Sam Josephson, a leading merchant of Roseburg, and president of the city council of that city, accompanied by J. D. Zurcher, Roseburg's booster, are in the city, having arrived on the noon train today. They are here to take a degree in the Masonic lodge tonight.—Engineer Guard.

Burr's music house is to go out of business January first. Mr. Burr has been a successful Roseburg business man for about ten years, and this move will no doubt be a surprise to many of his friends. Mr. Burr informs us that he has several propositions under consideration, one being from the Bush and Lane factory, but does not know as yet as to his future movements. Should he decide to leave the city, Roseburg will surely lose a real booster, for Mr. Burr could talk Douglas county and Roseburg with piano selling force. This will not in any way affect talking machine and small goods department, of which I. A. Weaver has charge.

LOCAL NEWS.

William Tipton and William Allen arrived here late yesterday afternoon from Cappa Blithe to which place they went several days ago to bring out the range horses owned by "Bill" Bradley prior to his tragic death which occurred about two weeks ago. The men were successful in locating 10 of the horses, all of which are now at Smith's livery awaiting disposition. Mr. Allen said that the trip from Roseburg to Bradley's cabin as somewhat difficult as the several streams were high and dangerous. At Steamboat they were compelled to swim the stream, anything but pleasant. Nothing was found in the cabin except what was heretofore reported in The News. From a close inspection of the premises Allen is inclined to think that Bradley was not dragged through the thicket as first reported, but on the contrary is of the opinion that he was thrown from his horse within a few feet of where he was found by the Wright boys. A search for Bradley's gun proved fruitless, and Allen is at a loss to know where it went. He says that the gun was of the Winchester variety, and that Bradley always kept it in his cabin. Allen also searched for a new suit of clothes which Bradley recently purchased, but these are also included among the missing. The dog which was found near the cabin at the time Dr. Stewart visited the vi-city will be sent to its owner at Klamath Falls. The dog was borrowed by Bradley to drive a number of horses into the interior a few days previous to the accident. The horses brought to this city by Tipton and Allen are of little value. They are range stock and very small. They will probably be sold by Bradley's father as soon as a purchaser can be found. Mr. Allen says that he believes Bradley had considerable money about the cabin. In fact, he asserts that at one time not many months ago there was over $500 buried near the cabin, such information having been given out by Bradley in person.
