residence of T. A. Hudson. About 7 o'clock as Tom was quietly seated in the parlor reading THE CHRONICLE, he heard a strange noise overhead, and wondering if it could have been made by Henry Smith, who rooms there, whom he took to be at the club room, he called out once or twice: "Is that you, Henry?"

Hearing no response, Mr. Hudson thought he would investigate, and seizing a light, made for the stairway, where he was confronted with a stranger in a half-drunken condition, whose tout ensemble was the oddest Mr. Hudson had ever gazed on. A few pointed, emphatic questions brought out the situation.

The stranger, who gave his name as Welch, said he had been working on the race track below town, had got full during the afternoon and, staggering west on Second street, came to the jump-off place at the Hudson residence, and being unable to go further in that direction entered the building, and climbing up stairs went into the bedroom of Miss Hudson, undressed and went to sleep.

Waking up in the darkness and wanting a drink badly, he groped around for something to cover his nakedness, and finding two pair of lady's underdrawers on the bureau, he drew both of them on and started to hunt water. In this condition Mr. Hudson met him. Welch was ordered back to the bedroom, where he disrobed, and putting on his own togery was marched down stairs to the hall door, where he received a healthy kick in the back part of his anatomy and was warned that if he ever came back he would fare worse.

Meanwhile Mrs. Hudson had telephoned for the night watchmen, and both officers meeting Welch a short distance from the Hudson residence, took him back for identification and subsequently lodged him in the county jail, where he was still a prisoner at 3 this afternoon.

He will, however, probably be turned loose, as there is no evidence that he intended to commit a crime.

The Lost Has Been Found. OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 20.—The police have been notified by the Cudahy family to drop the investigation of the disappearance of the Cudahy boy, who was returned to his home early this morning as mysteriously as he disappeared.

The family refuse to make any statements concerning his return. It was later developed that $25,000 in gold was paid by Millionaire Cudahy for the return of his son, who was kidnapped Tuesday night. A letter came through the mails offering to return the boy for that sum, if paid last night. Full directions where the money was to be left were given. Plans were discussed to capture the kidnapers, but abandoned, and Cudahy decided to comply with the demand. Taking a bag of money, the millionaire drove five miles north of the city, until he came to a white lantern hanging on a short stick in the road.

There he deposited the sack close to the light, and, without seeing anyone, he returned home. A few hours later the boy was sent down in a sack to the house. There is absolutely no clew by which the kidnapers could be identified. By this action Cudahy has recovered his son, but put a premium on kidnapping, which will greatly encourage desperate men.

STICKEL WILL BE HANGED

Fate of Self-Confessed Castle Rock Assassin—Tried For But One of His Two Fiendish Crimes.

KALAMA, Wash., Dec. 17.—"Guilty as charged" was the verdict of the jury at 9:30 o'clock tonight in the case of the state of Washington against Martin Stickel for the murder of William B. Shanklin.

Stickel is the most notorious and cold-blooded criminal ever tried in the courts of Cowlitz county. A year ago last November, William B. Shanklin was killed at his home near Kelso, and his house was burned over his dead body. He was shot at night while eating supper. The case was shrouded in mystery, and no clew to the murderer could be obtained. On the evening of November 28, 1900, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Knapp, an aged couple, living near Castle Rock, were killed while at the supper table in the same manner as Shanklin was one year before. It was evident that the same man committed both crimes. Sheriff Kirby and Detective Sam Simmons traced the crime to Martin Stickel, who lived on a scow near the mouth of the Cowlitz river. Stickel was arrested. He maintained his innocence until confronted with the fact that his watch and keys had been identified as having belonged to Shanklin, the murdered man. Then he made a partial confession, and implicated his neighbor, Ed Pierce.

After his preliminary trial, he was taken to the Pierce county jail for safe keeping. There he joined the Salvation Army and made a full confession, admitting that he did the killing in both the Shanklin and Knapp murders, and that he was alone in the matter.

When arraigned in the superior court today, on the advice of his counsel he pleaded not guilty, and his case was tried upon the evidence, which was overwhelmingly against him. The defense made an unsuccessful attempt to prove that the man had inherited a criminal disposition to the extent that he was not accountable for his actions. His mother testified that before his birth and during gestation she was mad at everybody and that the child was born sick and was always an unnatural child. The jury was out but one hour. The prisoner was sentenced by Judge Miller to be hanged on a date to be hereafter fixed, not sooner than 90 days nor later than 90 days from date.

Massacre of Christians in Macedonia. VIENNA, Dec. 20.—Further details of the massacre of Christians in Macedonia by Mussulmans received from Salonica. In the village of Bituek a horde of Mohammedans crucified every male Christian in the place, fixing them to trees with stakes, driven through their hands and feet. Many of the women were outraged and all carried off to the Mohammedans' harems. The children were chopped up before their parents' eyes. At Cruma women were violated before their husbands and fathers. The men were terribly mutilated, having their ears, toes and limbs cut off. Many of the children were drowned at Ribaritz. The entire population was massacred, after the flesh of many of the victims had been sliced off and cooked at a bonfire in which twenty children were roasted. The Servian consul at Miatritz estimates the number of Christians killed was 470 men, 110 women and 430 children. The number of women brutally outraged is placed at 350.
