That was a pretty game of basketball put up by Roseburg and the Nesmith teams at the Armory last night the score being 16 to 17 in favor of the visitors. This was a return game played between the two teams, the Nesmiths having suffered a severe defeat at Roseburg recently. However, on their own floor they held their heavy opponents down in good shape and made them work for every score. It was a good game, and demonstrated the fact that the teams are pretty well matched.—Cottage Grove Leader.

Upon investigation it has been learned that C. F. Parker, a detective from Portland, who spent Wednesday and Thursday evenings in the city, was here for the purpose of shadowing a lady said to be the wife of the city editor of the Portland Oregonian. It appears from what has leaked out regarding the affair that the lady has been paying considerable attention to a coach of the O. A. C. football team, the latter being a single man. Learning that his wife contemplated coming south it is said that her husband employed Parker, the detective, to shadow her wandering, the result being that the two landed in Roseburg on the same train Wednesday evening. Farther it is alleged that the football coach also arrived in Roseburg at about the same time, presumably by pre-arrangement. It has been ascertained that the fair lady and the coach registered at the Roseburg hotel, occupying adjoining rooms, leaving yesterday for points north. Just what evidence the detective obtained while here we are unable to say, but from statements uttered by him it is presumed that the lady's husband is making arrangements to file suit for divorce. It is probably for that reason that he employed the detective, no doubt wishing to make good his case.

D. P. Kelly, a transient, was arrested this morning by Constable Wright charged with stealing 50 cents from Gus Gustafson, otherwise known as "The Terrible Swede." Gustafson alleges that he was playing a friendly game of cards in a local soft drink emporium, when Kelly came in and without ceremony picked up the coin which it is claimed laid on the table. When arraigned before Justice of the Peace John T. Long this morning the fellow entered a plea of not guilty and the trial was set for Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Being unable to furnish $100 bail Kelly was remanded to the county jail to await his hearing.

C. F. Parker, a Portland detective, who played an important part in the recent local option violations in this city, is in a measure responsible for the confiscating of a bottle supposed to contain beer at the Oregon restaurant yesterday afternoon. The "wet goods" are now enroute to Corvallis where an analysis will take place, presumably for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the contents of the bottle is the genuine beer or the "near article." From one of the employees of the restaurant we learn that Parker entered the place shortly after noon yesterday, taking a seat in the rear of the establishment. Calling a waitress he ordered a bottle of beer, sampling the same with an air of a real toper. He had not quite finished the contents of the bottle, however, when in came Sheriff Fonten, who also asked for a sample of the beverage. Like the previous customer the sheriff's order was readily filled. Emptying the contents the sheriff then called for another bottle of beer, but instead of drinking it as had been his custom he placed it in his pocket, taking the same to the sheriff's office where he prepared it for shipment to Corvallis. Concurrent with the last proceeding the waitress who sold the "bottle" was summoned to appear before the district attorney. When questioned she maintained that she had sold the article in question, but alleged that it was just "near beer," and nothing stronger. Should the analysis bring to light the fact that the article contains the necessary amount of alcohol to cause intoxication "High" the proprietor of the establishment will be arrested, while on the contrary, if it fails to produce intoxication no warrant will be issued.
