The domestic troubles of James Inman and wife reached a sudden conclusion in County Judge Wonnacott's court shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, when the insanity charge preferred by Inman against Charles Howard, a brother of Inman's wife, was dismissed.

Concurrent with the above action Inman and his wife agreed to forget the past and make-up, intimating by their actions that they were reconciled to the future. Accordingly Mr. Inman applied to Attorney Buchanan, instructing the latter to dismiss the divorce suit now pending. The couple left for their home at Looking Glass shortly afternoon today and the authorities anticipate little trouble between them in the future.

The board of fire commissioners held a very important meeting at the office of the chairman last evening. Among other matters estimates were prepared setting forth the items of expenditure which are necessary at this time. The report will be submitted to the consideration of the council at their regular meeting Monday evening. Upon investigation it was found that several hydrants were needed immediately, the same to be installed as a protection to property.

It was also found that three small hose carts were in demand, each to carry about 450 feet of hose. One of these will be stationed in West of Roseburg, another in North Roseburg, and the other near the high school building. The commissioners anticipate little difficulty in realizing their demands inasmuch as the present fire protection is considered inadequate.

Mr. Leavengood reports business good at all places visited, activity in the building line being evident on every hand.

The matter of obtaining a federal building for Roseburg will be one of the chief questions for discussion and Mr. Hawley will be asked to address the citizens in their mission. Several local speakers will deliver brief addresses and those who attend will no doubt be well pleased. Remember the day and date—Monday evening, November 15.

DIPHTHERIA CONQUOR-

ED BY SERUM
Wonderful Achievements of Chemists and Doctors.

The serum is prepared as follows: A horse, the healthiest that can be obtained, is given poisonous doses of diphtheria poison at frequent intervals during several months, until it develops so much resistance to the diphtheria poison that it has no poisonous effect. The element of resistance is developed in the horse's blood. Blood is drawn from the "immunized" horse, the serum is separated, and this "antitoxin" when properly administered to a human being will prevent diphtheria infection, or will destroy diphtheria which may already be established in the system.

The death rate from diphtheria has been reduced over 75 per cent since the serum treatment has been perfected.

It is of vital importance that the serum be used early in the disease for two reasons, i. e.:

1. To cure the diseased person.
2. To "immunize" persons who have been exposed.

No inexperienced or careless person should attempt to give serum.

Fullerton & Richardson, the druggists near the depot, have this to say regarding the serum for the treatment of diphtheria:

"There should never be a 'hopeless' case of diphtheria. No case should be regarded as incurable until the serum treatment has been used by a physician who knows how to do so (and some physicians do not)."

"There should not be more than one member of the family stricken with the disease unless more come down with it at the same time, because an 'immunizing' dose can be given to all exposed persons which will invariably protect them from infection."

"Free serum for the poor will be supplied by Fullerton & Richardson in every case where the persons are unable to pay for it, and we will gladly recommend a doctor who knows how to administer the treatment."

"We would rather give away unlimited quantities of serum, even though the price of it is high, than to have a single case die for the lack of proper treatment."

For further information all persons interested are invited to call at The Drug Store of Quality and Interview Mr. Richardson, who has made a thorough investigation of serum treatment for diphtheria.
