Salt Has Wonderful Power.

Salt, just plain salt, or sodium chloride, as chemists call it, is about to take a new place in the world, for two university of Chicago professors, working in the quiet of their laboratories, have found that it is the long sought for elixir of life. They have found that sodium chloride, or salt solution, when graduated to the right proportions, will cause a heart which has ceased to beat to take up its rhythmic action and do its work again. In other words, they have discovered that a certain solution will revive life that is extinct. Professor Jacques Loeb and Professor D. J. Lingle are the discoverers. The key word to the whole discovery is what these scientists have termed "ions."

Professors Loeb and Lingle have been experimenting all summer on the auricular and ventricular muscle, and have found that certain "ions," or electric current solutions, furnish life's prolonging principle which works on the heart muscles through the blood. Salt in the blood in certain proportions they have discovered to be the cause of the heart beat. The results of experiments of the Chicago professors have not become generally known yet, as they are preparing a story of their summer's work for publication.

A Village Blacksmith Saved His Little Son's Life. Mr. H. H. Black, the well-known blacksmith at Grahamsville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., says: "Our little son, five years old, has always been subject to croup, and so bad have the attacks been that we have feared many times that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicines, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucus and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symptoms appear we have found that the dreaded croup is cured before it gets settled." There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by Binkeley, the druggist.

GRASS GROWING IN EASTERN OREGON

Dr. James Withycombe, of the State College of Agriculture at Corvallis, Has Been Appointed Special Agent by the Department at Washington, D. C. Dr. James Withycombe, of the State Agricultural College at Corvallis, is registered at the Imperial, on his return to Oregon, after having spent several weeks in visiting the livestock shows which have been held throughout the Eastern cities. He says that after a careful examination, he finds that the only thing Oregon lacks in the way of fine, blooded stock is large numbers of them. At present Dr. Withycombe is undertaking the propagation of certain grasses in Eastern Oregon. He said: "We are about to start a co-operative grass-growing experiment in Eastern Oregon in connection with the department of agriculture at Washington, D. C. I have been appointed special agent to act between the government and the college in this matter. The problem of furnishing grasses to renovate the pastures of Eastern Oregon is one of the greatest importance. We recognize that the conditions in Eastern and Western Oregon are widely different, owing to climatic and other circumstances. The farmers are becoming alert to the importance of animal husbandry, and are doing their best to help the work along. This state is adapted for stockraising, and agriculture must develop along that line. We must be able to grow certain grasses so that the stock will have good feed on the ranges. "The stockmen are doing much to increase the importance of Oregon as a stockraising country, and are bringing in some of the best cattle and sheep to be purchased in the East. At the International Livestock show held at Chicago, all of the best sheep were purchased by Oregon people and will be shipped to this state. I bought an Aberdeen Angus heifer calf for Mac Porter, of Benton county, paying $1000, and Mr. Porter is now in this city, awaiting the arrival of this city, awaiting the arrival of his calf. The breed is of the best, and it is quite an accession to the blooded stock of the Northwest. "Some time ago, two shorthorn calves were purchased by W. O. Miner, at Heppner, for $2500, and they are now installed on his ranch. C. E. Ladd's agent is now in Canada selecting the best shorthorn cattle he can find, and others are doing similar work. "The college at Corvallis is in a most prosperous condition. At present, there is the largest enrollment the college has had since it was organized. Many inquiries are being received from farmers in regard to matters of general interest to them, and the outlook along all lines is most encouraging."

Off to Frisco!

But before we go every article we possess, every Piano and Organ must go. Gilbert & Jones Co., who are to become our successors in Portland, have not bought a single Piano or Organ from us. They have paid us a big sum of money simply to become our successors, for our reputation, for our good will, and for our agencies, so as to control hereafter the sale of the Knabe, Hardman, Steck, Fisher, Ludwig and other Pianos, and under the contract with them we are obliged to get out of Portland in the very near future so as to let them operate in the field which we must relinquish. We have no time to waste, and have therefore instructed our Agent, I. C. NICKELSEN, The Dalles, Oregon, to close out all Pianos and Organs on hand at a great sacrifice. We are now closing up our business preparatory to our removal to San Francisco, where will be our headquarters hereafter. If you ever intend buying a Piano or Organ now is the time. Address, I. C. NICKELSEN, The Dalles, Oregon, Or Wiley B. Allen Co., Portland, Oregon.
