The residence of W. D. Snyder, situated on Deer Creek, burned to the ground shortly after 5 o'clock last evening with its contents. Nothing was saved except a sewing machine and a few articles of minor value. At the time the fire broke out Mr. Snyder was working in a nearby field his attention being attracted by clouds of smoke issuing from the roof. He ran to the scene as quickly as possible, but upon arriving was unable to lend any assistance, the residence being a mass of flames. It is presumed that the blaze ignited from a defective flue.

The members of St. George's Episcopal church tendered a reception to their new rector, Rev. Charles Wilson Baker, and his esteemed wife, at the Parish House Saturday evening. A large crowd was present including the pastors of the local churches.

The evening was socially spent, intermingled with brief addresses by several local orators. Refreshments were served and the guests departed for their homes, delighted with the occasion. Both Rev. and Mrs. Baker highly pleased with Roseburg, and needless to say, they will carry on the work of the church in an efficient manner. In a few days the rector and his wife will be at home to the citizens of Roseburg and vicinity at the rectory, situated on Cass street near the church.

A supplementary report which has been made by Henry E. Bosch, director of the divisions of privileges and exhibits at the A. Y. P. Fair, shows that the Roseburg High School and the city Public Schools have been awarded gold medals for excellence of educational display.

J. T. Spangh went up to Eugene this morning to bring his son Wilbur home. Drs. Powell, chiropractic physicians have been treating the lad for some weeks for an old injury to the spine, received in falling from a tree, and Mr. Spangh thinks the boy is considerably improved.

Practically destitute and evidencing signs of distress, Mrs. Helen Slater, an aged lady, arrived in the city this afternoon from Glendale where she had applied for relief. She carried a letter of introduction from Dr. Mortenson, of Glendale, to County Judge Wencott, of this city, the substance which related the woman's case in detail. From statements made by the lady in the presence of Judge Wencott shortly after her arrival here it appears that she left the East about three years ago, intending to visit relatives at San Francisco. She arrived at the California city safely, but contrary to expectations, was unable to locate those who she wished to visit. Accordingly she became discouraged and started on her return trip, calculating on reaching her home by way of Portland and Seattle. Upon her arrival at San Francisco she possessed $10, but this amount soon became exhausted and she was obliged to seek day labor. Enroute from the southern cities she carried at many towns and cities, some of which afforded her employment, while others simply passed her unobserved. Reaching Glendale the lady found herself penniless, and accordingly she set out with a determination to obtain work. In this she failed, and as a last resort she applied to charitably inclined persons for relief. Realizing that her condition was serious Dr. Mortenson furnished the necessary money and sent the lady to this city where she might obtain recognition at the hands of the proper authorities.

After listening to the lady's story Judge Wencott decided that he would detain her until such time as her sister, Mrs. Voeburg, of Cincinnati, Ohio, can be communicated with. It may be possible that the sister will dispatch a ticket and thus relieve the poor lady from further humiliation. At present the lady is being housed by Phoebe Ketchell, who operates the county hospital.
