WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1909.

The News acknowledges the receipt of a box of choice bulbs for fall planting from Congressman Hawley. They are from the Plant Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, and are made up of choice varieties.

A full carload of trolley copper wire has arrived at Eugene from the Oregon Electric railroad. This is the line that has decided upon Roseburg as its southern terminus, and from whence it will send many branches in various directions in the adjacent interior.

Nobody's Magazine for November is at hand, and will be the last one for some time, since John M. Hartong, its founder and editor leaves for the East in January. It is full of Eugene and that city's surroundings, written in the editor's usual irrefutable style, and the issue is a good one, of course.

Properly enough an examination of the data furnished by Peary confirms every statement made by Dr. Cook of his trip to the North Pole. Perhaps that is why the former was compelled to shut up in his attacks upon the man, not only a daring explorer, but a gentleman. There is no doubt the latter's story will be confirmed at Copenhagen.

President Taft has decided in favor of Hallinger and against Gifford Pinchot. He has notified Gifford Pinchot that he may remain at the head of the forestry service, but in the future he or no other official or employee must inspire or disseminate any story to the detriment of the Secretary of the Interior. Pinchot is also informed that he "must in all forestry matters proceed hereafter in strict accordance with the law and must doubt in his former practice of legislating by regulations." Now we will have peace and settlers on government lands have justice according to the law. This decision of the President will win for him the friendship of every homesteader in this part of Oregon.

GLENDALE HAPPENINGS

Miss Bowen, of Roseburg, is visiting Miss Lucy Spiker in this city. The Commercial Club of this city is a prominent factor in the development of our city and of Cow Creek Valley. The ladies' auxiliary to the Commercial Club are destined to become an inseparable to the present organization, and the possibilities that await their joint endeavors are beyond calculation. All are interested in advancing the interests of all of our people by bringing out the natural resources of South Douglas. The popular firm of E. C. McGregor & Co., dealers in steel and heavy hardware and building material, have our thanks for a beautiful 1910 calendar.

The dam at Reuben was removed and the fish are coming up the Azulea River by the score.

The Boston Concert Company managed by Madame G. A. H. LaShaw, will give an entertainment at the auditorium tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Chadwick are again residents of our city. They occupy one of the Belcher cottages in Clara addition.

Mrs. Taylor, of Grants Pass, is a guest at the Eberle home this week.

Miss Ruth Dyer is visiting her sisters Mrs. Colvin and Mrs. Anderson, in this city.

Alfred Slocum who went to Portland for medical attendance was operated on by Dr. Rocky on the 21st and at this time he is resting nicely with hope for his recovery.

Born.—On Grove Creek, on the 10th of October to Mr. and Mrs. Leo twins, a son and a daughter.

Born.—on the 27th, in this city, to Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Holtsclaw, a son.

Miss Margaret Shuck, a Gold Hill school teacher, visited her sister, Miss Lorena Shuck, of the Glendale school, at the Daryl home in this city, over Thanksgiving.

The "Bal Masque" given by the Commercial Club, as a beginning for the S. P. park fund, was a success both socially and financially, and the Club are to be congratulated over the splendid results of their generous efforts in behalf of our city, and to beautify and improve it in every way.

Mr. and Mrs. David Ross are occupying the Wall residence on the corner of 2nd street and Willis avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, of the Golden Rule Hotel, are doing an excellent business at this popular livery on Gubberson avenue.

After a long and stormy rain, today the sun shines from clear skies, and the air is balmy and springlike with plenty of flowers blooming in the open air.

Sheriff Mortenson and Marshal Atchinson are looking after some suspicious characters today.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. McNicholas entertained Mr. and Mrs. Dick Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Clemens, Eugene Baker and J. W. Baker, at a family Thanksgiving dinner, at Oakley farm.

Halfour Spiker, of Oakland, spent Thanksgiving at the home of his parents in this city.

It is rumored that O. F. Thiel is to soon discontinue conducting the hotel and take up other means of livelihood. Just who will be next at the helm as inn-keeper is a little conjectured as each Mrs. Lefleur and Mrs. Eva Ellis are bidding for it. It is safe to predict that the hotel will be conducted in an up to date manner with either of the above named aspirants in charge.

In the last issue of The Nonpartisan there appeared quite an extensive write up and friendly "boost" for Yoncalla, the genial editor having seen fit to visit our city and unreservedly contribute loyally and unreservedly to our lot by giving us a clean cut, much appreciated write up which to say the least would have added a laurel to the prestige of any city and its different branches of business pursuits. We feel very grateful indeed to the Nonpartisan and are sorely sorry that Yoncalla hasn't the means at hand through which to clasp hands with her sister city, Drain, and feel that by so doing that petty influences which are always prevalent between towns, had been buried deep and downward like the old ladies' devil, so that the more they scratched the deeper they'd go. Such sentiment as that expressed by the Nonpartisan show that it is backed up by the proper motive and spirit and goes far toward healing old sores and places the editor in a glowing friendly light and shows conclusively that he is of the proper material to gain strength and support. The gate is open, and the latch string is out at any and all times for such highly esteemed visitors as the chief "Devil" of the Nonpartisan.

A 12 pound boy was born to Mr.

and Mrs. S. J. Clifton, at Scotts Valley, November 28th. All doing well.

Uncle Jesse Pringle passed away at his home near Elkhead, November 29th after quite an illness. He was 77 years of age.
