The Evening Telegram of Portland, upon rare occasions has a democratic taint. One is on just now, and it is wonderful things in Glavis' revamped story. Its comments may tickle the vanity of Pinchot's pet, but the Telegram will always remain the same to the old line Democrat.

Ernest Camp, who ran his taxicab into the Chicago river last Sunday night and drowned himself, Max Cohen and Beatrice Shapiro, is said to have been insane, owing to his peculiar actions prior to the accident. In this state it would have been a plain case of "joy-ride" with a drunk-on-chauffeur. They call things different it seems in Chicago, more polite, you know.

It is apparent that among other improvements for 1910 that Lane street will be paved from the bridge east. Property owners along that street are alive to the fact that, if paved, much of the traffic from West Roseburg and down river parts will pass up Lane street to Jackson street, and that such conditions will quadruple present values on property, making it, in fact, a business section.

By Spring there should be considerable railroad activity along the line of the Roseburg Coos Bay project. While our population and business have increased in a most satisfactory manner during the last two years, yet actual work on the line to tide water will start a growth that will be phenomenal. The section to be served by the road has a world of natural resources lying dormant which awaits the railway to make development possible.

The fact that none but Democratic papers published Glavis' rehearsal of his old falsehoods is significant. This leads to the thought Collier's libel suit was not used so much for the abuse there was in it as for the abuse it contained of President Taft's administration over Secretary Ballinger's shoulders. If further evidence of soundness of this thought were needed it is furnished in the letter written to give it additional force by Francis J. Heney, late Democratic candidate for district attorney of San Francisco. Pinchot will be there very soon and what a delectable triumvirate there will be—Heney, Pinchot and Glavis, with Collier's as their organ!

THE HAPPINESS CURE.

The happier you are the less energy you waste, because added happiness means added harmony, and the system wastes no energy while it continues in perfect harmony, says Progress Magazine. The less energy you waste the more vitality you will possess, and the greater your supply of vital energy, and the less liable you are to sickness. When your system is absolutely full of vital energy you will contract no disease whatever, not even diseases that are said to be contagious. Retain all of your energy and you will never be sick; but to this end harmony must be perfect, and perfect harmony is possible only when happiness is continuous.

When the human system is thoroughly harmonious, every particle of food taken into the body will contribute its full nourishing power, and to properly nourish the system is one of the chief secrets of health. In the average system, however, a great deal of the food taken is not digested, there being too much disorder among the digestive forces, and, therefore, actual starvation obtains in the midst of plenty. There are millions of cells in the majority of the human bodies that are daily starved to death, regardless of the fact that three square meals are eaten every day. These starved cells wither

POINTS FOR STOCK OWNERS

The longer you keep sheep the more fine, white clover you will have in your pasture. The best of the spring crop of the lambs could be secured by breeding inferior ewes, wethers, lambs, etc. disposed of. Ewes that have not been profitable should also be turned off.

It doesn't make much difference whether you cook pumpkins for hogs or not. Cornmeal and bran are both good to feed with them.

The fall pigs should be kept growing but not too fat. They will pay to winter for feeding next spring. The early one will go to market in January or February, if well fed.

It is not possible by any known method to make dirty milk into clean butter.

It will cost no more per pound to grow a colt than calf.

Put a blanket on the driving horse now to keep his coat short and glossy.

Of all things, a horse hates to lie down in a filthy bed. By nature he is a cleanly animal. He is worthy of a good, clean bed every day that he lives.

MEN VIEWS OF MODEL WIFE

Some interesting masculine views as to what constitutes an ideal helpmate were stated last evening by Rev. Dr. Forrest E. Dager of St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church, Broad and Venango streets, who preached on "A Model Wife." At his request various male members of the congregation sent him letters expressing their opinions on this interesting subject, and these he read, to the great wonder and edification of the large number of women present. Some of the views expressed follow:

"An ideal wife would not spend $25 a week on a $20 salary."

"One that does not spend three parts of her time gadding with the neighbors."

"One that has the breakfast dishes washed when her husband comes home for supper."

"One who keeps her home neat and tidy."

"One that does not harass the life and soul out of a man."

"One who enjoys his prosperity and is ready to sympathize with him in adversity and helps to make the home happy."

"One who thinks more of her children than a bull pup."

"A woman with more gray matter in her upper story than red paint on her busybody face."

"A woman who dresses well is remembered more for herself than for her clothes."

"A woman who cares more for her home and children than for afternoon bridges and parties."

"A woman who realizes the value of poroxides as a disinfectant, not as a hair dye."

"A woman who does not consider her home complete when it consists of herself, her husband and a dog."

"A woman who reads, understands and obeys her Bible."

Dr. Dager in his sermon advocated a combination of the ideas presented. Especially should a woman be neat and tidy, keep herself nicely dressed, always have the meals ready when the husband arrives home, love her children and home, read the Bible faithfully and go to church regularly. —Philadelphia Record.

Mothers Part in Child's Education.

His mother, who from the first cooperated loyally with her husband in this unique educational experiment, sought successfully to cultivate the boy's imaginative side. While his father was infusing into him the scientific spirit, she was making him acquainted with the delights of "Alice in Wonderland," "Mother Goose" and other tales and rhymes of childhood. He listened to them and he read them with all the intense eagerness of a child, and he remembered and interpreted them with rare facility and with a wealth of original detail. Before he was three he had memorized many of the simpler verses, and as he grew older he developed a pronounced talent for elocution.

Thus, by the time he had reached the age of six, when it was decided to send him to school, William James Sidis was mentally far in advance of other children of his years. Nor did his health appear to have been impaired in the slightest by the process of intellectual discipline to which he had been subjected. Physically he was as he is today—a robust, sturdy lad, abounding in energy, fond of games, ever ready for play. There was absolutely nothing in his appearance to indicate that he differed in any way from the average boy of six. Appreciating this, Mrs. Sidis, when she entered him at the nearest grammar school, thought she would say nothing about the preliminary home education the boy had received. She merely answered the usual questions about his age, place of residence, etc., and then left him at the disposal of the school authorities, who informed her that he would be placed in the first grade. —From Success.

up and become waste matter, clogging the system, thus giving extra work to the forces of elimination and reconstruction. And the more energy you use in getting rid of useless matter, the less energy you will have for your work, your life and your thought.

A fit of anger, or a prolonged excitement is usually followed by a cold; and the reason in that agitation tends to prevent proper digestion and assimilation. Most of the food that is taken at the time, or that has been taken within the last forty eight hours, will simply become waste matter; and all the starved cells will, in like manner, become waste matter; the system is thus clogged from two sources, and what we call a cold must naturally follow.

There would be but few cases of indigestion if happiness and harmony were continuous in every mind; and when you prevent all the ills that come directly or indirectly from improper digestion, you will prevent fully three fourths of all the ills known to human life. But the powers of happiness and harmony do not end with the digestive functions; their effect upon the nervous system is just as far reaching and beneficial. Make continuous happiness a part of your life, and your nerves will be as good as new as long as you live. The same is true concerning the mind.

PROCLAMATION NO. 2

BE IT KNOWN; to all people, especially the ladies, that Thanksgiving Day will soon be here, and that it behooves you to have on hand the proper equipment. Therefore; you are hereby commanded to appear at The Ironmonger and buy; first a good enameled roaster, it is necessary. DON'T use that old iron one longer. By so doing you can get one of the best Reed pattern, a woman's invention, for $1.75 to $2.75 and with each a 6" butcher knife will be given up to Thanksgiving Day.

Furthermore; it is incumbent upon you to provide the proper tools for the carver. The butcher knife given with roaster is good but will not fill the place of a carving set. Good work is done best with good tools.

Also do not forget that a good meat chopper is necessary in preparing that delicious stuffing, mince meat and other delicacies.

Be thankful that the Ironmonger has these articles in stock. Witness my hand and seal.
